Later under hypnosis the main witness remembered the object hovering over the car and engulfing it in white light. Several beings now appeared in front of the car. The beings were described as about five-foot two inches tall, with large hairless heads, gray white skin and huge dark almond shaped eyes. They appeared to be frail and had long thin arms. Both men were then invited onboard the object and entered through a triangle-shaped doorway. They were then led in different directions. The main witness was taken to a room and examined on a thick table consisting of solid light. Two police officers in their car saw a strong reddish light descending from the sky. The engine and electrical components to their vehicle become inoperative as a saucer about 3 m in diameter and 1 m in height lands on the street about 50 meters away from their vehicle. A small door opened on the saucer and the witnesses see two human forms emerge; the figures began gesticulating and "jumping" around. In the place of their eyes they have balls of light, and sparks around their head and hands. The head, compared to the rest of the body appears to be large. After a few minutes the beings appeared to converse among themselves. Then the entities jump into their saucer, and the door closes. A few seconds later the saucer rotates four times and accelerates up into the sky emitting a very loud noise, it quickly disappears from sight. At this point the shocked agents are able to start their vehicle and leave the area.

Obeying some kind of inner urge Manuel Rodriguez Ramirez, his wife and two young sons drove to an isolated road where mysterious phenomena had been reported before. As they drove along, their car, a Seat suddenly stopped without any apparent cause. The car would not start so all the occupants exited the vehicle; before they did they applied the emergency brakes to it. They also placed two large rocks behind the rear tires since the car was in a kind of incline. Suddenly while they discussed the situation among themselves a strange figure appeared to their left on the middle of the road. The figure was totally dressed in black, and moved slowly towards the witnesses at the same time asking them "Where are you going? Terrified the witnesses could only stammer that they were headed to the nearby mountain. The figure was easily over 2 meters in height, gigantic in proportions. He remained quite and standing still, staring at the witnesses. When he spoke he did so in clear Spanish. At this point all the witnesses began experiencing an uncommon sense of fear, as their minds appeared being probed. The family began walking away and passed very near the huge humanoid, seconds later as they looked back the bizarre figure had already vanished. Still afraid they then walked back to their vehicle and this time they were able to start it without any problems. While sitting in the vehicle they all noticed a very bright light descend from the nearby mountain and apparently land on a field. They again exited the vehicle and began looking at the landed light. As they looked the light suddenly turned off. A few minutes later as they stood there they saw their vehicle suddenly come rolling towards them. Apparently the vehicle was moving on its own accord, but in a very strange way, as if floating just above the ground. Stunned they watched the vehicle suddenly stop on its tracks. The family then hesitantly entered their vehicle again. As they drove away they encountered a local friend, Juan Pino, who had also been in the area and had seen a suspicious very bright light hovering over the area.

Two family members were up on the roof keeping watch on the area. Soon they noticed lights that could be seen hovering over the top of the back tree line. They saw four objects/lights. The four lights were spaced along the entire wood line, and were changing color, from red to blue and then yellow then something that looked like black. The witnesses estimated the objects to be the size of a basketball held at arms length. They looked like huge oil tanks, somewhat square and box like. They then saw a bright light, white in color; shine down on the ground from one of these objects. It made an area the size of a half acre glow as bright as day. At this point the lights just went out, and several dark forms could be seen running by the edge of the trees. The forms were out of gun shot range. Every time various family members thought they could see one of the forms, they would shoot and the forms would "scream." They then saw red glowing eyes, standing, watching their every move standing by the wood line. They would shoot at the red eyes, with no effect, at the same time seeing forms running to the left and to the right of the set of "eyes." The witnesses thought that the red glowing eyes were being used as some sort of diversion to draw their attention away from the forms. They kept shooting at the forms, hitting them, and hearing them scream. Later while up on the roof, they noticed two forms, with red glowing eyes come up the side of the field and stand to the side of the barn. They tried to talk to them, from up on the roof, waited five minutes and then fired on them. The forms screamed, yelled, and ran off. At one point during the night, while taking turns shooting at these forms, they looked out again and saw what appeared to be their horse standing out in the field. They knew that their horse was locked up in the barn, but the "form" looked like their horse. They then fired at the "pseudo horse" which then screamed, growled, and took off back toward the northeast part of the field. The witnesses then came down from the roof, and walked to the field. They found no blood, no hair, and just a few strange prints on the ground. Later back on the roof they saw in the cornfield across the street a bright white light.

One of the family members felt the light form the glow hit him in the head; he staggered and almost fell off the roof. Another family member then fired at the light and it went out. The man hit by the light felt dizzy and had a headache the rest of the day. Later something like a red-hot coal, but bigger in size, came down and landed in the tree east of the house. The red glowing ball was shot at, it then jumped down a branch and transformed into a small animal like creature resembling an "owl." They continued to shoot at it; it continued to jump down a branch, until it fell to the ground. At this point the "thing" got up and ran down the wood line on all fours. The family ran over to the tree, and saw a depression in the soft field grass. At this point a small object shaped like a cigar box flew directly over the farmhouse at about 200 feet. The family members on the roof noticed that it had blue lights around it, with a red brighter light in the middle. This object appeared to come form the back woods, up over the wood line flying slowly over the house and across the street heading a southeast direction over the cornfields. Several family members were up on the roof of the house for another night of guarding the farm when they saw red glowing eyes out in the wood line in the back of the house. Others saw a glowing form step out of the wood line on the other side of the field. Three family members fired upon it, hitting it, it apparently fell down into the high grass area. The witnesses ran to the area, and found grass smashed down, and another path leading away, as if something had dragged itself away into the woods. Investigators then three stones into the wood line and soon a rock came flying out of the woods and over their heads landing by the family members. More red glowing eyes were observed moving along the wood line. They all then ran back to the house, as it appeared that the activity was moving close to the house. They saw more red glowing eyes peering out at them from the woods and sometimes they saw a form with a white glow around it as if was illuminated. At one point the witnesses saw a 12-foot tall creature with red glowing eyes standing by a dead tree trunk. They fired at it without any apparent effect. The creatures and red glowing eyes were in the area until about daybreak.

An elderly woman reported seeing a metallic football shaped object on a nearby paddock. It glowed and had a bright light on its lower half. Two figures were clearly visible within. One appeared to be operating controls at a clear glass cabin on the front of the craft, while the other was standing in a central glass tube, which extended beyond the top of the object. Both were dressed in gray coveralls and were described as having white skin and no hair. A second witness later arrived and saw the object and the beings.

Three women were on their way back home on the A5 expressway when they all suddenly experienced a strange mood change, they all sat very quiet going into some type off limbo state. Then across an open field besides the road four white and two red lights appear. They seemed to be attached to a dark object. The object was round and began pacing the vehicle. At this point the vehicle seem to lose power and would not accelerate. All the witnesses panicked and were somewhat confused when the object and lights suddenly vanished. There was an apparent time lapse noted when they reached their destination. Later under hypnosis one of the women recalled the car being floated up to the sky and entering the bottom of an object through two large double doors. She was held down on a reclining chair and medically examined by several 4-foot tall figures, without hair, deep set dark eyes, very thin arms, and strange noses. They wore green cloaks. The second woman only recalled being in a large room when several 4-foot tall robot like entities with round heads, no facial features and wheel-like feet rolled in, she was not examined. The third woman remembers being hit by a beam of light, she felt pain and floated into a room, there she encountered two six-foot tall humanoids, one male the other female, both wearing green cloaks. They both had dark shoulder length hair, vivid blue eyes and extremely white skin. They seemed very friendly and appeared intrigued with the witness clothing.

Mark James had arranged a clandestine date with a girl and was sitting behind a vacant house awaiting her arrival. She arrived without incident. As they sat next to the sliding glass door holding hands they noticed a large "hand" up against the door from the inside. It was described as bigger than a normal hand. It had only three fingers. Looking up they saw a creature with huge eyes staring at them. After seeing this they were unable to move. The glass door opened and the being stepped outside. The being held a device and was not wearing any visible clothing, the device resembled a long needle. He knelt down next to Mark, while the girl remained in a "frozen like" state. The being instructed Mark to turn his head then inserted the device into Mark's left ear. He felt pain and heard a "pop." When the needle was removed Mark noticed a small ball at the end of the needle. The being had a musty smell, similar to that of "dirty clothes." Next the being pricked one of Mark's fingers, then turned his head facing the other direction. The being then walked away through a fence gate in the backyard then disappeared. Soon both were able to move. The girl was unaware that anything had taken place and had not seen the being.

The 8-year old witness was heading towards the pavilion that his family was staying at this well-known resort area. At the last minute he decided to go to the playground. Soon he noticed a young couple hiking several meters ahead of him. A moment later he saw something, which shocked him---ten meters ahead and a little bit to the right. It was a mysterious humanoid shape about 2 meters in height and totally silvery in color. The figure appeared to be totally covered in a metallic silvery suit from head to toe. It stood in apparent attention, its arms close to the side of its body. The witness remembers seeing what appeared to be glowing orange eyes resembling diodes on the figures face. For about 5 seconds he stared at the creature and then he looked left. About 150 meters northwest from him he saw two typical silvery-white flying saucers. They were hovering about 2 or 3 meters above a parking lot. One slightly higher than the other. The witness noticed a glowing white light radiating from the objects, which appeared to be of the same size. After about 4 seconds he looked right and again saw the creature standing in the same spot. It was not moving and was looking directly at the boy. Frightened he ran from the area and did not see the humanoid and objects depart.

The zipper of the tent then opened, and a short 4-foot tall figure entered. It waved at the witness and he felt motionless, but felt no fear. The figure had almond colored skin; it had two large but like eyes and no trace of a nose. The witness could detect an indentation where the mouth should have been. The witness felt something in his head as the humanoid motioned for him to follow him. Outside he was surrounded by a white light and felt a pinch in his arm. The witness was driving alone outside of Winnipeg when he saw a huge UFO gliding over the roadway. It had a central core from which were emanating long and slender filament-like projections that gave off an extremely bright, neon-like glow of a luminous red-orange color. The filaments were at least 50 ft in length each and numbered about two dozen, giving the object the appearance of a jellyfish with spikes. The "tentacles" were arrayed equidistant from another and formed a conical shape beneath the central mass and an inverted conical shape above it. The object then hovered 150 ft above a farmer's field. The witness parked his vehicle then ran towards the object, which then glided majestically above the roadway. Dimly outlined from the glow inside the "windows" of the central mass were two or three figures, whose features were not discernible, but whose heads and shoulders indicated they were humanoid in shape. The witness waved at the object, which responded first with a flash of red light and then a green one from inside the hull. The object then flew away. PN was on his way to work at a warehouse, around the above time he was driving his Fiat 125 through the small village of Asum, as the village reached a rise near a copse it suddenly stalled. As the road there slopes down, the car carried on rolling forwards. When PN reached a T-junction he stopped the car, at the same time catching sight of a strange phenomenon. About 60 meters away on the right hand side of Asum Bygade (Asum High Street) was a floating glowing object, partly above the and partly above the copse. It appeared to be floating about 1-2 meters above the ground and was about 3 meters high and "circle shaped." PN found it very difficult to make out the object's shape, as it was emitting a bright light that illuminated the area with a yellowish color. There appeared to be a "ramp" leading down from the object into the copse, which lies a couple of meters below road level. The ramp was the same width as the object. At the point where the ramp was "connected" to the glowing object there seemed to be a large opening into the "interior." PN had difficulty seeing any details, as the "interior" resembled an "orange cloud." PN saw two groups of entities. The first group comprised seven small entities that were "running" up and down the ramp. Their movements were so fast and continuous that they reminded PN of something mechanical. He had the impression that the creatures were gathering something from the copse and giving it to "someone" inside the object. In addition to these small entities PN saw another group of three somewhat larger individuals. Two of these were standing at the top of the ramp (by the entrance), while the other was standing down at the foot. They were holding an instrument of some sort. PN perceived the latter group to be "guards." They stood still throughout the entire sighting. The entities were about one meter tall and had a light gray appearance. They resembled two triangles placed on top of each other. A small triangle at the top formed the head, with a larger one underneath that corresponded to the body. The "guards" were a little taller than the other entities. PN does not remember seeing arms on the entities. Their legs were just small "stumps" sticking downwards. The entities floated above the ground, while the "leg stumps" did not move. After the shocked witness watched for about a minute, he glanced in the opposite direction along Asum Bygade and caught sight of a taxi standing 150 meters from the copse down towards the valley at Asum. The taxi driver flashed his lights several times. PN was not sure whether it was meant as a signal to him or the entities. At this point he managed to start his car. At the same time it appeared the entities had seen him and they began to move towards him at great speed. Immediately after this the taxi turned around and drove off back towards Odense. The witness was now terrified and turned left, driving as fast as he could along Asum Bygade and down through the valley. When he was up over the valley he looked in the rear-view mirror and saw that the entities had now got as far as the bottom of the valley and were out in the middle of the bridge over the brook. He drove quickly away loosing sight of the entities.

He glanced all around him looking for help. He then heard something like "Zeta Reticuli" and "you are not yet ready, but we shall meet again." The witness was riding a bus to Mittaguzeit in the East Berlin sector when he suddenly noticed, walking on the side of the road two tall figures wearing silvery coveralls. These were walking in a peculiar fashion and he never seen similar figures before in the area. The bus continued on and he lost sight of them. The next day there were reports of bright lights over the area.

Mr. Oliveira and several members of his family, who the year before had encountered a hovering lighted object, which emitted a buzzing sound over the barn area, and had experienced other bizarre phenomena, were gathered in the house praying and waiting for the birth of a new calf when they were interrupted by a loud buzzing sound coming from the nearby stables. The animals seemed to be reacting in fear. Going out to investigate, Mr. Oliveira saw two strange figures moving about near the stables. The beings were humanoid and about 1.40 meters in height, wearing shiny silvery outfits and carrying what appeared to be weapon-like objects. Oliveira yelled at the beings to leave his property immediately. Ignoring the witness, the beings continued walking around and one of them approached the animals. Oliveira immediately ran into the house, armed himself with a rifle, and fired in the direction of the humanoids. These ran quickly behind the stables, soon a large bright light rose from behind the structure and disappeared at high speed towards the south.

In the thick-forested region north of the area the fall of a luminous green body was observed to fall by numerous inhabitants of Berlin and suburbs. It was explained by authorities that it was indeed a meteor. At the site of the crash, fragments and a partially intact capsule shaped object that exuded sulfur like odor and about 3 m in diameter was found. The object was then driven away to the Berlin area and hidden possibly at a special storage facility at Tempelhoff-Mariyendorf Airport. Bodies were reported found inside the object and these were reportedly autopsied in Berlin.

Two days later, Mr. Oliveira was unable to sleep as the animals again acted disturbed and his dogs were barking furiously. Going out to the porch he saw three short humanoids wearing the same shiny clothing walking towards the stables, the third figure appeared to be a woman but was of the same size as the other two. Oliveira armed himself again and ran over to confront the figures. At about 15 meters away from the figures he fired at the closest humanoid that emitted a grunt like sound and fell to the ground. At that same moment, the other two humanoids shot a luminous beam of light at Oliveira, instantly paralyzing him. Oliveira's wife ran out to see a huge lighted disc shaped craft land near the stricken humanoid. Two similar humanoids exited the object and carried the apparently injured humanoid into the craft. The other two original humanoids remained near the animals, they then took a cow, and its newborn calf into the object, which then ascended slowly at first and then disappeared at incredible speed. His wife helped Oliveira into the house, with some difficulty. He recuperated completely two weeks later.

The witness, who had seen a peculiar object hovering over the area 3 days, previously, had gone to a local shopping center to meet a friend. Since his friend did not show up he went to call from a payphone, he then noticed two very peculiar "men" looking at him. The two men were standing extremely close together and appeared non-human. There was also a peculiar absence of other people around. The two men stood still and stared at the witness. They wore dark blue suits, shirts, and shoes and opened jackets. They had tanned complexions, dark eyes, devoid of any expression. They also had short-cropped hair and no eyebrows. The men spoke in a monotone asking the witness several questions. The men then walked away in a robot-like synchronized fashion. They headed towards a nearby plowed up muddy field. The witness then attempted to follow them but they seem to vanish in the middle of the field. Curiously the witness was unable to find any footprints on the muddy field.

Two young men traveling in isolated road stopped the vehicle after one of them reported seeing what appeared to be a "flare" in the sky to his left, southeast towards Spencer Gulf. They stopped and both saw a second light moved around and flew up and down hills and gullies, before stopping in one particular gully. They watched for a while before setting off again. The two talked about what they had seen. Shortly one of the men felt like stopping again. What happens next is hard to explain, he recalls, "drifting off" into a white endless space. He knew he was there but couldn't move. A figure walked up the road and stopped in front of him. It looked like it was in a suit like the Romans wore. It stood there for a while then vanished. The other man woke up and sat for a while before his friend asked, "What happened"? The sound began grow louder and a sudden thought came to her head, "Do not look back, Do not look back! This "request" was very insistent and serious. After a dogfight between UFOs a cylinder-shaped alien spacecraft was shot down in a remote area of taiga (dense northern pine forest) in northeastern Siberia, Evenkian autonomous region of Krasnoyarsk beyond the polar circle. The closest habitable place was the tiny Evenkian village of Murukta. Several months after the crash the UFO was accidentally located from the air. The military was notified. An-12 reconnaissance airplane was dispatched to check and the crew reported seeing a metallic object imbedded into the taiga, reflecting the sun. The military dispatched a special team of experts to the crash site by helicopter and organized a retrieval operation. The crashed object was cylinder shaped approximately 10 meters long and 2.5-3 meters in diameter. The craft was split open by an explosion and separated into two fragments, with lacerated edges. The larger fragment was retrieved. It was burnt and melted from the inside obviously by intense heat of some alien weapon used against it. Very few of its inner structure remained. The craft was metallic silver, having 2 small horizontal protrusions along its hull on the sides on its front part. The recovered fragment was about 5 meters long. As was established, the craft was piloted, but what remained of the crew was only ash and slag. But even those remains of the alien biological payload were intensively studied in governmental Soviet laboratories. The fragment was suspended under a helicopter and most likely moved to the Norilsk aerodrome. The whole operation was under the aegis of Kazakhstan based mobile airborne units of military space forces that had extensive experience and trained for rescue and evacuation of Soviet space vehicles. From Norilsk in order to provide proper secrecy, it was reportedly transported inside a military cargo airplane to Leninsk airbase in the isolated Tura-Tam (Baykonur) NIIP-5 range in Kazakhstan, where it was hidden in an underground bunker. According to the information it is still being kept there in an agreement between Russian and Kazakh governments. The metal alloy and remaining chemical compounds of the craft were studied in several different labs.

Chinese military units accidentally stumbled upon a crashed alien spacecraft in this isolated desert region. A retrieval team was summoned and the site properly cordoned off. Everything possible was done to avoid any information leaked to civilians and to other Chinese military (?) sections. The craft was slightly damaged and abandoned by its crew. It was about 10 meters long and about 2.5-3 meters in diameter. Its shape was cylindrical, with a very durable surface. Sophisticated equipment apparently used by alien entities was found inside the cabin, with chairs for 2 or 3 entities. The cylinder was loaded upon a platform on a flatbed truck or railroad carriage and moved to a must secured underground Government research installation in a military range southwest of Beijing under the Taihang-Shan Mountains. The alien spacecraft was subjected to extensive study and research. Another UFO, which crashed in 1973, was also stored at the site.

Four witnesses were traveling by car on the Voenno-Gruzinskaya Road (military Georgian road) when suddenly the engine of their vehicle stopped working. They stepped out of the car to see what had gone wrong and suddenly saw an approaching object that at first looked like a large foggy spot, gradually taking the shape of a flying craft as it approached further. As the craft neared they could see that it was a huge circular craft the size of a "volcano crater" and about 15-17 meters in height. The witnesses were able to see a large window and what appeared to be sophisticated equipment visible inside the cabin. The object descended and landed on three props. A hatch opened and a ladder jutted out. Soon several humanoid figures descended down on the ladder. They were huge, exceeding the normal human height three times over or about 5 meters in height. The humanoids paid no attention to the witnesses who felt numb and completely confused during the encounter. After a short stay on the ground the humanoids again climbed onboard the craft, which was then slowly covered by a mist (cloak) and literally melted from sight in front of their eyes. Everything was observed from a distance of about 30-40 meters.

The crew of an Antonov-24RV civil aviation aircraft on a routine flight with 50 passengers noticed a strange UFO flying near their aircraft. The UFO was shaped like a globe, but the most interesting detail was that the main section of the object was transparent and two huge humanoid figures were clearly visible inside the object. Both figures were seated inside the craft with their backs to the Antonov's pilots; their faces were not visible. Soon the aircrew flew by the UFO and lost sight of it. The flight crew was reluctant at first to report the incident out of fear of being mocked or hospitalized for a "mental examination". They kept silent and told only some of their most trusted colleagues.

Two young boys, 1 seven years of age the other eight had been playing outside when they decided to go back into their apartment complex. Both boys entered the building and walked to the apartment on the bottom floor near the stairway. As one of the boys knocked on the door, the other one glanced casually up the stairs and was shocked to see a tall, leathery, winged creature with glowing, blood red eyes, standing directly under the light of the sunroof. He described the entity as somewhat reptilian, but with visible human characteristics, albeit gruesome ones. It stood upright on two legs, if not a bit stooped over like an old man; it had abnormally long arms with what appeared to be talons at the ends of its spindly fingers. The arms were thin, yet muscular. Its torso was unnaturally long as well. Its legs appeared long, but gangly, with knobby knees and large bony feet. It had long sharp looking talons on its toes. Its wings were rather large, with taut, thin, greenish-gray skin. The skin itself looked to be dry, yet with a bit of gleam to it. As the witness stared he noticed that the creature's fiery eyes were indeed fixed firmly on both boys. The being had a large gaunt skull set on impossibly bony shoulders. By now both boys had noticed the creature and stood terrified staring at it. Both boys ran out and scream for their mothers to open the door of the apartment.

The 20-year old witness was crossing the street in order to visit some neighbors when she looked upward toward the right between the horizon and 12oclock high and saw an orange globe-shaped object with a dark center. Thinking it was a reflection from behind (she wears glasses) she looked back but could not see anything that might be reflected off the lenses. He looked up again and there was this round, orange globe with the dark center. The dark center had opened up larger, like an iris. She looked toward her mother's direction (across the street at the neighbors) and was going to tell her to look at the object when she heard a voice in her head saying "Don't tell". She looked back at the globe and this time the "iris" had opened up wider and she could see something that resembled a "frog" or reptile in front of a console or table. Its hands were holding two control levers and it would move them back and forth with its arms. Its feet appeared to be operating pedals. The witness then decided to tell her mother what she was seeing, but she again heard the voice in her mind advising her not to tell anyone. She looked back up again and the object and its occupant had vanished. Later she could not remember what she had seen when her mother asked her.

The six-year old witness had followed some coyote pups to the edge of a canyon and was standing by a metal railing looking out into the hills when he suddenly heard a loud popping sound and the air around him became noticeably thicker. A green-yellow light that seemed to come from the canyon area then surrounded him. He then noticed a tall dark figure standing across from him blocking out some of the light. The being appeared very wide and wore a tight fitting jacket, its arms were folded in front of him. There appeared to be something attached to the being behind him but this was not very clear to the witness. The being was described as reptilian-type with large slit eyes. The being suddenly opened its arms and unfolded something resembling a music panel sheet illuminated by a bright white blue halogen type light. After a few moments the light went out and the sheet refolded. The thick atmosphere and the yellow-green light quickly dissipated and then the being vanished.

The barking of his dogs disturbed the witness. He looked out the window and noticed high in the sky three incredible objects resembling flying skyscrapers. The objects were huge and brilliantly lighted; the witness mentioned no sound. He became scared and closed the window and pulled the curtains. Suddenly the light in his room came on and he felt numb, unable to move. He then heard the back porch door open and a noise of someone going through the porch and to the bathroom, which led to his room. He then saw the door open and a man came running in. He wore a blue gray jumpsuit and was about 5'10", had black or dark brown short hair. He was of medium built, about 180 lb, very athletic looking, and wore black lace up combat boots that were bloused. The man came to the bed and grabbed the witness by the shoulders lifting him up and at the same time yelling for help. The witness could not move or talk. Suddenly the witness was let go and he dropped back, the man then looked toward the bathroom. He then looked back at the witness and said, "My God, they're coming, they are here." He stood at the foot of the witness bed. Then a bright yellow light came through the wall. It came right through the middle of the closet and was extremely bright. Two tall figures walked out of the light through the wall. They were extremely thin and tall, almost 6'6" tall. Then two figures came through the direction of the bathroom. One was tall but the first one was about 5'4" tall and was apparently the leader. The man next to the witness bed was trying to back away. Then the tall figure behind the short leader aimed something metal like a rifle at the man and a yellow straight beam came out of it, hitting the man straight in the face, he then fell on his back at the foot of the bed. The witness managed to lift himself up enough to peer over to the man, and noticed that the skin of his face was burned away and his eyes looked like two white-eye balls, he was apparently dead. The witness became angry but could not move. The three tall humanoids had smooth gray skin. They wore tight fitting gray suits with hoods that covered the back of the neck and the sides but not the front. They had cat-like eyes, with vertical pupils. As the witness tried to look back at the man on the floor the short figure made a motion and two of the tall humanoids went to him and picked him up and carried him right back through the light and the wall. The short humanoid then walked over to the witness and touched his face on the right side of the nose and turned his head to face him. The being's eyes were gray and the pupil's dark. He lacked a nose and his mouth a slit. He never saw ears but there were lumps under the hood to indicate something was there. He apparently peered into the witness eyes and said something that the witness heard inside his head, but does not remember what it was. The being's eyes appeared very angry and serious. He then walked to the closet. Only one of the tall ones stood there now. He turned and walked into the light and disappeared, the short one then turned and looked at the witness, he stood staring for 15 to 20 seconds then turned and walked into the light. The witness could not move at least for 1 hour after the incident. He remembered that on the short being's chest there was an emblem resembling a chevron with a snake with wings and snake like eyes. His hand had 4 digits. The witness family apparently slept throughout the whole ordeal.

Alvin Guerra was lying in bed attempting to get some sleep when a bright blue flash whooshed through his window into his room. Curious, Guerra went out to the patio to investigate. He was astonished to see a gigantic, stealth-like craft hovering about 75 ft directly overhead. It was dark gray in color, and the wing portions at its side turned up slightly. It had a small tail fin, with three large thruster rockets underneath it. The vessel was silent as it turned in a leisurely 360-degree revolution. Then a soft feminine voice from somewhere nearby said, "Don't be afraid! Cooperate & we wont hurt you! A few yards away out of the shadows a gorgeous Nordic-looking female emerged. She was about six ft two inches tall with incredibly luminous, blue green eyes. Her skin was very white, almost alabaster in appearance; her hair was a soft beige blond colored. She was wearing a light blue form fitting jumpsuit with a strange emblem on the left side of the chest area. It consisted of a short, narrow stripe, light blue in color, slanting above a darker blue stripe of the same proportions. A dark blue circle appeared beneath the two stripes. She had a head covering of some sort that hung towards the back. She repeated the words "Don't be afraid" and cautiously extended her hand. When his hand was firmly in hers, a thick blue mist formed around them. The next thing he knew, they were standing inside the hovering craft. As he stood there, rainbow-colored particles bathed him for 30 seconds. The woman then beckoned Guerra to follow her. The interior of the ship resembled the same smooth dark gray metal as the exterior. It was extremely cold inside. He entered a room where he saw numerous long cylindrical boxes resembling coffins. All were opened and empty. He was told that in those containers, they "rejuvenated" a few hours each day. They then entered the cockpit where he saw a larger version of the symbol on her suit etched on the floor. There were five other women in the room, all similar to each other operating some controls. They all smiled at him. As they exited the cockpit, they passed three women sitting in a hall, operating what appeared to be light-based computers. One of the women was at least six ft, eight inches tall. The women had the ability to read his thoughts. They now entered a room that appeared to be a medical area. In this room there appeared to be about 20 other women, all very tall, between 6 ft six inches & six ft, 8 inches in height. They all appeared to be young. Each was dressed in either a light blue or cream-colored form fitting suits. If the suit was light, the chest emblem was dark, and vice-versa. The women were conducting examinations on some small animals and birds. One of the women was holding a hand-held device resembling a laser. A dark blue light emanated from it. He was made to lie down on a long table. Directly over his head on the ceiling he saw a dark green screen with colored lines. There was also a black screen on the wall beside the table. A holographic image of his body appeared on the screen. A laser like implement drew blood from him. He was then given a tour of the ship by the same original host that was apparently the captain. Two men, Aleksandr Kozhevnikov and Vitaliy Kozhenkov were photographing sites near a local monument when suddenly Aleksandr noticed his friend suddenly turn pale, like snow, apparently become totally paralyzed. Feeling something wrong, Aleksandr turned around and saw an object shaped like a round loaf of bread, approximately 4-5 meters in diameter, of grayish blue in color. Its hull was slightly shining and it was covered with a dull thin coating. His first reaction was to photograph the "saucer". Holding the camera at belly level he pressed the button and the object suddenly began moving and "opening", with movements resembling that of a flower blooming. He had not seen any jutting constructions on the object; these appeared when the object began to open. Several segments became visible on top of the object; they appeared to move up and down like interlocking pieces. He heard no sound during the "opening" of the craft. Suddenly two entities appeared in the center of the object. They resembled humans and somehow descended to the ground. They approached to within 3-4 meters from the witness. They moved like normal humans. The two beings were similar to each other. With normal human extremities, but much taller than the witness, at least by two heads. He could see their faces clearly and their bodies appeared to be covered with something like hoarfrost and they appeared to be wearing tricot (flesh colored) tight-fitting outfits. The figures were slender, and slightly fluorescent pink-violet in color. Their hands and fingers glowed pinkish-violet also. The color of their faces was like ordinary humans. However the glow from their bodies prevented the witness from seeing their faces clearly. Their eyes were set close to each other, with beautiful features in the area of the lips and chin. The witness did not notice any hair. The figures stopped 3 meters from the witness, who then heard sounds emanating from the beings. The sound resembled "beautiful" music of different tones. They addressed him in a melodic purr. He grabbed his photo camera again and clicked the shutter again. The whole time the entities continued their "singing". Their mouths were opening and their lips were moving. Amazingly, the witness found himself answering them using the same melodic music or tones. The sounds emanated right from his throat, seemingly against his will. Apparently he was answering by using primitive, one-syllable tones, since his sounds were much shorter than the aliens. He understood that the aliens were telling him to calm down and not to be afraid. But the witness could not remember the contents of the rest of the conversation. He did remember that the aliens told him that they come from a place with three stars. The conversation lasted for about 8-9 minutes. Then they turned back to the object, and entered it. The segments closed and vanished. He did not see the object take off and heard no sounds. Looking up, he saw the saucer hovering over the forest; it hovered at an altitude of about 150 meters and then just disappeared. The witness attempted to find any ground traces where the saucer had landed but could not find anything. The whole time, his friend Vitaliy remained in the same frozen state. He did not take part of the conversation. But remembered seeing the two aliens, but could not remember much of the encounter. After developing the film he discovered that all the shots were appeared white or overexposed. Soon after the encounter, a sense of calm came over the witness who became more philosophical as to his approach to life.

has been described since in a report from Greece in 1989 noted by the witness. The type of musical tone communication has been reported also in other cases, but the way the communication took place with the witness appears to be unique. (Other sources give the date as 1981).

41-year old Juan Fattorel was traveling in his truck along a secondary road when suddenly the engine cut out; he coasted to a stop on the side of the road in order not to block any incoming traffic. He suddenly heard a loud buzzing sound that appeared to come from somewhere to his left and close in proximity. When he looked to the left side of the road he saw an object hovering over the ground about 10 meters away. At that moment his eyesight seemed to become blurry. The craft was about 2 meters in height and about 1.5 m in width, and hovered about 1 meter from the ground, balancing itself with short ascending and descending movements. The craft was silvery in opaque in nature. Suddenly and apparently coming from the craft, Fattorel heard a loud grave voice, aggressive in nature. It told him to step out of the truck. Afraid he refused to move thinking he was being robbed. As Fattorel attempted to start the vehicle he felt an intolerable pain in his neck and lost consciousness. Later he woke up lying on the ground unable to see clearly, with a buzzing sound in his ears and still feeling some pain in his neck. He staggered toward his vehicle and realized he had been unconscious for at least 20 minutes. A passing motorist picked him up.

The heads seemed to be illuminated and each wore a tight fitting silver helmet and both had very pointed chins. No further features could be seen. Later while checking the height of the window it was estimated that the beings were at least six feet five inches tall. Three weeks later the witness encountered a glowing pulsating object hovering above some woods.

Several witnesses, including reporter Aurelio Zaluar and UFO investigator Vanderlei Penna were investigating a hilly area were other members had been experiencing "strange things". They had been told to take a certain short cut but decided against this route because it took them through a thicket full of spiders and perhaps even snakes. It was dark and raining and all they had to light their way was a flashlight, which soon went out anyway. When they reached the summit, they called out and were greeted by another man who came forward warning them to keep their voices down. His outstretched finger pointed toward the shadowy figure of another member of the group. Luis Otavio de Silva Carvalho, a young lawyer, stood motionless with his hands clasped over his ears. He was heard to cry out and plead in anguish, "Don't speak, don't make any noise, my head can't stand it any more." As they stood there in total amazement an unknown aerial object was seen about 500 meters over the mountains. In front of their very eyes it stopped over what is known as "Warm Water Falls", a waterfall that remains warm even in the middle of winter. Luis was still acting up and we told to join hands and think peaceful thoughts so that the spell over him could be broken. All at once he fell to the ground and we picked him up. Soon he regained consciousness and was anxious to know what all the fuss was about. They explained the situation to him and little by little he seemed to understand, complaining of a bad headache. After a drink of water back in the camp his head cleared further and he told the others what he had seen. Luis was standing near some of the equipment when he saw a glowing figure materializing in front of him. It was about four feet tall, had long hair and was wearing brilliant clothes. He said that soon there was a whole score of these beings that were all moving about at the same time. He remembered that when one of the other men extended his hand, his arm cut right through one of these beings. He said that right over them, very close, was a large triangular shaped ship with colored lights on top. Apparently, Luis was the only one who saw all of this. The rest of the men only saw the strong light, which moved around in diverse directions at the summit of Warm Water Falls.

Half a dozen men then appear; these are described as six-foot one inch tall, well built, long blond hair, high cheekbones, and blue eyes. They wore tight-fitting brown jumpsuits with matching shoes and belt, with a pale yellow stole draped over one shoulder. They also displayed a winged emblem on the chest area resembling a "hawk-eagle" head in center and wings on each side. She is then led out to the door and suddenly finds herself in her car. Donn J. Shallcross had gone outside to investigate a commotion among his dogs and cats and saw two lights descend from the sky and land. He approached with his car but the vehicle stalled. He approached on foot holding a flashlight and encountered a five-foot six-inch tall man dressed in a silvery coverall with a hood, that covered his face and silvery boots, he held a silvery baton-like object on one of his hands. Surprised, Shallcross after the stranger if he was ok but received no reply he than asked him who he was and received the following enigmatic reply, "I am a Watchguard". Shallcross heard this reply inside his head as if the being had used mental telepathy. Shallcross then asked the being where he was from but did not receive a clear reply; the humanoid then proceeded to tell the witness that humanity had to stop using up the earth's resources. That we should stop using atomic energy for destruction or domination of other peoples and nations, and start using it for power, energy sources and things of this nature. Then he added that the humans needed to learn how to dispose of the used atomic fuels, atomic wastes, so that we will stop polluting the earth. Shallcross asked how and the being answered, "I'll show you." After the being said that Shallcross suddenly found himself standing very near the spacecraft, at this point hovering above him, and the silvery suited figure was still standing in front of him. Shallcross could not remember walking the relatively short distance. He thought he might have been "teleported" there. Shallcross described the craft a disc-shaped with a dome on top and one in the bottom, glowing a soft purplish color, with what appeared to be windows. A door opened and a very light purple light came out of it. And when the purple light beam hit Shallcross he felt a burning sensation, in his hands and face. Apparently this was an accident and not intentional. Before leaving Shallcross asked the humanoid if there was a God, the being said yes and added that he should believe both in God and Christ. Next the witness asked him point blank if he was coming back someday. The being said yes, that someday he would return to teach humans more, to seek knowledge. Shallcross asked the being what didn't they make themselves known, the being's answer was "We are known". At that the being suddenly disappeared in plain sight, Shallcross was still holding the light and the door on the object was closed. The craft then began rotating and its lights became very bright, it then rose up emitting a loud humming sound as it gained altitude. It got up to a height of two telephone poles and then shot away at high speed towards a nearby mountain range. Shallcross feels that he was given a great deal of information, which he only hazily recalls. Some having to do with pyramids.

The female witness suddenly awoke to the sounds of her 5month old baby crying. It seems that a strange light originating from somewhere outside had disturbed the child's sleep. But feeling extremely tired the witness goes back to bed, but she awakes almost immediately and observes a beam of light entering the room through an opening in the blinds. The light does not behave like a normal ray of light, but advances along the walls and objects in the room like a ribbon of coherent light. Concerned the witness thought to herself, "I don't want the light to touch my baby" and immediately after the lights retracts out the window. The witness then attempts to sleep again but is awakened again as she feels a presence she looks at the walls and sees the same strange light which immediately retracts again. She attempts to sleep again but opens her eyes and sees the light shining on the baby's cradle, the light retracts again and she places the baby on the bed. She then looks out the kitchen window to see where the light originated from. She then hears a soft whistling sound and sees a very intense source of light in the garden close to the villa. She also sees several "men" running towards the source of light and wonders what are "these fellows doing here". She then walks to the living room where she has a better view of the area. She then observes in the garden approximately 20meters away a "very beautiful" machine about 1.20 to 1.50meters in diameter hovering at about 1meter from the ground. The apparatus has an unknown metallic glare, like "milky money" with an intrinsic luminosity. The luminous beam of light that she observed earlier is coming out from the side of the object, the beam is colorless or "light gray" in color. The object is totally silent and is not moving. She then observes a strange "character" clearly illuminated by the glare of light; the figure is humanoid about 1.20m in height, with a large head, without visible neck. She finds his appearance extremely disconcerting and thinks it might be a "soldier". The figure is wearing a type of overall with three large pockets one on the top and one on each leg, its also wearing a belt. She stares at the being intently afraid of being discovered. Again she hears the whistle, which had ceased and then sees another similar being which appears to be collecting stones from the ground. Moments later it raises its head and sees the witness who realizes that the beings are not human. A terrible fear then invades her and the hairs of her body stand up on end. She is so frightened that she is unable to move. She observes the figures intently and does not get the impression of hostility coming from them. At this point the first figure joins the second one and they appear to engage in conversation, 3-4 others which she had seen at the beginning now join this two. One of the beings, apparently the leader makes a hand sign and the figures scatter again, some climbing over a nearby palisade. Only one creature remains behind, this one engrossed in collecting stones from the ground. The witness remains paralyzed at the window. After what seems to be a long time the other beings return. She notices that they seemed to proceed with discipline and confidence. Moments a transparent "telescopic foot" comes down from the center of the object, then squatting, and one by one, the beings place themselves inside the "foot" and levitate up into the object. They seemed to be absorbed into the center of the object, at this moment the luminous beam of light on the side of the craft disappears. The witness was convinced that there were six of these beings and was confused as to how all of them managed to fit inside such a small object. The object then rose slightly and began to rotate at high speed in a clockwise direction. Its luminosity increased but without illuminating its surroundings. It then rose in a parabolic trajectory until approximately 25 meters from the ground and then "faded out". The witness remained at the window for a few moments and then went to the kitchen to look at the time. 45 minutes had passed. The witness further added that the beings had moved in a quick stealthy manner like a cat. The next day she discovered a pink spot under her right eye of approximately 2cm to 3cm in diameter, she also saw a similar but paler spot behind the right ear of her son. Both spots disappeared completely as the months passed.

A local electrician named Yuriy Vasilievich Zbroy living on Ukrainskaya Street, house # 37 near the railway station reported a bizarre encounter. On the 14th, 15th and the 16th his wife had experienced severed headaches and could not sleep. In the evening of the 17th, around 2000, the light-bulbs in the house suddenly began to dim, giving off a very weak luminosity, several fuses were blown in the block and the same thing occurred to the new fuses. Yuriy then turned off all the electrical equipment in the house and together with his wife went to sleep. Later that night in what appeared to have been a dream-like state Zbroy saw the plaster on the bedroom apparently falling off and a strange spot appeared on the wall. He approached the spot and felt paralyzed by an unseen force. However he was able to stretch his hand to the spot and suddenly a bright spark flashed from it and into his palm. Terrified he moved back feeling his body becoming "magnetized" staring at the palm and the through the whole body. He then saw a very small walnut-sized object, emitting light remotely looking like the popular version of a "flying saucer" flying out of the spot on the wall, flying around the room and seemingly becoming larger. Suddenly the image of the "saucer" became diffuse and then he saw lines like that on a television screen and what appeared to be several amoebas like entities or "primitive organisms" appeared. These organisms approached Zbroy and he even kicked one of these objects. But suddenly the organisms became to increase in size, becoming larger and larger. The witness had the impression that some type of accelerated "evolution" was taking place in front of him. Suddenly several humanoid figures appeared in the room, one was a short man, baldheaded, and with a lean built he was accompanied by three or four beautiful alien females. The man was dressed in a normal suit. The humanoid seemed to be able to read the witness mind and seemed to anticipate his questions. Zbroy pointed up with his finger and asked "Are you from there?" Then he heard the alien's answer in his head, "Yes". The witness then became afraid thinking that he might be abducted and experiments would be conducted on him. But the humanoid man calmed him explaining to him telepathically that they wanted to create some kind of hybrid combining the witness and the four alien women. Apparently agreeing to the task, the witness and the alien females undressed. The alien man then took a syringe-like device and began extracting sperm from the witness genitalia and then injecting the liquid semen into the alien females. Apparently the alien females had a small opening about the size of a needle point and they had what appeared to be gauges on their necks which lit up as soon as they were "filled up". The witness then asked the man if he had just only experienced a dream and he was told by the alien that they had made seem like one to him. The witness also had the impression that he had had sexual contact with the alien women. The image of the aliens then became diffuse and everything vanished. In the morning the witness awoke feeling very strange. Later while searching he did find a small spot on the wall that appeared to have cracked in the same spot where he had seen the small alien "saucer" fly out.

During military diving training exercises, Soviet frogmen encountered at depths of 50 meters, huge man-like figures almost 3 meters in height, that were clad in tight-fitting silvery suits, wearing large spherical transparent helmets and seemed to lack any aqualung or diving equipment. At one point the military men attempted to capture one of the huge beings with a net but were thrown out of the deep water and onto the surface by an unknown powerful force. Three of the men died and the others became crippled. During the same time there were reports of giant discs and spheres descending and rising from the lake waters.

A group of researchers had gone on an expedition to the taiga (pine forest) in order to search for reported "Sasquatch" or relic hominids in the area. However while camping, a disc-shaped craft suddenly landed near their field camp. Several entities (not described) exited the craft and abducted a woman present with the researchers. During the whole episode the men were unable to move or assist the woman since they remained totally paralyzed where they sat. Half an hour later the entities returned with the woman and then departed in their spacecraft. Soon the woman became pregnant and gave birth to a child, a little boy she named Anton. However there was nothing special found in his behavior, abilities, biology, etc. But his father is sure that the real boy's father is an extraterrestrial.

A local resident woke up hearing a soft knock on the opened bedroom window. There was no wind and there was total silence in the area, but the trees surrounding the building were in an inclined position almost touching the ground. In the sky then appeared a vividly luminous point, which increased in size as it emitted multicolored rays of light. At this point the witness apparently experiences a short blackout then wakes up in his room to see orange sized spheres of light rolling around on the floor. The spheres then began to slowly fly out the window but the witness was able to grab one. As he held the sphere a lid on it opened and he heard music from within, the music resembled one of Chopin's waltzes. Staring at the sphere the witness asks who they are, and receives the following reply, "We are the same as you, do you know Chopin?" The voice then goes on the say that they know many things of earth and are hear in order to warn humanity of coming calamities. The voice explained to the witness that he should spread the word but they knew that no one would probably believe him. He then asked, "Then way are you here? To which the voice answered, "Whatever misfortune occurs to the human race will affect us also? The witness notices that there is no electricity in the house and attempts to use the phone to call his sister and mother but it is also inoperable. He then suffers another black out and his next memory is of waking up in the morning, the mysterious sphere now gone.

A female witness was stargazing from the balcony of her apartment, which was located in a multi-story apartment complex when she saw a bright yellow colored "star" opposite to her house. The star-like object was constantly changing positions. It then began to approach the house. The glowing object then began changing color from shiny yellow to bluish and then to "steel" colored. Soon a smaller craft flew out of the larger object and first approached the balcony at very high speed and then slowed down eventually stopping and hovering in the air in front of the apartment. After staying in one place for some time, it ascended and entered the larger object, which then disappeared. During the next several days the same thing occurred several times. One evening as she again was stargazing and looking for the enigmatic UFO in her balcony she heard the telephone ring. She took the receiver and at this moment her television switched on, despite the fact that it had been turned off. The screen on the TV then displayed a huge round room with several male and female humanoid entities standing around, they were visibly of different age groups, but all dressed in the same type of clothing. The one that was standing in the front of the others then began speaking to the witness. His voice seemed even without any intonations. From that moment on she apparently experienced similar and regular contacts with the same entities. She received numerous instructions from the aliens prompting her to perform different tasks. Her relatives did not believe her but the woman wrote to investigators in Moscow about her experiences.

A local resident, engineer Anatoliy L. was on duty at his part time job as a guard at the local pioneer (Boy Scout) camp and that night was pulling guard duty at the front gate. That night he awoke by the sound of a car approaching the gate. Bright headlights illuminated the guard shed. Anatoliy jumped to his feet and went out to see who it was. When he walked out of the wicket-gate, the car's headlights were turned off and the light inside the car was also extinguished. But Anatoliy was carrying his flashlight with him and after switching it on he noticed that the vehicle was a typical Russian made GAZ-24 "Volga" (typically used by wealthy officials, KGB and Communist Party bosses). The car was black in color. No one stepped out of the car as it parked near the gate with its engine off. Anatoliy shone his flashlight at the windows and was surprised that they were darkened or tinted (not common during the time). Anatoliy then asked the occupants what they wanted. Suddenly two "persons", a man and a woman, stepped out of the vehicle. Anatoliy found their appearance very unusual, they were taller than normal. "Open the gate" ordered the tall man. But Anatoliy refused asking who they were and pointing out that if they wanted to visit their children they should do it on Sundays and anyway all the children were sleeping. "Open up, we need to go inside!" the woman persisted, speaking in a strange monotone. But Anatoliy was firm and stood his ground. Suddenly, an unknown, invisible force threw Anatoliy back towards the fence. He struck the iron doorpost with such force that he lost consciousness. Later when he woke up, the car was already gone. Unfortunately he did not look at his watch in order to establish how much time had gone by. He thought the strangers had taken his keys and had entered the camp, but soon realized that his keys were still inside his pocket and the gate appeared to be still locked. He then glanced upwards and Anatoliy then noticed a strange disc-shaped object flying over the camp, the disk emanated a yellowish glow. The witness watched mesmerized at the disk until the object disappeared behind some nearby trees. He immediately assumed that the disk was somehow connected with the strange visitors in the black car. He told no one about what had happened thinking it had been a dream, but he found a large bruise on his back and several of the children had woken up that same night to see a hovering luminous disc-shaped craft outside the windows.

The elderly female witness, who lived in an industrial area of the city next to the airport and facing the waterfront had stayed up late one night watching a movie on the television when she was distracted by a flashing violet colored light coming in through her window from the direction of the water. The light reminded her of the flashing light of a lighthouse. Stepping out to her 5th floor balcony she noticed a dark domed object that had apparently landed on the water directly across from her apartment. It had a bright light similar to a welder's torch that moved about in a zigzag manner. The object was large and totally silent. Soon she noticed a figure standing on the object on one side. It resembled a "lead soldier" and wore a square helmet with two rectangular openings at eye level. It wore a tight-fitting metallic suit. She could not see a nose or mouth. The figure was completely still, until it suddenly turned his head and stared directly at the witness. At this point a bright beam of light struck the witness square in the face, temporarily blinding her and causing her to fall back into her room. She continued to watch the object and the soldier like figure from a window. At times the beam of light would strike the window area as if searching for her. The figure eventually entered the object on its left side and the craft rose and left silently at high speed.

Being a fairly light sleeper, Larry Drummond, woke up in the middle night and looked over toward the bedroom door where he saw what appeared to be three creatures in the room. The bedroom was entirely dark but there was some very dim light out in the hall that was coming from a lamp left on the living room. This allowed him to see the silhouettes of these creatures, but none of their features. These were not shadowy figures without substance, but definitely solid and obviously some kind of living beings. One was standing beside the door, another that seemed to be slightly taller was standing in the doorway, and the third was crouching on a laundry hamper, which also serves as a night table right besides the bed. The closest thing Drummond would say the silhouettes resembled would be the way chimpanzees look when they stand up, but somewhat more humanoid and much more slender. His wife was fast asleep in the bed between him and the creatures. A wave of terror came over him and terrified he buried his head in the pillow hoping they would go away. As he lay there he felt a warm electrical shock, which started at the bottom of his feet and moved slowly up his legs and spine until it reached his head, his memory ended at this point. Later his wife remembered the incident briefly and recalled someone touching her forehead and putting her to sleep. (Drummond has been involved in other incidents).

65-year old farmer Ney Carvalho Fogaca and his 12-year old son were planting seed in the fields. While separating the seeds he perceived a very bright brilliant light at the end of a nearby meadow resembling that of an electric lamp. The light originated at a point about 450 meters away. However Ney and his son continued working with the seeds without paying much attention to the strange light. But the light seemed to become brighter causing some discomfort and interfering in their task, at times Fogaca had to cover his eyes with hands since the light was so blinding. Suddenly the elder Fogaca felt as if something very "strange" was about to happen. He began staring at the strange luminosity, fascinated by the light. According to Fogaca the light emanated all the colors of the rainbow and it was beautiful beyond description. At that he decided to stop what he was doing and decided to investigate what the source of the light was. As he approached the area he was surprised to see that the light had by now disappeared but in place of it there were six humanoid figures standing in a line each next to the other, according to Fogaca the humanoids were of varying heights, the shortest at 1.2m and the tallest at 1.5m, but all very similar in appearance. Stunned and afraid Fogaca noticed that the humanoids appeared to be inside or encase in a sort of "aquarium" or something similar since he could only see them from their waist up. He estimated the enclosure or "portal" to have been more than 2meters in height and about 6meters in length. One of the humanoids, the tallest one, appeared to be the leader moved his head from side to side while the other five remained staring at the witness. The humanoids were wearing a type of brilliant tight-fitting coverall, which Fogaca could not precisely describe. "It was very pretty and shone in different colors" according to Fogaca. Their heads were encased in a type of luminous helmet with a visor that covered all the way down to their noses; hence Fogaca could only see their mouths. From their waste down within the "portal" there appeared to be liquid resembling dirty or polluted water. According to Fogaca the encounter lasted about 2 minutes. Afraid and after staring at the humanoids, Fogaca ran from the area passing very close or about 2 meters from the UFO, which he described as very bright, and multicolored. He ran towards a nearby power plant which seemed unaffected by the strange phenomenon. Upon arriving at his home he yelled for his wife and told her he was going crazy. He told his wife and son what he had seen, and was very hungry soon after the incident. Several days after the encounter he began to notice that the left side of his body was becoming numb or paralyzed, according to him he could see the mosquitoes biting him but he did not feel anything. His left arm remained paralyzed for about 5 years after the encounter.

He turned around rapidly, with is weapon in hand, and found himself facing an incredible sight: a creature was looking at him with large eyes, similar to those of a cow. It seemed to be supporting itself against the wall, and since it exceeded one and a half meters, it could have been about 4 1/2 meters tall. It had an enormous head with no visible mouth, but was otherwise in proportion, it was partially covered with a sort of cape of a greenish-gray color. The witness reacted with astonishment. The creature lowered its eyes as if looking at his rifle. A sort of mask then came up, covering all of its face. It was something like the visor on a motorcycle helmet, but one, which raised rather than lowered. The being suddenly lifted itself up off the ground and in a flash, flew away over the trees. Its silhouette, without visible arms, ended underneath with boots of some sort, and called to mind the image of a grandfather clock, or even a coffin. Mr. Bietti remained immobile stunned for several minutes before he resumed his work.

The "egg" appeared volumetric, although it was slightly transparent. It hovered two meters above the earth and it approached to within 4 meters of the terrified witness. A strange sensation grabbed hold of the witness as he felt that the object was attempting to establish contact with him. He soon heard a strange shrill voice in his head. Apparently the object or its occupants had strayed from their course and requested to know their current location. A female witness named L. Smirnova was walking on a sunny day at the edge of a birch forest. While approaching a large clearing she heard a loud voice in Russian, like an amplified megaphone. "Come closer; do not be afraid, the equipment is switched off". At first she thought it was some kind of sports event being conducted amid the forest. She came closer to the clearing and an unusual craft at about 20 steps from her, and three "men" standing nearby. The craft was a circular disc-shaped object, very shiny, reflecting the sun's rays on its golden surface. A semi-circular shaped door was opened and a ladder with 11 steps jutted towards the ground from it. Over the door she could see what appeared to be decorations "bas relieves" with animals and plants depicted on them, like on a coin. The craft gave the impression as being simple but durable at the same time. One of the men was dressed in a bronze colored overall and was tall (about 1.85m in height), white skinned, with dark eyebrows and gray eyes was smiling benevolently at the witness. She took him for the commander of the spacecraft. The two other humanoids remotely resembled Japanese males. The white skinned humanoid turned towards the other two aliens and said loudly, "Elkan siu". Both aliens then immediately walked towards the craft, one stood by the other and the under sat under the ladder. As the alien leader stared at the witness she felt her heart racing, tired and sleepy and weakness in her legs. She became scared and started begging the alien leader not to "hypnotize" her and asked if they were Americans or Japanese. The young alien commander (looking about 25 years of age) smiled and said in a Baltic accent, "Well I won't do that. My name is Alikan; we are from a nearby star system. We came here to rest and have time to converse, but don't try to run away we are capable or hurting you (!). We want to talk to you." The witness then asked the aliens why they had picked that exact location to "rest". The alien commander explained that their detector had been scanning the area and noted the presence of atomic weapons and radioactivity in the area, and they had become interested. She was very amazed and tried to convince the alien by saying that there wasn't anything in the area of interest, that even the area settlements were now empty as its inhabitants had migrated to the large cities. He then pointed his hand southeastward and told her that there was an underground depot about 3 km away. He then took a round device from a black bag with a beige colored "clock dial" and pressed some buttons. A luminous screen then became visible and the witness could see parts of her body in three different projections. She could see her brain, and green luminous spots dotted it and the red dots. The commander then said, "We will talk to you, you have good memory, you don't smoke or drink alcohol". She confirmed that fact. The alien man then began asking many different questions, about how the humans knew the meaning of "water", "fire", "sky", "earth" etc. If she knew the meaning of Universe and if she believed in God, what was her religious affiliation and if read the bible (?). She was also asked if she her place on earth and if earth scientists knew about the origin of life. She was also asked to name herself. She gave the alien her surname and patronymic. All her answers were apparently recorded in some type of device. Then the alien commander began to speak and showed her a map of the planet earth how it was in ancient times. And also a more recent map that showed the earth with shaded areas displaying rivers, lakes, golden cities, which were marked by pink triangles, deposits of natural resources were also displayed on the map. And blue circles outlined the areas where three elements not yet discovered by humans were located. The aliens apparently used those elements to obtain energy. The alien explained that the stored energy would sometimes come out from the bowels of the earth during earthquakes. She asked the aliens why the islands on the map were painted over in black and was told that before the year 2050 the Earth will be severely damaged by earthquakes, floods, hurricanes, droughts, tornados, snowstorms etc. Those were Universal influences on the planetary processes. Some islands would suffer from earthquakes and would disappear. The bed of the Atlantic would be very active, a ridge will rise in the middle of the ocean and some of the waters will pour into the Artic and Indian Oceans, many cities on the coast would be damaged. The alien leader pointed out that the earth was very young but was being settled and civilized at an amazing speed, something that was not quite expected. The uneven location of the cities on earth was dangerous and could cause the earth to go out of its orbit. Besides circling the sun the earth also made loop movements that lead to some superfluous changes on the earth. The alien said that Earth had suffered 2 basic cataclysms during its existence, the poles had changed their places and the orbit had also changed.

In ancient times earth had been settled by dweller from 5 different star systems, according to climatic conditions. The first humans had appeared in the African continent near the River Nile. Human settlements then arose along the Nile, their residents became knowledgeable about the measurement of time, and their calculation was according to the position of the star Sirius. The alien commander mentioned the pyramids explaining that they were built with the assistance of extraterrestrial beings. The layer between the lime stone rocks consisted of ionized alkali-soil elements which created an intensified ionized environment, and that was why it was dangerous for humans to be exposed within the pyramids for a long time. This special emanation was also detrimental to extraterrestrials. The alien leader also added that the planet earth was unique and they also visited other star systems. He said that there were 11 planets in their solar system. He mentioned that there were many moon-like planets in the universe. The aliens had apparently installations in the dark side of the moon. The planet that they hailed from was 1.5 times older than the earth and was quite small, but it was an important center to study the "Universe´. Their planet was slightly "indented", and sedimentary rocks dominated. There were no tall buildings; all settlements were the same height. There was no surface transport, all travel was done by air, and this was in an attempt not to damage the planet. They called their planet "Sunny" or "Gelios" (according to sources the real name is Kenturiy, located in 47 Ursa Majoris (Big Bear) star system, 45 light years distant. They called the planet Earth "Geya". The surface of their planet is 40.5 million square km, their population is 200 million. Video images of the alien planet were shown to the witness. There were no skyscrapers, not even tall buildings; all the structures in the towns were semi circle or horse-shoe shaped, resembling amphitheatres. All industrial plants were located far from living areas in order to maintain ecological purity. Dominant colors were pink, green and blue. While watching this she asked questions and the aliens answered them, there was one ruler in their planet. They had no problems with food; they were able to produce tons of albumen in one minute. They had different illnesses. They had a family unit created on the basis of love. They made the majority of their journeys to earth every 4 years, since some kind of interstellar channel between our 2 star systems and it was most suitable to use every 4 years. The alien commander said about the structure of the Universe that everything had a beginning and an end, and that everything was in constant motion, one form of energy transformed to another. Life was eternal in the Universe but not for every individual (?). The solar system was one of the smaller parts of Galactic creations; the Universe consisted of islands of such creations. The chemical composition of earth and other planets was very similar, that confirms the integrity of matter. And that there were other planets with atmospheres similar to Earth where life thrived. The alien also added that they had both piloted and remote controlled UFOs of different shapes, which were surrounded by a plasma field, which could display different shapes. Some remote vehicles they launched are controlled from interplanetary stations in the Moon. The witness then told the alien commander that she was a Christian and worshipped Jesus. The alien answered that Jesus "was the man" and mentioned three religious guidelines which were necessary "at the beginning". Next the alien commander proposed to the witness knowledge about an invention in the area of biosynthetic albumen, which will spread on Earth. But she refused, saying that people would not understand her, that people were very skeptical about visitations from other planets. The aliens then told the witness that they would return in four years and find her in the place she would move to. Indeed she encountered the UFO again in 1986, 1990 and 1994.

A couple had gone to sleep later after watching television when a piercing scream coming from their daughter's room woke them up. Upon entering their baby's room and checking her to make sure she was all right, the husband noticed a blinding light shining into the bedroom from somewhere in their back garden. He then noticed a small oval shaped craft on the ground and a figure standing next to it. As he headed out to the landing he noticed two short figures making their way up the stairs. He seemed to have blacked out after that. Later he could only remember that the object was small and oval with a ring of lights around it, three landing legs, and antennae like structures. The wife recalled looking for her husband at the top of the stairs and seeing two short child-like creatures at the bottom of the stairs. The creatures had pale skin, no hair or nose and no visible clothing. Their next conscious memory was waking up the next morning. Hypnotic regression did not reveal any additional details.

There was silver or metallic globe shaped device on the bottom, which resembled a convex department store security mirror. His vehicle engine ran rough then stalled, and the lights inside flashed as the object approached. He could see a large window in the top of the object. He was then able to see two figures that seemed clothed in silver like material. These were engaged in rapid, jerky activities, and seemed to be manipulating unseen controls inside the object. The object had red/white and green lights and seemed to pulse with a dull purplish brown color on the bottom. The object moved silently always at about 20 mph and was lost from sight. Two local girls, Migdalia Cintron & Aida Rivera, involved in previous encounters with an entity interpreted to have been the Holy Virgin Mary again encountered a beautiful female figure that held on firmly to them, telling that they should come with her because she needed them. Nearby onlookers could only see whirlwind of multicolored lights next to the girls. The two girls became frightened, as they could not remove themselves from the presence of the "Virgin." They were saw visions of a beautiful location and of a "path" among the stars. Suddenly the frightened girls were suddenly levitated up into the air. Two onlookers, including a retired police officer and Felito Felix ran towards the girls and attempted to grab them, both felt strong electrical dischargers and were knocked to the ground. They struggled against the bizarre electrical force and were able to pulled the two crying girls free. One of the girls, Migdalia reported that as the entity touched her, she felt being elevated and felt as she had "died." During the initial encounter, Felito Felix and some of his friends were intently looking at the two girls and at the indistinct luminous figure next to them. As they approached the girls, a strong rose-like fragrance enveloped the area. Felix then saw a short figure next to the girl which he initially thought was the "Virgin", but then it seemed to transform itself in front of his eyes into a 3 ft tall little man, with wide shoulders, a slightly large than normal bald head, large oriental eyes, and pointed ears. It wore a tight fitting beige colored outfit. It was touching the girls and then noticed the men staring at him. A very important multiple witness, nocturnal close encounter occurred in this city located near Pease A.F.B. This latter, large UFO departed from the witnesses by descending silently from the treetop height of a low hill, down into a swamp area; hence going conveniently out of sight, and out of possible radar coverage. The two main witnesses describe how they had to run almost directly under the large, hovering, soundless UFO, which had a huge, oval beam emanating downward from it. Then while they stood transfixed (apparently under a degree of alien mind-control), during a matter of perhaps several seconds, one of them received a powerful telepathic communication. The stunning chief part of the communication was -- from the witness' unmistakable understanding of what the UFO-aliens were telling her - that: there really are evil humans, and that they (the UFO aliens) are going to get rid of the evil human individuals. The other of these two witnesses readily attested to the heavy impact that this communication had had on her friend in the weeks following the encounter.

Evil laughter, laughter not of this world. As the laughter grew closer, it begin to sound as if many people were gathered in a room engaged in some sort of party, with many conversations going on at the same time. 1986 Humanoid Reports. "A touch of Gray"

HIS: High Strangeness Index
ROS: Reliability of Source

By far this year was the low point of the 80's decade as far as humanoid or entity encounters went. Some very unusual cases were reported, especially from Argentina, Brazil, and a couple from California. Abductions and missing time seemed to be at their height. Towards the end of the year, the slow down was in full swing. December did brought forth an interesting and implausible contact story from Mexico and another bizarre encounter from Argentina and another from Russia but they were few and far between.

Below the known 1986 cases.

The young female witness, Galina, had been unable to become pregnant and was very close to committing suicide. As she sat in her bathroom preparing a blade, a strange voice in her head told Galina: " What are you going to do? A brilliant future awaits you, you will have a son. Believe me and change your mind." Her first reaction was that she had been contacted b a spirit, but the voice then told her that he was a representative of an extraterrestrial civilization (planet and constellation name was given but this information was not recorded). From that time on, this alien "guardian" accompanied her all the time, in all situations and places. Later on she was able to physically see the alien. He was tall, 2.2 to 2.30 meters in height, eyes bigger than humans, slightly slanted; the arcs over the eyes were distinctly marked; eyelids were present. She saw neither eyebrows nor eyelashes. The head was covered with some type of white headgear. The skin was very white, resembling sour cream and covered by transparent hair follicles. He wore a white satin sleeveless jacket, very tight-fitting, with embroidery and a large shiny buckle. His countenance was striking. He showed a lot of nobility and sensitivity. He had large irises, large white pupils with a black center. The nose was not visible; he wore something resembling a respirator or mask made out of a white material. The face was more elongated than humans. The mouth was slightly visible through the mask; it was slit-like, like a fish. The hands were gray in color with very long fingers. (5 on each hand). Galina asked him once if his race was the only one present on Earth. The answer was a resounding no, that there were many other races present and there were many who wanted to control human affairs. His race had been visiting earth for six years. He also said that not all races were warm-blooded, that some were cold-blooded, or reptilian in nature. He also mentioned a fierce and aggressive race, of huge alien men, 4.5 to 5 meters in height, with red skin and cyclopean in nature. The contacts continued and additional data was obtained; he mentioned that they could not interfere in human affairs unless requested by the humans. A picture of the alien's home was shown to Galina. It was a cozy home with sharp pointed roofs, clear front garden, with numerous trees containing lilac-like flowers. In 1989 she received information that her guardian had returned to his planet that his watch was over.

Several days after seeing a huge boomerang shaped craft hovering over a field, the 16-year old witness was home sleeping when he suddenly woke up. He then noticed a 4-foot tall very slender figure standing in his room. He couldn't make out any features. There was also a bright light directly outside his room. He was completely paralyzed and naked, his body was suspended a few feet above the bed. He tried to scream but could not. The next thing that happened was that the figure walked to the side of the bed and the witness felt something very cold and extremely sharp enter his back, pushing its way into the spine. He felt no pain. The figure then walked back to the foot of the bed. There was a flash of light and it disappeared.

The 17-year-old witness was walking along a wooded path near the local technical college. He had walked a 3rd of the way along the path, when he decided to relieve himself against a tree. As he did so he looked back and saw someone coming from over the brow of the hill but continued on. He looked back again and noticed the figure had gained some 30 odd yards. He thought it must have been someone on a bike to travel that distance so quickly. He took one more glance and noticed that the figure had gained a lot of ground again. Still thinking that it was someone on a bike he walked back to the path and was confronted by a figure at least 8 ft tall, wearing a black Hessian style cloak with a hood over the face. The cloak reached the floor and was hung over the body in a triangular shaped fashion. It was now motionless as it stood 10 yards from the witness. The witness found himself almost drawn to it and took one step forward. He faced the figure for a few minutes; he then came to his senses turned around and gingerly jogged away without looking back.

After hearing undefined noises coming from outside in the front yard, a family of three including a 5-year old girl opened the door to see a terrifying sight. Her mother opened the wooden door and her father armed with a piece of wood peaked outside to see a bizarre creature standing no more than 4 meters from the front door. After seeing the look of terror on her parents the little girl ran to the door and also saw the creature, which years later she described as about 2.80m in height, man-shaped, with a pair of huge wings covering its back, shiny black in color. It had large pointed ears, and brilliant red triangular shaped eyes. It carried in one hand an object resembling a "trident". The little girl does not remember seeing a mouth or nose. The little girl screamed and the terrifying humanoid stared at her. Her mother then pulled her back from the door, not before she saw her stepfather fling the piece of wood at the creature, but before it reached the figure the piece of wood vanished in plain sight. The creature remained immobile. It then suddenly pulled what appeared to be some kind of cape over its body emitting something that the witness could now only describe as a "magnetic field" and vanished in front of the terrified family. He could now see that the object was not an airplane. As he tried to approach the object some type of invisible barrier prevented him to and he became dazed as if in a stupor. He was able to see the object from six meters away. The craft was a shiny smooth metallic oval shaped object with a flange around it and two fin-like protrusions. He could see two transparent windows on the object and inside he could now see six small human-like beings that appeared to be totally human except that their noses were red. Their bodies were completely covered by a reddish coursed hair and they all had shoulder length hair. Their face, hands, and feet appeared hairless. The beings watched the witness intently and appear to communicate among themselves. A similar object then approached at high speed and swooped low over the object on the ground and somehow connected itself to it, both objects then departed at high speed leaving a column of smoke behind and emitting a loud buzzing sound. A burned area of flattened vegetation is found at the site.

Joaquim, a 70-year old farmer, watched a lighted object hovering about 50 paces away and approximately 15 meters above the ground for about 30 minutes. The object was flashing a beam of light around the terrain, and occasionally on the witness as he stood in a doorway. Due to the brilliance of the light, he shielded his face with his left arm. On one occasion the light struck his right eye, he later lost about 80% of the vision in that eye and his left arm was burned like sunburn. Joaquim heard voices, but couldn't understand the language. As the object glided away it hit some electric wires and broke one of them.

Dogs in the area were barking. As the witness looked outside he saw an object hovering above the treetops near his house. The witness was suddenly confronted by two 8-foot tall beings that were blocking the door. These creatures lacked mouths, nose, or ears. They had dark eyes and long thin hands with three fingers, the middle one being the longest. The beings were making quick gestures and were wearing shiny silvery, close fitting overalls with a wide belt with unknown type of accessories hanging from it. They also wore a necklace with a medallion. These beings then suddenly vanished. The witness then stepped out and saw a ball shaped object moving at high speed towards the south.

Carlos was bicycling back home after visiting family and was using a side road in order to avoid the heavy traffic. Son about 500 meters ahead he noticed what appeared to be two large luminous eyes staring at him. As he approached the eyes the bicycle light turned off and Carlos movements seemed to become lethargic. A short figure with large luminous eyes approached the witness and ordered Carlos to follow him. The figure remained 4 meters ahead of Carlos, who seemed unable to resist and followed the creature to a field were a large lighted object rested on the ground. A ramp descended to the ground and Carlos entered the craft, followed by two more short humanoids. Inside he found himself in a lighted circular area with what appeared to be a square table in the middle of the room. In a corner stood a taller more heavyset figure with large luminous eyes. For some unknown reason, Carlos knew that this creature was the "leader." He described the figure as having a huge oval shaped hairless head, with large black eyes lacking any pupils. It had two holes for ears, two holes for a nose and a slit like lipless mouth. The head was directly set on its shoulders, lacking a neck and appeared to have a hump on its back. It had dark gray skin, resembling that of an elephant, with long thin arms and legs. A bizarre feature was its hands, which ended in numerous thin filaments resembling roots. No apparent clothing was seen. At this point the witness was very afraid but heard a mental message imploring to be calm, that they did not harm humans. A telepathic conversation ensued in which the humanoid invited the witness to come with them to their place of origin. The witness declined the invitation and was told that they understood his decision. He was then shown on a diffused screen on a wall a dry arid world apparently the humanoid's point of origin. He was also informed that they could transform their bodies and appearance at will, and was given a brief demonstration. Suddenly the witness was overcome by"darkness" and then passed out.

When he woke up he found himself lying on the road next to his bicycle at about 2200. He suffered from severe insomnia for the next two weeks and from terrible nightmares. He found several round red marks around the belly button area and circular marks around his under arms. Later under hypnosis he was able to remember that at one point onboard the craft he was taken into a room where he saw numerous objects resembling telephone booths. He was asked to enter one of them, once inside a bright blue light covered his body. Once outside he looked inside another one of the booths and saw a figure identical in appearance to him. Before leaving he was told by the leader to keep an eye for the sign of their return by being aware of "the sounds of distant thunder."

The witness had gone to a local quarry to try out his just fixed motorcycle and was sitting on a large rock resting. He then saw a large bright light descend and seven orange triangle shaped objects emerged from the light and flew in formation. One of the objects broke formation and descended towards the witness. At this point the witness attempted to start the motorcycle but it would not work. The craft now hovered close to the ground nearby. The witness could see that the object had blunted corners and a large glass panel. A beam of light emerged from the object's bottom and two beings descended to the ground. One of the beings grabbed the witness and dragged him inside the object. The beings were described as green colored, short with large heads and bright eyes. The witness recalled being stretched out on a platform and looking into a powerful white light. He next woke up lying besides his motorcycle and the object and the beings already gone.

The witness had numerous visitations late at night in his bedroom by strange little humanoid creatures, bluish in color, which had the ability to walk through doors as if they were not there. In one episode he saw two taller entities more human like in appearance and wearing what appeared to be doctor's gowns. These seemed to be preparing themselves for surgery. He woke up to see one of the tall beings extracting blood form both his index fingers. They also used a rod with a glass ball on the end to touch his body. It apparently hurt when they did so and kept doing it despite his protests. He finally lost consciousness and woke up later with the entities already gone. He became deeply withdrawn after the incident.

Antonio Gouveia and his friend Raimundo Sidute were fishing in an isolated lagoon when they noticed an approaching bright light. Terrified they dropped the nets and began running away. Sidute was able to leave the area but Antonio hid in an abandoned shack. He was able to see the light, now clearly a disc shaped object now hovering 10 meters above the ground. The disc projected an intense beam of light towards the ground. An intense heat wave invaded the area. Antonio noticed what appeared to be "filaments" dangling from the object and what appeared to be the letters, I, H and W on inscribed on the hull. The upper half of the object appeared to be transparent and inside he could see two short figures wearing tight fitting suits. He also heard high-pitched child like voices speaking in an unknown language. At 0300A the object departed towards the north.

A soft reddish light illuminated everything around him; a circle of light surrounded him and an impenetrable haze also surrounded him. Frightened he broke into a run he remembered falling and being covered with smoke and flames of light, he got up and continued to run. He finally managed to run out of the boundary of the circle and fell into the water at the shore of the sea. The radiance around him disappeared and he shouted and ran to the police station. He was not believed and was temporarily placed in an insane asylum.

The witness, John Davidson, was sitting comfortably and alone in his living room, meditating, which was a common thing for John to do. After some minutes, John perceived through closed eyes, a very bright intense white light, the next thing he recalls was finding himself in, what he could only describe as a "flying saucer." John was then aware of someone standing at his right hand side that was explaining all about the "saucer" and its capabilities. Visually, John described the interior of the object as having a highly polished floor, which in fact he found quite slippery. It was a circular room, roughly 25 to 30 ft in circumference. Around one side of this object, John saw 5 "people" apparently human-like sitting in chairs at control panels, about 5 feet apart from one another. John also noticed that in the center of the room, there was a glass or plastic bubble of which through it he saw lots of machinery. It was pointed out by this "person" on his right, that this was the power source of the object. As far as John can remember the beings resembled humans, however at one point during his time on board the ship, John claims to have seen what he can only describe as a "robot", of which he only saw the back of it. He then claims to have been shown 4 planets through some of the windows on board the object. Whilst looking at these planets, he saw what looked like a plane, or another unusual flying object move across his line of vision. Minutes later he saw the same or (similar object) return, only this time in the opposite direction and at a further distance. The object also apparently traveled to the "moon" and that it was positioned such that he could see through the observation window "a large crater". He was very surprised to see that inside the crater he could see what he took to be buildings. He then found himself back in his armchair in the living room of his home. He cannot recall how he got there or how long this episode lasted for.

The witness awoke from what she assumed was a dream, where she had been in a metallic-walled room with several small humanoids that were examining her with various probes. As she opened her eyes she noticed a small humanoid standing on either side of her, withdrawing needles from her arms. The witness yelled and her dog came running into the room and sprang at one of the humanoids, but this one thrust his four fingered hand out at the dog, the dog then retreated whimpering in fear. Every time the witness screamed the other humanoid would place its hand over her head, tranquilizing her. At this point the witness mother entered the room and saw the two humanoids also. These were described as 4-foot tall, with reptilian textured grayish skin and huge heads and large deep-set black almond-shaped eyes that angled upwards. The mother screamed causing the two humanoids to jump back startled and touch a circulating light sphere attached to what seemed to be belts on some kind of uniform they wore. The beings vanished in plain sight and at the same time the power in the house went out. An orange colored oval shaped object was seen hovering silently over the house apparently causing the house to vibrate, it then moved quickly away.

He hears both aliens speaking among each other in a "twittering" type of sound. One of them then puts his hand on the witness head and communicates using telepathy. They inform him that they come from the "SPITA" Constellation. They invite him to come and see their planet. The alien then removes his hand. Rolando Silva Andrade, an avid hunter, had gone out on a hunt with his brothers in an area known as "El Zacatonal." That night he was at his usual deer stand waiting for any animal to show up. Soon he saw a deer approach, as the animal approached Rolando shone his spotlight at it, chasing it towards the direction where his brothers waited. As he approached he shut off his light and waited for his brother to shoot. But suddenly a bright light became visible over the nearby trees, curious he walked towards it thinking that it was his brothers, he then noticed several 30 cm light beams that appeared to be suspended in the air. Frightened he turned around and attempted to flee the area, but at that point he apparently lost consciousness. Later he came to, suffering from a loud buzzing sound in his ears, and a feeling of something pressing hard on his forehead (this feeling lasted several days). Feeling very tired he went to sleep at the makeshift hunting camp. The next morning his brothers woke him up and asked him where he had been, and why he did not go look for them, at this point Rolando felt a terrible headache. Later as the headache subsided he began to remember what had transpired. His brothers apparently did not see the lights. He remembered being inside a green colored object that was covered with different geometrical figures, squares, circles, etc. The walls on the object resembled TV screens, He saw several tall blond haired men apparently operating controls inside the object. These men were over 2 meters in height, were thin, and wore tight-fitting metallic outfits. The beings were apparently friendly and communicated with Rolando informing him of the coming Earth changes. According to

Rolando his next memory was of lying on the ground. The witness became a changed man; he no longer drinks alcohol, is a vegetarian, and lets his hair grow long. 1987 HUMANOID SIGHTING REPORTS

Compiled by Albert Rosales
dolphins305@comcast.net

1987 Humanoid Encounters. The year 1987 was to become a preview of things to come; a slight increase with different types of humanoid creatures was evident. 1987 brought us the memorable chain of events at Gulf Breeze Florida where numerous independent witnesses were reporting a series of bizarre events. Various humanoid encounters and abductions in Florida seem to dominate the year. Humanoids were making a slow but sure comeback. A change was in the air 1990 was just around the corner; monumental changes were in the horizon. The following are the known reported cases of 1987.

Location. New Jersey, exact location not given
Date: 1987
Time: unknown

The witness was abducted by two almost seven-foot tall beings, one male with long black hair, the other female with long blond hair who had "pearly translucent complexions." The male humanoid eyes were slanted and golden colored and the female's were pale blue. The witness remembered that at first the male's eyes were black but he apparently removed some type of shield that revealed the real eye color. Both beings wore tight-fitting silvery white outfits with a patch displaying two overlapping triangles opened at each end, which the witness was told it indicated the merging of two "worlds." These two beings were accompanied by a shorter large nosed being that wore a close fitting skullcap.

Type: G Abduction of witness into UFO.
High Strangeness Index: 8
ROS: 10
Comments: No additional details on the abduction is given, however the description of the entities is interesting, specially the description of an "eye-shield", this has been reported before but in connection with the short "gray" type humanoids.

Location. Deer Lake, Michigan
Date: 1987
Time: dusk
A deer hunter was up in his hunting blind overlooking a small valley and heavily forested hills. As he sat on the well camouflaged blind making final adjustments when he noticed something large and silver moving through the forest valley just below the treetops. It was a large silent titanium colored triangle with as mall hemisphere protruding from the bottom and some sort of long tether cord reaching down behind a small bluff. He could see the cord moving as if it was harnessing something just out of his sight. As he stood up in his concealed blind he saw a silver white being emerge over the hill in some sort of suit attached to the tether cord. It seemed as if was studying the ground when it suddenly snapped its head up and looked straight in the witness direction with giant black eyes. At that moment three deer crashed through the brush almost running the witness over. In a panic he ran back to the cabin through the thick brush and locked the door behind him. During the night the motion detection lights would keep turning on and off just outside the cabin. Each time they would come on, a terrific wave of fear would surge through his body.

Comments: I am assuming that the tether-like cord was some kind of life supporting or breathing device connected with the UFO. This has been reported report, but is quite rare. I suspect the "wave of fear" is some kind of defense mechanism used by some of our alien visitors.

A mother of two sons, 10 and 11, experienced a series of unwelcome and unpleasant bedroom visitations. The mother claimed to have been frequently raped, although she was unable to see her assailant. She was paralyzed during the encounters. Later she heard a clicking sound and saw a monk-like figure standing beside the bed. He blew into her ear and her whole body trembled inside. On one occasion they examined her face. Her jaw was opened so wide it affected her jawbone near her hear. One morning when she came out of the shower, she stood naked in front of the mirror and felt something like a bird fluttering in her breast. She could visibly see the fluttering in the mirror. Shortly after that she had a lumpectomy.

Two men driving along an isolated road called Cornelious Pass were rounding a corner when the vehicle headlights caught something odd. They saw a figure on the side of the road that appeared to have been walking on his knuckles, like a gorilla. It reared up and looked at the witnesses as the headlights hit it. It was about four ft tall, the size of a child. Its arms were long enough that when it stooped it touched the ground. Its face was only reported as incredibly ugly. It was wearing some type of clothing and a pointed hat. The moment it saw the witnesses, it turned and shot into the grass on the side of the road. William & Morrow editor Bruce Lee & his wife ventured into Womrath's bookstore on Lexington Avenue. There the two noticed a very short couple bundled up in winter clothes, looking over a copy of Strieber's book "Communion" and complaining how he had interpreted things wrong---they spoke rapidly in what sounded like educated "upper East Side Jewish accents." When Lee introduced himself as a William & Morrow employee and asked politely what they did not like about the book, the man ignored him, but the woman communicated such "complete loathing & hatred" that the Lees retreated in shock. They noticed that the strange couple was wearing large tinted glasses that did not entirely hide large "dark almond shaped eyes."

Donohue unzipped the tent and went outside to see a huge creature towering in the water. It had a tiny head, too small for it's body. Its fur was shining brilliantly silver in the moonlight and it was staring straight at him. She screamed for Bill and he raced out with a flashlight. At this time the creature was racing towards them. They grabbed the keys and ran to the car and then took off. They reported the incident to the police. The witness was alone in her apartment and had just gone to bed when seven to nine human like figures suddenly appeared in the bedroom, standing in front of her closed French windows. The entities were of medium height. Some were male while the others were female. The men were bearded and the woman had straight hair down to their shoulders. All had beautiful faces with clear, clever penetrating eyes. The witness attempted to move but could not; she then received a telepathic message telling her to remain still. She felt no fear, but felt overwhelming joy. The beings gathered around her bed and bent over her. She noticed one of the women placing a device on her nearby piano and bending over it. At one point she saw a light-colored disk and was told that it was her ovum. Later the entities informed her that it was their time to leave and they gradually faded away. A family of three, including a young child was awakened by a loud high-pitched hum coming from outside their small home. All three went outside to investigate and were nearly blinded by a beam of yellowish light coming from a huge reddish orange object shaped like a straw hat that hovered above them, slowly spinning. The hum grew louder and all three had a strange floating sensation then blacked out. They all woke up and found themselves strapped to three steel tables in a circular room. The woman began screaming then a tiny hatchway opened in the wall and five 3-foot tall humanoid creatures stepped into the room. They were human in shape but with featureless faces with three huge whitish eyes on their foreheads. Their skin appeared transparent and bluish in color. The creatures said nothing as they proceeded to remove blood from the arms of all three abductees. They then inserted long needles into their knees and ankle joints. The husband and the child appeared to have been in a trance-like state during the incident. Electrode like devices were taped to their skulls and the woman was again able to hear the loud high-pitched hum that they initially heard outside their home. One of the beings made an incision on the child's thigh that was immediately healed by a pencil like device that was passed over it. Moments later the room became dark and everything began spinning. As the witness stared she could see he was wearing a beautiful long white robe. He had a sash around his waist of the same color, about six inches high. The white robe was of a white color that the witness had never seen, almost pure in nature. He had a white turban wrapped around his head, which covered all hair. He stood very straight and his arms were straight down by his side. The witness described his face, as "beautiful" and he stood almost eight-feet tall. He then spoke and said, "Do not be afraid. It is the voice of God. Read Isaiah, man of the patient realm." At this point the figure was suddenly standing by the side of the witness's bed. Suddenly he cradled the witness in his arms. The witness then heard a noise resembling a whizzing sound and she felt that she was moving. Soon she found herself standing on a very rich and beautiful earth, which somehow the witness could feel with what seemed to be her bare feet. She appeared to be in a marketplace of some kind. She saw other similar figures wearing robes walking about; some walked alone, others in twos. The witness and the stranger were facing what resembled a booth at a carnival. Inside the booth were three rows high of large handcrafted vessels. The stranger told the witness to chose something and told her "that she did not need any money here," that everything was free here. At that point the witness remembers hearing the same whizzing sound and again felt like she was moving at great speed. A female student living in her parent's house woke up after midnight to a strange influence that seemed to attract her. After she sat down to think for a while she went downstairs to make a sandwich. Then she stepped into the living room eating her sandwich and saw three humanoids staring at her from outside the glass door that lead to the garden. The humanoids were about 1 meter tall and were clad in a suit the color of which was perhaps between dark green and blue gray. Their heads were disproportionately large compared to their bodies. Their eyes were large, perhaps the size of an egg, and no whites were visible. She could see no hair or ears and the nose was just two holes, the mouth a short thin line. Their fingers were extremely long and it seemed they had only tree or four of them. Behind them, about 20 to 30 meters away was a metallic oval-shaped object sitting on the ground. It was about 3 meters in width and one and a half meters in height, and it had red and yellow flashing lights. She stared at this sight, paralyzed for a minute, then frightened, she forced herself to move and ran upstairs to her bed and covered her head with a blanket, in an attempt to calm herself. The next day she went to the garden to see if there were any traces, but could not find any. During the coming years she noted she noticed that nothing grew on the site where the object had landed.

A thirteen-year-old boy and his younger sister were sleeping alone at home, when the boy woke up with a strange feeling that something was outside the door or nearby that should not be there. He then fell sleep again. Later his younger sister woke him up and told him that a creature that she thought was "Grammy" (who had died not long before) had appeared in her room. It seemed to have huge eyes and fang like teeth. Not believing her, the older brother told his sister to go back to sleep. Later she woke up again, this time crying. She told him she had seen a blue beam of light creep in through the window, touch the wall next to the bed, and then slowly ascend the wall. When it hit the thermostat it darted out the room and she claimed there was a smell resembling burning paper or wood. Despite being scared the older brother went back to sleep. The next day his sister told him that the "Grammy" like creature had again appeared in the room and had asked the little girl to go with her. The girl asked "To heaven Grammy?" to which the apparition chuckled somewhat darkly and said "Not exactly." She could not remember anything after that.

The witness, Michel Desmarquets rose from bed that night, dressed and left a note for his wife explaining that he was going to be away for ten days. He walked downstairs and into the garden and noticed that there was a peculiar brightness all around. A 3-meter tall human like blond haired female wearing a one piece suit and a transparent helmet on her head then took him up into a 70 meter hovering metallic gray colored disc shaped object encased in a blue halo. He was reportedly taken to a parallel Universe and to a planet called Thiacouba and then returned nine days later. No other information.

Two married couples were returning home from New York City when they decided to take a short cut through a dirt road near a local reservoir. They crossed a bridge and then the car stalled and the headlights went out. They were unable to restart the vehicle. As they all sat in the car they heard the sound of people walking to their right. One of the witnesses grabbed a flashlight and went to investigate. Scanning the brush area, he yelled as he saw three four-foot tall humanoids standing in a row nearby, they had very large heads. He pointed the flashlight at the humanoids and their eyes glowed bright orange in color. The beings then ran down a hill apparently disappearing into a hole on the side of the hill. At that point a large triangular shaped craft with bright yellow lights appeared over the road. It then hovered silently above the area where the beings had vanished and shone a red beam of light on the ground that made three sweeping circles. A period of missing time was also reported.

Three men, Alejo Gonzalez, Adolfo Jose Davila and Jacinto Tamayo were hunting in an isolated area when suddenly all three turned around in unison to observe a very strong light that had suddenly appeared in the sky. It resembled a yellowish full moon. As they stood debating the nature of the object, it suddenly shot towards them at vertiginous speed. It stopped above some nearby olive trees. The luminous sphere was at least 15 meters in diameter and it began emitting a loud whistling sound that kept increasing in volume. Terrified the men watched as two very tall, heavyset man-like figures suddenly appeared next to the object. These two figures began moving towards the men using very quick and long strides. They were dark in color and appeared featureless. The men ran until they reached a nearby arroyo and then hid behind some bushes. Soon they saw the luminous sphere, still emitting the loud whistling sound ascend and disappear into the sky. Traces were found where the luminous sphere had landed. Tree leaves were found yellowed as if dehydrated.

All three beings then entered the room unhindered. They were described as being about 5-feet tall with very long arms, large heads and huge cat-like eyes that wrapped around their heads. They seemed to communicate with each other by using buzzing sounds. The three beings then approached the bed and two of them placed their hands under her head and raised it up. One of the beings then took a tube resembling a narrow roll of white cotton and began inserting it up her left nostril. Four members of the Puerto Rico National Guard, together with three young kids went to isolated area to fish for fresh water shrimp. At night one of the men became separated from the group and was looking around next to a river when all of the sudden he noticed a small three to four foot tall figure walking in the brush. Curious and thinking that it was a lost child he followed it into the brush. The small figure walked with a wavy motion gait to the sides. The others saw him entering the brush and followed him. As they approached the figure it suddenly turned around and they could see that it was a thin humanoid with a large egg shaped head, with dark eyes, long arms and hands. The being had a membrane that connected his torso with his upper arms. As they stared at the creature they noticed a glow to their backs, turning around they saw a luminous disc shaped craft descending from above. The craft landed in front of them, right behind the humanoid creature. The craft had three powerful and blinding lights in front of it, which prevented them from observing any details of the craft. At the moment the craft landed they all felt unable to move. A hatch door opened in the front of the disc and two more beings similar to the one they had been following came out of it, walking down a ramp and positioning themselves one to each side of the first creature, placing their hands on the shoulders of the first creature while looking at the men. The frightened men then heard the middle creature say something in Spanish. Then all three of them turned their backs on the group and ran inside the disc shaped craft. After this the craft rose in the air and flew away very fast towards the top of the mountain, where it disappeared.

Christa Tilton experienced a three-hour missing time in which later under hypnosis she recalled being dragged into a craft by two small aliens after they had rendered unconscious. The next thing she remembered was waking up on a table inside some type of small craft. A guide greeted her and gave her something to drink. She believes that it was a stimulant of some kind because she was not sleepy after she drank the substance. She was then taken out of the craft and when she looked around she noticed she was standing on top of a hill. It was dark, but she saw a light near a cavern. She walked up to this area and it was then that she saw a man, dressed in a red military type jump suit. Her guide seemed to know this man as he greeted him as they came closer. Tilton also noticed that he wore some type of patch and was carrying an automatic weapon. When they walked into the tunnel, she realized they were going right into the side of a large hill or mountain. There they met with another guard in red and she saw a computerized checkpoint with two cameras on each side. To her left was a large groove where a small transit vehicle carried people further inside. To her right she saw a long hallway where there were many offices. They took the transit car and went for what seemed to be a very long time to another secure area. She was then told to step onto some type of scale-like device that faced a computer screen. She saw lights flashing and numbers computing and then a card was issued with holes punched into it. It appeared to be some type of ID card. Her guide did not speak much but did tell her that they had just entered Level One of the facility. She was eventually transported to a lower level. There she saw additional armed guards. She was then taken down another hall and there she noticed a horrid smell. She then saw huge tanks with computerized gauges hooked to them and a huge arm-like device that extended from the top of some tubing down into the tanks. In a large laboratory like room she saw a small gray being with his back turned doing something at a computer. She was told to sit on a table in the middle of the room. About this time a human man dressed like a doctor entered the room. He wore a white lab coat with a badge. The temperature in the room seemed awfully cold. At this point Tilton began to cry and to tremble, she then felt a stabbing pain. She screamed and the human doctor stood next to me and rubbed something over her stomach. The pain immediately subsided. Soon she became drowsy and was apparently returned to the point of the original encounter.

Two witnesses Mr. Kazimierz and Sofia S. were on their way home from a nearby brickyard when suddenly Mrs. S saw a strange light, which was floating in the sky. Her husband also noticed it. The UFOs moved at a very high altitude towards the NE direction. There were two oval objects, red in color and both were the size of a house. The oval shaped objects moved in absolute silence and seemed to descend behind a neighbor's house, about 300 meters from them. As the witnesses arrived at their home their home was suddenly illuminated by a strong white light, which also illuminated the neighborhood. They saw a total of six balls of light hovering over the area. Mr. Kazimierz went to a neighbor's house and both then noticed another odd object, described as a giant triangle, orange-red in color, which floated in the NE direction, about 3 km from them. After 6 minutes the triangle disappeared mysteriously, emitting a strange noise. In the next few minutes they then realized that the neighbor's barn was on fire. They ran over to help extinguish the fire, but as they arrived at the site they noticed that there was no fire only a bright light coming from another three balls of light, which were hovering at a low altitude above some fields. Other family members had by now gathered to watch the spectacle. Suddenly one daughter, 16-year old Barbara began to scream: "Green men are coming in our direction from Rzeszow"! As the group watched they saw a large "screen" which hung 20-30 meters above the ground. The screen was about 2.5-3 meters long; it was white with a black frame. It moved very quickly towards them. The figures somewhat resembled ordinary humans. Other witnesses were able to provide a better description of the humanoids and described them as wearing outfits resembling knight's armor or "dinosaur's carapace"; they were about 2.5 m in height. The screen changed to a wheel, back to a square and then to a triangle. The spectacle lasted for several more minutes and then around 2200 all the objects and humanoids disappeared.

Whitley Strieber was alone in his cabin sleeping when suddenly he awoke. He was immediately aware that he was in a very different state from the ordinary. There appeared to be a deep internal vibration taking place, accompanied by a sensation as if static electricity coated his skin. The feeling was not unpleasant at all; on the contrary, there was a much richer sense of his body, as if he was far more than ordinarily alive. He went downstairs, moving so quickly that it was hard to tell if his feet were even on the floor. He was sailing, almost flying, and he felt he was experiencing yet another physical capability that humans do not have. He was not asleep, but also was not awake in the normal sense. As if being drawn by some magnetic force, he went outside. The air was clear and cold and very still. At the corner of the deck, he was confused to see something solid that was about the size of a car. He approached it, trying to understand what it was doing there. As he got closer, he saw that it was dark and silent. The next thing he knew, the "car" seemed to be something else. He could not remember a specific shape, except that he had the impression that it was not only a conveyance, that it was a kind of super-machine: a device, but alive. At that moment, someone might have spoken to him, and he was aware that there were people on the deck around him---a group of young women, in fact, who appeared extraordinarily indifferent to him, and communicated a powerful impression that their interest extended to the job they were doing and not an inch farther. They shoved at him---strange little pushing gestures---and he found himself inside the vehicle. It was cramped, with two seats in front, two immediately behind, and a bay in the back stacked with what he thought were thick black logs. Between the two front seats was a large object that looked like that had been beaten into the shape of a globe. He was seated in the left front seat. Beside him was a very fair skinned man wearing a white, short-sleeved shirt and white pants. Before them were two windows that faced down and looked like narrow, angrily slanted eyes. When he tried to look at the man beside him, craning to see his face, he turned away. The more he twisted, the more the man avoided him. The man began working his hand across the iron globe. There was no sense that they were moving. But a low voice behind him began to speak, giving instructions in an oddly stilted, archaic English. He was told that they were going to see a child, and she and her mother would be greatly distressed, so much so that the mother would not be able to help the little girl after we were finished. Another woman, with whom the child had a special relationship, would do this instead. Still with no sense of motion, Strieber became confused as lights began to pass by; it looked as if they were passing through a vast swarm of enormous fireflies. He was told that it was a city. He recognized the city as Boulder Colorado, and the house he visited was that of a friend Dora Ruffner. At one point he became aware that the man who had brought him there had come up beside him. He was also aware of a presence in back of him, and it was oppressive. When he started to turn around, a gentle hand restrained him from behind and mixed with the sense of predator, came a sort of stern compassion.

John Byrne was returning home from work and was driving up to Candlewood Lake Road when he thought he saw a low flying aircraft in the sky. The object passed over the trees to the left and he did not hear anything like a crash, so he was not concerned. And then as he drove on airport road he noticed four cars stopped with no lights on, mostly off the side of the road. He flashed his headlights and the car died. He had no electrical power at all, not even radio or headlights. He got out and walked over to the other cars. All the drivers---three men and a woman---were out of their cars. They told Byrne that they saw a very large and bright aircraft flying over and that seemed to go down over the hill in the west. They described the object as having all white and amber lights and very large, triangular in shape and totally silent. As the object flew over them, their vehicles just died. Two other cars drove by at that time and their engines seemed to be sputtering but they did not stop. It was getting dark and Byrne saw a glow in the woods. He wanted to investigate but nobody would go with. So grabbing a flashlight he went alone and started walking into the woods. He went about a quarter of a mile and came to a hill. The glow was getting brighter and he knew that there was something on the other side. As he climbed the hill, the glow turned a deep red and then went to a kind of off-white. As he reached the top of the hill he could see some type of lighted object, but trees blocked his way. He climbed down the hill and came to a clearing. He was shocked to see an object that looked like a dark triangle hovering in the trees. In was very strange since the object wasn't above the trees but in the trees...like a ghost. Byrne pointed out that an object hat large should have broken tree branches and its engines should have been blowing the trees around, but there was nothing, just silence. He tried to get a little closer when he heard a noise coming from it. He then saw a figure wearing some type of suit approaching the object. Byrne then hid behind a bush. The figure got right to the object and then looked in Byrne's direction. Byrne felt that the figure knew he was there and then he heard thoughts in his head saying that he shouldn't come closer. He was more than willing to obey. As he watched, the figure raised his hand as if to say goodbye and vanished in a flash of red light. The object then vanished like someone had just turned it off. He described the being as of average height wearing a dark suit with glowing metal-like stripes around the arms and waist. He did not see the facial details but the figure wore some type of helmet on its head.

At this point he ran out of film and there was some delay before he took the fifth photograph. At the time of taking the fifth photograph Walters reveal that he went into the street to take another picture when he suddenly found himself frozen in a blue beam of light; his eyes would not move, he could not breathe properly and felt that he was dying. He was apparently physically lifted off the road by the beam and held by a very strong force. He heard a voice in his head telling him that he would not be harmed. He then received a very bizarre impression; he described it as if he was flipping through the pages of a book showing him pictures of dogs. Suddenly the object and the beam were no longer in sight and Walters fell to the ground from about 3 feet. According to Walters his wife helped him pick the Polaroid pictures from the drive and she commented that he was "reeking with a smell of cinnamon and ammonia." On the same

The witness noticed a bright green light above the trailer. Soon he heard footsteps leading to the trailer, the door opened, and footsteps came toward the bedroom door. The door opened slightly, then the shadow of a figure was seen against the wall. The figure had a large head and a skinny body. The door then shut, footsteps ran out the door, and the green light disappeared.

The witness had entered a hospital for hip replacement surgery and as he was wheeled into the operating room under pre-op anesthetic, still conscious, he began to rise from his body and was able to watch the operation. During the rest of the time he was in the presence of a tall human-like being that told him that they were rectifying things wrong with his body. Before leaving the hospital two nurses admitted to him that they had seen the image of his body rise out of his body and return later. Upon his return only the top portion of his body was visible.

Ed Walters heard a humming noise, which he described as being the same sound as when he was levitated from the road on the earlier encounter. Shortly after this, from his front porch he heard a voice, which he could not understand, but which he thought might be an African dialect. Then the UFO returned and a computer like voice instructed Walters to "step forward". He took a sixth photograph but heard a command in a voice sounding like Spanish "Photographs are prohibited". He ignored this and indeed apparently voiced a comment such as "The hell they are". Ignoring the warning he took three more photographs and then received a similar impression to that he had received nine days earlier with the pictures of dogs except this time he seemed to observe a catalogue of atrocious and disgusting nude women. Shortly after the object disappeared. The object apparently began to glow and then took off in a vertical direction.

The huge figure was man-like and totally dark red in color and appeared not to be wearing any noticeable clothing. He could not see a mouth or nose but did notice two large green round eyes. The figure was at least 3 meters in height and had very long arms that came down below his knees. The being suddenly made an abrupt turn and began walking silently away, moving a pair of very strong looking legs very slowly. A retired police officer was walking through an isolated moor when he disturbed a small green humanoid figure. The figure seemed startled and ran to a safe distance before turning and raising a bent arm towards the witness as if signaling. The witness happened to be carrying a camera with him as he was going to take some pictures of Ilkley. He quickly raised his camera and took a shot before the creature disappeared behind a rock formation. He headed towards where the creature had disappeared and came across a "dome topped" silver metallic disc. The disc rose into the air at a startling speed and was lost in the clouds. Soon the witness realized that he was unable to account for a two-hour period after his encounter. He also noticed that the polarity of his compass had been reversed. The Institute of Science & Technology at the University of Manchester where it was decided that only a strong magnetic field could have had this effect examined it. He suffered from recurring dreams of a starry sky. He underwent hypnotic regression and discovered that once he had come across the silver disc he was levitated inside. His abductors were described as having green, rough looking skin and bout 4 ft in height with big pointed ears and black eyes. Their hands were described as having three big fingers, like sausages. After being subjected to an examination he was shown images of the Earth's environmental destruction. He was shown one further film, which he refuses to speak about as he claims he has been sworn to secrecy.

Thirty minutes later his dog started barking, he went to check the porch area and pulling a blind he saw a 4-foot tall being with large almond shaped eyes looking at him. The being wore some type of shield over its head, chest, and lower body and was holding a lighted rod in its right hand. The being turned around and ran towards a nearby open field. The witness was chasing the creature when he was suddenly struck by a blue beam of light, he was unable to move his legs and he fell to the ground, it felt as if the beam was holding him down. When he was finally able to move he ran back to the house and grabbed his camera and photographed a large bowl-shaped craft with darkened portholes and an illuminated orange ring on the bottom, he could also see the beam of blue light shining down on the ground.

The witness had gone to a wooded area near the local uranium treatment plant to gather some firewood. As he looked at a pile of wood he was suddenly confronted by six beings that were standing by four smooth white "machines" resembling snow scooters. He approached the group and noticed they were short and "Asian" in appearance. Two were shorter and appeared to be feminine and all had brown skins. All wore dark one-piece combination suits and two had tight fitting hoods. He observed what appeared to be silvery hair on two of the beings. He spoke to the beings but all he heard was some very nasal mumbling sounds. One of the beings approached the witness squatted down and drew two symbols on the ground, at the same time he said, "Sky demon." The witness spoke for several more minutes with the beings. He was told by one of the beings that "he was of no interest to them, but a few humans are departing with us." A seventh similar being now appeared and spoke to the others in a nasal incomprehensible language. The beings now mounted the machines, which rose slightly and disappeared towards the nearby hill. The witness then heard a loud piercing sound and apparently lost consciousness for a short time. He recovered his senses and went home without any firewood.

The witness was stunned and felt unable to alert the others inside, the objects were dark green and appeared metallic. French Egyptologist Louis Caparat reportedly "discovered a secret room in the Great Pyramid of Cheops." A dead alien humanoid "was found in a crystalline transparent case. At first the alien (not described) appeared to be hibernating," or in a state of suspended animation. Caparat reportedly "also found a papyrus text" which described the pharaoh meeting with the alien, who told him that some day his space traveling species would arrive from the stars. The alien supposedly suggested the design of the pyramid and persuaded the Egyptians to build it as his resting place. Caparat reportedly sent a message to a colleague in Spain, Francisco de Braga, a biologist, inviting him to come to Egypt, to take blood, cell, tissue, and DNA samples from the dead alien. But when de Braga arrived in Cairo, he was detained by the Egyptian Ministry of State Security and put on a plane back to Madrid. According to Rose El-Yussuf, the dead alien was taken to a laboratory at an undisclosed location by Egyptian military intelligence. No other information.

Professional scuba diver Robert Froster was diving alone looking for mysterious undersea formations, when he noticed a disturbance in the water. When he turned to look, he saw a vague, shadowy figure slashing toward him. All around him the water had begun to churn wildly, and clouds of sediment were swirling. As the creature rushed toward him, it appeared to undulate, rather than glide. When the fast moving form got to within 20 yards of him, he noticed something odd about it. Appendages like arms, seemed to be reaching out toward him, and the end of each arm appeared to be sharply talon hands. He then saw the creature in full view. He saw an unmistakable pair of breasts, long flowing hair, smooth skin, and scaled tail from the waist down. It appeared to be half woman, half fish. Froster said, "I've never seen such evil hate in the eyes of any human or animal before." Before the creature could reach him, Froster shot up toward the surface and was able to scamper over the side of his craft to safety. He never saw the creature again.

A group of police officers walking near a local candle lit shrine outside of the Morbach munitions base noticed that the candle was out, they made a few jokes and returned to their posts. Later that night, alarms started going off at the base's perimeter fence.

Investigating, several men saw a huge animal standing on its hind legs. The creature was wolf-like and seven to eight feet tall, it jumped a twelve-foot security fence after taking three long leaping steps. A guard dog was brought to the scene of the sighting to track the animal, but it "went nuts" and wouldn't follow.

She was thinking of going downstairs for a while when she looked down the hall and there, at the end of the hall, to the right of the toilet, stood a black figure. It looked like it had a hooded robe on. She just stared, frozen in bed. All of the sudden, the figure lifted slowly from the floor and extended its arms out on either side and proceeded to swiftly float right towards the witness. The terrified witness turned around and dove under the covers. She could hear a rustling sound right above her head. But before she knew it there was dead silence. The weird thing apart from the fact that there was a strange woman in their house in the middle of the night was that she appeared to have "vampire" teeth or fangs. Terrified the witness attempted to wake her mom. She shook her shoulder saying, "Mom there's a vampire in the room." Her mother moaned and fell back to sleep. The witness then shut her eyes and hid under the covers. She eventually fell asleep and does not remember seeing the Antonio Fernandes Duarte was driving to his thirteen hundred acre farm during a light rain and as he was entering his property he saw a huge ball of light off to his left about 40 meters away. It was an oval shaped object on the ground with a large light and resting on three legs. The witness stopped and noticed that the craft was dull, silvery metallic and about the size of a car, about three meters high. The legs were about two meters long. He was able to see three very small men standing in the door, which was like a window hinged at the top, and two were on the ground. There was an accordion like cable coming out of their backs. One wore amber colored jumpsuit; the other wore orange and the third grayish-green. He stood at the door of the object. They seemed to be about four-feet tall, well proportioned with somewhat largish heads. There faces appeared flat and their skin seemed to be grayish in color. They appeared not to notice the witness and seemed to be distracted. One was going down on the ground and then he would go back into the ship. He would do this by jumping and floating to the ground and float back up again. A cable connected him. During the whole time the object emitted a beeping sound. As the witness watch there was a sudden flash of light, and everything disappeared. He felt his body completely numb after the flash of light.

There were six wrecked vehicles but there was not anybody in sight. No emergency vehicles, no flashing lights or police. They felt uneasy and drove by slowly arriving home later than usual. After being bothered by this strange episode both women decided to use hypnosis in order to find any hidden information. Apparently one of the women was abducted while the other remained in a state of suspended animation in the vehicle. Two men exploring a wooded area near an Air Force base watched several UFOs and mysterious lights maneuvering over the area and on the ground. They saw star-like objects overhead, green fireballs flying through the forest, an object that had white front lights and red tail lights rise up diagonally and blink out as it reached the top of the trees. They also observed several large pulsating disc shaped objects that appeared to change size and color. A huge floodlight was soon shining out of the forest floor aimed at the sky. There was also an object on the ground at the far end of the field, which had three rectangular dark orange windows. Several human like figures appeared to be moving in front or inside the windows. Two security patrols from the nearby base were apparently seen nearby, also observing the events.

A large number of people in this town were awakened by a series of nine knocks in three groups of three and on their cars, on the sides or roofs of their houses, or on their doors. The three part series of three dull thuds was reported by many residents who believed it was made by direct physical contact on the outside of their dwellings. One resident heard the knocks and on her way downstairs she heard three more knocks. The lower floor of her house was "bathed in a bright orange golden glow." Another resident was awakened by very loud knocking and went to the door and looked up into the sky. "I saw the stars," she reported, "but there was a very bright haze. Then I saw shadows running against the garage." Her dogs would not chase these shadows. One resident saw a light in the sky, described as red & green in color. The entire town was covered with a dense fog that hovered approximately ten feet off the ground. In the space of 15 minutes the Glenrock Police department got almost fifty prowler and disturbance calls. All through the town, seemingly on the sides of houses, roofs, gates, etc, came the mechanical rapping, knocking sound: three sets of three knocks. Other residents saw something hovering above the trailer park on the north end of town and rumor has it that photos were taken. Others reported a sound like a big truck downshifting combined with a nut with a sledgehammer hitting the side of the house. There were reports that police cars would not start and one woman said she thought she saw small children in aluminum suits running through her back yard on that night. Another witness, Mrs

Eager, who runs a local beauty shop, was disturbed by the sounds of three knocks on her front door. She found her collie dog transfixed before the front door, making no noise.

An unusual object that flew into his apartment confronted the witness, it was about 2 ft in diameter and made a rather loud humming noise, it flew in a perpetual left-to-right motion. Soon after this incident he was confronted by a being, which he described as looking like a supreme "military" commander, Olympic athlete and a genius scientist, all in one. He had short almost wavy white hair, trimmed around the ears and neck, red eyes, and was wearing what appeared to be a white almost fluorescent silk or satin t-shirt, with "army type" shorts with four fluorescent insignias running down the right thigh. He also wore fluorescent sneakers on which matched one of the colors of the bottom insignia. He reported numerous encounters with the above individual and was apparently taken into other "realms". He remembers seeing what appeared to be spaceships. On another occasion the witness saw what appeared to be 6winged creatures suddenly appear in the sky and move swiftly upwards in a "triple helical" fashion and after performing 2 loops they suddenly vanished. On another occasion he witnesses what the Jews have historically referred to as the Ark of the Covenant flying in the skies over where he lived. The appearance of the box like object was amber gold in color. Upon the top edges were two winged creatures whose wings slowly and surely moved in and out with only the tips of their wings touching each other. After this incident he remembers facing the being with the white hair and red eyes. He smiled and spoke some words about the earth's future...namely that global warming will destroy earth's civilization, the atmosphere is running out of oxygen, that negative extraterrestrials have the world under control, and there may be a nuclear holocaust but before it happens, the negative intelligences will "land". Since the above incidents he has had numerous "dreams" in which he has seen different types of aliens apparently working together.

Some of the figures walked by the witness and enter her bedroom. The witness is unable to speak and notices a sepulchral silence about. The witness is then somehow floated to her bed where she sits down. From her vantage point she is able to see the strangers walk into the kitchen where they are three bottles of "tonic" belonging to her husband on top of the counter. The strangers touch the bottles and they disappear in plain sight. Soon the witness is then forced to go outside and follow the strangers to a nearby spring where a bluish colored disc shaped hovered just above the ground. She notices no windows and from an opening a ladder is lowered to the ground. She pleads with the aliens not to take her and they tell her to go home. She finds herself back home just about the time her husband returns. The bottles of tonic are never found, and the window is locked, without any signs of entry.

Irina Subbotina (involved in a previous encounter in January) was alone at her home and retired for the day when she felt a presence in her house. Going to the living room she noticed that the balcony door was opened and next to the balcony there was a table with five identical men sitting around it. The men were tall, resembling ancient Vikings, with long blond-white hair and beards, naked torsos and wearing animal skin slacks. They wore some type of bandana on their hair. Upon seeing her four of the men rose and approached her. They took her by her hand then carried her towards the balcony. Terrified she was unable to move but was suddenly able to emit a loud yell, at that moment the men disappeared and she was placed gently on the floor.

The witness was trying to fall asleep but could not because of the heat. He went to the living room and then saw a flash of light outside and heard a loud buzzing sound. Moments later there was a knock at the window, he opened the window and saw three small humanoids, described as 4-foot tall, with large pear shaped heads, pale gray skin, big black slanted eyes and a slit for a mouth. They had acne like bumps on their skin and their arms were longer than normal, all were dressed in tight fitting sandy colored one-piece suits. Two of them took the witness by his hand and walked him to a nearby landed disc shaped craft with a dome with windows on top and multicolored lights around the rim. There was an opening on its underside from which a long stairway came down, he was invited inside where he saw more little humanoids and many panels and machines with multi colored lights. He was introduced to a taller more human looking being, that was dressed in white and told the witness that he was the leader. The witness was then taken to an underground facility on a nearby mountain where he saw numerous barrack style structures and many other craft. He was eventually taken back home and was told that someday they will see him again.

Going out the back door he saw a round shiny silvery object on the ground below a clump of trees supported by several metallic struts. He ran into the house and found a flashlight but it would not work. He then slumped into a lounge chair and waited, suddenly he heard footsteps that sounded as if someone was walking on plastic. The lights of the house suddenly flickered on and the witness saw a blurred figure in the hallway. He then went to the front door and saw the dogs barking at something behind some trees. He then apparently blacked out. Ground traces were found on the ground by the clump of trees.

The witness was riding her pony accompanied by her dog in a wooded area when her last memory was passing an abandoned campsite. Her next recollection was sitting on the horse with her dog besides her but at a completely different location on the other side of the forest near a swamp. Later after finding her way back to her campsite she recalled being taken onboard a large oblong shaped craft along with her horse and dog. Inside she was met by very tall beings with a beautiful green skin; there were seven of them. They had long narrow heads with wispy reddish hair on top that stood straight up. They had long pointed chins, small delicate noses, no mouths or ears and tiny dark slanted eyes. They communicated by using telepathy. They all wore plain long white robes with three quarter length sleeves that came up to just below the elbow; they also wore dark colored boots without laces. The witness recalled being seated in a white round fitted chair next to a stainless steel table. She saw various instruments and other rooms including two where her dog and pony were being examined. The beings apparently argued among themselves if the witness should be used for "breeding" purposes. She was eventually released.

Two young witnesses saw an approaching disc shaped object in the sky, soon the object stopped over he harbor. Frightened the boys hid in their summerhouse. Soon curiosity took over and both went outside again. They saw that the silvery object emitted colorful rays of light in three different directions and was hovering now 20 to 30 meters in the air. A hat shaped object bout 3 meters in diameter now emerged from the bottom of the larger object and descended, landing next to a rock. In the glowing light a small emerald green colored humanoid with a helmet like headgear and a black box-like instrument in its hand could now be seen. It seemed to hop from stone to stone in the shallow water. The humanoid then stopped and placed the black box in the water. After retrieving the

It was a singular and disturbing experience; especially since lights playing around the outside of the house accompanied it. He sat up and was astonished to see a small figure moving stealthily at the foot of the bed. This sent a blast of fear and rage through him and he hurled a Fender electric guitar at it with all his might. This is a fairly heavy instrument with a solid wood body, and it slammed against a standing plant at the foot of the bed with considerable force. He had the impression that something had darted out the window. He went to sleep fitfully, until morning. The tall being, who was some type of well respected leader, told her that he wanted her to take the baby and care for it because they need the love of a mother and this was an emotion that they didn't understand and weren't capable of. She told the man that she couldn't because she already had a child and it was hard enough raising one alone. He moved his head up and down as if agreeing with her

Soviet radar military units in the north Caucasus detected an unidentified target in the area near the town of Prohladnyi in Kabardino-Balkar Republic. The object did not respond to all attempts of communication and was labeled as hostile. Air defense systems including surface to air missile batteries and Mig-25 Foxbat interceptors from Rostov and Krymsk were alerted and ordered to intercept and identify the UFO. The UFO was approaching from the south, just like a foreign military airplane or missile and the order was given to arm and use the weapons. A surface to air missile was launched that struck and downed the object over the Caucasian mountains. Search and rescue teams onboard a M1-8 Hip helicopter was dispatched and found the disk in the mountainous area near a ravine outside of Nizhniy Chegem. The object appeared lenticular in shape, resembling a cockleshell, 6.9 meters long and 3.0 meters high and had smashed into the rocky surface at tremendous speed creating a long gash on the ground. That together with the impact of the missile had damaged the disk extensively causing its original shape to be substantially deformed. The crash site was cordoned off and a special research team equipped with protection suits and dosimeters was dispatched to the scene. Radiation was detected coming from the crashed vehicle and precaution procedures were conducted, though some of the military personnel received high doses of radiation. The helicopter was used to evacuate the object and deliver it to Mozdok Air Base, which housed nuclear warheads and TU-95 Bear strategic bombers at that time. A team of military specialists arrived from Moscow and performed a preliminary examination of the downed vehicle. These included different branches of the military and several scientists from different branches. These included KGB and GRU who were used to cover up the operation. Upon examination of the object a partially opened door (like an elevator moving outside the hull) was discovered, and entry into the object was gained. The research team entered the object dressed in protective suits with oxygen containers. Inside the cabin together with simple smooth controls panels and other equipment, 3 aliens were found, lying on the cabin floor, 2 were dead and the third was giving obvious signs of life. The two dead aliens had apparently being killed on impact by falling equipment. The live alien had apparently been trying to leave the object and had opened the door, but did not succeed because of several wounds to its body and its state of disorientation. Unfortunately, medical attempts to save the entity failed and the surviving being died in a short period of time after it was extracted out of the wreckage. The beings were dwarfs, about 1.0-1.2 meters high, with white-grayish skin that appeared to be an outer covering, while the real skin under it was bluish-greenish and looked more like reptilian like in structure. The entities had large hairless heads, almost round large black eyes and (established during an autopsy) covered by eyelids. The hands had three webbed fingers. Further preservation of the dead aliens was secured in glassy containers in a top-secret underground bunker, isolated amid the forests under a building in the military biomedical research center east of Solnechnogorsk. From Mozdok the damaged disc was delivered to the territory of Kapustin Yar central range and placed into an underground bunker west of Ahryomkin. It is still there at present.

Harold walked away and looked towards the nearby reservoir, he noticed what looked like large and glowing slanted green eyes in large, hairless heads, floating through the woods many yards out. There were five. He could not see their bodies, only their heads. Calling out to his friend, she saw them too and they stopped moving. Harold aimed his large flashlight, at which moment the immediate scenery changed, with branches in front them that were not there a split moment before. A barking black dog was getting closer to them, so they ran into their rented car. They rested there for over an hour only seeing a "parade" of raccoons crossing the road in front of them.

Date: The witness had driven to an isolated area near this location, which is an old abandoned mining town and was engaged in taking pictures of ancient ruins when he suddenly heard a loud swishing sound followed by what resembled a sonic boom. Looking up he saw nothing, thinking it had been a low flying jet he walked down a dry wash and as he rounded a rock outcropping he saw a short "man" standing a short distance away at the edge of the wash. The figure looked directly at him and the witness quickly snapped a picture of the man, then the figure turned and ran quickly up the brush-covered hill. The witness gave chase but the little man quickly disappeared over the summit. The figure was described as short with light gray skin, large bulging eyes, a small thin mouth, and a rather large hairless head, it had small nostrils and a very long and broad chin. It had a slender built and his fingers appeared slightly longer than average. It wore a dark metallic loose fitting garment. The witness described the expression on the humanoid's face as "pleasant."

Several teenagers were driving on the Beltz Road outside of town when some of them noticed a strange glow in the car's rearview mirror. They turned around and drove towards the direction of the glow. As they got closer they noticed that within the greenish glow stood a short muscular little man with glowing red eyes. The little man began running very fast on the road and the witnesses began chasing it. The car passed by the little man and it seemed to veer into the center of the road apparently being run over by the car. No sound of impact was heard, as the entity seemed to flatten out and vanish. Frightened the witnesses drove back into town and collected more witnesses. Upon returning, the short figure was seen standing on the side of the road. The figure then began to change colors from green to silver. At one point several of the witnesses chased the figure on foot, but it stopped and turned and began chasing the witnesses who ran back into their vehicle and left.

Vazquez then felt the hairs on the back of his neck rise and felt something behind him. Turning around at first he did not see anything but then saw about 100 feet away a hovering craft. The craft was a round disc about 40 feet in diameter, it had a squared off top with a row of windows around it, the windows appeared very thick but he noticed a dim yellow light coming from inside. There was also a row of lights around the middle of the craft and it had 4 round bubbles like objects protruding from the bottom. The object hovered about 6 feet from the ground, it appeared to have some type of cloaking effect around it, since part of it appeared to be transparent or invisible. Vazquez grabbed a rock and approached the object, but then noticed several dark humanoid shapes suddenly appear at the object's windows. At that point the object seem to emit some type of heat wave or ripple effect and begun to turn invisible. It then disappeared, apparently shooting up into the clouds at high speed.

20-year old Maxine Watkins was alone walking to her home along a lonely avenue when she noticed the branches of the trees lining the road moving furiously as if in a strong wind. The frightened witness began quickly walking away from the area. Suddenly a pulsating light appeared, it seemed to originate from a round or oval object from behind the trees. The object then came over the witness and shot a beam of bright light at her. She suddenly found herself in a strange room facing a bald-headed man wearing a flowing black cape with a high collar. The man was holding both his hands outstretched and cupped in them was an orb with a cross attached. The witness could see two other beings one of either side of the caped man. She was then floated to a table where her legs were clamped and she was unable to move. The beings attempted to reassure her by telepathy, but it had little effect. She remembers her captors pulling down a complicated apparatus and placing it over her head. Next thing she knew she was a crumpled heap on the pavements about 100 yards from where she first saw the pulsating light. Suffering from a severe headache and eye irritation she was able to see the bright oval object shoot up into the sky and vanish.

Several witnesses were out walking in the woods one night when they noticed a jumble of multicolored lights shining through the trees. Curious they moved towards it and parted the branches. They then saw a creature at least 3 meters in height meandering around a field. They could only make out its shape not its features, since it was covered or made out of some kind of orange and yellow neon fluid. There were no eye sockets or mouth that they could see. Suddenly the creature stopped in its tracks, as if detecting something. It then let out a wail that sounded like a combination of air raid siren and grating metal. The bizarre creature then headed towards the witnesses and "they ran like hell from the area." As they ran away from the area they noticed that as the creature passed by several power poles they seemed to spark up.

A man named "Pedro" and a friend had gone to play an early morning game of tennis at the clay courts facing a large auto assembly plant on the outskirts of the city. While waiting for other colleagues to join them, the two men suddenly felt that "the sun was rising behind them." Turning around they were astonished to see a descending circular vehicle that radiated formidable amounts of white light, illuminating the entire area. The saucer shaped craft touched down on a nearby field. Pedro and his companion forced themselves to remain and see what further incredible developments would occur. Their courage and patience was rewarded as they saw two creatures, clad in tight fitting gray outfits and standing about four ft tall. Pedro indicated that their heads were of normal proportions, with small mouths and noses and slanted eyes. After some 20 minutes the short humanoids returned to their craft, which rose into the air and disappeared. Later Pedro was gripped by unexplained seizures and was taken to a medical facility. Later a psychiatrist sent him to a mental health facility. Thanks to the other witness he was later released from the facility.

Norma Joiner was vacuuming her living room when she began to feel very sleepy. She then decided to take a nap on the couch. She seemed to have fallen into a deep sleep right away but somehow felt a presence in the room with her. In a sort of altered state she "saw' herself asleep and at the same time she was wide awake. She heard a sound and turned her head to see a small dog playing with her 2 birds on the floor. The dog seemed friendly and his tail was wagging. She then heard "voices" and saw two persons standing in back of the dog, talking to each other. They were dressed in brown robes with hoods that came forward and covered their faces. They began to glide over the carpet past the couch. Joiner tried to get their attention but she could not make a sound. The dog followed them as they glided right through the front door. She was "awake" immediately and got a very strong sense that they had been there, the birds were still on the floor.

The witness was lying in bed watching TV with her husband when she suddenly felt a strong buzzing sound in her head. Her husband fell asleep and the witness now saw several small bright balls of light enter through her window. The balls seemed to chase her around her bedroom. She suddenly found herself in an arid rocky place near the ocean. On a field nearby she saw a silvery circular object with a dome on top. Two short humanoids now approached the witness. These were about 4-foot tall, with large egg shaped heads and huge black almond shaped eyes. Their skin was gray white and they had long thin arms and fingers. As the beings approached, the witness could now see that one of them had a "bundle" in his arms. The "bundle" turned out to be a semi human baby. It was more human than alien and appeared to be a beautiful girl with grayish skin and a lightly larger head than normal. They would not let the witness touch the baby. 1989 HUMANOID REPORTS

1989 The Return of the Humanoids.

After a brief hiatus or “slow” period, reports of encounters with entities or humanoids returned with a vengeance in 1989, due in part to the flow of information from the former Eastern bloc countries and what was then the Soviet Union. 1989 was indeed a memorable year, surpassed by the year of the Humanoid itself, 1973 and by that incredible year 1954. As more reports surface from other years and from 1996, 1989 will probably rank among the top five years of reports. The Berlin Wall was gone, but the humanoids were back!

A soldier while on guard duty was found missing from his post, he left behind his AK-47 automatic machine gun. The officers declared him AWOL. However 3 days later the soldier appeared at his post again. He reported being taken onboard a UFO, and drew a picture of the humanoids and the inner structure of the UFO. Officers of the staff of the North Caucasus military district interrogated him in depth, and at first suspected him of being a deserter. But all the testimonies agreed that something really anomalous had occurred to the soldier. No other information.

A local resident named S. Klimenko, a research worker at a secret military scientific institute reported being abducted by several humanoids and taken onboard their spacecraft. The entities were described as having large hairless heads, with round eyes and flattened ears the curl over their skulls. Klimenko claimed he was taken to a large underground base on the moon. Amazingly, there he encountered dozens of "terrestrial" scientists working inside a myriad of laboratories inside the base. These scientists had been apparently abducted from earth at different time periods. The aliens invited Klimenko that he worked for them, also on the underground moon base and somehow showed the witness a vision of a future car accident in which his wife and children would be killed and the witness himself would suffer a severe concussion and numerous fractures. Apparently the witness refused to work with the aliens and reportedly their tragic vision of the future came true.

A woman, a night security guard at a local garage was standing with her dog near the entrance when she noticed a strange red glow. Suddenly she heard a voice from her dog talking to her. At first she began to laugh hysterically, and said, "Come into the garage". But she became frightened since no one was visible. The dog began behaving in a peculiar manner, grabbing the witness by her sleeve and pulling her inside the garage. The woman then stood near a column, and heard the voice again, asking clear questions in her consciousness. Then several transparent but visible humanoid figures appeared in front of her. She remembered asking them, "You are not people, aren't you?" They answered, "Yes we are not people and we have come for you." Then she felt a powerful vibration and everything began to shake, her fur hat fell from her head. She thought she was going crazy or getting sick and then lost consciousness and returned back to her senses only several hours later in a quite different building located across the road. She thought that her experience was probably just a dream, but she evidently had lost most of her memory. When a hypnotic regression was attempted on the woman she experienced a terrific headache and could not go on.

The huge entity appeared "nebulous" and not exactly solid, but it still stared at the witness with a piercing glance. The creature had a head, torso with huge shoulders, but no facial features and other details could be discerned. The entity eventually vanished and afraid, Ziborov did not tell anybody about the incident only to his wife several months later and she did not believe him. Besides this encounter when Ziborov and his family moved to the apartment in 1983 they experienced strange knocks at night everyday for 7 years straight. The strange knocks usually came at around 0030A and lasted all night with periodical intervals. In 1988 the knocks were heard in a wall between two rooms. Sometimes these knocks were very strong and seemingly rattled the walls. After the strange knocks stopped Ziborov felt a strange ringing sound in the left part of the back of his head.

He was very pale and hard short blond hair. He wore a colorful Hawaiian shirt and blue pants. The stranger approached the men and asked for a ride back to town since his car had apparently broken down. On the trip back to town, which took about 20 minutes the stranger, sat without moving or speaking a word. According to the testimony of retired Major I. A. Samoilenko a soldier of the local frontier guard detachment had disappeared from his night watch. The military immediately organized a search, but it brought no results. But three days later the missing frontier guard was found 5km from the mountainous settlement of Aktash. The soldier was very frightened, physically exhausted and could not explain any details of what had occurred. After a long rehabilitation period and therapy on him conducted by officers of a special military KGB detachment, the frontier guard remembered that during his night watch a bright flash of light had blinded him and after that he had lost consciousness. When he returned to his senses, he found himself in a strange room with walls that emitted an even bluish light with no visible source. Suddenly a voice from nowhere, that resembled that of the voice of a female or child, greeted him and warned him that he would be taken on a long journey. After that it told the soldier that if he were selected for that honorable mission he would be helping a distant civilization very similar to humans in many aspects and located in the Gemini constellation. After that was said, the soldier lost consciousness again. He vaguely remember that next he saw several humanoid figures "without faces" leaning over him and examining his body. He was then exposed to attacks of sudden unbearable pain during this "medical examination". After that he fell into a state of powerful euphoria and bliss, as if being narcotized. After examination at a local military hospital a commission found the mentally unstable or insane. Strange and mysterious events began occurring in the home a local resident named Tamara, unexplained disappearances of metallic objects, sounds and knockings from an unknown origin. At times Tamara and her guests felt the presence of huge tall “men” or entities in the room that were watching all the proceedings. One night Tamara saw a small star-shaped object flying amid her room. Her fear suddenly changed to strange tranquility or expectation of something good about to happen. Several days later, again in the dark, she again saw the “star” floating in midair 50cm above the floor. She watched the star-shaped light stopped by the front door. Once there, a “screen” appeared, resembling that of a TV screen, but much smaller in size. In both sides of the screen she noticed unknown symbols, and geometrical figures black in color, triangles, squares, circles, etc. Soon after, faces began appearing on the screen; in the bottom section she saw a male face with beautiful, perfect features, with a non-human peachy color skin. He wore a silver cap that was tight fitting on his head. He had large beautiful eyes that stared at Tamara in a benevolent manner, full of understanding. Two other faces were clearly seen above. One of them was humanoid bluish in color, with closely set eyes, which looked intently at Tamara. This alien began a telepathic conversation with the witness. The other alien face was more Asiatic in appearance, but with round dark eyes without whites. The face was somewhat unpleasant to her; she felt something it was some kind of biological robot. Later UFO researchers from the Yaroslavl group showed her pictures of alien portraits and she was able to identify some of them. She does not remember how much time she communicated and how much information was given to her. Only the feeling of trust and quiet communication remained. She distinctly remembered saying the following words, “I wish to be cured, if that happens, I could help people the rest of my life”. Soon the screen switched off the same way it was originally activated. In the morning nothing was evident of what had occurred the night before, except for the scorched flowers on the windowsill and the witness felt her hands “burning” in an unexplained manner, she wanted to do something, to help someone. Apparently her contacts continued and she was told she was communicating with the forces of light, or representatives from a civilization in the Orion constellation.

When she decides to look up the aliens were gone and the round object was slowly moving away from the window. She looked at her younger daughter still sleeping peacefully as if nothing had happened. In the other room her older daughter also slept peacefully. No traces were found on the window or the balcony area. But half a year after the incident there was substantial & periodical bleeding from the nose of her young daughter, (a possibly evidence of an implant in her brain, through her nose). The young girl had to be hospitalized and was kept in the infective disease department for a week. Around the same time nose bleeds were also reported by the witness and her adult daughter. The doctor later found that the witness's nasal partition was inexplicably missing; he could not explain why that had happened.

Numerous witnesses in this remote village amid mountains and forests began encountering humanoid entities in the nearby forest beginning in early 1989. The encounters lasted for about a year. Locals were afraid to venture into the forest. Numerous landings of ellipse-shaped objects were seen in the forest. The humanoids were described as tall, about 4-5 meters in height, and there were also smaller ones that never attempted contact with the locals. The taller entities communicated telepathically with local villagers on several occasions. The aliens were reported to have been similar to humans and apparently the locals were able to understand them. However during the encounters the witnesses experienced incredible fear, and felt as if they stood under high voltage electric power lines (electro magnetic effects?). The aliens asked some of the locals where could they obtain "enketerm" (?) a metal of supposed high durability. The amazed locals had never heard of that specific metal. The aliens also asked strange questions like, "What trajectory can we use to reach Sweden or Switzerland?" The witnesses also noticed that their watches would cease to function while in the forest, radios and taper recorders also refused to operate in anomalous areas. People also sense a powerful magnetic attraction to certain areas. At nights they would see triangular shaped objects, which shone beams of light over the forest, strange columns of light and also hear unexplained sounds. On one occasion a witness watched a rectangular-shaped screen floating in the air and saw images on it like in a large outdoor cinema. The screen contained vivid colors, which the witness had never seen before in his life and fell cold while the screen was present. The village was also visited by a group of physicists interested in investigating the phenomena, but strangely most became ill and left the town. Locals also noticed a strange alien device, resembling a submarine, which appeared and disappeared in a pond near the village, as if moving underwater and underground. The water in the pond changed its composition and became like liquid paraffin. During the appearance of the aliens and the UFOs there were numerous power outages in the city, television sets also malfunctioned regularly. At times locals also saw strange geometrical figures in the air that apparently created a strange sleepiness among the witnesses. Apparently this activity was related to a possibly underground base located near the village.

After experiencing radio and total engine failure to their vehicles two witnesses, including M. H. Polyakov, coasted to the side of the road and exited the vehicle to smoke a cigarette. After several attempts he was for some unknown reason unable to light the matches and threw them away. Suddenly he heard shouts from his friend; turning in that direction he saw a huge bright pinkish yellow sphere descending about 100 meters away. The light on the sphere suddenly flared up and a beam of light emerged slowly rummaging over the ground, bluish sparks could be seen around the beam. The witnesses felt a sense of fear and constraint. The motor of the vehicle engine began to smoke and the radiator began to steam, as if overheated. Suddenly a heavy presence was felt on the driver's seat of the vehicle, as if an invisible entity sat there, one of the men reached towards it and touched something, the vehicle had apparently rocked from side to side as if something invisible had entered it. The beam of light soon began moving away and the oppressive atmosphere began to dissipate. And the sphere vanished. The vehicle returned to normal with no apparent visible damage. Later one of the witnesses experienced a strong discharge of electricity as he touched a handrail. Both suffered from disturbing nightmares after the incident.

A metal worker, V. At this point an object shaped like a cucumber about 3 to 5 meters in diameter landed close to the witness. Bigunyaka grew torpid and was unable to move. From the landed object two figures the size of 10-year old children emerged. Both wore silvery tight-fitting clothing. Showing strong curiosity the two short silver-clad figures slowly began to approach the witness. They stopped at about 4 meters away, staring at the witness, sometimes squatting and changing positions repeatedly. The figures were human-like with slender extremities. The witness attempted to shout a greeting but was unable to emit any sound. The whole time he had fallen into a puddle, which was the main source of curiosity to the humanoids. He could only flop his hands and splash water at the staring figures. Soon the short humanoids without moving their feet glided away towards the landed object. At this time the object changed form, appearing more rounded, and emitting a whitish-blue glow that turned to a golden glow. From the top it emitted a thin beam of green light. Apparently the entrance to the object was in that area at the rear. However the witness could observe no openings on the object. Soon the witness regained the ability to speak and move and noticed a completely silence in the area. He heard a sound that seemed to originate from the back of his head resembling "ay-ay-ay" and watched the object slowly rise up and float above the machine shop building, it became dark and then rocked back & forth before moving away at high speed.

A local family experienced a series of sightings and abductions by the gray type aliens, culminating in what some UFO investigators call “a baby presentation”. The main witness, Kelly Robinson experienced four consecutive visitations over a period of a few months. During each encounter she was able to converse with the aliens. On the first encounter Kelly awoke to find four gray type aliens standing around her bed. One spoke telepathically, telling her, “Do not be afraid. Come with us. You won’t remember this.” Kelly however was very feisty and independent and was able to remember. She recalled being taken into a small round room and placed on a table. They told her, “We are going to take your memory away. You’ll not remember this…don’t be afraid. We’re not going to hurt you. You can’t remember this.” But Kelly screamed, “Yes I will!” This argument went back and forth, with the aliens telling her she couldn’t and wouldn’t remember, and Kelly screaming back that she would. Then they cut her arm. She woke up in the morning and immediately looked at her arm. A neat two-inch scar exactly where she remembered the aliens cutting her was there. 2 weeks later the aliens returned, telling her that they were going to take her memory, again she protested, telling them that she was going to tell her parents. They told her, “No you’re not…your parents wouldn’t understand. You better not tell them, you know.” A few weeks later they returned. As usual they attempted to erase her memory of the event telling her, “You’re going to forget everything.” However as usual she was able to recall the events. On her final encounter, the aliens appeared and said, “We need to talk to you. Come with us.” But Kelly resisted and threatened to tell her father. This apparently angered the aliens. However Kelly insisted that the aliens were benevolent and meant no harm.

So did the two cars ahead of him. He rolled down the driver side window and looked squarely at the object. It was 300-500 yards away. It was triangular and it was dark. It had white light coming out of the triangular windows. The witness seemed to vaguely remember that it had other lights. As he got closer, the witness became more inquisitive and began to examine the object at a fairly close proximity. The object was hovering and was totally silent. Suddenly the witness became scared and began to pull away, so did the other two vehicles. Before leaving the witness reported seeing a figure in one of the rectangular windows and was overcome with a feeling of fear. Three drivers from the Leningrad auto park, Yuriy Vasilievich M, Sergey Yurevich T, and Alexander Viktorovich G. had gone driving on a fishing trip at a location about 130km from Leningrad, 40 km from the town of Sosnovyi Bor where a nuclear plant is located. Suddenly G saw a UFO flying overhead, all of them then noticed a strange white object in the sky, 3-4 times larger than the biggest star. The object seemed to be moving in their direction when it suddenly made a sharp jump to the left, or to east, and continued flying. After looking at the object for about 15minutes the witness lost interest and ignored it. Some time later after having dinner and setting up camp M. went into the woods to look for firewood. It was already dark and as he walked about 40 to 50 meters along the shore of the lake and about 8-10m into the woods, he suddenly noticed a landed flat disc-shaped object about 30-40 meters from him. The object was “beautiful” round shaped, with windows around it broadest section, and made out of a dark material. Soft matt light emanated from the windows. M. began studying the object and noticed neither hatches nor doors on it; its surface was absolutely smooth, though some indentations were visible. M. felt no fear and stared at the object without moving for about 15-20 seconds. He thought of calling his two friends, but thought better of it not wanting to frighten them. When M. looked to the left of the object he noticed a moving figure like a shadow, walking towards the back of the object. Then he noticed a second figure on the right side of the craft he also noticed a third figure standing between the first and the second one. He thought that they were leaving and became somewhat concerned but not scared. He thought maybe that he could catch one of the "aliens" and put it in his car, but then discarded the idea. The aliens moved slowly making no sounds (the craft was also soundless). When one of the aliens was about 10 meters from the witness, he yelled at them making friendly advances and pointing out that he meant no harm. The figures approached in silence. Two of them finally came very close to him. The aliens were generally human looking but not completely. Their mouths were tightly closed, no lips were visible, with a proportional head, with no visible hair, and their imperious faces expressed severe concentration. The aliens were dressed in tight-fitting gray-colored outfits. A third alien stood aside. The witness then saw a flash, like a photoflash. Next the witness felt pressure in his head and heard a voice in his brain. The voice was unpleasant, raspy, and metallic in quality, it said, "What are you doing here" He answered that he had come on a fishing expedition with his friends. "Would you like to come with us?" Said the voice next. He thought about it, and was tempted but then the voice said, "You will not return. We need to know what your inner structure is" The witness then declined the offer and shook his head. Then the alien voice said threatening and imperiously, "If you start a nuclear war we will destroy you" (humanity?). The witness then said (hopefully) that humans would not start a nuclear war. At this point the witness heard a loud buzzing sound, resembling a high voltage wire. Moments later the witness was terrified to see a huge shaggy humanoid figure about 3-4 meters in height, its head resembling that of an ape. It stood above the witness, a little higher than the trees. He then remembered seeing the alien figures moved suddenly away from him, disappearing behind the trees. He didn't noticed how they entered their ship, but the object slowly and silently ascended, and before leaving it emitted a bright flash of light the illuminated the area around it. When the craft rose up to about 4 meters it suddenly disappeared. Apparently the huge hairy humanoid (Bigfoot type) also left with the aliens.

Alec Newald set off on what should have been a 3-hour drive to Auckland. He arrived feeling tired and confused, but was even more stunned to learn that he had lost 10 days and had no idea where he had been. He was able to remember being escorted onboard a huge craft by a female humanoid and taken to a room where he was told to wait. Soon he was approached by three humanoids, one tall, looking like the previous female humanoid, the second a little shorter and was male. The third much smaller, and walked ahead of the other two. He described the short humanoid as slightly built with a round head and rather unusual squinty eyes, which were well spaced and placed rather lower than that of humans. He had a very small mouth, no ears were seen, and the nose was barely noticeable. Newald was struck with an almost overpowering feeling of his presence. It was as if the being's energy was being projected and absorbed by his body. The humanoid said, "Welcome," and told Newald that he was the designated "Guardian" of this section. The humanoids communicated mostly by using telepathy. Newald was apparently taken to another "world" where he arrived at a huge city, which was very neat and orderly. He had noticed when the craft had landed that the city lacked any tall buildings and most of its construction was pyramid shaped dwellings and made of what appeared to be some kind of transparent material, just like tinted glass. He also saw large antenna like structures. Some of the buildings resembled those on Earth, but the outer walls were sloped back at a thirty degree angle and set back some distance at each floor level, making them look like steps up on a hill. These were apparently the dwellings, which were mostly circular in shaped or tube like in shape. The color inside the buildings was mostly a pearl white with perhaps a touch of silver gray within. A soft light seemed to radiate from everywhere. After learning much he was eventually returned back home and to his vehicle.

Local resident Ludmila Yanshina was watching the evening television when she suddenly heard the anguish cries of her young daughter, sleeping at the moment in the adjacent room. She rushed in and found the girl crying hysterically. The girl told her mother that while she slept she was suddenly awoken as something pushed her. She sat on the bed filled with fright and looked around the darkened room. There was an area of scattered light directly in front of the bed and within the light stood a medium height figure, similar to a man wearing a tight fitting diver's suit, bulging as if filled with air. It had a round large helmet similar to a balloon which left its face exposed. The suit was dark in color. The face was also dark and according to the girl it was apparently a female but with thin long whiskers hanging under the nose. Terrified the girl asked who she was; the only answer was a strange growling sound. Continuing to growl it suddenly rose up into the air floating in the middle of the bedroom. Terrified the girl hid under the blankets and waited. The growling noise stopped and the girl looked from under the blanket hoping that the strange creature had gone. But the figure, now slightly glowing still stood in the room. Terrified the girl now yelled, “Please leave! I am afraid”! Seconds later the head of the humanoid disappeared leaving behind only the bulging body now floating in mid-air, rocking back and forth. The girl continued to scream as the figure moved back and appeared to decrease in size becoming the size of a fly until it completely vanished. The girl continued screaming terrified after that.

According to Valeriy Dvuzhilnyi who was investigating the case, Soviet Navy personnel observed a glowing object enter the sea off the coast of the Dalniy Vostok area. A naval officer disclosed to Dvuzhilnyi that a recovery operation was immediately initiated and a device described as egg-shaped and about 6 meters long, was retrieved from the seabed by divers and brought ashore. They attempted to penetrate the device with an oxyacetylene flame but without results. The naval officer informed Valeriy that the object was later transported to Vladivostok and then to Moscow. According to researcher Anton Anfalov the object on its side resembled a lenticular or convexo-lens-shaped, matt gray in color, with a slight, not jutting gradual dome on top connected with the rest of the hull and a broad, not high cylindrical base. 6 oval structures, like dark portholes encircled the lower part of the object but nothing could be seen through them. The bottom section and one side of the object were damaged and a thin curved crack was found on its side. Then the object, covered by tarpaulin was loaded upon a railway platform and transported to the east of Moscow to the Central Material Research Institute for a detailed study. In the laboratory the research team was puzzled on how to penetrate inside the object. They tried strong drills, including diamond bits, gas cuttings, etc, but nothing helped, the hull seemed indestructible. Finally they concentrated on the crack on the object's side and expanded it by using laser. It took a long time to melt a 1x1m sized hole on the object's surface. The hull appeared to consist of four layers. In 20 days they made a hole big enough that enabled the research team to penetrate inside the object. The men wore protective suits and gas masks. The object consisted of 3 levels: engine compartment on the bottom section, the main power plant with a reactor which apparently self-destructed or was destroyed by an explosion and the main control room that was on the 2nd level. The control room had a screen, a control panel positioned in semicircle, which had multicolored rectangular key-shaped buttons 2 x 5 cm in size, and 4 small chairs in front. The identity of a dome topped cylinder in the center was later established to have been a holographic projector. The top section was like a garret, apparently air locked to dock with a mother ship.
3 or 4 alien bodies were found on the second level, all dead, two bodies were found sitting on chairs the other was found on the floor. The aliens were about 1.3 – 1.5m in height, two were identical but the third was slightly taller, about 1.6-1.7 m. They had large hairless heads encased in helmets, 6 fingered extremities, and gray-brown colored skin, large round eyes, which were covered with black eye lenses, small ears adjusted to their heads. They were dressed in tight-fitting and very sturdy metallic silver colored suits with a violet tint, with belts and what appeared to be round circles (engravings?) on their chest area. They also wore elbow length gloves. The suits were removed with extreme difficulty, and also the silver-greenish boots and gloves. One body was substantially damaged apparently by the hard impact.
In extreme secrecy, all the bodies were taken to a top-secret alien biological research laboratory NE of Solnechnogorsk (into an underground bunker) by four officers only. The alien blood turned out to be a thick black liquid (shades of the X-files). The object was later transported inside a mountain beyond the Polar Circle on Novaya Zemlya Island, the most secure State Test Range # 6 in the Artic apparently together with most the other crashed UFOs in the USSR and former satellites. Eventually the alien bodies were eventually brought there also. The origin of the disk was possibly later established to have been Zeta-1 Reticuli.

Location. Ai-Petri plateau near Yalta, Crimea, Ukraine
Date: Spring 1989
Time: night
Approximately two and a half years after their initial contact, the tall “Nordic” aliens increased their trust in Viktor as their “agent” on earth, almost like a trusted member of their civilization, both mentally and physically. He was then initiated into one of their most guarded of secrets---he received permission to regularly visit the alien underground portal located under the Ai-Petri plateau, which led into the alien realm (dimension). Viktor stated that the aliens gave him telepathic instructions by means of an implant that they had inserted during their initial contact two years before and was led to the hidden entryway to a shaft on the plateau, which was very difficult to locate among the numerous natural Karst craters scattered all over the area. To his amazement, the earth seemed to move aside, revealing an opening into the ground. He entered the underground chamber and led by his alien instructions went into a shaft and then probably by speed elevator that descended to a great depth approximately 1300 meters under the plateau. He then found himself amid a huge underground cave. Then he was told to stop, and then was told that he was standing near the gateway---the tele-portal chamber to the other dimension. Several tall, generally human looking humanoids about 2 meters in height and dressed in silver-metallic tight-fitting clothing stepped from the portal and had a conversation with the witness. They told Viktor that the other dimension was physically the same as the one on Earth. But there was a substantial time gap between the two dimensions; an hour in that dimension is approximately equal to 5 Earth years. So he was told that if he entered the dimension, he would be lost on Earth for a long time. They also informed him that life in their dimension is mostly underground, in huge cavernous cities connected by extensive network of tunnels with other caves at different levels. Speedy supersonic trains travel in some of the tunnels along with other types of vehicles. The whole Ai-Petri plateau in the other dimension is literally honeycombed with caverns, underground cities and tunnels. The total population is about 23 million people living on the Crimean territory in that dimension. The underground cities and tunnels stretch all over their planet (or dimension which is literally a twin-double of Earth), since life on the surface is not desirable due to the heightened radiation, but atmospheric compound and pressure are almost the same as those on Earth. One of their bases in their dimension is a housing hangar for theirs and other alien spacecraft that arrive there from other dimensions for repairs and auxiliary installations with different equipment. The sky in that dimension is violet in color; the Sun is brighter and has a greenish tint. Like Earth they also have a moon there, but its color is greenish. The aliens explained to Viktor that this was an “intermediate” base used to repair their craft from time to time. The gateway under Ai-Petri plateau consists of interdimensional teleporting conduits for both the humanoids and their spacecraft, which use the portals separately. The aliens operations were very secretive and they are able to camouflage their craft from radar facilities installed at Bedene-Kyr Mountain on the same plateau. Viktor visited this underground chamber or gateway to the other dimension regularly, obtaining instructions from his alien “coordinators”. Viktor told his story only to a couple of his most trusted friends. His friends described him as a very secretive individual that periodically "appeared and disappeared".

A ten-year old girl reported encountering a large glowing object resting on the ground. As she moved closer to the object she saw two short white glowing figures standing near it. The figures were only a few feet tall and the witness interpreted them as being "angels." About the same time an adult witness about a mile away reported seeing a lighted object shoot straight up into the sky from the direction of the girl's encounter.

53-year old A.D. Golovatskaya reported that her daughter called her saying, “Mama, look an aircraft burning!” She looked out the window and saw an unusual flame of golden color. Then the flame changed color to raspberry. They then saw a fiery silver colored elongated craft flying over the small town and leaving an inversion like trace, just like normal aircraft. The UFO then turned; it resembled a tetrahedral about 12meters long, with a blunt nose and a fish-shaped tail. The craft was silent. As soon as the object turned, it emanated a bright beam of light and appeared transparent, as if made out of crystal. Four figures wearing silvery tight-fitting uniforms were seen inside the object. Two humanoids were seen running quickly towards the rear and the two at the front were apparently operating some controls, this last pair was initially sitting but they also stood up and ran towards the rear of the craft. Stunned, Golovatskaya quickly moved away from the window, then came back. The object was now already hovering in the air opposite to the house; she was unable to move being apparently paralyzed.

10-year old Roger S woke up and saw 4 entities about 5’ 6” tall, standing by the bed. They put Roger on a table like device that had no legs or supports. The table was white, glass like and about 2’ wide and 6’ long. The entities put Roger on the table and then floated him over to the bedroom window. They opened the window, and floated the bed along the side of the apartment to a small open field. They then approached a craft that was shaped like two plates one inverted over the other. A door opened up on the side of the craft. His next memory was of standing next to a black glass table with buttons on it.

The entities had heart shaped heads with two giant black eyes, two holes for a nose, a slit for a mouth and were gold in color. They spoke to the witness apparently through telepathy. One of the entities pushed a button on the table and the floor lit up. There was a large screen in the room with a panel under it. On the pane there were numerous buttons. One of the entities pushed a button and the craft went straight up off the ground into the atmosphere, this he saw on the screen. The entities asked Roger what he was, and he replied that he was a human boy. They then took him into another room and showed him a film of his friend Nancy in a hospital. He asked where Nancy was, and they told him that she was on another ship and she will not be reborn because she had been born too many times. He was also shown images of past events and given information on future events. A small floating device approached the witness and apparently took a small skin sample from a sore on one of his fingers. He was then taken to another table where a man was sitting up. He was about 30-years old with blond hair and a mustache. He was then directed to another panel where they told him to push the buttons. Soon the smaller object apparently entered a larger craft. It was white inside the larger ship. They removed his nightclothes and gave him a red suit that clung to him. The suit had some writing on it resembling hieroglyphics. He was then taken into another room and was told by the entities that they could make themselves any shape they wanted. They also showed him a map on the wall that was apparently of America. Soon he was told that he was going to be returned. They left and went into another room that was square and had buttons located in the walls. This room also had a screen on which they showed Roger in bed at home, as his father came into the room to check on him. He was then taken into another room that was described as round or circular in shape. In the middle of the room there was an object that looked like a large clear glass box with two buttons on the side. The entities opened a door on the box and had Roger step into it. Then closed the door behind him. The entities went to a computer like device and started pushing buttons. At that time a flat, square, red laser type light went down over his head to his shoulders and back up again. He was told that they were taking a brain scan. Soon he went into another room that was all black. Apparently in this room they projected a 3-D imager or Roger skiing down a slope when he was older. After other preview of future events, Roger was taken into a round room. In this room there were some entities that were different. They looked like the others, but their skin appeared “orange.” Their eyes were blurry black, and they had only three fingers. He asked about them and was told that these were “women.” Also in this room there was a very large entity that Roger said he only came up to the middle of his thighs. He looked like the others except he was wearing a robe with writing on it. Another entity with blue tight fitting clothing that was about Roger’s height and very muscular was also present. There was another alien somewhat smaller than the larger one and wearing a black cape and a helmet. All three left the room while Roger was still there. After some questioning about reproduction, he was taken into another very large room. This room had a lot of glass cages with different animals in them. Some of the animals were normal earth animals, but others were bizarre mixtures of different animals. Soon Roger was taken into the smaller craft, which then left the large craft and flew back to Earth. The aliens took him back into his house through the front door and led him into his room. All during the encounter Roger was followed by a small red sphere or probe. In one of the rooms he was shown a screen, in which he saw humans wearing uniforms with NASA emblems that were apparently experimenting on some aliens laying on cots or beds.

Later after resting and relaxing he remembered appearing inside a lighted sphere. There he met strange entities wearing white clothing and carrying strange devices. The entities communicated with him telepathically and he understood them perfectly. The entities apparently gave him something to eat and then sent him back. The South African naval frigate ‘SA Tafalberg” radioed Cape Town naval HQ to report a UFO that had appeared on radar scopes heading toward the African continent in a north westerly direction at a calculated speed of 5746 nautical miles per hour. The object was also confirmed by airborne radar and military ground installations. The object entered South African air space. Radio contact was attempted with the object, but all communications proved futile. Two armed Mirage fighters were scrambled. The object changed course at great speed. Soon squadron leader Peter Goosen reported radar and visual confirmation of the object. The order was given to arm and fire and experimental aircraft mounted Thor 2 laser cannon at the object. The pilots reported several blinding flashes emanating from the object; it then started wavering whilst still heading in a northerly direction. It then began decreasing altitude at a rate of 3000 feet per minute and impacted in desert terrain 80km north of the South African border near Molepolole. A crater 150 meters in diameter and 12 meters in depth was found. Also a silver colored disc shaped object 45 degrees embedded inside of the crater. Around the object sand and rocks were fused together by the intense heat. An intense magnetic and radioactive environment around the object resulted in electronic failure in air force equipment. The craft was taken to a classified air force base. While the investigating team observed the object, a loud sound was heard. A hatch or entrance on the lower side of the craft opened slightly. Two humanoid entities clothed in tight fitting gray suits emerged and were promptly taken to a makeshift medical center. Various objects were taken from inside the craft to be analyzed. The craft was placed in a sterile environment. The humanoids were described as 4 to 4.5 feet tall, a light grayish blue complexion, and smooth skin texture. Devoid of any bodily hair. An oversize head in relation to human proportions, a raised cranium area with dark blue markings extended around the head. The face had prominent cheekbones with large slanted eyes, no pupils seen. A small nose consisting of two nostrils, a small slit like mouth, a wide jaw. They had long thin arms reaching just above the knees. Hands consisted of three digits with webbed claw like nails. The torso chest and abdomen was covered in scaled ribbed skin, hips small and narrow. The legs short and thin. No exterior sexual organs seen. Feet consisted of three webbed toes, no nails. Due to the aggressive nature of the humanoids no samples of blood or tissue could be taken. When offered various foods, they refused to eat. Method of communication is not known, suspect telepathic. Currently the humanoids are being kept in detention at a classified air force base awaiting further results of investigation. Recently additional information was obtained on this supposed crash. A crater 150 meters in diameter and 12 meters in depth was found. Inside the silver colored disc-shaped object 45 degrees embedded inside of the crater into the ground. Around the object sand and rocks were fused together by the intense heat. An intense magnetic and radioactive environment around the object resulted in electronic failure in air force equipment. The craft was then transported to the Valhalla-Pretoria South African Air Force Base. There were three entities plus a human inside a chamber filled with liquid. This human reacted to the Norwegian language several months later after recovering from a coma-like state.

Additional more correct details:

The object was reported to have been oval or lens-shaped, 18 meters in diameter with 3 landing props---3 aliens bodies (including 2 alive, one that died soon afterwards, the second was eventually moved to the S-4 facility). A Norwegian man (apparently abducted by these aliens) was found onboard inside the cabin, submerged into a special oil-like liquid. NORAD apparently tracked the object as it fell to earth. An experimental impulse ray SDI weapon was used to expedite the downing of the disk, which had apparently had already experienced some technical problems. South African and American personnel illegally crossed the Botswana border in order to retrieve the craft. The bodies and some materials were moved to the US in a C-5A Galaxy cargo airplane from South Africa. The origin of the craft was apparently HD 5015 Cassiopeia, Tauaos star system, 60 light years distant. 2 midget gray aliens, 3 fingered, 90cm in height, both alive were taken to Wright Patterson and then to S-4. 1 alien died soon, the second lived for some time at S-4. The third was already dead when found onboard. The surviving alien was interrogated in the S-4 facility by a special MJ-12 operative with paranormal powers. At tape copy of the event was allegedly stolen by a government employee named "Victor".

A local 20-year old woman named Linda was visited by several alien beings that penetrated inside her apartment and awoke her. She saw three alien figures in her bedroom; two were typical "Nordic blond type" male and female, and the third entity a robotic type. Both Nordics were dressed in tight-fitting silver suits, resembling fish scales. Both had light wavy hair (the woman shoulder length and the man somewhat shorter). The woman wore a belt around waist resembling a bandolier (ammunition belt) and pearly shiny in nature. The woman approached the witness, who could see that the stranger had large beautiful blue eyes, which radiated light. She communicated telepathically. Among many different things she said was that the "bandolier" was actually a "universal device" and they use it to "dematerialize" and compress and vanish their robot, or restore it back to visible matter. The aliens then invited Linda to look at their spacecraft which was hovering outside the window. She agreed and looked out the window and saw the craft hovering at a very close proximity. She described the craft as being boomerang shaped or wing-shaped with rounded ends. It had a hemispherical protrusion in the center top with a broad window covered with a net-like structure. On top of the dome were three antennas, resembling feelers---one vertical and the other 2 on the sides. Two circular columns of light were projected down to earth from the craft. The "Nordic" aliens told Linda that they had settled the Earth from a far distant planet on another solar system. They consist of "another substance" and were more developed. They warned her about several dangers that she would face in the future. They also told the witness that they were capable of making "pure conception, grow people of the 6th race and missionaries". The aliens also told Linda that she was an "extraterrestrial being" her soul incarnated into a human body. The male alien told Linda that his name was "Zike". After the conversation was over the aliens departed and re-entered their craft. Linda then noticed that the craft emanated a whistling and hissing sound during takeoff and the antennas moved inside. The craft then tilted slightly and then shot away at incredible speed quickly vanishing from sight. Apparently Linda would have further contacts with the same aliens. Zike told the witness that he was her guardian for 10 more years and when she turned 30 another alien will take his place.

D.A. struck the "cloud" with his fist and felt a strong repellent force. Then, taking a running jump he flew shoulder first into the cloud. After flying through the cloud the witness found himself in an unknown location. While on the hill it had been evening and cold, the place where he was now was covered with bright sunshine and hot, he also felt hot sand under his feet. Instead of bushes he saw trees resembling palms. He could not see a river anywhere but saw what appeared to be a large ocean; he was apparently standing close to seashore. Soon D.A. saw an "amazing car" approach his location, he had never seen such a similar vehicle before. There were 3 persons in the vehicle, a man and two women. They greeted the witness in perfect Russian and invited him for a short drive. He agreed, feeling no fear just curiosity. Soon they arrived at what appeared to be a kind of "laboratory." When they entered the lab the strangers called him over "Hey military man" (he was wearing a military shirt) and kindly asked him to take some "tests", which he agreed to do. He was asked many different questions which D.A. patiently answered. He then dared to ask the strangers who they were. He was told that they hailed from the 21st century (what year?) and added that if he wanted he could stay with them. D.A. refused mentioning his wife, family and children. "Well, many people disappear (!)", said the strangers and soon brought him back into the very same blanket-like cloud that hovered close to the ground at the same location. There D.A. asked another question, "Here we have many troubles, changes, "Perestroika" etc", what will happen?" The stranger then assured him that everything would be fine. He passed through the cloud without any hindrance and appeared in the same hill. His friend met him in a very excited state, screaming, “Where have you been? Didn’t you hear me calling you?” He was obviously very irate. They then both sat near the fire and talked about what had occurred. Suddenly a wave of fear swept over the men, and both gazed towards the bushes, they believed that the origin of the fear was located within those bushes. D.A.’s friend took out his rifle and yelled to whomever he thought was hiding behind the bushes, threatening to shoot him or it. Nothing was heard in response. He shot into the bushes and the fear suddenly dissipated.

Julio Rodriguez and a friend were driving on Route 324 enroute to La Parguera when they were surprised to see, rising out of some woods on the side of the road, a large circular Saturn-shaped craft, surrounded in a reddish glow. The object, which was emitting a buzzing sound, tilted at a 45-degree angle and disappeared at high speed towards the southeast. Rodriguez accelerated the vehicle and as they rounded a curve near the wooded area they were again surprised to see parked at the edge of the road, two vehicles, a black van with tinted windows and a small brown old model Toyota. Inside the Toyota there was a normal looking individual wearing civilian clothing and a hat. In the van there was two very tall pale men, with low-cut blond hair, wearing dark blue coveralls and dark sunglasses. Rodriguez & his friend approached the men thinking they had also seen the object, yelling, “Did you see it”! It was incredible!” But the two men remained in the vehicle, completely ignoring Rodriguez & his friend, staring fixedly ahead very still, seemingly annoyed with his presence. Taken aback both then walked over to the Toyota and asked the same thing to its occupant, but the stranger in the Toyota remained quiet and avoided their stares, attempting to conceal his face with the hat. Somewhat concerned & afraid both witnesses then drove away from the area.

According to him he was absent for only two hours. He reportedly was taken onboard white spherical object with a cupola on top by two humanoids. Inside he saw armchairs and windows. As he looked out the window he saw his native village quickly receding away, then all around the "spacecraft" he could see stars. Soon he was in another planet, where the climate was tolerable, there were plenty of green trees and there were structures similar to those on earth, pink in color, above the structures he could see luminous crosses. The lights approached, first fading then igniting again, forming a strange semi-circle near him. The semi circle approaches quickly, Sergey, who had trouble pronouncing words and could only barely move his left hand, suddenly feels like he is loosing control of his will and feels mesmerized by the lights. The lights reached the balcony and out of them a tall man appears. The man is wearing a snuggly fitting white suit, and has long blond hair. He approaches Sergey and seems to wave his hand over him several times. Sergey remembers becoming extremely hot, and feeling nauseous. He then loses consciousness. When he came to he saw the greenish lights ascending from the balcony. He felt a sense of novelty and of something familiar. He felt healthy and energized; he rose and was able to move both of his hands freely. He wore large boots and matching gloves of a darker color, which was attached to his suit. A dark divers helmet that also covered his face covered his head, and his complexion appeared to be black and smooth. His breathing was regular, identical in intensity, and loud, perfectly synchronized every 4 or 5 seconds. The figure took quick steps in an erect position, with arms and legs movements fast paced, more than normal, and very strict and synchronized. As he walked by the witnesses these attempted to attract his attention by making sounds and whistling, but the figure never reacted to it and ignored them. He continued his fast pace until he was lost from sight inside a darkened street.

The witness, Ludmila Ivanovna Selykh had just left her work at the local power plant and was waiting for the train on the platform at the Farforovskaya station when she noticed a strange spectacle. Hovering at an altitude of a two story house and not to far from her location there was a cigar-shaped "cloud" reddish-raspberry in color, resembling a burning iron. All other passengers had already left the station and she found herself all alone on the platform. After admiring the uncommon color of the cigar shaped "cloud" Ludmila's attention was directed to a nearby path which connected the station with the main street. The path was obscured by a wall but on the bottom there was an opening and she could see a pair of feet walking up towards the station, silently without making any noise. The color of the feet which were encased in boots was shiny metallic black. As the figure appeared at the end of the path Ludmila was astonished to see a bizarre humanoid with a flat body and totally lacking buttocks, its body was flat with a thickness of no more than 20cm in the waist area which was a brown metallic color. Its arms were bent at the elbows and pressed against its body. It had a wide back and muscular arms. A black shiny suit totally covered the otherwise emaciated figure, which was connected to an elliptical shaped helmet, which completely covered its head. There were no seams or folds. On the middle of the helmet there was a flange-like protrusion. On the lower side of the flange there were numerous protrusions about 14mm each, which projected semi-circular tips dark in color and about 6mm in diameter. On the left side of the helmet protruded a spoke-like rod with a thickness of 3-

4mm and about 10-12mm in length with a tiny ball at the end. Both the helmet and the suit were of one single tone color, the height of the figure was about 3 meters. Suddenly without any warning, Ludmila seemed to slip; she had the impression that someone had pushed her left leg. She perceived a severe pain in her shins. She looked down and realized that her legs were paralyzed and were not obeying her. She looked up and noticed that the bizarre figure had now half turned and was looking at her. The figure held its hand up, showing a five-digit finger. The front of the helmet which was noticeably thicker than the remaining part of the figure had an horizontal transparent strip about 30mm in width and about 200mm in length, and through it the witness noticed a pair of large gray eyes, almond-shaped with dazzling white centers. There were no eyebrows or nose evident. Also on the front section of the helmet there were two very bright gold-color beams which illuminated everything around them. As the strange humanoid stared at Ludmila she suddenly experienced severe chest pain and something incomprehensible occurred as Ludmila suddenly saw her herself standing away from her body, she saw the entire scene in a vivid green color. Apparently she then lost consciousness and does not remember what happened next. Sometime later Ludmila found herself crawling on all fours. Several village residents had previously seen strange flashes of light in the sky. Later on an elderly woman was doing some household chores when she heard a loud bang from outside. She ran out and found her granddaughter in a state of shock. The girl told her that she had seen a large white cloud form in the garden then the figure of a giant, almost 8 meters tall appeared. He seemed to be totally encased in mist and was slightly deformed. He suddenly disappeared in plain sight emitting a loud banging sound. Large footprints were found at the site of the encounter.

The witness was sleeping on the couch that night, when she suddenly woke up feeling very apprehensive. She felt a strong buzzing sound in her head and became completely paralyzed. Next thing she knew it was already 0500A. Later the witness was able to remember that several 3 to 4 foot tall humanoids with very thin arms and smallish heads, had appeared in her room and had taken her up through the roof. They pointed at a large dark boomerang-shaped object overhead and told her that it was a "light portal", she was then taken onboard. Inside the ship she saw an enormous ziggurat shaped ship, ringed with white running lights at each level. She was told that it was a "light ship" that traveled inter-dimensionally on light particles. The beings also talked about the human perception of dying and the existence of many other dimensions. A few nights prior to this incident the same witness had several small beings in her room and had gone immediately to sleep.

A local angler, Orlando Cataquet was returning from fishing in the beach area when he noticed a group of bright white points of light hovering and turning just above the ground nearby. The man chased the lights and suddenly lost them behind a small tree. As the witness walked behind the tree he came upon two very tall men standing next to a boulder on the ground. One held his hand on his chest and told the witness not to approach, suddenly there was a flash of light and the witness felt paralyzed unable to move. The two men were described as very tall and identical in appearance, with light skin, blue eyes and light brown shoulder length hair, they were well built and strong. They both wore brilliant white tunics with an open V-neck. They spoke to the witness and warned him of a coming catastrophe, they said that the earth was going to become a cold desolate planet once more. He was then told to turn around and remain still. He then felt a heat blast behind him and saw a bright flash. The two men had disappeared. Later at home he realized that he had lost 3 hours of time and could only remember seeing a long sleek submarine like object that used energy from the water for its propulsion.

In the mountainous region several dozens of km east of the town there was a reported UFO crash that was immediately cordoned off by Saddam Hussein's military, the craft was seized, evacuated, studied and kept hidden at a top secret location. He crashed alien spacecraft made a long trench in the ground. The vehicle was shaped like a cylinder, or more precisely, like a bullet, about 12 meters long and 2.5 meters in diameter, silver in color, reflecting the Sun. Its front section was a sharpened and cone-shaped, and the rear section was flat. There was an opening in the rear section, through which the human research personnel entered the craft. The body of one dead alien pilot was found inside. The alien was Asian in appearance, about 1.5 meters in height, with a large head, large eyes, 4 fingered hands. The second member of the craft left the object via an escape capsule that had been located at the rear of the craft. A few days later, Iraqi soldiers in the nearby mountains caught the second alien who had escaped form the crash site. The entity was obviously frightened and emitted loud squeaking sounds. Saddam's military command was afraid that other aliens would arrive to save the crew and the craft, so the recovery was made expeditiously. Elite Iraqi military units cordoned off the craft and transported it at night to nearby Erbil Province where a special underground tunnel with hangar was constructed to study and hide the craft. Natural caves existing in that region were used for that purpose. The body of the pilot was also moved there into a special cryogenic container. This area is located in a sparsely populated region in the mountains east of Erbil. The entity that survived lived in Iraqi custody at an underground base or bunker near Baghdad or Tikrit for 2 weeks, after that it died. The body of the second alien was then moved to the same location of the craft. Unfortunately for Saddam no information was given by the alien, despite persistent Iraqi attempts to interrogate it. These entities were some sort of biological robots, and their civilization apparently had no more need of them or their damaged vessel. In 1989 Saddam Hussein along with some of his most trusted allies visited the secret underground facility and inspected the crashed object and the alien body. This possibly inspired Saddam to invade Kuwait a year later. In 2003 American Special Forces teams fruitlessly searched for the crashed spaceship. Saddam had apparently given orders to blow up the entrance to the cave and to bury the spacecraft, the alien body and all the evidence, to prevent seizure of them by the Americans. The possible origin of this spacecraft is the greenish double star HD 62323 in the Canis Minoris Constellation.

The witnesses described the entities as typical "grays" about 1 meter in height, with absolutely hairless heads, and lipless mouths. At first the witnesses thought they had stumbled upon a group of circus freaks dwarfs but upon closer inspection realized that they were indeed totally alien in nature. During the next 7 years investigators for VAUFON attempted to track all 12 of the witnesses with startling grim results. 3 of the witnesses had been killed in car accidents, 5 had been diagnosed with brain tumors in which two had already required surgery. Six children between the age of 12 and 8 were coming from the river when one of them, noticed a kite hovering in the sky over the area. Attracted by the kite the children then saw a tiny luminous round point approaching. The object then descended increasing in size, as it got closer. The object came down and moved over some bushes, stopped and opened up. The upper and lower hemispheres parted horizontally and separated vertically as they began to pulse with light. It was possible to see background bushes between them. The edges of the hemisphere looked like saw-teeth. Soon after landing a human like figure without a head appeared between the separated hemispheres and descended to the ground. It went up the field in the direction of the countryside. After three steps, the humanoid turned and everybody noticed that the figure was tall, taller than a man, but was very thin. His arms were very long, reaching to below his knees. He wore gray coveralls and his boots were black. In the middle of his chest was a bright yellow luminous disc. The disc was pulsating bright and dim. His walk was unnatural. It moved like a robot, his knees did not bend. The light of the craft was still pulsating; it then changed its brightness and seemed to disappear. Two local residents from the city, Andrey and his wife Olga (both about 35 years of age) were returning home, near their house they saw a car suddenly appear with its headlights switched on, but without any inside lights. The car had suddenly appeared out of nowhere, it was similar to a foreign (Japanese) car but it was moving absolutely soundless. The married couple stepped back and saw the strange "car" move ahead and stop. Someone walked out of the vehicle, but it was difficult to discern its features because of the darkness. The couple then walked towards the strange car and saw the strange occupant of the vehicle. It was a 2 meter tall lanky entity, its head shaped like a pear, or a skull and emanated a greenish glow from within. It had huge eyes which occupied most of its face. The witnesses became numb with fear and using great effort hurried quickly away, walking ahead and sitting on a bench to rest. Suddenly Olga stood up and as if hypnotized began walking back to the strange vehicle. Andrey rushed after her, attempting to turn her back and trying to snap her out of her somnambular state, but it did not help. So he grabbed her and held her back, as the strange alien figure floated by them entered his "car" and "drove" away. At this point Olga became hysterical. Later she explained that she had momentarily lost her will and had been paralyzed. During the next two weeks Olga could not sleep in darkened rooms and was always switching on the light.

As the witness slept in her apartment she suddenly awoke feeling a strange oppressive atmosphere around her. She opened her eyes and saw a humanoid figure bending down over her. The figure was short, about 130cm, and looked intently at the witness. The figure had a grayish green pale facial complexion. It had large dark pupil less eyes. Heavy skin folds covered the head and body of the creature. It had what appeared to be a thin beard and appeared to be elderly. A second humanoid now appeared next to the first one. This one was somewhat shorter and appeared younger, both resembled aged "gnomes". Both figures then floated back from the bed and vanished. At this point what appeared to be a tennis ball size sphere of light appeared in their place. The sphere disappeared into the next room and then flew out an opened window.

It was the 3rd day of Tatyana Vasilievna Goloveshko's vacation on the Black Sea coast. She had come with her husband Vladimir and daughter Anyuta. It was a sultry, humid night and the windows of the flat were opened. The witness was having trouble sleeping so she lay in bed staring at the wall. Suddenly she heard some sounds which sounded like footsteps. She turned sharply, as if something had compelled her to do that and glanced out the window. There she saw 2 humanoid figures, greenish-gray in color. Both entities were on the loggia near the refrigerator and table. Apparently both stood on top of the table and refrigerator, because their heads almost touched the ceiling, both suddenly jumped to the floor revealing their dwarf-size stature. At first she thought that she must have been hallucinating but the experience was obviously quite real. One was taller and lighter in color, the second more shadowy in appearance. The carpet seemed to move like a wave as one of the aliens penetrated through the window and began approaching her husband's bed. Tatyana blinked briefly and as she opened her eyes the strange humanoid was now standing over her. The entity was small, only about 130cm in height. She was sure that she felt no fear; she only felt curiosity and amazement. The entity bent low over her body staring at her body. The figure seemed to be wrapped in a matt gray-green light. His skin was very pale and his face seemed "bloodless", the head pear-shaped, with the broader part below (pyriform). The entity was staring fixedly at the witness with eyes that resembled deep black holes or hollows, the entity had no eyebrows, only folds of skin and no eyelashes. The entity also lacked a neck, with folds of skin instead of neck. Remarkably the being had a short beard. The witness had the impression that the being was elderly or aged; it was not a visual observation but more like a "feeling". She saw only the being's upper part, the head. She clearly felt that the entity prevented her from moving her head down. She felt torpid and paralyzed. She was unable to move her arms or say a word. Her heart was beating intensively, and unwilling tears filled her eyes. The 2nd alien was identical to the first one, only smaller in height. Both resembled "ancient gnomes". An idea suddenly popped in her head mentioning her daughter and she immediately became fearful that something would happen to her daughter. But she could only stare mesmerized at the strange pair. Then both of them slowly moved back from her bed, floating just above the floor and in the next moment she heard a strange sound like a muffled shot, she then turned her head but both "gnomes" had disappeared, dissolving into thin air. The carpet now looked normal also. Moments later the witness saw a spherical lighted object fly into the room, like ball lighting, the size of a tennis ball, leaving a smoky trail behind. The flying ball of light was making a hissing or crackling sound. Tatyana became frightened, believing that the strange sphere was ball-lighting. The ball of light then quickly flew into the other room and then returned the same way and flew out the opened window. She jumped from her bed and rushed to close all the windows in the apartment. She thought she heard another muzzled sound, the time was 0240A. She then went into the game and also closed the door there and when she returned to her bedroom she distinctly felt an oppressive air and a specific smell like that of hot iron. In the morning she realized that all the clocks in the apartment had stopped at exactly 0255A. The television set was also ruined.

The woman then turned her attention on the mushrooms and asked for some for her to take. At this point the witness noticed a man standing nearby, similarly dressed. The woman made a gesture to the man not to approach. One of the witnesses then invited the strange woman to come with them, but she declined. Soon a luminous screen with images appeared on the woman's breast and she ordered the witnesses to turn around and walk away, not to look back. The woman immediately thought that the stranger was a “typical alien” and dared to step out of her house. The stranger immediately stopped what he was doing and moved away from the flowerbed. The woman then asked, “Why do you to come here? Why do you worry us? The alien answered, “We brought you a contagion. But you die slowly. So now we brought you another contagion, a more effective one” (!!). The humanoid spoke in perfect Russian in a normal human voice. His behavior was quite, but he never let the woman come close to him and began walking away towards the opposite plot of land near the river. The woman followed him and screamed bitterly, “Why is that, why?” She then heard a voice from afar, “It must be done in that matter”. The encounter lasted for about 2-3 minutes. The room was circled with what appeared to be a control panel with numerous red blinking lights. Two very tall figures then entered the room; she could not see their faces and noted that their bodies were somewhat "flat". To her questions as far as where they were from, she was told that they came from a point in space approximately 23 thousand light years away; she could not memorize the name of the planet. They told her not to fear that they meant her no harm. She was then completely undressed and was examined on a table. She was unable to move or speak during the whole examination. Soon she lost consciousness again and woke up the next morning at home in very poor health. Her blood pressure was extremely high and she could not move from bed. However after two days she returned to normal. After this encounter the witness gained the ability of astral flight. Armed with a knife Apolonio Perez (involved in a bizarre incident back in May 10) went out searching the hills and wooded areas after he had seen mysterious lights, in the hope of finding the "aliens" he thought responsible for the grievous injuries to his face.

Soon he noticed three figures approaching his location from a nearby hill. Thinking they could have been drug traffickers he hid behind a tree. He soon noticed that the strange figures were each one riding a large horse and were wearing flowing red capes. As the strangers neared, he was confused as to the sudden disappearance of the horses as a dog-like creature appeared among the strangers. He could now see details on the men and noticed that one was a man about 30 years of age, with brown hair, heavy set and about 1.75 to 1.80 m in height, the other two were similar in appearance but somewhat older but with "youngish" faces. The men soon spotted Perez and approached his location, he could now see they wore tight-fitting, one-piece metallic suits; they had normal sized slanted eyes and high foreheads. They had penetrating stares and their skin seemed bronze red in color, he could see what appeared to be birthmarks on their faces. One of the "older" beings now approached Perez and told him that they were "lost" that they were looking for a certain ridge. Thinking that he might be able to find out who they really were, Perez volunteered to take them there. On the way there one of the beings asked Perez if he was the one that lived in the solitary shack. He confirmed this fact and noticed that the men looked at each with surprised looks and attempted to cover their faces. Encourage as to what he perceived was fear, Perez asked the men what planet they were from. At this point he also noticed that the men wore small thin boots and gloves. He also asked them what was their business here on earth. This question caused a strange reaction between the men, they seemed to tremble with fear and separate from each other. Later, Perez asked the same questions and perceived the same reaction. Soon they reached the ridge and Perez informed the men. One of them thanked him, still obviously showing some fear and then one of the "older" beings fired off some flashes of light, which apparently caused the horses and "dog" to suddenly appear out of nowhere. The men mounted the animals and disappeared at great speed down the ridge. Two weeks at night, Perez saw the three same beings approaching from the nearby hill this time floating just above the ground. They stopped in front of his house. Incredibly, one of the strangers then asked Perez the location of the very same ridge they had been looking for before. At this point Perez noticed that on one of the being's head there appeared to be two short shiny metallic antennae-like protrusions; he suddenly experienced severe mental confusion and a state of stupor. He went back inside and went to bed. Soon he recuperated and ran out to look for the strangers but these had vanished. He has not seen them since.

An unidentified clear radar signal was detected in the area near the town of Prohladnyi in the North Caucasus by Soviet military radio technical units near the North Caucasus Mountains. The object did not respond to acknowledgement signals on the radar screens and was labeled as "hostile". Air defense systems were alerted, including surface to air missile units, and MIG 25 Foxbat interceptors from Rostov and Krymsk bases and SU-15's from Sleptsovskaya were scrambled, with the task to identify and force the object to land, but these failed to intercept the UFO. After the failed interception the order was given to arm and use weapons. Also units on the ground were notified. A surface to air missile was launched by the 481 Air Defense anti aircraft missile regiment in Ardon, which incredibly struck the UFO. The radar tracked the object's fall over the Arik Ridge. A search and rescue party onboard a MI-8 Hip helicopter was dispatched and found the disk in the mountainous area somewhere in an area between the villages of Novoye Hamidiye and Nizhniy Kurp. It was a small disk with a bell-shaped dome, about 6.2 to 6.9 meters in diameter and about 3.5 meters high. It was found and recovered by military amid the bushes and rocks near the mountainous ridge. I had crashed upside down, with the cupola on its bottom. The color of the hull was a dull gray. The object had an opened door on its hull, which opened like an elevator. Three small landing props were on the bottom, one of them damaged. The disk smashed into the rocky surface with great impact creating a deep ridge. The crash site was cordoned off, and a special research team wearing protection suits and carrying dosimeters were dispatched to the place. Radiation was detected coming from the crashed vehicle and precaution methods were set in place, thought some of the military personnel did receive extremely high radiation doses. Upon examination of the object, the partially opened door was accessed and entry into the object was gained. Inside the cabin, together with simple smooth control panels and other equipment, 3 aliens were found, sprawled on the cabin's floor, two were dead and the third was moving slightly with obvious signs of life. The damaged equipment onboard the object apparently crushed the other two aliens. It was obvious that the surviving alien had been trying to exit the craft and had opened the door from inside, but did not succeed in exiting as a result of his almost fatal wounds and his general state of confusion. Unfortunately the medic's attempt to save the entity's life failed and the being died short thereafter after it was extracted out of the disk. The beings were about 1.5 meters high, pot-bellied, with white-grayish skin. They had large hairless heads, almost round large black eyes, covered with eyelids (as was established during an autopsy) long extremities and had six long fingers. As was established, two of the beings had died on impact. The MI-8 Hip chopper transported the object to Mozdok Air Base that housed nuclear warheads and TU-95 Bear strategic bombers at the time. A team of military specialists arrived by aircraft from Moscow and performed preliminary examination on the crashed vehicle, these included specialists from Scientific and Technical Committees of the Air Defense, experts from Lubertsy NII-13 scientific research institute and from some other military research institutes, including KGB and GRU. The autopsy on the aliens was conducted at a bunker in the Moscow region and their further preservation was secured in glassy containers at a top-secret underground bunker, isolated amid the forests, and under a building on the territory of the military space forces biomedical research center east of Solnechnogorsk. Later the bodies were moved to an underground base on Novaya Zemlya Island beyond the Polar Circle. From Mozdok the damage disk was delivered to the territory of Kapustin Yar State Central Range # 4 and placed into an underground bunker west of Ahryomkin. Eventually (in 1992) the disk was transported to Novaya Zemlya Island.

Date: August 12 1989
Time: night
Shot downed by another UFO during a dogfight an extraterrestrial disk was damaged by some type of alien beam weapon. The craft lost control and fell at very high speed on a flat terrain outside the State Central Test Range # 4 at Kapustin Yar. The crash was probably noticed by military personnel or reported to them and a retrieval team was sent to the range. UFO observations over Kapustin Yar State Central Test Range # 4 on the night of July 28-29 1989 had caused a stir (confirmed by authentic KGB documents). This was another case and the military was informed about the downed disk-shaped object partially embedded on the ground, in a tilted position. The disk was about 5 to 8 meters in diameter, convexo, shaped like a lens. Its surface was ideally smooth, seamless, silver metallic, indicating evident non-terrestrial technology, with a broad and slight not jutting gradual dome on top connected in the same line with the rest of the hull and a broad cylindrical base. The bottom section and one side of the object were substantially damaged by the hard impact, with numerous dents and a narrow curved crack on its side. The incident was immediately reported to the Minister of Defense of the USSR Marshall Dmitriy T. Yazov and the chairman of the KGB, etc. Soon a special order was issued by the Military Space Forces of the USSR to the Commander of Kapustin Yar range to dispatch a retrieval team to the crash site. (Mr. Pavel Laptinov of Saint Petersburg saw the written order himself in 1999).The operation was conducted to isolate the rest of the military on the range from any knowledge of the incident, and to enlist only specially selected people called from outside (mostly from Moscow) to the recovery and research procedures. Under the cover of night the crash site was immediately cordoned off and the disk was removed to an isolated hangar on the territory of Kapustin Yar Sate Central Range # 4. The object was then covered by anti-radiation foil & tarpaulin. The research site where the disk had been hidden was almost completely isolated from the rest of the range in order to prevent any leakage of information. The scientific research military team was gathered in top secrecy in a short amount of time after the incident and had been dispatched by airplane to the range to study the disk inside the hangar. The research team made different attempts to penetrate inside the disk, using different equipment. They tried strong drills, diamond tip ones, gas cutting, but nothing helped, the hull appeared very durable. Finally expensive and heavy laser equipment that was brought to the site helped. They concentrated their efforts on the crack in the object's side and expanded it by laser. The hull consisted of 4 layers. In about 20 days they made the hole large enough enabling the research team to penetrate inside, who were dressed in protective suits and gas masks. Soon the research team finally penetrated inside the craft. The object consisted of 3 levels inside, an engine compartment on the lower level; the main power plant apparently self-destructed automatically. The main control room was on the 2nd level had a screen, a main control panel positioned in a semicircle with multicolored rectangular key-shaped buttons 2 x 5 cm in size, like keys on a piano, positioned in 3 rows and 4 small round chairs. Identity of the dome-shaped cylinder in the center of the cabin's floor was later identified as a holographic projector. The top level was like a garret, apparently an air lock. Four alien bodies were found on level 2, all dead, mostly next to the chairs. The aliens were about 1.3, 1.4m in height, two were the same and a third was slightly taller, about 1.5-1.6m. They had large hairless heads covered with helmets with 4 webbed fingers, greenish-yellow-brown skin, and thin long arms, like that of a monkey, long narrow legs and necks, huge slanted frog like eyes covered by black eye lenses, just a protrusion with 2 openings on the place of a nose, small and narrow slit-like mouth, tiny ears pressed to the rear part of their heads, and long thin hands. They were dressed in tight-fitting and very durable suits of metallic silver color with a violet tint, with belts and round circles on their chest areas. They had long elbow length gloves. The suits were removed with difficulty, along with the silver-greenish boots and gloves. One of the bodies was substantially damaged by the hard impact. In general, the beings were similar to those found in the disk that crashed in Latvia in the early 1990s. In extreme secrecy the bodies were immediately removed from the disk, placed inside the hangar and put into special support containers to preserve biological materials. These containers were then loaded on a military cargo aircraft and moved to an aerodrome in the Moscow area. From there the bodes were removed to a special KGB biomedical laboratory outside the town of Solnechnogorsk northwest of Moscow (as well as other alien bodies from other UFO crashes, Poland, Latvia, etc) where they were autopsied and hidden in underground bunkers by only 4 officers. During the autopsy yellow-greenish alien blood appeared quickly reacting with oxygen, apparently copper-based. A Soviet engineering team succeeded in a detailed study of the disk from inside, but the technology was hard to understand. Metal alloys were properly analyzed, different parts were taken from the disk and moved outside the range to different military industrial and R&D institutions for analyses (including Vnukovo alien material research underground lab southwest of Moscow). The disk was not moved to the research centers in populated areas by reasons of secrecy. In around 1991 or 1992 the disk had been removed from Kapustin Yar range to Novaya Zemlya Island base in the Artic region (a former nuclear State Central Range # 6) where is still hidden today in a specially constructed artificial cave. The alien bodies were also taken there. Other UFOs have also been stored at this location, including a small non-piloted probe which crashed and was recovered in Latvia in either 1991 or 1992.

Working at a cotton irrigation plant Vasiliy Ivanovich suddenly experienced total equipment failure without any apparent cause. While searching for the cause of the breakdown, the witness heard a loud voice, “He is searching for the cause”. Looking around he saw four humanoids standing close to him. One stood in the front, while the other three stood in the back. He described the humanoids as tall, with long dangling arms, with a large head, flattened on the top and wide at the temples. The humanoids are dark red or brown in color with large egg-shaped eyes and two holes instead of a nose. They have no lips, and thin strip instead of a mouth. They were wearing truncated shiny blue coveralls and footwear. The humanoid standing at the front of the others held a box in his hand and a soft pleasant voice seemed to emanate from the box. He held the box at stomach level. Ivanovich approached the humanoids and asked who they were; the reply was a question asking him if he wanted to go with them. At this point the witness saw a light at the edge of the nearby woods and a hovering object. The humanoids then floated slowly towards the craft and disappeared. Terrified the witness ran to the village to notify other witnesses but upon returning to the site the humanoids had already left.

10-year old Anya was alone at home in a small one-story house located on the right bank of a local river (her parents were at work at usually returned very late at night). She was watching television and the windows were closed and partially covered with blinds. Suddenly several lighted flew into the living room. The spheres circled amid the room in midair, emitting a buzzing sound and leaving behind something that looked like lighted dotted lines. The television set began to malfunction and it finally dimmed completely. The blinds on the windows suddenly were somehow pulled up, as if from a strong wind and after that a “carpet” on a rug began to move in a wavy manner. Anya was stunned but incredibly felt no fear. Then something that resembled a medusa or jellyfish appeared at the window. The creature had no visible eyes, but it had large eye sockets which emitted a bright light from inside. The strange creature was looking into the apartment and moved its head from side to side. The distance from the ground to the window at that location was no less than 2.5m so the entity was quite tall. In a second window the girl saw another creature of the same type that was also peeping inside. Both humanoids emitted a faint blue-yellow-greenish light. Anya distinctly saw something like “helmets” on the creature’s heads. The girl then felt as if the creatures were communicating with her in a nonverbal talk. Anya heard the words inside her head which said, “Do you want to come with us?” She screamed immediately, “No! No!” After that the humanoids vanished in plain sight. Incredibly a vicious dog that lived in the flat directly below Anya's flat was emitting a frightening howling sound. After the humanoids vanished the blinds and the carpet stopped moving. Another important detail which the girl noticed was as both entities looked inside her apartment, the table together with the television set appeared to levitate in mid-air. The small luminous spheres vanished last; they simply disappeared in the area where the wall was connected with the ceiling. All this occurred in total silence while an odor of something burning was present in the room. The television set was now emitting light but without any images and later seemed to work fine. Anya's description of the humanoids is remarkably similar to other reports from the same region. Her mother, Tatyana, also reportedly observed a fiery globe-shaped UFO of pinkish color with a blue halo a couple of days later, and two other jelly-fish like creatures the evening of the same day, about 2 days after Anya's encounter.

The entities then began walking towards the witness but when they heard the sound of an approaching motorcycle they vanished from sight. Out of the bus six or seven humanoid figures wearing scaly silvery suits stepped out. The humanoids were all of the same height. The father and some friends attempted to approach the figures but these instantly moved 500-600 meters away from them. Yemelyanov called for his friends who had inadvertently walked ahead but these did not turned back. Meanwhile the entities had approached a 5-storied building and one of them seemed to walk right through its walls, and then the rest did the same. The witnesses ran to the bus to find the driver sitting in his seat in an apparent state of confusion, there were no other passengers around. Yemelyanov then phoned the local militia, which searched the empty building finding nothing.

The beings were described as 4-foot tall, tan in color, with thin bodies, large heads with huge black eyes, long arms with three fingers on each, but some had four fingers. He was then taken to several rooms including one where he saw several aliens sitting around a long table, numerous hieroglyphics, and a screen where he could see the Earth. This fascinating encounter took place deep within a mine 1070 meters below the earth’s surface. An electrical worker in one of the mines was working the night shift when he suddenly saw two strangers standing at the end of the electric train depot. The witness stood behind the electric train control station and soon after the strangers appeared he was seized by an uncontrollable fear, something that had never occurred to him before. Using his instinct he hid behind the control box closely watching the strangers. The figures moved slowly along the garage, stopping from time to time and studying different areas and equipment located there. Finally the witness gathered up enough courage to confront the strangers and walked out of his hiding place. Upon noticing him the strangers stopped. Trying to sound as confident as possible the witness yelled at them, “Who are you? What are you doing here?” And he began to walk slowly towards the pair. After taking several steps he looked closely and literally became numb with fear as he realized that the entities standing before him were not human. They were short creatures, dwarf-like with sallow facial complexions, and features he could not recognize as human. Both were dressed in silvery colored coveralls and their chest they had lighted circles and luminous dots circling around, like the screen of an oscillograph. After standing for a while, the entities turned around and walked away, quickly moving away floating just above the ground. In several seconds they vanished behind a bend on the underground tunnel.

One of the military officers from the Shihany chemical weapons test range close to the Volga River was returning home from duty in the control post when suddenly for no apparent reason as if hypnotized or narcotized a feeling of calm fell over him. In a trance-like joyful state he walked a long distance from the base and noticed a rainbow-like object in the air and heard a voice inside his head, “Do not be afraid”. When he came closer he could see a dome giving off a dim bluish light. He then felt as if an invisible escalator took him into the air and sucked him into the middle of the dome-shaped object. He appeared in a spacious circular room, arena-like and heard the voice again, “Don’t worry. You will not be harmed”. At this point he felt afraid, and kept saying to himself that it was just a dream. But he again heard the voice, “No, this is no dream. Everything is real.” When looked around he could see only wave-like walls, as if they were made out of light. In the center of the room there was a kind of round table or pedestal, with a heap of stones on it that gave off a myriad of rainbow colored light. He had the uncanny feeling that time had stopped; he had no idea how long he had been in the room. Suddenly he noticed 2 silhouettes that seemed to appear out of nowhere. They did not approach from anywhere they just appeared suddenly with a kind of fog or shroud enveloping them. He could see that they had gray-greenish faces with a hint of nostrils (flat faces with an almost total absent of noses), huge almond-shaped or slanted eyes. He shuddered with fear when he looked into the eyes, they resembled bottomless dark pits. One entity was obviously a male and the other a female. Their faces were completely expressionless, nor he sees the slightest movement of their eyes or lips. They stretched their arms towards the witness as they approached him. He attempted to defend himself but to no avail. The beings undressed him in quick “confident” movements, as if they had done it numerous times before. The naked witness was put on his back, on a soft and warm couch. He noticed what appeared to be long wiry needles in the alien man’s hands; the entity then began inserting some of the needles into various places on his body. The witness felt neither pain nor discomfort, he felt very relaxed as if was watching the whole scene from another location. He could not remember how long this procedure lasted for. Suddenly the male humanoid vanished into thin air. After that the alien woman removed what appeared to be a shroud from her body, he was then able to see her very clearly. He could see that she was a rare and amazing beauty, like a statuette made out of polished pistachio tree. She then laid next to him in an obvious attempt to seduce him. He touched her belly and the skin felt warm and velvety. Then he touched her breasts, and he found them to be resilient like touching suede-like skin. The alien woman then touched him and he was amazed at how heavy her hands were, like if her bones were made out of metal. Apparently reading his thoughts, she removed her hand immediately. But this only touch from the alien woman was enough for the witness, it felt like an electric charge, he could not resist her any longer and had sex with her. It was slightly quicker than with a normal earth woman. When the sex act was over she enveloped herself with the shroud again and vanished in plain sight. "Get up and dress" he heard the voice in his mind again. He did what he was told and again an invisible escalator removed him out of the dome-shaped craft. The rainbow colored object then seemed to compress into a whitish globe the size of a watermelon, gave off a blinding flash and vanished. When the officer looked at his watch he realized that only 15 minutes had gone by. After the contact the witness lost 23 kilograms of his weight and his blood pressure and health became normal. On several occasions he attempted to tell his story but each time an inner "voice" prevented him from doing so. Note from source: According the description of the aliens, they were most likely from the planet "Zonneri" in the Tialubba double star system, 73.3 light years away from earth. They have underground base in the Saratov area possibly in the Medveditskaya Gryada Hills and also possibly under the River Volga near Saratov.

8th grade student Maris M. was at home, while his mother was at work and his sister slept in a nearby bedroom. Maris suddenly awoke as if obeying a telepathic impulse and opened the window, not understanding why. He entered the balcony and saw a low flying large blue colored globe-shaped object, emitting a long beam of light. This uncommon sight caused Maris to run out of his building and rush towards the UFO. He ran like a sprinter feeling a strange exaltation and bliss. Approaching the UFO he realized that it was not a globe but in fact an inverted triangle similar to a milk carton. The object maneuvered and descended without a sound. An entryway became visible on the side of the craft and a step-like ladder jutted out. Maris ran approximately 75 meters in the direction of the craft, crossing a highway, where a taxi driver passing nearby also noticed the anomalous craft and quickly applied its brakes. The sounds of the brakes attracted Maris attention and he briefly glanced at the taxi, when he turned back to the UFO, it had completely vanished. After this original incident, strange things began to occur to Maris. During the next week someone visited the sleeping boy at 0400A and touched his shoulder. One time he noticed a strange alien figure, transparent in nature, like glass. Suddenly the dog uncharacteristically stopped and stared behind them. After a minute B.R. continued along and pulled a bit on Duke's chain to get him to come along, the witness even called his name. But the dog wouldn't budge. At this point B.R. thought that whatever animal he had seen hadn't run off yet so B.R. turned and looked. To the witness astonishment she spotted three white humanoid figures off in the woods. They appeared to be completely white in color, without any visible features and human in shape, and not all the same height. She watched as they simply walked and disappeared behind some trees. Strangely, the trees weren't thick enough for them to completely hide behind, but they had completely vanished as if employing some form of invisibility or something. In a state of shock B.R. immediately pulled on the chain and again urged Duke to come along. This time he immediately got up and walked along as if nothing at all had occurred out of the ordinary. B.R. made as hasty retreat constantly looking over her shoulders. The witness never again felt comfortable in that area of the woods after the incident, but felt that the humanoids were not hostile in nature.

Four women had hiked up to Steamboat Rock to enjoy the beautiful scenic view of the area and as they were trekking down from the summit two of the women became separated from the other two as they lagged behind. They reached an area of sparse stunted pine growth and noticed a shimmering form beginning to take shape near some trees. As both watched the finely outlined features of a beautiful young woman with black hair and angelic features came into full view. She made a friendly gesture towards them, smiled warmly, and then vanished.

A bright light drew the witness to a window looking over her backyard. Concerned about the bright object hovering silently over the yard, she went to check on her two and a half year old daughter. Upon opening the bedroom door she was startled to see two beings that had dark eyes and glowed a whitish yellow color. One of the entities turned towards the witness, and the next thing she remembered was waking up on the sofa the next morning. During the same time a neighbor reported seeing a similar glowing creature that appeared to be taking ground samples from the backyard and another one in her house.

F. Zaiyevoy involved in a previous encounter in August sat on the kitchen facing the window when she suddenly perceived pressure on her arm, as if someone had gripped her with a hand. She grew torpid with horror and was unable to move. At this point her daughter approached from the bedroom and everything ceased. Later that month at a different apartment the witness was laying on the sofa while her husband slept in the bedroom. Suddenly a man wearing a shiny suit appeared in front of her. The man spoke, attempting to persuade her to come and “fly” with him, she refused. On the palm of his hand he carried a round yellow ball, resembling a fruit, he offered it to the witness, who tasted it. She thought the taste was like a mandarin. At this point the stranger disappeared. That same night, her husband heard a knock and walked to the kitchen, there he saw a small-multicolored luminous object floating in mid-air. He attempted to grab the object, but it floated out to the living room and then out the opened balcony doors.

He went to investigate and saw a large flat topped disc-shaped craft on the ground right behind the greenhouse. The disc gave off a soft green light. Then a man wearing a dark colored jumpsuit walked up to the witness. The man had dark reddish brown hair and was tanned with fine features. He spoke to the witness in perfect Dutch and gave him some advise on how to take care of his tulip crops then left.

Bow hunter Juan Maestas was quietly stalking a herd of young elks uphill in a wooded area when he heard a twig snapping to his left, he froze in his tracks. He turned his eyes to look at the source of the noise and was stunned to see “a fat ugly little guy, about 3-feet tall,” who turned at the same instant and stared at him. The little man was about 50 feet away next to a tall pine tree. As they locked eyes, Maestas was able to discern the little man’s wrinkled forehead, clean-shaven face, and pink hued skin. He was wearing what appeared to be green overalls with suspenders and a flat-topped floppy hat. His hair was reddish, and was sticking out from underneath the cap. He had little eyes that seemed red and bloodshot. The little man sort of gave Maestas a smile and suddenly darted behind a tree. Maestas quickly ran to the spot but the little man had totally disappeared. Two weeks earlier, very close to this same location, a family of five on a picnic had witnessed the same or very similar entity that was also dressed in green overalls and hat.

Local resident Nafisa Davronova had a strange feeling that someone was observing her that someone was “calling” for her. Soon she forgot, but the feeling returned in an hour. She walked outside the house and was suddenly paralyzed and at the same time saw a huge round object resembling two inverted plates placed together, descending slowing. The disc then hovered over the roof of her house. An elevator like door opened and something resembling a ladder was lowered. Three human looking entities came out, while the witness was still paralyzed, unable to move or yell. All three entities wore shiny white clothing; all were about 2 m in height, maybe a little taller. They had long legs, thin bodies, round or rectangular heads. They had long black hair that came down all the way to their knees. According to the witness's impression two of them were female and one male. The appearance of the male was remotely human. One of the alien women constantly kept one hand on her left breast, as she was holding some type of device and was frequently looking at it. They spoke to the witness (in her language?) mostly about family and other mundane matters. The witness asked: "Who are you, and where are you from? They answered: "You are too young to know that". Apparently she was able to move again as the aliens asked her to bring some water and she did. One of the alien women told her to "tell your people about our meeting, we will see you again". Soon after the incident, the witness apparently developed some psychic abilities.

They had light-blond hair and wore small silvery caps with two antenna-like protrusions on top. Terrified and feeling a strange torpor in her body Tatiana was unable to move as one of the women using perfect Russian but with a squeaky voice invited to go with them. She followed the two tall women along a road about 100 meters and at the curb opposite to a transformer station sat a small disc-shaped object on the ground. She could see no doors on it. A wall suddenly opened and the women entered the craft. The disc was about 4 meters in diameter, and about 2.5 meters in height; completely metallic in appearance in the center it had a transparent window or observation deck. An instrument panel encircled the entire length of the inside of the craft. Three armchairs were located at equal distance from each other. In one of them sat a man with his back to the witness. He appeared to have wide shoulders and strong arms. During the whole encounter he did not stand up or look at the witness. "Fly with us," said one of the tall women. The witness demurred telling the woman that she had many chores to do on this date, one of them was teaching her son school lessons and then prepare supper. The woman told Tatiana that they did not eat "our" bread and offered her a piece of "their" bread. The woman stretched her arm and took a piece of something solid, which she gave to the witness who without thinking immediately swallowed it. The taste reminded her of wheat bread but very sweet in nature. The disc then took off noiselessly and then a light on the ceiling began revolving rapidly. Looking out a window Tatiana could see the rooftops of Protvino as she sat on one of the armchairs. The flight was smooth and calm. Finally Tatiana asked to be returned back to earth. "Where do you live" the alien women asked. She answered, "in one of the prefabricated houses in the outskirts of Protvino." "On what floor?" She answered on the 14th floor. They then offered to drop her off on the balcony. But she refused that offer thinking that her husband and children will be scared. She was dropped off in the parking lot and the alien women then bade goodbye telling her that she would be contacted again one day. Not wishing to be contacted again Tatiana quickly left without saying goodbye. Another inhabitant of Protvino reportedly saw a disc shaped object lifting off from the ground around the same time.

Date: middle of September 1989
Time: daytime
A local engineer, A. Yas, was gathering mushrooms not far from the village of Yablunovka and had sat down to rest, reading a newspaper. Suddenly he saw a shadow over him of an oval-shaped cloud. He looked up and saw a parachute or chamomile-shaped object descending on a spiral trajectory. 70 meters from earth it began descending in a strictly horizontal trajectory. The object then landed on several props. It appeared to be an egg-shaped or bullet-shaped object, about 8-10 meters high, with an outer diameter of about 6-7 meters and an inner diameter of about 3-3.5 meters. It had rhombic shaped windows on its hull and was encircled by an outer ring of numerous petal-shaped plates. The petal-like ring was about 15-19 meters in diameter. A door on the landed craft opened and a humanoid wearing a spacesuit came out. The alien was carrying a red and silver colored device in his left hand. After approaching the witness the stranger bowed his head and then touched his chest and invited him to come aboard the UFO. The face of the alien was unusual, bronze colored skin, and slightly curling hair, according to the witness the alien resembled a "Hindu". An alien female of unspeakable beauty was standing near the entryway of the craft. Her figure was enveloped in a coverall, she wore a small cap on her head, with a bulging stripe and in the middle of the stripe there was something resembling a diamond or "optical eye". She had dark brown wavy hair that fell over her shoulders, her eyes were very large, dark blue and almond shaped, she had a slightly small snub-shaped nose. She had a silver chain hanging on her neck which had a similar device which the male alien was carrying. She stood outside the craft with a smile on her face, she then crossed her arms on her chest, pointed towards the open door of the UFO and disappeared inside. The witness then ascended up the rose petal plates and appeared in a small chamber resembling an air lock or a shower. The male alien then undressed him down to his underwear and placed the witness clothing in some kind of niche inside the wall. At the same moment a foamy liquid sprayed over the witness body and in the next moment a warm stream of air dried his body and next an inner door opened (it appears that the witness was deloused). The alien man then gave the witness slippers and a loose-fitting gown. The witness then sat down and the beautiful alien woman appeared. She approached him and stretched out her hand with a smile, palm down and told the witness that her name was, "Gazeliya". Then she introduced to the witness a third alien with curly hair and a dark blue face, which looked generally like a black man. The air inside the craft was fresh, apparently ionized and a soft melodic music could be heard coming from somewhere above. The alien woman still stood in front of him, apparently showing off her looks (!). Soon she changed into a semi-transparent gown, low necked. On her new skimpy dress the witness saw a lotus-shaped sign on her right breast and a rose on the left one. The symbols were light pink as well as her skin. Her face was light-colored without a trace of cosmetics. She was slightly taller than the witness, about 1.80m. The "Hindu" alien was about 1.9m in height and the other darker alien was taller, at least 2.20-2.20m in height. The voice of Gazeliya was soft, and melodic, the darker tall alien's voice had a loud bass quality. After making his acquaintance the woman began medically examining the witness. Soon a human shaped robot appeared; he was about 1.5m in height and approached the witness. The robot had rotating, chameleon-like eyes which frightened the witness. The robot then grabbed the witness by a hand and sat him on a nearby armchair and then attempted to place several small button-size plates on his forehead, but the witness resisted and punched the "robot" on his pear-shaped head. The robot then put down his arms and froze in place, at this point the tall dark humanoid erupted in thunder-like laughter. The "Hindu" alien then touched the robot on its chest area and it again began to move and rotate its eyes. Gazeliya then gathered the small plates, which had fallen down and placed them on several locations on the witness body, including his chest area. One of the plates apparently immediately extracted some blood from the witness and the robot took the plate and blood sample away. At this point Gazeliya grabbed the newspaper that the witness had been holding and attempted to read each letter and pointing at it. At this point the witness attempted to explain to the alien woman what she was reading and he tried using several languages, including German and English. But the phrases in the alien language which he heard the woman speak had nothing in common with any of the languages he spoke. At this point the witness realized that he was dealing with extraterrestrials (!). This fact stunned him. Soon Gazeliya began showing some slides to the witness and when he asked what a cross-shaped sign meant on one of the slides, she drew drafts of terrestrial vehicles, a car and a truck, and then crossed them the images out and drew something resembling a rhomb-shaped car-like vehicle but without wheels. The witness was confused and did not understand her. She then took the device from her neck, which appeared to have been a type of remote control and pressed several buttons on it. The witness then saw a panoramic image which resembled an alien city, with 2-4 story houses with rhomb-shaped and oval windows, with many towers which objects on top resembling satellite dishes, (satellite dishes were not in use in the USSR in 1989). Afar, some kind of plant was visible with pyramids on the background. A 2 story villa was visible in the foreground with a radar dish on top, in front of the villa stood Gazeliya holding what appeared to be a 2-3 year old child. Nearby stood a 2-meter tall man was standing along with a 12-15 year old boy. A "car" stood near them, it was rhomb-shaped, without wheels. A huge tree was growing nearby and also what appeared to be a streaming fountain.

The soft music began playing again, and the witness understood that his visit was coming to an end. He took a pencil and drew the Solar System---the Sun and the 7 planets, Gazeliya then drew five more planets and the witness then asked from which planet she had come from. She then drew another solar system, which consisted of 9 planets and drew a line from one of the planets in the solar system, she then drew a line to the moon and then to Earth. On the moon she drew a rhomb-shaped mother ship and about 20 lines stretching from it towards the Earth with different shaped UFOs. Then she "moved" the Earth around the Sun two times and showed the distance to their planet. She then moved the watch to 1/3 of a complete circle, moved her finger to the Moon, made one more circle and pointed to the place on Earth where they were now. At one point the witness grabbed the alien woman's hand and noticed what appeared to be a bracelet with numerous decorations and some miniature instruments. Using his finger he then felt the woman's pulse, which seemed to increase in speed. Gazeliya then said something in her language and all the aliens started laughing out loud. She removed her dressing gown and approached the witness, grabbed his head and pressed it against her chest area. Her heart seemed to beat at about 90-100 impulses per second. The temperature of her body was about 42 degrees centigrade. He moved back from her and stared fixedly at her half-naked body. Gazeliya was similar and at the same time different from terrestrial women. The witness was admiring her beauty and she seemed to realize that. Her beauty was charming and the witness noticed what appeared to be a slight halo around her head. Suddenly her eyes transformed from the blue color to a greenish-yellow color. She then began approaching the witness slowly, mesmerizing him by her stare. When she touched his hand the witness reacted and pushed her back (!), screaming "Witch". Gazeliya then jumped like a cat and yelled something in a deep tone voice, which the witness understood as "Get out!" He could not understand why she had been insulted. The witness became concerned and thought that this was "the end" for him. At this point the "Hindu" alien appeared and returned his clothing. 2 minutes later Gazeliya appeared back in the room. She tried to smile, but she had a worried look on her face. She gave the watch back to the witness. He told them that he wanted to leave his watch as a gift from him to them. But she threw the watch emphasizing that the friendly relations were now over and vanished inside the UFO, but not before nodding farewell at the witness. The double door closed and a double click was heard. The witness, now outside the UFO, heard the sound of some mechanism operating as the UFO began to ascend vertically gaining altitude. The spacecraft ascended to an altitude of about 150-170 meters and the witness then heard another double click. The "rose petals" surrounding the craft then joined together into one tube emanating a dark-red luminescence. The UFO now looked like a fiery rocket or missile. At an altitude of about 250-300 meters a dark blue cloud appeared and the UFO vanished. 30 minutes later the witness examined the landing site and found an area of matted grass and one print from the landing gear about 1 meter in diameter. The witness then boarded a bus with his mushroom basket and was approached by a man who told him that he had seen everything, but the witness ignored him. He later wrote several letters about his experience.

Incredibly she felt no discomfort. She felt no fear but felt euphoric as she rose higher into the air, the light rain that had been falling had suddenly stopped. She clearly remembered seeing tram wagons and a car passing below her. As was later established she had risen up to about 50 to 55 meters when she suddenly heard a heart-rending scream from below, "Extraterrestrials!" She saw many people running out of nearby factories pointing upwards; it was towards the end of their shift. She then began descending and suddenly felt the ground beneath her feet. She felt the rain falling again. Only now she raised her head and saw a hovering silver disc-shaped object from which a beam had apparently emanated from. The object was about 40-60 meters in diameter. At that moment she became afraid. She also heard a voice extolling her to "go with them". Other workers were attracted to the scene and began to scream and ran towards Tamara. This apparently caused the object to release whatever influence it had over the witness and quickly leave the scene. Tamara does not remember how she got home and incredibly none of her family members believed her.

It soon became clear that it was a globe-shaped object with black stick-like protrusions and lights around it. The object was flying towards the city park, and then it began hovering over the ground and then landed. very tall; the third was even taller than the other two. The strangest thing was that the humanoids were not see to have come out of the craft, but had suddenly appeared out of nowhere standing near the craft, right in front of the children's eyes. The aliens were dressed in blue cloaks and were walking in midair low over the ground. They did not converse among each other. After walking for some time towards a nearby road they confronted a group of about 6-8 people that were going to the park, among them the Nedosekins family. Then a boy named Alyesha Panin reported seeing the landed UFO with 4 landing legs jutting from it. The landing props were grayish or black in color and the object was light. Bright light emitted from beneath, from where the hatch had opened. 2 entities moved towards the boy, and a third alien remained behind next to the UFO apparently guarding it. The light coming from the hatch gradually died out. When the boys saw the aliens walking towards him strangely he was not afraid, but experienced a headache. Then he heard the girls screaming. However he stayed around for some more time but the aliens vanished. Later the boy and the girls returned to the location and heard a loud humming sound and then ran back home in order to obtain additional witnesses. The first part of the episode had lasted for about 15 minutes. Soon a larger group of boys and girls returned to the UFO landing place. Then one of the creatures raised its hand and something descended on it, shaped like a shiny beak, the shiny object was emitting light and had appeared from nowhere. Then the entity pull down its hand and the shiny object remained hovering in midair and then descended towards the earth and vanished. At this point the children became afraid and began crying. Diameter of the object by his estimation was about 5 meters. Before landing, the object emitted 4 landing "legs" or props. Several seconds later the hatch opened, a stairway or ladder then moved out and a robotic entity "rolled" out of it. The "robot" was of chest-height of an adult man. The robot resembled a "large TV-set with buttons on it" with visible rigid legs and arms jutting from it. The boy discerned fingers on the robot's hands that were constantly moving. The robot was dressed in a bronze-colored suit and black boots, resembling high jack-boots with rolled tops. 9th grade student Sergey Vezhkovets was returning home to the village of Usterhovo with his friend Dima Zubritskiy who was his classmate. A dog accompanied them. Near the village of Polstki as the boys were approaching the bridge over the River Lisa they saw a red globe-shaped craft descending from the sky. After floating low over the ground, it was enveloped in a white cloud and brightly illuminated everything around it. The boys estimated that their distance from the globe was about 2km; still the light from it totally illuminated the region. The luminous cloud with the globe-shaped object within began hovering above a nearby forest. Suddenly a beam of light was directed towards the witnesses. They found themselves unable to walk forward anymore and the bright light blinding their eyes. Dima suggested that they cut through a nearby ditch. They walked quite a while in the ditch when their dog suddenly rushed towards a nearby telephone pole and began attacking it (!) gnawing and barking at it. Dima screamed that they must run from the area but before they could they both looked up and were shocked to see two small humanoids floating in the air in front of them. Both aliens were small, with wide shoulders and wearing light colored overalls. Their eyes emitted a red beam of light as they stared at the terrified witnesses. Frightened the boys ran towards the nearby village of Polstki, the whole time the beam of light was close behind them. In the village the met Dima's older brother Volodya and a young woman named Natasha. Now feeling a bit more secure all four went out of the house and this time all four were struck by the scanning beam of light right on their eyes. Now they all saw 3-dwarf like humanoids levitating in a vertical position over the ground very close to them. The humanoids were staring at the witness and at times would move very quickly around each other but never colliding. About 30 minutes later the witnesses walked to the nearby village of Usterhovo and awoke a mechanic named M.M. Glaz and also a local forest ranger named Victor Ahryemchik. The men did not believe the terrified witnesses, but decided to check anyway and followed them towards the area where the UFO had been hovering. The UFO was emitting a very bright light, but according to Glaz it was not too large, but about the size of a Russian Jeep maybe 4-6m long. The object then temporarily dimmed and then became bright again. Several minutes later 3 alien figures suddenly appeared and began approaching the group, the witnesses could not clearly describe the aliens heads or faces but their bodies were distinctly seen. Scared all the witnesses decided to leave the area and go to the village of Usterhovo and not wait for the aliens to arrive. The witnesses ran from the area, while Glaz remained staring at the humanoids but walked quickly backwards away from the area. Later some of the witnesses decided to return to the area again but every time they approached they were overcome with fear and left. That same night similar small levitating dwarf-like aliens were seen in the village of Katki.

A young student named Sergey Goloszhapov a pupil at the local technical college # 13 after finishing playing football (soccer) was returning home with two other boys, Dima Ligachyev and Slava Kovtunov. They were walking through the park towards the local "preventive clinic" when suddenly they saw a small entity near a tree, it remotely resembled a small child and the witnesses also noticed that the tree had a broken branch. The entity was about 1 meter in height and was completely black in color; the witnesses could not see the humanoid's face. When they came closer Sergey began speaking to the humanoid, saying, "Come here". The entity seemed puzzled at first and then began climbing up the tree. The boy also began climbing up the tree after the entity but it suddenly vanished in plain sight. The boys became frightened and ran home.

A woman was alerted by her granddaughter to something unusual outside. She stepped out and was confronted by an object resembling an inverted toy top hovering just above the ground. It was 20 to 30 feet in diameter and had a flat bottom and a bright yellow-white light shining at both ends. The woman approached to within 30 feet of the craft and a door opened revealing a blond human-like entity of average height with fair skin and blue eyes, wearing a silvery coverall. The woman then noticed at a window next to the door a large hairy, Bigfoot type creature apparently seated and only visible from the chest up. The woman stared at the object and beings for a few minutes, and then the object suddenly vanished from plain sight.

Several children playing at a local park first observed a pinkish glow approaching in the sky, as it came above them they could see that it was a deep red ball shaped object. The object flew around in circles for a few minutes then left. It then returned, hovered briefly, and descended very close to the ground. A hatch opened and a heavyset figure appeared. The being moved very slowly and looked around, he had a very small head resembling that of a doorknob set in between its shoulders. It had three luminous eyes, the middle one moving around like”radar.” On his chest there was a shield-like object. The being then closed the hatch and the object landed gently on four legs. The hatch opened again and three huge humanoids with small knob-like heads stepped out. These wore silvery overalls and bronze colored boots. A strange robot-like creature accompanied the giants. All four of them walked around the object several times. A beam of light came out of one of the being’s chest and hit the ground creating several luminous triangles that later faded. At one point the craft and beings became briefly invisible then reappeared. One of the boys screamed out in fear. Then one of the beings looked at the boy, pointing a tube at him, it hit the boy with a luminous beam that made him disappeared. The boy later reappeared after the beings and the objects had gone.

Later information revealed that on of the craft's hull and on the landing prop of another craft was the letter or symbol "Zhe" reported to have been an "UMMO" like sign.

Following numerous sightings of a large black boomerang shaped craft in the area, government agencies using a "Star Wars" type weapon, brought down a huge object into the bay. It reportedly broke apart on striking the waters, producing a tremendous roar and a slight swell. It was reported that there had been alien bodies recovered and that the metal from the object was super strong but very light. Another version states that during the recovery operation there had been 18 military fatalities when the aliens retaliated upon the downing of the craft. The fatalities were incurred by the use of a weapon, which generates extremely low frequency sound waves, which can destroy the molecular cohesiveness of known matter. No description is given of the occupants or aliens.

Five witnesses had gone to the beach area where in the past several nights they had seen strange maneuvering lights right off the coast. On this night they saw a luminous object and a red light that appeared to be exchanging luminous signals. Later they noticed two very tall figures standing by the water edge, these figures appeared to have large white hairless heads and were wearing loose fitting white monk like outfits. The figures began walking towards the witnesses in slow clumsy movements, keeping their arms straight down on their sides constantly. The witnesses began walking away but then noticed that the two figures stopped and turned around apparently looking out to sea at the bright red light. A bright flash was seen and a small luminous sphere shot towards the figures and disappeared. The figures then sat down on the sand and began digging around them. Then a small bright blue sphere appeared and both figures seemed to pass it along to each other several times. At this point one of the witnesses briefly saw a gigantic figure wearing a black tight-fitting outfit with a large white pear shaped head standing in front of the other two beings. This figure suddenly vanished and was not seen by the others. The figures on the sand suddenly stood up but now they resembled normal humans, one man the other a woman, they both walked hurriedly away and disappeared towards town. The now confused witnesses saw a small cloud like object near the shore and suddenly they all saw the giant black clad figure with the pear shaped head appear by the water. Three of the witnesses now ran towards the giant figure that fled seemingly floating just above the ground at very high speed. The witnesses were unable to get even close to the giant, so they now turned and suddenly very frightened ran from the area. Strange tracks were found on the sand by investigators.

A young local marathon runner named Abdel Kerim Khassaneyn was training in the desert preparing for future competitions. As he ran into the desert for several kilometers he suddenly stumbled upon a landed disc-shaped object. He then saw three entities standing and performing some tasks near the circular object, probably collecting soil samples. The humanoids had 3 eyes and greenish skin and were dressed in tight fitting golden-yellowish suits, which reflected the rays of the sun. Frightened by the sight the runner attempted to leave the area but a beam of light coming from the landed object paralyzed him, freezing him in place. The aliens then took him onboard the spacecraft, removed his clothing and subjected him to a series of painful experiments. After they were finished with him the completely naked witness was left amid the desert, apparently the aliens did not care about their “specimen”. The naked man wandered in the desert and was finally picked up by a passing motorist and taken to a hospital. A week after the incident, Abdel Kerim noticed amazing changes in his organism, he gained apparent telepathic abilities and experienced a strong desire to eat silicon (!) (At times eating pieces of broken glass), this indicated that something was done to his body at the genetic level. A group of Egyptian scientists headed by Salakh Arafa from the American University in Cairo reported visited the reported landing site armed with special equipment and found that the sand at the location had been subjected to a powerful energetic influence. Doctors concluded that the witness was psychically sane, however computer tomography of Abdel's brain and blood tests revealed nothing, and no traces of radiation were detected in his organism. That is why doctors Abdel Mohsen Yusri, Mohammed Sharaf and Yusef Faikh voiced doubts about the case. The incident supposedly caused a stir in Egypt.

At the local oil and gas institute, gas worker Victor Petrovich M. was busy in his workshop when he noticed unknown people moving about in the internal courtyard of the institute. At the same time two cone-shaped objects appeared on the flat roof of an adjacent building: height of one, about a meter, the other a little less. At the apex of the larger object something was revolving. Six strangers, dressed differently stood by the objects; all appeared very human-like and wore diving suits and no helmets. Judging by their behavior they appeared to be performing repairs. Suddenly in the witness workshop two short figures, about 1 meter in height appear, and they rummage around apparently looking for something. Their motions are somewhat mechanical, inanimate, from what Victor drew the conclusion that these were robots. He then saw in the small cone shaped object, which was almost transparent in nature, stood a woman, only about 30cm in height. As Victor approached the object, he heard a loud voice apparently coming from the woman, which identified herself as "Binetta" the witness they yelled out his name. Immediately Victor using the internal phone systems called for some guards, reporting the intrusion, but these arrived and quickly left, saying that they could not see anything. The whole time the strangers continued to be preoccupied in repairing their apparatuses. Among those working on the object was an elderly man, which Victor approached and engaged in a conversation. The elderly man was apparently irritated and spoke in a moralizing manner. He explained that they had for a long time kept an eye on the earth. That the children interested them, but he also pointed out that the children nowadays behaved in a terrible manner and in no way they should be "allow to prevail" in the family (!). Victor also learned that the stranger's native planet was called "Z". When Victor further inquired about their planet he was told that he must first learn about the Earth more before going into space. Soon Victor’s memory became distorted and remembers hearing an incomprehensible language and also hearing what sounded to him like the word “Quantum”. Suddenly Victor was overcome by a terrible fear and ran to the guard’s quarters, later upon returning the visitors were already gone. Later that night at his home Victor was visited by the woman known as “Binetta”, only this time she was about 2 meters in height, and wearing a tight-fitting divers suit. She appeared normal except for what Victor thought was a disproportionately small head. Victor warned the woman not to make any fuss since his sleeping and ill mother was in the other room. Before disappearing the woman repeated several words, which Victor attempted to memorize and repeated daily. The woman promised to return in early November. At that time Victor became ill and felt very “heavy” experiencing dry mouth symptoms his wife and grandson reported seeing what appeared to be a luminous blue screen suddenly appearing on the ceiling of the bedroom on two occasions, both times the screen dissolved and strange “thread” like filaments became visible.

In this mountainous area two 10th grade school girls were returning to their village from an agricultural farm on their motorcycle when at about 1km distant from the village the motorcycle engine suddenly died. All attempts to re-start the engine failed. So they decided to leave the motorcycle in the bushes until the next day and began looking for shelter. Suddenly they spotted an elongated object in the sky that was emitting light. When they looked at it more closely they realized that it was a large object somewhat shaped like a “shuttlecock”. The object then initiated a sharp descent shedding light all around the area, both witnesses became frightened but soon both behaved in totally opposite ways, one became extremely scared and began to run away, while the other became extremely curious and approached the supposed landing site. The girl that was running away suddenly heard a voice in her head, “Don’t be afraid, you will receive information”. She stopped and returned to where her curious friend was. The UFO was hovering at about 8-10 meters above the ground. A beam of light was then projected to earth, at first the beam was dull but soon became brighter and brighter. The girls were under the impression that the craft was somehow supported by the beam of light. Seconds later a tall humanoid entity stepped out of the craft. The man was about 3 meters in height with beautiful features, and wearing a tight-fitting silvery overall. His head was encased in what appeared to be some type of luminous “halo” or aura. The alien man then began to speak and at the same time the halo above his head began to pulsate, changing brightness and color. The girls heard his voice not from his mouth but inside their heads. The conversation lasted for about 5 minutes and both witnesses did not remember what they talked about only that the alien man told them something very “interesting”. But they remember very well that their next meeting with the alien was going to be in the near future. The alien the re-entered the beam of light and the object zoomed up vertically into the sky disappearing into the sky and soon resembled a star. No one in the village believed the girl’s story.

About 40 witnesses had just disembarked the electrical suburban train on the "Mashmet" railway station located several kilometers from the southern city park where the previous UFO sightings had taken place several days before. According to witness Alexander Nikolaevich Kutiszhev the group saw a floating globe-shaped object which emitted light. The object was executing "jumps" over a nearby field, 3-4 times, up and down. The most curious of the group ran across the road to see it closer. Alexander stood on a hill. The globe then landed and a door opened on it. A humanoid entity was visible standing at the door, while the onlookers yelled out in awe. The humanoid figure was of robust built, with a "mighty countenance", and taller than average. Instead of a head it had only an arc-shaped protrusion. The alien was similar to a robot and seemed to move with awkwardly and sluggishly. It had what appeared to be a square shield on its chest and was carrying a baton or "crutch-like" stick. The humanoid then pointed the stick down, apparently in an attempt to obtain soil samples. Alexander could not tell for sure because of the distance. The globe-shaped UFO was flattened, gray in color and three red lights similar to brake lights on cars. It did not rest on the ground but hovered just above it, about one meter from it. The humanoid then turned around and walked back inside the craft and then the object began flying away emitting a peeping sound. It ascended slightly, stopped momentarily and then seemed to vanish instantly. The landing site was examined by UFO researchers from Voronezh. They found damaged plants on the site and other evident traces of event.

A boy named Denis Murzenko from school # 33 had gone to the same area of his first alien encounter of September 28 in the city park. He again saw the strange alien figure. The humanoid was more than 2 meters in height, dressed in a "jacket" with 3 zipper fasteners. When Denis approached the humanoid he noticed an iron plate on the alien's chest area with something written on it. The alien stood for awhile and then went down to his knees, touched the grass and then moved its hands up and down, stood up, ran a bit and they began to walk. The distance between the boy and the humanoid was about 20 meters. The humanoid then walked at a quick pace and then it slowed down. He turned around several times looking at Murzenko and then walked behind a nearby shed. Denis ran after the humanoid behind the shed but it had already vanished. Denis could not understand where the humanoid had vanished to. There was no place to go only a very narrow slit between two sheds, even to narrow for the boy to fit through.

A 60-year old resident named Dmitriy Fyedorovich Shmuradko had gone into the forest in order to collect mushrooms. 300 meters from his house as he climbed up a hill, he looked down to an area next to a bog and saw a rectangular object. The object was green-yellow in color, separated by parallel lines into quadrants. The object appeared to be transparent. It appeared to be draining energy from some nearby power lines. Suddenly Shmuradko was drawn like a magnet towards the object and walked directly towards it in a straight line. After that he heard the following words in his mind, "Walk more to the left". He did as he was told. He noticed that the UFO had hit a fir tree, only the stump remaining on the ground. The tree had been smashed almost down to the roots. When the witness approached the stump he saw another rectangular shaped object on the opposite side of the electrical lines. He looked ahead and saw something moving on his side that stopped and hovered in the air at the altitude of the electrical wires. The figure resembled a cloud or a "wave" of water. A humanoid figure was visible in the center of the "cloud". Soon after the humanoid figure separated from the cloud and began approaching the witness, its height was no more than 1.70m in height. The witness then realized that it was a female. At first he thought that the woman was a local resident from a nearby village, but after a closer look realized that the woman was not terrestrial. Her clothing was shiny, and a hood tightly covered her head. Her face was pink in color, oblong in shape, with an aquiline nose and black eyes. The whole time something unimaginable was happening to the witness, something was pressing upon his brain and ears. He faced the humanoid figure as she communicated telepathically. The witness then turned his head briefly and when he looked back the humanoid female was no longer there. The witness apparently had a memory gap and vaguely recalls that there was some kind of operation performed on him with a laser beam, under his chin from left to right. It seemed to him that he had a peaked cap on his head, which was tightly pressing. According to his wife, Shmuradko was absent for ten minutes and returned looking very pale. He did not answer any questions and was silent for 3 days after the incident. When he told his wife what happened she did not believe him. After the incident the witness discovered the ability to contact space intelligences. The basic topic of cosmic worry for the witness was the baneful activity of humans towards nature. The witness was told that he could enter into contact at any time but must be alone at the time so he could concentrate.

The man was very short, about 1.5 or 1.6m, dressed in a light green jacket with camouflage designs, he was dressed in a very poor or clumsy way. He had strange light red hair and very pale skin. He spoke in a very uncommon manner. At first he spoke in an unknown language that could not be compared to any human language, which the witness had never heard before. He then switched to Russian and said, “Look at all the bread that you have, it would soon disappear!” The witness became frightened after hearing that remark. At this very moment the nearby cows suddenly stampeded from their position, apparently feeling the presence of the aliens. Seized by fear the witnesses ran behind the cows. Turning around Olga saw the aliens also running after them following on a parallel road in the same direction. The shepherd dog also ran in fear and white foam began coming out of his mouth. The dog then began to bark furiously and the strange figures turned and disappeared into the forest. At this moment Olga turned around again and saw a silvery ellipse-shaped object, resembling a dirigible about 5-10 meters in length. Two elderly local women, Melanya Danilovna Lapshina and Maria Mikhaylovna Shamina were standing outside their homes when they saw a globe-shaped object hovering in the air about 5 meters from them. The object emanated two columns of light and had 2 lights on it. The light from the object shone on a nearby storage facility and other buildings and trees. The globe-shaped object was gold in color and it suddenly began to descend towards the ground. The globe appeared to have a transparent glassy cupola on top. Two "men" could be seen inside the cupola. The men were large with broad shoulders and stood one on each side of the dome, a third smaller humanoid was sitting down and operating something with its hands on a black control panel. The stunned women then saw the humanoids wave at them and they began doing the same thing in response, coming closer to the object. They noticed that the aliens were dressed in gray, tight-fitting "spacesuits". The humanoids were very tall with broad backs and shoulders. The alien that was sitting paid no attention to either the witnesses or to his companions. The other two aliens again waved at the witness, and one of the women invited the aliens to descend to the ground, but by using hand gestures they indicated that they couldn't do that. The whole event lasted for about 30 minutes. And then in front of the two astounded women the globe was enveloped in a crimson-pink color, it covered the whole craft all the way to the top and the humanoids vanished. The globe then ascended, changed color to gold and disappeared at high speed.

Looking in the direction of the balcony she saw two humanoid figures wearing shiny metallic coveralls and dark goggles on their faces. His voice was somewhat mechanical like an automaton, but pleasant sounding. The witness attempted to raise her hand in order to cross herself but could not move, and strangely she forgot her prayers. The two figures then approached the limp witness and turn her on her right side. She asked, "Must you do this?" they answered that it must be done. She notices that the strangers were also wearing shiny gloves and moved their hands around at about 10cm from her body. Even though they do not touch her she feels a strong prick in her side. The aliens then placed the witness on her back again and walked out the opened balcony door. At this time her son had awakened and walked into her room and asked her if his aunt had come to visit, she said yes. She lay in bed the whole night unable to sleep. Four men were driving along Route 56 in rural Indiana County. According to one of the witnesses in the back seat, their car nudged a small rise on the two-lane and the passengers saw a tall, hairy creature step from the right side and cross the road in 2 strides. The creature was an erect walking biped, at least 8 ft tall and completely covered with dark brown hair. The creature never turned to look at the car so the witnesses only observed it in profile. As a result no one saw any facial detail. The creature's head was round and also completely covered with dark hair. One of the witnesses stated it didn't have a heavy chest or stomach. It was slim in stature and perhaps bent over a little at the waist. The strangest thing they observed was the way it walked in a stiff-legged and stiff-armed manner. It didn't seem like it bent is knees or elbows, even thought it was taking tremendous strides. After pulling the car to the side of the road, the passengers climbed out of the vehicle and ran to where the creature disappeared. The area however was covered with thick foliage and the witnesses were unable to view the creature again. There was no detectable odor associated with the encounter.

A local woman named Valentina Volodina saw two luminous globes flying slowly over the outskirts of the city. Some time after that one of the globes suddenly turned into a human-like shape, the second globe began emitting pulsating dim beams of light towards it. It appeared to be a demonstration directed towards the witness, to notify her about an impending encounter. Several days later, the witness was suffering from headaches and felt like sleeping all the time when she noticed the light in her bedroom suddenly die out, and her apartment submerged into total darkness. She then saw bright flashes, like lighting outside her window. At the same time a female humanoid entity floated levitating in mid air into her bedroom. Valentina covered her face with her hands out of fear, thinking that she was hallucinating. But the visitor was real. The alien woman was very tall, beautiful, with huge dark eyes, a pale face, and shiny black hair. She wore a tight-fitting blue overall, which outlined her prominent body. The overall was one piece without any fastenings or creases. The alien woman then told the witness that she had arrived from the "Blue Star". Puzzled, Valentina asked, "Why are you here?" The answer was immediate, "To take you with me, do you want to come? you will not regret it!". But Valentina categorically refused the invitation, and then she felt paralyzed. Then the alien female said, "Watch this!" A luminous screen then appeared on the wall. On the screen Valentina saw amazingly picturesque landscapes of the alien planet, beautiful lakes, mother of pearl in color, virgin grass lands, she felt a sense of amazing tranquility in that planet which permeated the atmosphere. The screen temporarily dimmed but then became luminous again. Now she saw a modern human city, and huge dinosaur-type monsters destroying everything in their path, buildings, cars, bridges, etc. "Look!" said the alien visitor, "Here is what awaits the earth. We are shielding you from this, but we are not omnipotent. Remember that. I give you three days, and then I will come for you". After saying that, the alien woman seemed to dissolve into the thin air. When the announced time came, Valentina began sensing "signals" penetrating her brain, and her body suddenly assumed a horizontal position. She began floating in the air along the corridor and suddenly appeared in a strange environment. At this point she again heard the voice of the alien female. "We want to help you. Here we already have many people like you. When no one remains on Earth, everything will start from the beginning, here in this place, we will do that and for that purpose we need you". Seconds later Valentina suddenly found herself sitting on her sofa in her apartment.

An anonymous male witness noticed a "flying saucer" about 40 meters in diameter, it was a disc-shaped object with a gradual dome and it was hovering about 3 meters over the ground. The witness felt warmth overtake him and his mood became very jovial. He felt somehow attracted to the hovering object. He walked towards it and stopped at about 10-15 meters from the disk and began looking at it. The disk descended closer to the ground and a hatch opened and two "men" stepped out, each one was more than 2 meters in height and both were dressed in silvery suits. They began a telepathic conversation with the witness. They told him to approach and not to be afraid. They then touched him and he was allowed to touch them. After this initial "introduction" they entered the craft via an elevator-like entrance. Inside the witness did not notice anything specially complicated, the disk's cabin appeared to be quite simply built. The witness noticed that his dirty tracks were left imprinted on the floor of the alien craft. Right after he pointed that out to the aliens some kind of "cleaning machine" entered the room and immediately cleaned his boots and the dirty tracks on the floor. One of the alien visitors then told that they were "guests in his time and that he was a guest onboard their craft" he called himself Abaris. The witness then also introduced himself. The "alien" leader then asked the witness in what "time had they appeared". He told them, "in the year 1989, the date October 21". Arabis said that such answer did not mean anything to them, and asked the following question, "How much time had passed since the continents became separated?" (!). The witness said he did not know but told them that the earth was about 5 billion years old and the Universe no less than 15. The "aliens" then told him that civilization had existed on Earth before the continents had drifted apart roughly about 35 thousand years ago. He claimed that during experimentation with accelerator of elementary particles "the Great calamity" had occurred, it had changed conditions on earth to an inappropriate state and had triggered a continental shift. The disaster had occurred because of ignorance of the complete energy substance. It was considered that the full energy was E=MC2, but after the calamity it was apparently 30 degrees higher. After the calamity some of the inhabitants escaped using a time machine. The witness then asked why couldn’t they returned to the past using the time machine and prevent the calamity. The answer was, “According to the principles of Nature time travel to the past is impossible, only time travel to the future is possible”. The witness then asked the “alien” how much time had passed from the moment they had started traveling from their time period. The alien said, “If we could escape the traps of time, by our clock, already 27 minutes have passed, for you is 1/50 of a day.” The witness then asked, “How can all of your civilization meet simultaneously”? The answer was that, their safety measures of time would work, that they had installed them very solidly. Simultaneously, time beacons will inform them about the end of their trip, they said they had many secrets that few knew about, that civilization must be preserved from different and unexpected things. The witness told the “alien” that he had hear rumors that humanity will be extinct if they did not change their ways by the year 2000, he wanted to know if it was true. The answer was that as to their mutual interests of both “parallel” civilizations” the calamity must never repeat itself, they were working on correcting the “mistake” now. The witness then asked how was time travel possible. He was told that there were 6 degrees of “freedom” in space, forward, backward, left, right, up and down, and one degree in time---to the future. In total there were seven degrees of movement. Apparently they had the ability to slow time and eliminate the need of large consumption of energy. To realize that on practice, the theory of superconductivity must be known as well as super liquidity and super transparency. After the scientific dialogue was finished the witness stepped out of the craft and the “aliens” closed the door, the disk then zoomed up and disappeared.

Several local residents observed the landing of a cube-shaped object, square in form & fiery red in color; it was approximately 2 x 1 m, with 2 additional cylindrical protrusions on the corners. On the bottom of the object there was a larger cylinder with rings. The ribs at the bottom of the object were placed in a cross-like arrangement. Two aliens were visible through the window of the craft. A third alien exited the object and walked towards the village. The alien was about 2 m in height, with a flat body and no neck, long arms reaching down below his knees. The head was almost bald with small patches of gray hair jutting out near the ears. The color of the entity’s skin was dark, almost black or dark gray. Instead of a nose the humanoid had small openings. The clothing appeared to be made out of leather, on the chest there was an emblem resembling a “red cross” or two diagonal red lines that crossed in the middle. The alien made an attempt to abduct a local woman (Mrs. Gulasal Khalikova) and her son Muhsinzhon Khalikov. Mrs. Khalikova yelled in her language: “Don’t touch my son! The alien replied: “We will take him”. She replied: No! I will not let you! in turn the alien replied: “ We will take your son for two years, if you want we will take you too.”

Mrs. Khalikova refused to go and in a panic both her and son ran away from the alien. A number of her neighbors witness the abduction attempt. Many others saw the object on the ground.

Local metalworker from a tire planet Albert Nikolayevich Korchagin was at his cabin when he began hearing strange beeping sounds, like a mouse squeaking, coming from outside. Albert went out of his cabin and saw a "strange construction" standing at about 200 meters from the edge of a field. At first glance he thought it could have been some type of agricultural machine, but after looking closely he understood that his supposition was wrong. The object was a saucer-shaped with a bulging bottom and a flat upper section and a dome shaped structure on top. The object stood on three legs (2 of them clearly visible and the third covered by a haystack). A rod-like device protruded from the bottom of the disk towards the ground. Korchagin thought it could have been a new and uncommon boring machine (drilling) or device. The hull of the disk was silver in color. Two humanoid figures then stepped from the other section of the disk, walked on the flat surface of the object and then vanished behind the dome. Korchagin could not remember what their appearance was since he was concentrated mainly on the object and not on the "men". Meanwhile several portholes or "windows" began emitting light on the surface of the object, the color changed from greenish to crimson. The squeaking sound then intensified, but before that the rod-like device moved up from the ground and retracted into the hull of the disk. The landing props also retracted inside the object and the object remained hovering in mid-air. The object then suddenly zoomed up and vanished from sight in a westerly direction, leaving Korchagin in complete puzzlement. The whole episode took no more than 10 minutes. The landing site was examined by researchers but unfortunately the field had been ploughed before they arrived at the location, but they were able to detect traces of an apparently anomaly on the ground about 8x10 m and also traces of an energy barrier about 50 meters in diameter, which had apparently surrounded the object.

A local girl named Svetlana S. had gone to the garage with her father. When her father walked out the girl saw an object emitting light and moving in the sky over the garage. Since it was dark already the object was clearly visible, against the background of a cloudy sky. Quickly increasing its size the object descended on an inclined trajectory and soon using circular motions it began to hover low over the garage. The object was egg-shaped, about 10 meters wide. Small circles were visible near the lower section of the object, resembling portholes or windows. These emitted yellow and red blinking lights. As the object hovered above the roof of the garage several antenna-like devices came out of its hull apparently emitting a loud ringing or beeping sound. After that smaller probes began separating from the larger object. The smaller objects were brightly lit and moved around the larger object. As the smaller lighted objects flew over nearby rooftops, numerous humanoid or entities appeared under their path. The humanoids were taller in size than an average human and wore something like helmets on their heads with “three eyes”. The humanoids carried devices, which according to the young witness resembled automatic machine guns hanging from their chest area. All the entities moved in synchronized movements like robots. Their right arms hung down, pressed against their bodies. Svetlana noticed that they had two fingers that appeared to be joined together and then 2 “normal” separate fingers and a fifth wire-like protrusion instead of a finger. As soon as Svetlana moved the entities grabbed on to their “machine guns” and in seconds several yellow beams of light struck Svetlana, creating something like a loop around her. The frightened girl froze in place, which apparently convinced the entities of her good intentions and ignored her, continuing their strange synchronized movements. Some time after that, the main object descended and vanished behind the garage, it then ascended again emitting the loud beeping sound again, soon the smaller objects with the humanoids entities returned back inside the main object. The object then performed several circles around the rooftops and then quickly rushed upwards and vanished from sight. Svetlana’s teacher confirmed that the girl was stable and reliable.

Still feeling apprehensive she walked back into the living room and attempted to sleep on the couch. Suddenly a large luminous yellow circle slowly entered through the closed blinds of the window. Three figures, similar to people then appeared standing on her carpet. The figures wore diver's suits similar to cosmonauts or robots and were approximately 140-150cm in height. Two of them wore diving suits similar in color to frosted glass, and the third wore a golden scaly suit. The yellow light was now arranged in a semi-circle above the figure's heads. The figures stood quietly without moving or speaking. In a state of panic the witness mentally commanded the figures to depart. Immediately these disappeared and the luminous yellow circle floated slowly out the window. The room became absolutely dark again. The witness stood up and rushed to the window feeling some regret that the figures had left and she yelled out for them to return in despair, thinking that she had lost a unique chance in her life to communicate with extraterrestrial beings. Later that night as she attempted to sleep she heard and "felt" a large figure enter her room and stand over her. A woman named Svetlana, a radio operator in the hamlet communications unit was on night duty alone in the radio house. She finished her last radio exchanges around 2300 and son fell asleep near a small stove. About 2 hours later she was awoken by a strong beam of light shining on her face. She opened her eyes and saw a yellow egg-shaped “cloud” emitting the bright light behind the window. The “cloud” or object had diffused edges and what appeared to be 3 landing legs. Several seconds later a whitish shadow floated straight towards the window and right through the window, even though the window had been tightly closed. In a moment this flying entity appeared only a few steps from Svetlana. The entity had arms, legs, and a thinly built body, its face was bizarre. It had two hollow openings instead of a nose, huge, “sad” (wistful) eyes seemingly covered with brown “lids” or blankets, and a narrow slit instead of a mouth. The humanoid entity then stretched its 4-fingered hand and began communicating with the window by projecting mental images. Svetlana later explained that the following image was clearly displayed in her mind: she was lying on a table and the extraterrestrial is having sex or in a sense raping her (!). She desperately resisted, but the image then changed in the following order, the uninvited guest then placed her on a chair and gave her two sips of “juice” to drink from a container shaped like a green tetrahedron. He then stroke her cheek several times gently and then again dissolved through the window. For the next 9months Svetlana literally trembled with fear, expecting to be pregnant, but nothing occurred, to her great relief. She did not tell her husband about the encounter. Soon she noticed that despite her terrific stress, her face and body were apparently rejuvenating (!). Her skin became resilience, all birth marks, moles, etc, disappeared. She soon stopped wearing glasses. Her sexual libido increased 10 fold, which amazed (and pleased?) her husband. Svetlana never encountered the alien again, neither physically or in her dreams. But soon she discovered her amazing ability at wood carving. One morning she awoke with a burning desire to grab a knife and to carve on a log. The first time she did this she made the image of her extraterrestrial visitor and since that day this new hobby has totally consumed her. She created unique collections of wooded figures of aliens---alien men, women and children, all resembling the so-called gray-type entity. Her carvings and statuettes gained high international appraisal and were exhibited in St Petersburg in 1993.

A militia captain named Yuriy Mishichev was returning home from duty on the road along the banks of the River Klyazma which was covered with a thin layer of ice at the time. Suddenly he saw two silhouettes standing near the water rescue cabin. The "men" seemed to be doing something in a haste, which alarmed Yuriy and he was compelled to approach them. There was no reply. Mishichev then thought since a military space-tracking center was located beyond the river, he surmised that the divers were somehow connected with the Army or maybe they were spies. He approached closer and told the strangers to remove their masks, explaining his request by gesture also, stretching his hand towards one of the strangers. In response one of the men moved his hand away with his palm; at this point Mishichev realized that the "man" had a six digit hand. Local resident, Ivan Illarionovich who lived on # 18 Kievskaya Street was outdoors taking out some trash near the containers located on Vasileva Street when he suddenly heard a sound like that of horse's hoofs coming at him from the darkness, and the screams of a man yelling, "Extraterrestrial"! Walking about 10 meters further ahead he noticed a strange figure, about 165-170 cm in height, with hands stretched down on its sides and of a very powerful constitution. The alien was dressed in a dark grayish overall. The alien's head was broad, but set low on its shoulders. Its face was extremely pale in color; it had a wide mouth that stretched from ear to ear, and small eyes. What appeared to be a small hump was visible on the entity's back under its suit, about 10-15cm high. The entity opened its mouth and began emitting a strange hissing sound as it apparently saw the witness. The witness glanced at the entity and continued walking. Curiously he felt no fear, only a sense of unreality of what was happening. Suddenly somebody again screamed, "Extraterrestrial"! He again saw the entity this time as it crossed the street in quick broad jumps, stepping on its huge feet in a markedly forward leaning position. Amazed the witness that with each jump or step the alien emitted the sound resembling the clatter of "horse's hoofs", or those made by a female wearing very high heels. The alien crossed the road and vanished into the darkness. The witness who was known as being of sound mind and a sober man returned home and reported the incident to a local newspaper.

Canadian Defense Department radars picked up a globe shaped object traveling at a phenomenal speed over the area. The object abruptly stopped and dropped like a stone. Canadian and American security agencies were immediately notified of the landing. Monitoring satellites traced the movements of aliens to a triangular area, off Old Almonte and Corkery Roads. The object had landed in deep swamp near Corkery Road. Two AH-64 Apaches and a UH-60 Blackhawk headed for the area. The helicopters carried full weapon loads. Flying low over the pine trees, the Apache attack choppers soon spotted a glowing, blue 20-meter in diameter sphere. As targeting lasers lock on, both gunships unleash their full weapon loads of eight missiles each. All sixteen were exploded in proximity bursts ten meters downwind from the object. The missiles were carrying "Vexxon", a deadly neuro-active gas that kills on contact. Immediately after having completed their mission, the gunships turn around, and headed back across the border. Now the Blackhawk landed, as men emerged from its open doors. In seconds, the six-man strike team had entered the object through a seven-meter hatch less, oval, portal. No resistance was encountered. At the controls, three dead crewmembers were found. The humanoids were packed in ice and sent to an isolation chamber at the University of Ottawa. The beings were described as reptilian, heads shaped like fetuses, very muscular and gray-white in color.

Over a dozen students at a local school located in the outskirts of the town suddenly heard what sounded like the rumble of a jet aircraft approaching and they see an object descend from the sky, which resembled two plates placed together about 25m in diameter and about 7 meters in height. The object was of a dark blue color and had a slight gleam along its perimeter. It had four supports on the bottom. It descended over the sports field at about 1 meter above ground. An opening became visible on the side of the object, from which departed a round ball-shaped object about 1.5 to 2m in diameter, the same color as the main object. On the perimeter in the upper section there were some lights and a type of antenna-like protrusion. The object landed about 15 meters from the witnesses on the four leg-like supports. A hatchway became visible and a ladder was lowered to the ground. A figure was then seen descending to the ground on the ladder. The humanoid was about 1.2-1.5m in height, the same color as the object with a large oval-shaped head on which were located three "eyes" two in the front and one on the back. On one hand it held an instrument resembling a "calculator". It took several steps forward and then a loud squeaking sound was heard possibly emanating from the calculator-like instrument. While moving, the ground in front of it was illuminated by a soft dark blue color. As the humanoid approached several of the students these ran in a panic towards the nearby woods. Later they returned to the site and the object and humanoid had disappeared. On November 13 tracks left by the UFO were photographed. Dents on the ground from the supports measured in depth of 7-10mm, and appeared to be round.

A local woman named Lubov Ivanovna Stefan a teacher of economics at the local technical college was alone with her children at home that night as her husband had gone away for the night. As she slept with her young son a tapping sound at the window awakened her. They lived on a 5th floor apartment, so the sound surprised her. Lubov got up and decided to examine the rooms---they had three rooms in their apartment. A bright light like the Sun lit up the corridor. At first she thought that the children had forgotten to switch off the light. But when she returned to the bedroom she realized that the light originated from somewhere outside. Thinking it was a fire; she approached the window and saw a globe-shaped object slowly approaching the apartment. The globe-shaped object was approximately 3 meters in diameter and red in color. At first it hovered at an altitude of about 30 meters, and then descended to the level of the 5th floor. The witness stood near the window totally puzzled at the sight. Eventually the globe approached the balcony to within 3-5 meters and stopped. Some doors opened in the middle of the globe, which resembled the sliding doors of an elevator. From the dark red opening a tall humanoid male figure appeared which then walked step by step and slowly in midair towards the balcony. The witness was seized by curiosity wondering how can a man walk in midair, but strangely she felt no fear. The balcony door was locked but this did not prevent the entity to easily pass through this obstacle and approach to within half a meter from the witness. Meanwhile her son quietly slept on the bed. She stood face to face with the alien. Suddenly the alien said, “Expect a relative to soon die!” The witness thought, that cant be---they had recently buried her father. But the alien then said, “Let’s go with us to our planet for 3 days”. She answered that she did not want to go because she had children. After pondering her answer, the alien man said, “I will return you in three days”. But stubbornly the witness refused the invitation. After waiting for some time for her permission to be taken to their planet, the alien moved backwards, turned around near the window and passed through the wall walking directly towards the hovering globe. After entering the globe the doors closed behind him, and the globe started slowly to ascend. It floated about 20 meters at one level, and then started smoothly to gain altitude. The object then floated towards the Kahovskoye Water Reservoir, while moving to the distance, its color changed from red to green, then yellow, like the color of the moon, only brighter. The object then hovered somewhere near the Reservoir for about 15 minutes and then suddenly vanished. Darkness immediately seizes the apartment. It was now 0245A and at this point the witness suddenly experienced a wave of horror and could not fall asleep until late in the morning. She went to her job exhausted. For the next two days she felt that something was out of place, she sensed that someone was watching her but every time she turned around she did not see anybody. This was repeated several times. Unfortunately the alien prophecy came true. On November 17 her husband’s first cousin died from stomach cancer.

Natalya V. Rzaeva spotted a hovering spacecraft shaped like a convex ellipse. A white beam of light emerged from the craft and apparently transported the witness onboard. Inside she met two aliens, a beautiful man and a woman, about 2.2 – 2.5 m in height, with European features, bronze colored skin with a yellowish tint, they had long light hair. They wore tight-fitting silvery overalls with a triangle shaped design on their left sleeves. Both aliens were encased in a greenish aura and both also wore greenish semi-transparent helmets on their heads. The man introduced himself as “Andar” and the alien woman said her name was Nika. They communicated both in verbal and telepathic form. Their language resembled ancient Slavic. The aliens then explained that the Slavic language was brought to Earth in fact, from space, as they have been visiting since ancient times. They are unable to make open contact because “humans do not follow the laws of space ethics.” The craft was about 10-15 m in diameter and was hovering about 30-40 m above a field. Inside the craft she saw some devices, monitors and screens. In the center of the room there was a table hovering in midair without any visible supports, as well as the green streamlined armchairs that were also hovering in the room. The aliens told her that their technology allowed them to travel to almost any place in space very fast, and huge interstellar distances are not a barrier to them. Mrs. Rzaeva was also shown the landscapes of their planet, which they called “Zar” and it was very colorful, picturesque, with bluish waters, luxuriant green flora, fauna, beautiful whitish mountains covered by ice and glaciers. Ecologically pure, very unlike Earth. Their houses were practical ones, without architectural extravagances. The public buildings were looking like Christian churches with gold and silver domes. They traveled in their planet in orange colored teardrop crafts. (According to Ukrainian researcher Anfalov the Planet “Zar” is located in Hipparcos 27435 (HD 38858) Orion star system, 50.8 light years away from our Sun). Apparently there were two other witnesses to this incident. Other sources state that the full name of this planet is “Zarina” which means female Tsar in ancient Russian. The source also indicates that this planet is inhabited by an alien race related to the ancient Slavic Nation. According to Fikret Seithalilov, who is purportedly in telepathic contact with these aliens, the name of the star system of the aliens is “Gorkaalo” or “Ares”, there are reportedly only two planets near that star and the second one is named “Rosh”.

One of the women was dressed in a whole grayish tight-fitting suit, she was "flat" and sat on the sofa. The other woman was younger, and was dressed in a bright blue coverall and had nice features and a beautiful smile. Conversation was done through telepathy. The alien women informed the witness that they had arrived from a flat planet lacking any mountains. Their planet revolved around two suns causing their planet to have neither winter or summer nor day or night (?). They reportedly lived in huge underground cities. They lack a family unit and have very few men, mostly only females (like the mythic Amazon society). Their lifespan is very long, but with time they age, turning gray and flat, wiser, kind and calm. Captain Alexander Kovylkov was appointed deputy commander of a strategic missile position near Krasnoyarsk. The garrison was located about 20-25 kilometers from the main launch pad. He was on duty at night and late at night he went to check on the posts. A huge moon shone overhead as Kovylkov, neatly attired in winter hat, greatcoat, waist belt, holster with gun, and high boots with special leather heels he had specially made for him. Suddenly at about 70 meters ahead of him he noticed three dark silhouettes. His first thought was maybe escaped prisoners (from where?). But he noticed that the figures were disproportionably built and about 2 to 2.2 meters in height. They were dressed in tight-fitting suits of a shiny gray-green material, similar to the material used in the military anti-chemical protective suits. He yelled, "Who is there?" And he grabbed his holster, in response he heard a hissing sound and felt a powerful electric charge strike his chest, he then lost consciousness. His next memory was not to clear; he felt his body being transported through a huge curving pipe, similar to a vacuum cleaner. He was then placed in a kind of examination table face down, in the middle of a round, dome shaped room. Three aliens are in the room, 2 are males, very tall and with very broad shoulders. They appear to have no necks as their heads seemed to be placed directly into their shoulders. Their hands are disproportionably long, their long narrow fingers reaching the knees. The third alien was apparently female, the small breast-like protrusions visible in her chest. This third alien was also athletic built like her companions. They had huge eyes that covered half their faces, narrow pale lips. Several small openings instead of a nose, resembling a small colander, they stood at the head of their bed. One of the aliens had opened Kovylkov's cranium (he felt no pain), while another alien inserted 3 thin pins into his brain with red pulsating tips. Alexander screamed and lost consciousness again. He came to again after he felt someone slapping his face. He opened his eyes and found himself sitting at a table. The sergeant on duty, Mamedov, was yelling at him asking him if he was alive. It was 0008A, 12 minutes had passed. The soldier explained to him that he was found unconscious near the table. The commander of the unit came running into the room. He had seen the taiga bathed in a blood-red light and next he saw a bright star-like object ascending at high speed into the sky. Kovylkov explained what happened and several soldiers using flashlights began searching the woods. Another curious fact soon came to light; Kovylkov famous heels were missing, after following his footprints, his heels were again found but the copper nails connecting the heels with the sole were missing. It appears that a year after the incident when a doctor attempted to X-ray his head the film will not developed and it was spoiled three times in a row.

The stranger looked around the room in confusion, apparently searching for something. He wore a black leather jacket and jeans. His movements were slow and awkward sometimes appearing in slow motion. Everyone in the room was amazed at the behavior of the stranger and reproached him. He tried to say something but then waved his hand and walked out. Several minutes later he returned and leaning over looked into the wall socket again. He was then asked by another bystander name Edward, what was he looking for and mumbled something about a gift and scarf. Suhareva then asked the stranger if he had forgotten his locker number, or had not written it down, perhaps he was looking in the wrong area. In a bewildered look the stranger asked, “What is write down”? And mumbled some other incomprehensible words. Suhareva continued asking him questions and asked what town had he flown in from, the stranger answered “Sverdlovsk” Asked if he came in by airplane or train he thought for a minute, said airplane syllable by syllable and then as if reacting suddenly he yelled, “No, I descended by aggregate. You have different atmosphere here, strong pressure, I became ill”. The people in the room stared at him in amazement, some becoming frightened. But Suhareva preserved her self-control and asked the stranger, “What is aggregate? You mean by flying saucer don’t you?” The stranger then seemed to become angry, reiterating, “No! I descended by aggregate!” The he leaned on Edward’s shoulder and asked for the wall socket, saying that he needed to “recharge”. The stranger then sat on the bench in front of the outlet. Then he grabbed hold of the windowsill with his right hand and stuck his middle finger into the socket (!). He began to shake, his face now covered by strange blue spots. 10-15 seconds later he took his hand out of the socket and vigorously shook his head. The blue spots then vanished. The stranger then stood up and walked towards the door, saying, “That’s all, I remember now!” He was now speaking in a normal tone of voice. When the stranger walked out of the room, two of the men in the room, (Edward & Ivan) experienced severe headaches and asked who the stranger was. Metallic antennas, resembling small horns, were visible on the helmets. The men told the girl, “Lets be friends”. Frightened, Tanya asked the men who they were. They told her that they were from another world and then departed. Her mother did not believe her story. However several days later according to Tanya the strange “men” returned. The visitors further explained to Tanya that they lived in another more beautiful world, which was very pleasant in nature. Tanya then asked if they had trees in their world and the aliens said that their trees resembled large “cucumbers”. “What do you have there besides that” asked Tanya. The aliens then explained that they had special apparatuses, which they used to “puncture holes between worlds” (to travel?). They said that their world was parallel to that of earth. They told the uncomprehending young girl that once they puncture a hole, the space “converts” into something akin to a gravitational collapse. The aliens pointed out to Tanya that she was a good girl and had the necessary “resonant frequencies”. She was then asked if she wanted to visit their ship, she said yes and in a moment she appeared inside their spacecraft. The men pointed to a console with numerous buttons and asked Tanya if she wanted to press a button (!) she agreed and was told to press a certain button but not to touch the other ones. She was told that the other buttons were responsible for the temporal shift and “converting space.” The aliens also said that there were very few people on earth that they could communicate with and that Tanya was one of them, the reason given was that she was “underdeveloped”. That she had rare “atavism” in her body. The aliens explained to Tanya that atavism was contained in her head as a “third eye”. Finally the aliens told Tanya that they would eventually take her with them when she became an adult.

She talked to the witness and among other things told him that she was immortal and came from a planetary system 44 light years away from earth. She claimed to be able to travel by using the power of her mind, materializing anywhere in a matter of seconds. She stated that her race was able to travel the galaxy by just thinking of the area they wanted to go to. Her planetary system is located beyond the Orion nebula, perhaps 1 light year away from the nebula. Apparently this female alien has contacted the witness on several occasions, always providing numerous odd and short messages.

The witness, Ahmadeyeva Rimma Mikhailovna, was sleeping in her room when she suddenly awoke experiencing a strong feeling of worry. She then saw several humanoid entities that appeared to have come out from a silvery metallic, cylindrical object, narrowing at the top. This bottomless cylindrical shaped object appeared to have transformed directly into her room, like the cabin of an elevator. The humanoids were tall, about 2.8-3m in height, all dressed in black, beautiful in appearance and looking similar to each other like twins. Their skin looked tanned. At first she was terribly afraid and then to her amazement she became calm. The aliens then spoke to the witness in what she described as the “pure Russian language”. The voices of the humanoids were reportedly clear and pleasant. But she had the feeling that they were using telepathy, since their “native” voices were obviously different. She felt a sort of invisible barrier between her and the humanoids and was mesmerized by a strong magnetic force which the humanoids apparently emanated. The humanoids proposed that she leave with them but she refused. The aliens did most of the talking and apparently were able to read her thoughts.

Two classmates were returning from school along a pedestrian path when suddenly they noted in front of a slope of a nearby hill a disc-shaped object standing on three legs about 5 meters in diameter and with a protrusion in the form of a cupola on top. Afraid the boys hid behind a mound of earth and waited but nothing happened. Curiosity overpowered fear and they approached the landed object. They saw what appeared to be a clamp on the side of the object and one of the boys was suddenly grasped by the clamp and pulled upwards. While this happened his was able to look inside through the transparent cupola. He did not see anybody but was able to see an instrument panel and bright blinking lights. He was able to get loose and suddenly a strong fear overcame both boys and they fled the site. On March of the following year on the spot indicated by the children the grass was found clearly "stained" by a dark oval shaped outline. It seemed that the grass was still scorched inside the oval shape. However vegetation around the site including apricot trees grew green and exuberant.

The militia was called in the morning, but they ignored the incident even though there could be clearly seen 40cm long footprints or tracks in the fresh snow. Something was visible inside but it was not clear what it was since the smoke was still present. Suddenly a leg protruded out of the smoke and then a man-like figure came out of the smoke. The humanoid was over 2 meters in height. It stood at the slit holding each opposite edge with its hands. His legs were not clearly seen, because the belching smoke still enveloped them. The humanoid wore something resembling a motorcycle helmet on his head and goggles over its eyes. The goggles emitted strong beams of blue light which seemed to pierce through the witness. The alien’s suit was silver or white in color similar to an overall; the hands were of the same color or were possibly gloves. As the alien stared at her the witness began to cry uncontrollably, however she could not wipe her tears or utter a scream. Her coat was wide opened and though the weather was frosty she felt very hot. She was frozen in the same position the alien giant was both staring at each. Suddenly the alien figure loudly uttered, “Ha-ha-ha!” (Imitating human laughter) and then repeated three times in Russian, “Object, object, object”. Local resident, Natasha M. was walking near the forest when she suddenly noticed a dim grayish light in coming from within the forest. She answered in her mind “Yes”. At that instant she walked into the forest without any will or control. Soon she found the source of the light, which was a large cylinder-shaped craft about 10 meters long, and 5 meters in diameter. She stood in front of the object and felt a glance from behind her, however she could not turn around and her body became paralyzed. However she remained alert and wondered what was happening around her. She then heard a new telepathic, “There is someone inside the “compartment” who needs your help”. She nodded her head and a door opened in front of her. Following a mental impulse she came upon a warm pink-colored room. The narrow compartment was full of instruments arranged in a circle starting at the door. An object, which reminded her of a bed, only without legs then descended from the top. On it she saw a male entity lying on the bench-sofa-like contraption. The entity opened its eyes, and looked at Natasha. His eyes were emerald green in color. The alien then said, "I stepped on some glass and wounded my leg. We can't stop the bleeding." Natasha was now able to speak and volunteered to help. She then bandaged the alien's wound and was amazed at the color of his blood---actually colorless and transparent. The whole time as she worked on the alien's foot, both were silent. When the procedure was over, the alien said telepathically. "Thank you", and stood up from the "sofa". The alien was taller than Natasha, possibly about 180cm in height. They then walked out of the cylinder and Natasha saw a second alien, or more precisely, only his shadow, no more than 7cm in width. The alien had thin long legs and arms, and an oval-shaped head joined at the shoulders. The alien that she assisted then said, "We will come to you at night, you will be sleeping". Natasha returned home very late that night, about 0100A and then fell asleep. Soon the aliens came to her in an "astral state", the alien she helped was there, and told her that his name was "Majist". She does not remember what they talked about. But the aliens said, "You helped us and now is our turn, I will guard you from "unnecessary deeds" and will come to your aid when you are ill". They walked awkwardly, stepping heavy “like horses” raising their legs sharply up and down, like soldiers in a parade. The giant in the middle was apparently the leader, he was wearing something like a bag suspended by straps around his neck. They walked by 2 telegraph poles, briefly stopped and then began walking back. As they approached the craft, the hatch opened again and the giants “plunged” inside, the hatch closed and a flame appeared below the craft, which began silently zooming up. After experiencing almost constant paranormal and poltergeist activity in her home, the main witness, a young girl, Theodora Chaprazova entered her bathroom and encountered a small gray dwarf sitting on the wash-bowl that communicated with her using telepathy. The strange alien said, “Hi!” My name is Zani, I have arrived from the planet Zons, which is bigger than Earth and 16 light years distant from you”. The communication lasted for a long while and Zani gave the name of his wife as Kelba, they had a son named Zun. Zani was 120 years old. And according to Zani, the terrestrial year is equal to 3 years on Zons, and their month is 2 weeks. Average longevity on Zons is 500 terrestrial years. The fly to Earth, Zani used a specific device resembling a stick with a special crystal on top (!). A month later another alien “team” arrived, this time from the planet “Vava” in the constellation of Capricorn. Their arrival was accompanied by a seismic-like tremor in Chaparazova’s flat. These aliens were different from Zani and frightening in appearance. Theodora described them as shaggy, resembling birds without feathers with long beaks. One of those aliens introduced himself as “Mani”. Also communicating telepathically, he said that he was married and the name of his wife was Tsena and they had a son also named Mani. The new aliens told Theodora that they had visited an apartment in the USSR but the attempted contact had failed. They told Theodora that they would attempt to “guard” her house from various bad “things”. A month later Theodora fell into a trance, and said, “The flying saucer is coming, and it is controlled by two robots, Rani and Bani. They are returning from the planet Neptune”. Poltergeist and other strange activity continued after this incident. In addition, according to the first alien (Zani) they reportedly have Dinosaur-like animals that roam their planet. Anfalov, the Ukrainian researcher points out that the exact location of the planet Zons is MAO, or in terrestrial astronomy: Omicron-2 (40) Eridani, or Keid star, triple star system, 16.5 light years away. Unable to sleep because of the previous events, two youngsters, Agaselim and Dima they heard coming from the area of the previous encounter a terrible howling sound, which they said did not belong to either animal or man. They were too afraid to look out the window. Later that same day the entity again appeared in the courtyard, but now it was almost 3 meters in height. Terrified the children watch, as the entity appeared to dissolve into thin air. 30 minutes the entity again appeared but this time in a "reduced" version almost to normal height.

During a rainy night a young man named Sergio was returning home from his girlfriend's house and was walking on the railroad tracks when he noticed a strange glow up ahead. As he approached the area he noticed a luminous creature, apparently composed of pure energy. Paralyzed, Sergio covered his face to protect his eyes from the glow, however he was able to see eyes, a nose, and a mouth on the creature. At the same time the humanoid began to communicate with the witness via telepathy. The humanoid, among other things explained that they had a base at the Serra da Jureia. After a while the luminous figure transformed itself into a luminous sphere and disappeared vertically into the sky. Sergio was then able to move again and ran home.

Designer Natalie Sorokina suddenly awoke feeling something pushing on her chest. She felt as if there was someone in the room. A white bright enveloped her and she felt as if she had "fallen" through something. She then found herself lying in a ditch filled with a dark oily liquid. On the other side of the ditch she could see a one story "structure", by a front opening stood two humanoids (not described). She then found herself standing in front of the humanoids, which asked her to open her mouth. They appear to examine his teeth. She was then brought into a corridor with numerous opened rooms along the sides, in which there were people inside. In one of the rooms was a man of about 40 years of age, lying on a table, completely covered with hoses and tubes and monitored with instruments. In another room she saw a woman with beautiful white hair, covered in a white sheet. This one stares quizzically at Natalie. Suddenly as she reached the end of the corridor, again the white light appeared and she began to fall through one more time. Soon she came to rest on her bed again. An awkward sensation remained in her chest for the next 24 hours and then disappeared.

A witness named Victor Seminskiy was walking from a local farm to the hamlet when he suddenly saw a UFO descending over him. Strangely the witness felt the air around him squeezing him as in a vacuum he then saw an extremely bright light enveloping him and a lattice-like structure surround him. Apparently he was then pulled up into the UFO and then unexpectedly found himself near his house. Seemingly to Victor only 15 minutes had gone by but incredibly he soon found out that he had been missing for two hours. He could only remember the beam of light blinding him and shining all around him. Apparently most of the memory of the abduction was erased but unfortunately the witness refused any regressive hypnosis. Victor's wife apparently confirmed the experience.

Aliens apparently abducted a 32-year old metal worker named Victor. Under hypnosis he was able to remember being in a white square room with round windows. "Galina" a being that looked like his wife but was not, apparently brought him to an area, blasted him with something, and he fainted, later he came to in the strange room. There was another entity there, a small man, dressed in black clothing. They questioned Victor, and urged him to reveal something he did not know. Then a humanoid that was different from the small man approached Victor. They probed his torso and he fainted. Later he woke up in the same room. Victor was missing for several days, and when he returned home, his real wife informed investigators. Victor was tested, and strange cross-like marks were found on his body where the beings had touched him. Victor disappeared twice more. Later when hypnotized again, he recalled alien beings, screens, tentacles touching him, etc. He remained under medical care for a while.

An elderly male witness, Valentin K. was reading a book in his room while his wife worked in the kitchen. Nobody was near him at the moment. Suddenly he saw several flashes of light, which circled the air around him. In the next moment, he appeared in a quite different and unknown location. The place was like nothing he had ever seen before. He saw a huge meadow of bright green, trimmed grass. There was a river nearby, filled with transparent, clear water. Beyond the river he could see sloping hills. There were no visible trees. He could see several humanoid figures walking around in the distance. And nearby suddenly appeared a strange semi-transparent humanoid figure, like an orange cloud. The witness thought that it was all a dream and at that very same moment the nearby silhouetted assumed a dense nature becoming non-transparent, it seemed to materialize in front of the witness. The figure was human-like, but not completely. Its face, hands and clothing were dull orange in color. The strangest detail was the face, instead of a nose, there was a small dark opening, instead of a mouth, also a round opening, resembling that of funnel to pour water through. Ears were totally absent. The entity's eyes were large, yellow-brown in color, which stared at the witness intently but with "kindness". The alien "walked" closer to the witness in a strange floating gait, almost floating in midair. The alien wore totally bizarre clothing; the front section resembled that of a screen. Suddenly two other similar entities appeared nearby, which differ only in height, the first and original one was as tall as the witness, the second smaller and the third was taller than Valentin. The witness still thought that he was dreaming, but the humanoid closest to him somehow read his thoughts and answered via telepathy, "No, this is not a dream, I am real, Give me your hand!" Mechanically the witness obeyed the humanoid and stretched his hand. The alien gave him its hand. Valentin shook the alien's hand, which felt normal like that of a human, hot, with five fingers. "Where are you from?" Asked the witness, overcoming his sense of fear. Instead of an answer, the "shield" located on the alien's chest, began emitting bright colors and soon the witness saw images of "galaxies", constellations, planets, it resembled digital figures seen on electronic watches. After that the witness remembers nothing. He came to his senses again in his bedroom. He felt somewhat torpid and his hand was hot. His wife apparently had not notice him missing; she remained in the kitchen all the time, and apparently the whole "adventure" lasted only several minutes. The witness, who was an accomplished artist, drew portraits of the scenes he witnessed.

One of the local residents living outside the hamlet who had never believed "neither in hell nor in God or UFOs" at one point reported experiencing a series of strange events. He reportedly came upon a landed disc-shaped object and began contacting the alien crew on a regular basis. He was later visited by an "unearthly being" twice and even stranger still once a month a powerful humming sound was heard under his wooded cabin, even his window panes shook as a result of the hum. The witness attributed this part of the phenomena to underground Soviet military activity in the area. According to the source there is possibly an underground alien base in the remote region amid the forests of eastern Latvia.

A 45-year old female witness named L. Maslovskaya reported encountering a strange humanoid entity that appeared in her apartment, seemingly out of nowhere and then vanished in a bright flash of light. 2 months later a strange male voice began speaking and terrorizing the entire family, "penetrating inside their heads and talking". At first the voice proposed to take the 3-year old daughter of the witness outside to the street in the middle of the night and then take her to their planet called "Soleig". The voice threatened that if the family refused they would "burn their apartment down with laser beams". Frightened the witnesses moved to their neighbor's apartment but also heard the voice there. In the morning the alien voice invited them to their spacecraft and controlled the witness behavior the whole day. The witness then visited the hospital where doctors observed her for 3 consecutive days. The doctors were dumbfounded and were unable to help. Later the humanoid voice only spoke to Mrs. Maslovskaya and her young children. The alien demonstrated "his" ability to stop the clocks and was somehow able to switch television channels apparently showing foreign films instead of the central program. Soon the family found the edge of their lampshades tore and burned, the alien then explained that this was done with a laser beam. Strange odors also appeared in the apartment. At times the alien would tell the witnesses to close their eyes and then they would see images like those on a television screen. One time the alien somehow transmitted Mrs. Maslovskaya's daughter's voice while the daughter was in kindergarten. The alien also illuminated Mrs. Maslovskaya different organs, including the heart and liver with a luminous circle and explained that they were not healthy. However she felt no ill symptoms during the alien intrusions. One day as the family returned from Astrakhan to their home the alien voice invited them to ride their spaceship back home to Mary, at the same time that a yellow sphere hovered in the sky. The 11-year old daughter frequently communicated with the alien, asking numerous questions. The alien then began to control the children's behavior and when encountering resistance, displayed the ability to control their minds, making the children behave much younger than they really were. Mrs. Maslovskaya began fearing for her children's wellbeing and addressed the editorial board of the local newspaper but no one believed her. A psychiatrist suggested that the whole family be interned. (Could the whole family really just go crazy without any explanation?).

A local female, Valentina Lisina reported communicating "three times" with visitors from another planet. She reportedly kept a diary of the events. The humanoids were very tall, about 3 meters in height, slender, very beautiful in appearance with blond hair and were dressed in long white robes. The visitors informed Valentina that they had come from the "6th dimension" and showed her a strange map where she was able to see the word "OSOL". Valentina could not understand what that word meant, "the city, planet or the solar system?" The witness also reported seeing the flying craft in which the aliens arrived. Several strangers or humanoid wearing "spacesuits" were observed in this remote region, the most pure ecological area on the Kamchatka peninsula. The humanoids were very tall and were dressed in tight-fitting metallic silvery spacesuits. Local legend and folklore tells that in "ancient times" a flying boat had crashed (or landed?) beyond the low mountain of Ulegendy and since then the area had been visited regularly by numerous UFOs. On many occasions while local reindeer breeders slaughtered their herds in the village of Anavgay 5 or 6 disc-shaped objects would hover over the location for hours. Locals were reportedly accustomed to seeing fiery globes in the sky, purple colored hazes and humanoid creatures. Also what appeared to have been holographic images were seen in the sky over the region.

A local female resident living near Militia Police station # 27 reported a strange encounter with two humanoids that appeared on her balcony. She suddenly woke up and after seeing two silent flashes of light she saw a glow appear behind the windows. When she came close to the window, she saw a disc-shaped craft approximately 10-12 meters in diameter. The disk disappeared behind the house and soon a large figure appeared from that direction. The humanoid figure was floating in the air in a vertical position; flying towards her house, then descended to the ground and began walking among some trees. Some time after that, this entity zoomed up and approached her balcony. The entity was very tall, about 2.5meters in height. The humanoid was dressed in a dark-grayish spacesuit and was standing, with its head bend looking down to the ground from the balcony. A second figure, smaller in size, about 1.5m in height, now appeared in sight, it stopped within sight of the witness and pulled her helmet backwards and the witness saw the face of a girl with very white skin, with large eyes emanating warmth, good will and intelligence. Unexpectedly the witness felt back to her sofa, her eyelids became heavy and she quickly fell asleep. She awoke in that same position only at 0700A.

The woman felt dizzy but realized that the alien carried her outside the house, and she found herself floating in the air in the level of her apartment. She became dizzier and everything began to rotate in front of her eyes and soon she appeared inside a circular room. Another humanoid was standing in the room near a control panel. Both humanoids were dressed in cloak-like outfits, gray in color. The aliens were persistent in inviting the witness to go with them, but she refused. The witness does not know how the aliens returned her to her apartment and after the incident she experienced a series of strange events in her apartment, at times an unknown entity would slap her young daughter behind her head.

The witness was awakened by the cries of her young daughter and upon opening her eyes she found herself already sitting in bed and she was cradling her young daughter against her chest that had already stopped crying, she couldn't remember getting up from the bed and taking her daughter in her arms. At this point she was sitting with her back to the wall she turned to look at the wall and was stunned to see only about 2 meters from where she was sitting with her daughter a bizarre humanoid figure levitating about 1 1/2 m from the floor. The humanoid spoke to the witness without opening its mouth, which was slit-like, she did not see a nose, and told her not to be afraid. The witness attempted to scream but no sound came out she then tried to move but was totally paralyzed. She tried to call her sister who was sleeping only a few feet from her but was unable to utter a sound. But gradually a type of calming effect took hold in her mind. The humanoid was still there sitting in midair, his legs crossed just like Oriental lamas. The humanoid was bizarre in appearance, from his head protruded a sort of long horn-like protrusion resembling a twisted tube, his skin color was light green, mixed in with a silvery tinge, which seemed metallic and scintillating but not shiny, the eyes were similar to humans but larger and slanted almost touching each other in the center of the forehead, she did not see any ears. Its chest and arms were much larger in proportion to its crossed legs. According to the witness the humanoid appeared to be inside some type of square "compartment" about 1/2m in length, the humanoid's long and delicate looking hands appeared to be moving very fast as if using some kind of unseen keyboard. He wore clothing that appeared to be the same color of its skin. A few minutes before 0730A the humanoid vanished in plain sight, just like a holographic image, the witness thinks she spoke with the humanoid by using telepathy or some type of "silent language"; the only movement she saw from the humanoid was the fingers which appeared to be five. The humanoid gave the witness his name and told her several other things which she unfortunately forgot soon after the encounter. Soon after the encounter the witness became an environmental activist.

A local woman named Polina N. was on her way to the local railway station when she suddenly heard an "inner voice" that said, "We want to talk to you". She turned around and saw two humanoid figures standing near the trees, dressed in a uniform that reminded her of those used by soldiers from a nearby military unit. Afraid, Polina tried to escape but her legs did not obey her. Meanwhile the figures approached. At this point she realized they were wearing not uniforms, but streamlined black & silver spacesuits and it seemed to Polina that the humanoids were female. "We want you to come with us" she heard the strange inner voice speak again. One of the alien figures then put her hand on the back of Polina's head. Immediately she became calmed and "indifferent". The female humanoids then grabbed Polina under her arms and she felt herself quickly levitating and flying above the ground. She returned to her senses in an empty room evidently onboard a UFO. She could see a large white screen in front of her that reminded her of a projection screen. One of the alien females gave her some thick sour tasting liquid to drink from a cup that was made of some strange material. The screen then became lit and Polina suddenly saw what appeared to be her inner organs displayed on it. She had the impression that she was looking at her body from inside. Then she heard the alien voice in her head again, "Can we take information from you?" Polina became frightened of this alien request and refused. And then Polina heard the alien voice once again, "You haven't lived yet. This is not your real life. Here, look at who you really are". With those words she the image of an old man, and the aliens added, "This is your real inner self". The image then dimmed, became smoky and then vanished. Two very tall female humanoids then appeared and came to Polina. These aliens had small heads, narrow chins, and narrow slits instead of mouths. While talking their thin lips did not move (all communication with Polina was telepathic). Then they placed Polina inside of some type of "capsule" and she lost consciousness. Later Polina returned to her senses sitting on a lawn near a row of houses. She felt very dizzy and nauseated. She turned around and could not understand where she was. A man approached her and said, "Well honey, look how drunk you got!" and continued walking away. Polina gradually recuperated her strength and upon seeing two women ran to them asking them where she was and could she get to the Reutovo railway station. Apparently she was now about 15km away from the railway station. Polina could not remember anything more about her abduction, so the leader of a local Ufological group proposed that she underwent hypnosis. She agreed, and under a state of hypnosis she was regressed back to the point when she was walking to the railway station. Apparently the humanoids in spacesuits had brought her to a field somewhere outside the hamlet. There was a huge spacecraft sitting on the field, with 2 rows of windows. Like an orange segment, one sector separated from the hull and descended to earth, creating a passage into the object. Polina was then carried inside and then the sector ascended, closing the opening. During hypnosis, Polina saw the aliens again, but now according to her description, these were different looking aliens. She described them as looking like ancient Greeks (Hellenic), with white curly hair. She understood that the other aliens she had previously encountered were merely biological robots. She remembered that the alien leader had told her that they had come from another star system, where exactly she wasn't able to understand. As they told her, their civilization (not only theirs) conduct observations on life on earth and had being doing so for thousands of years. The aliens told her that the Earth serves as a sort of base or (meeting point?) for many civilizations that visited there. Events that occurred on Earth reflect on the life of other worlds and that's why humans saw UFOs so frequently. But they only observe over humans having no right to interfere in the affairs of humans.

24-year old Vadim Strugai reportedly was standing by his bedroom window. Bright sunlight shone directly into his eyes. Vadim was unable to see their faces since the sunlight blinded him, and the humanoids had appeared behind the sunlight. One of the humanoids "spoke" in a loud squeaky language and while doing this, he turned his head to the entity standing next to him and then the entities suddenly vanished the same way they had appeared. The incident shocked the witness and he experienced strong headaches. Incredibly a couple of days later the strange humanoid trio appeared again behind the same window and immediately Vadim heard a voice inside his head that told him in the "pure Russian language", "Look this is the future". And Vadim saw directly in front of him a screen remotely resembling a television screen. What he saw there frightened him. He seemed to be looking down from a high altitude and saw what appeared to be the remnants of destroyed houses and multistoried buildings, including skyscrapers. All these ruins appeared to be standing in water (indicating some type of severe floods). Everywhere as far as he could see he saw water. Trembling from fear Vadim asked, "When will this [as1]happen?" The same voice answered, "1999, July", then there was a flash before his eyes and when he blinked the three humanoid silhouettes behind the window had disappeared.

She was leaning back against a rock when she saw, a hovering sphere very close to her position. The normally fierce dog remained quiet and the goats remained very still. A door like opening became visible on the sphere and two little men came out. They wore brown diver's suits, and had what appeared to be backpacks on their backs. The witness attempted to scream but could not. The beings were about 4-feet tall, heavy set and there appeared to be some stripes on their shiny brown suits. They wore helmets with a glass-like visor. She also noticed what appeared to be two antennas coming out of their suits. They seemed to glide just above the ground. The sphere was described as shiny and silvery with several multi-colored lights around it. One of the little men then approached the witness grabbed her arm and tied a rubber hose around it, and then he proceeded to extract blood from the witness arm using a syringe like instrument. She felt no pain. The other little man then proceeded to milk one of the goats that remained completely still. Soon the little men glided back to the silvery sphere and went inside. The sphere then shot away at tremendous speed. Below where the sphere floated the ground turned white and nothing grew there for a long time.

After dinner, the family of a local woman named S.T. went to bed. Her husband fell asleep soon, and her son then switched off the television in the room. It became very quiet. Suddenly she saw a "man" approaching her from the balcony. The stranger was about 2 meters in height, thin, and dressed in a tight-fitting rubber suit, without seams. The witness did not see his face. The humanoid wore some type of helmet on his head. The witness felt paralyzed with fear, as the alien seemed to be wrapped in brown-colored hoses (?). The witness then began to scream, and the humanoid then raised his hand apparently causing her to become unconscious. She awoke only in the morning and found 2 bruises on her hand and a small rectangular-shaped scar directly over her vein, consisting of 10 dots, as if blood had been extracted from her body. Apparently the witness had been subjected to abduction and a medical examination while she was unconscious.

Two schoolboys, M and S, were walking along a fenced garden plot spotted strange prints on the soil, resembling round holes about 1cm in diameter. The traces followed a path into the forest. After walking about 30 meters, the boys saw a tall figure, about 2.5m in height, dressed in a black overall with a white zipper. The alien's head was just a small protrusion without a neck, with hollow or sunken eyes and two openings in the place where the nose should be. The boys became frightened and ran out of the forest and then saw a silver colored object hovering over the forest. In fear they quickly fled the area.

Winifred Crause was in her bed when she suddenly felt absolutely petrified. She began waking her husband and in her mind's eye could see outside. She could also see short creatures all around her. She then felt being taken up to a place, there she saw other people sitting around in a trance-like state. She was then placed on a bed, made out of aluminum. Several beings described as short with slanted eyes and wearing silvery outfits then approached. They communicated with one another using a strange sound. They treated the witness in a cruel indifferent manner, pummeling her stomach. She tried to reason with them but was apparently ignored. Suddenly she found herself back on her bed.

Ex-military officer Moskalenko was walking with a friend, Major Oleg Belomestnov when a sudden powerful blow in the back knocked Moskalenko down and flung him off the road. Belomestnov helped him to his feet, shaken by what he saw, he accompanied Moskalenko home. Moskalenko was in pain and confused, he saw visions, vague and hazy landscapes. Suddenly they were ordered to stop and a short lean, unkempt man, clad in black, warned him that there may be another "energized strike." The man in black communicated by using telepathy. He paid no attention to Belomestnov, who was shouting at him. The man told Moskalenko that this was a warning. The stranger then squatted down and touched Moskalenko swollen leg with the palm of his hand. It instantly got hot and the pain vanished as well as the pain in the rest of his body and the delusions and apparitions that had been bothering him from time to time since a previous UFO encounter. The stranger in black then asked several pertinent questions related to that UFO incident and moments later disappeared.

Carl and his girlfriend had gone to see a movie on a Saturday. While they watched the movie playing on the screen, Carl noticed in his left peripheral vision that a strange looking man had entered the theater, walked down the aisle, and was now standing at the end of their row of seats. The man wore an overcoat and a hat that in such a way as to largely conceal his features. Clearly visible, but still strangely ambiguous, were his eyes. These seemed to add to the air of strangeness and menace about him. Rather than sitting down, the man simply stood there and stared at them. Both Carl and his girlfriend felt a powerful sense of fear associated with this stranger, and his unsettling stare. While Carl attempted to return his attention to the movie screen, his girlfriend felt herself becoming more and more unnerved, eventually hiding her face in Carl's arm. For a few moments longer they tried to ignore the stranger. But finally, at her urging, Carl turned his attention to the location where the man had stood---but now the man was gone. Carl stood up and looked around but the man was nowhere in sight. He ran to the lobby but it was empty.

While driving along a route surrounded by rolling hills and cattle grazing grounds the witness and his family saw a strange creature that resembled a dog, but with one enormous difference, it was about the size of the Cadillac that they were in, height-wise. Its paws were large and padded like a mountain lion's and it had razor back adorned with thick black hair that looked matted down, possibly from blood. It had large, glistening incisors that hung from its mouth, and the area around the mouth and neck region was caked with saliva. His mother caught sight of it lumbering in the opposite direction that she was driving about a couple of minutes before the creature caught sight of their speeding automobile. It was simply walking on the side of the vacant road toward the Sierra Madre Mountain range. It never attempted to commandeer the car; basically it took little to no interest in their presence. However the sight of it terrified the witnesses who drove away from the area without stopping.

Collective farmer, brigadier Alexey Popov was returning home after his shift to the village of Krivskoye when suddenly he felt that he was loosing control of his "Zhiguli" car. He stopped wanting to get out of the car and examine the engine, but he was unable to do that as a bright beam of light shone right through the windshield of the vehicle. Incredibly the cassette tape jumped out the tape player. Confused he looked around outside and to his further amazement watched a typical ambulance or emergency vehicle of the "Rafik" type (RAF-2203) descending from the sky and land on the road straight ahead. (Apparently the emergency van was some type of camouflaged UFO). The door of the "ambulance" swung open and a 2 meter tall "hospital attendant" jumped out to the ground from the van. The stranger was not wearing a hospital gown or uniform and looked more like a "space alien". The humanoid then walked straight towards the witness vehicle. At first, Alexey remained sitting inside his vehicle waiting to see what would happen next. The "hospital attendant" approached the car and unceremoniously opened the car's door and greeted Popov in heavily accented Russian. Popov also greeted him. "What are you doing here" asked the stranger. "I am coming back from my job, I was on duty at the collective farm" answered Popov in a trembling voice. Then a menacing question was asked, "Why have you violated our laws?! And then the alien said something strange, "You do not live, you exist!" "He is right" thought Alexey, remembering stories told by tourists who had visited foreign countries. Afraid he told the alien, "I don't understand anything, what laws do you mean?" No explanation was forthcoming; instead a second giant figure exited the ambulance and joined the other alien. Popov then approached them silently listening to their speech and moved stepped back remaining silent. And then a third alien appeared took the hand of the second alien turned around and told the now demoralized Popov, "We must leave now, and you go on to your garage. There a man with a tractor is waiting for you." The three "hospital attendants" then vanished inside the "ambulance-van". Alexey then saw the vehicle's light turn on and then slowly without any sound, the strange "ambulance" ascended up into the sky, gained speed and flew out of sight. Popov then started his car, which worked properly and drove to the garage. To his amazement he was met by several people in the garage, despite being very late, apparently the men were mechanics working on the tractor whose engine had been malfunctioning. But when Alexey approached the tractor, its engine suddenly began operating correctly. The location of the encounter was then visited by a local UFO group and a strange phenomenon was detected there, a column of light that zoomed straight up appeared on several photographs taken of the location.

Shepherd Omusha's wife reported seeing a strange Bigfoot type creature not far from the pasture. The creature was standing on a high rock. She started pleading her husband to leave the horrid place and go to another pasture. The man did not agree, although he was anxious about it too. He began searching for the creatures; he found their tracks, but never saw a living one. One evening he heard his wife screaming very loudly. He grabbed his rifle and rushed outside. The wife was lying on the ground, almost unconscious. She was speechless and could not say a word. She could only point her finger in the direction of the rocks. The shepherd gazed in the direction that she was pointing and saw the silhouette of a running man. He did not hesitate and fired his rifle. In the morning the shepherd found blood spots on the rocks. Omush thought that those creatures would not come back to their pasture anymore. Several days later he found his little son dead. There was no trace of violence on the boy's body, only a little wound on his neck. Omush was sure that a Bigfoot killed his boy. He swore revenge and waited for the creature to return. One night he fell asleep and when he entered his house in the morning, he found the dead body of his wife. Again, there was only a small red wound on her neck. Out of desperation he went into the woods searching for the creatures. Shepherd Shapak took care of Omush's sheep. One day he suddenly saw the sheep getting very troubled and excited. They were bleating and rushing from one side to another. The animals were apparently frightened with something. Shapak could only see a silhouette of a man covered with thick fur disappearing amid bushes and trees. Then he saw another man on the ground. Shapak ran up to him and recognized Omush. The shepherd was already dead, blood was leaking from a small wound on his neck.

The couple watched Brian intently as he prepared two cheese and tomato pizzas. All the while, the male "kept looking around the shop like he'd never been in a pizza parlor before". By now, Brian's colleague Doug had also noticed that there was something rather odd about the pair, and the two chefs exchanged glances of disbelief as Brian carefully explained what a pepper was. Once their order was ready, the extraordinary Americans settled their bill. Each took a single bite out of their pizza then threw the remainder into the bin outside the shop.

A 15-year old school boy, Alisher Sabirov was returning home from a regional center along a dark road when he suddenly noticed a light in the darkness. The light appeared to originate from the sky. He first thought it was a meteor was a bright light suddenly illuminated him, he then heard a voice inside his head: "Will you fly with us?" Without hesitation he answered yes. Then something started descending over him. It was a triangle shaped craft with smooth corners, a large bright light and a huge central opening. The alien craft landed several meters from the witness. It was about 8 meters long and 3 meters in height; it ejected three landing props as it landed. On one side of the object a panel moved aside soundlessly and a ladder was lowered down. Then a tall alien woman appeared on the opening. She was taller than the average height and had long hair down to her shoulders. She was dressed in a silver cone-shaped dress down to her heels. Alisher heard the soft female voice in his head again that asked him again if he wanted to fly with them. He was then asked a myriad of questions about himself and his hometown all telepathically. The woman took the boy's hand and accompanied him to the ladder. She ascended first and then Alisher. Inside the UFO it was easy to breathe, the air was light and aromatic, somewhat sweet-smelling. It was light inside, like daytime, but he could not see the source of the light. The light was soft and pleasant to the eyes. They went through a corridor about 5 m long, which gradually widened and turned into a spacious square room. In this room another alien sat on an armchair near a large control panel. The chair was apparently floating in mid-air, not standing on a prop. A second chair nearby was empty. The boy noticed a large color screen that was changing images (by sequence) displaying, bridges, canals, etc. The woman ignored the boy's questions about the functions of the buttons on the panel. She only turned the lever on the right corner of the panel and said: "We see and study the world using this." When the woman spoke, interestingly she spoke in the ancient Russian (Slavic) language, which the boy barely understood. Then she took him by the hand and led him to another room, almost the same size as the previous control room. It was empty, there was only one alien sitting on a chair in it. This alien was different; he had only one eye (Cyclops) and large hands. The eye was without pupil. The cyclopean alien immobilized the boy for about 15 minutes (apparently scanning him). After that the alien woman took him out of the room. They went back to the ladder and Alisher descended alone. Using telepathy again, the woman said that they would meet again. The panel then closed. The landing props of the UFO then retracted and the craft hovered still about 1.5 m from the ground. Alisher then walked under the hull and banged on it, he heard a hollow sound. He also saw 3 large lights on the corners of the triangle and managed to insert his head on the large hollow hole on the middle. After that he felt heat and the craft vanished.

During a clear sunny day, A Zhagrin observed hovering above the economic building a metallic sphere that emitted a very strong beam of light. The next morning around 1100A in the same area near a local pond the same witness saw two tall heavy set humanoids walking around a field, moving about as if having difficulty walking with heavy footsteps. They stood about 2-3 meters from each other. They had large heads and tanned faces, high cheekbones, and wore blue-black helmets that came down to eyebrow level. They wore yellow coveralls without fastenings and on the right side of their breast they had a round instrument. They humanoids walked to within 3 meters from the witness and stopped briefly, scanning her with some type of instrument. She felt a sense of fear and foreboding and quickly left the area.

Brothers, Tomas and Francisco Vireda wee out hunting with their dogs in an isolated area when suddenly a bright light illuminated some trees ahead of them on the trail. Approaching the site the dogs acted as if someone unseen was hiding in the bushes. Concerned, the brothers moved back to see a disc shaped craft encircled in small yellowish lights rising up slowly. Both men returned to their homes without telling anyone what had occurred. The next morning Cirilo Gomez was walking along some fields and while resting against a fence he noticed a figure observing him from a nearby hillock. At first it resembled a woman but then Gomez noticed that the figure was extremely tall and was wearing a black flowing robe. After shouting at it several times the witness was stunned to see it glide over the field at very high speed. Terrified he ran panic-stricken from the area. That same night at a nearby village a witness saw a large object descend at high speed above the roadway.

A 40-year old woman named Larissa Galushko awoke in the middle of the night and saw a semi-transparent humanoid silhouette suddenly condensing in mid-air in front of her eyes. She looked closely and saw a man-like figure. Frightened she asked, "Who are you?" In response the man ordered in a booming voice, "Give me your hand." She obeyed the order and slowly as if in a trance she stretched her right hand towards the stranger. The man touched her right palm gently, carefully and then melted away into thin air. Larissa felt the man's hands and they felt dense. Several days later the transparent alien came back. He stood for a long time near the head of Larissa's bed. He stared at her silently. She felt awestruck as she watched the figure again dissolve into thin air. From that moment on his visits became regular; he was now visiting Larissa at least 2-3 times per month. At one time another alien accompanied the first one, standing next to him shoulder to shoulder. The new visitor (alien) was dressed in a white loose-fitting garment. His head was either totally clean-shaven or completely hairless. He had Hindu features and was also semi-transparent. Larissa began to cry, pleading with the aliens to leave and to leave her alone. She asked who they were and why where they visiting her at night. The hairless "Hindu" in the white loose garment said, "We love you". Slightly taken aback, Larissa said, "Where are you from?" The alien said, "From a parallel world. Planet Trion." That having been said both aliens then vanished. After this contact the strangers visited Larissa 5 to 6 more times, but they did not speak anymore. They usually just stood near her ottoman and stared at her. They totally ignored her requests to leave her alone. Their last visit was around August 1990.

Deontologist, Ivan Naranjo, and two passengers were traversing a lonely valley when their vehicle, a Nissan jeep, began to experience engine trouble. The vehicle soon ground to a halt by the roadside as its electrical system went dead. Stranded in the middle of the Andean foothills, Naranjo was doing his best to get the vehicle in motion again when one of the passengers gasped involuntarily at what was taking place in the night sky. In the horizon, headed their way, was an amazing interplay of red, green and yellow lights, which did not correspond to any atmospheric phenomenon, they could identify. They watched in sheer astonishment as the array of colors lit the sky and grew closer, increasing in size as it closed the intervening distance. Within seconds a huge disc-shaped device, was hovering unsteadily in the blackness over their heads. The object was out of control, and to their horror, about to crash land right on top of them. Naranjo and his passengers found themselves paralyzed by what he characterized as "muscular sluggishness." Then suddenly out of nowhere, another massive disc-shaped craft appeared. Gliding into a space immediately above the dangerously wobbling craft, it fired a dense beam of white light at the vessel, stabilizing its erratic motion immediately. The surreal event became even more so as two humanoids emerged from the larger craft to ostensibly perform repairs on the now stabilized saucer. Soon the repaired saucer began spinning furiously on its axis, vanishing in a thick fog. The "rescue" ship vanished amid a powerful whirlwind that stripped earth, rocks, and dust from the surface below. Exhausted by the ordeal, the shocked witnesses spent a night of fitful sleep in the wilderness. In the morning they were stunned to see a landscape that gave the appearance of having been blasted by divine fire; water ponds adjacent to the highway had been turned into grim puddles of mud, and the carcasses of small desert rats and lizards littered the landscape, roasted by some form of radiation. One of the passengers would later die of an unknown malady, possibly related to the strange energies released by the alien vehicles over the valley.

A young man named Vanderlei who lived in a local rural area stepped out of his home for a few minutes and was confronted by a hovering golden colored metallic sphere. The sphere was about 4 meters in width. His first reaction was to run back to his house. His next recollection was of seeing the object rising up and disappearing into the distance. Years later under hypnotic regression an abduction scenario was confirmed. A bright beam of white light that appeared to be "coherent" in nature was emitted from the object. It enveloped Vanderlei, which at this point was paralyzed and unable to move. He rose up about 10 meters into the air and was able to see the roof and treetops clearly. In front of him floated the metallic sphere. The object was encircled with windows and had a door like opening. At the door stood a humanoid figure. At a rapid pace Vanderlei floated into the object, inside the object there was another humanoid that stood behind Vanderlei. A few seconds later a door opened in front of him. His feet did not appear to touch the floor of the craft and he felt very hot and was perspiring. He floated through the door and followed a corridor accompanied by two humanoids behind him. Until that moment he had not been able to see the face of his captors. At the end of the corridor there was a room where he sat on a table. Around the table he could see strange machines and undescribed apparatuses; they were brown in color and encircled the table. At this point he saw the creature's face. He cried and began to sweat as he described the humanoids as short, with disproportionately large heads according to their bodies, with large black eyes, and hardly discernible mouths. They had four fingers each that appeared to be rough and humid in appearance. He was examined by the three humanoids. One of the beings examined his left ear. The witness a 68-year old pensioner named Ivan Nikanorovich who lived alone in a house at the edge of a large meadow woke up one night when his dogs began to bark furiously. He got up from bed, dressed and went outside. In the yard he noticed several very tall "people" about 3 meters in height. Upon seeing the figures the terrified Nikanorovich attempted to run but fell to the ground. Soon he fell under apparently hypnotic control of the "aliens" and began walking towards them, leaving his house and poultry pens unlocked. As they walked on the garden next to the kitchen the aliens spoke among themselves in strange squeaking sounds resembling that of dolphins. At the end of the garden the witness saw a round object, shiny as the moon and about 12 meters high and 8-10 meters in diameter. The witness was so frightened that he did not notice any details on the object. Entering into the craft by ladder, he could see that the craft was bluish in color. Inside the craft he noticed a strong "violet" smell. When he first saw the aliens standing near his wicket fence these were wearing spacesuits but as they entered the spaceship their suits were automatically peeled off, and Nikanorovich saw two males and two females wearing sports style suits, made out of a strong wrinkle free material. The alien faces were human-like, but their noses were flat and protruded downwards. They had no bridge for their noses. Their eyes were large, round with eyebrows; they had small mouths and ears smaller than those of humans. Fine, sparse hair covered their heads. The faces of the female aliens were beautiful, with grayish color skin and short-cropped hair. Two alien females approached the witness, took his clothes off, and examined him thoroughly. When they touched him he felt as if their bodies were of same makeup as those of humans. They had five fingers in each hand. Still, the witness felt mortal fear, afraid that he was going to be taken away forever and not survived their "experiments". The aliens examined him, listened to his heartbeat, etc. Soon the aliens placed some metal clasps on his body that emitted clicking sounds. The witness could see red dots or lights appearing on the instruments in the room. Most of the clamps were placed on his fingers and then they measured the volume of his legs, chest. Soon they placed what appeared to be electrodes on his chest (EKG?) he could see on a circle-shaped device his internal organs. The aliens did not place any instruments on his head. When the medical examination was over they dressed him and by gestures made him exit the craft. In the meantime the aliens communicated among themselves in high-pitched timbre voices. The doors of the spacecraft opened and Nikanorovich was descending down the ladder when the aliens pulled him up by his shirt collar and back into the spacecraft. Resigned to his fate Nikanorovich was led into a room with a couch like object, where he sat down. Moments later he felt the spacecraft apparently rising slowly from the ground. They invited him to come and look out an oval-shaped window and he saw the earth from a very high altitude with thousands of small specks of lights scattered beneath, apparently cities. But the whole marvelous panorama vanished in a few seconds. They were flying in space at unbelievable speed, but strangely no one in the room felt any effects. He was able to stand up and walk about the room. In the room he could see what appeared to be a main control console with two screens on one of the walls. One screen was about 3 x 5 meters, the second smaller. The craft seemed to approach many planets (probably in our Solar System), and minutes the small dots in space suddenly transformed themselves into huge bodies in the sky, he could see all this in the large screen that seemed to be more active than the other one. He saw a container with transparent liquid, which tasted like ordinary water. They explained to him by gestures what buttons to press if he would like to have a drink. At this point Ivan's fear had vanished, as he realized that the aliens meant no harm and apparently had good intentions. Gradually, he began examining everything around him with interest. Besides the main control panel in the room there was another panel in the room where the male aliens constantly sat around. He could see many devices installed on the walls and on the ceiling. Most of the equipment was covered with "panels" which moved aside as any of the alien crew attempted to check something on it. All the rooms inside the spacecraft emitted an even bluish light, and some buttons and levers shone so brightly that it was difficult to look at them. Ivan was amazed by a meteor "catching" system onboard the alien craft, when they encountered huge rocks in space the craft was able to evade them easily while the smaller rocks were collected in a special container that opened and closed automatically, during the flight, Ivan counted five such captured "meteorites". Most of the flight Ivan remained in that one room, but he was allowed to visit other areas in the craft, even the special crew compartments. At one point he fell asleep and was suddenly awakened by one of the aliens and was called over to one of the screens. On the screen Ivan could see an endless desert with many scattered rocks, and deep craters and fissures on the ground. Apparently that was the first planet he saw. They passed by it at high speed without touching down. He sat down on the "couch" and soon sensed the spacecraft smoothly landing. The aliens then placed a spacesuit on Ivan, which was completely hermetical with many tubes jutting out from it. Three windows were present on the window for viewing purposes. The aliens had spacesuits of a different design, with one glassy window-like opening. Ivan moved out following the aliens thinking that they wanted to leave him there. Outside Ivan could see small humanoids, standing on a meadow and by a river. These small humanoids were not afraid and did not run away. The faces of the little men were round, good looking and child-like. Their bodies were covered by fuzzy hair and they had wing-like protrusions on their backs, commensurate to their height. Their maximum height was about 1.20m. Their wings were feather-like, slightly tilted upwards. They had doll-like faces. Their color was mostly white with brown patches. These small entities also possessed hands besides the wings, and legs. However none of them were flying as Ivan arrived; they were walking near the river. Ivan watched the strange humanoids for a while until he was guided back into the spacecraft by the aliens. While on the spacecraft Ivan felt rejuvenated and energized, he moved around easily and his chronic leg pain had completely vanished. When it was time to eat the aliens invited Ivan to a table where two alien females and a male were sitting. The food was prepared by the females, which consisted of many tasty dishes inside cans, plates, etc. The food was very tasty and resembled terrestrial cuisine. All meals ended with very tasty drinks. After eating Ivan usually felt drowsy and usually sat and rested on the couch. He visited a second and third which was very rocky, with stones resembling gold, silver and precious stones that covered its surface. The aliens again put a spacesuit on Ivan before walking onto the planet's surface. He did not see any living creatures on these planets. Ivan thought that possibly this planet was used as a source to for the aliens to build their spacecraft. He did not touch anything on the surface. Their stop on the planet was very short and soon they continued their flight until Ivan was again called to the control room where he saw a new planet, entirely covered by water. He then sat on the sofa again and some time later the aliens called on Ivan to come to the screen again where he saw a surface covered with smoke and fire and was difficult to discern. They soon landed (twice) on a fifth planet where Ivan saw terrible sights and thought that if humans did not change their ways this type of future was awaiting them. Ivan saw a destructed city without a living soul around, he saw numerous bones scattered around. None of the houses had any doors or windows and there wasn't a bush or blade of grass around. He also saw the bones of great huge animals no less than 5 elephants in size. Later they again landed twice on a sixth planet, which was a complete opposite of the previous one. They exited the spacecraft without donning the spacesuits. Ivan was surrounded by indescribable beauty, dense forests, rives and a sea visible afar. He could see many animals but no people. He thought that maybe this planet was like a "farm" for the aliens. So Ivan asked, "Do you have animals resembling those we have on earth?" He was told that they had animals similar to the ones on earth but also many with substantial differences. The next planet, number 7, was the alien's home planet. The alien females exited the spacecraft there and Ivan did not see them again, he was accompanied only by the two alien males, in the alien planet, Ivan felt youthful and agile and was easy for him to walk. The smell of lilac was present in the air similar to the smell onboard the spacecraft. At first the aliens led the aliens into what they called a church or place of worship. Inside the church he saw several elderly men standing side by side with young men. He could hear a chime a loud melodic choral singing. All seemed to be praying. The church appeared remotely like a terrestrial church. But the living quarters or buildings were radically different from those on earth. All buildings were topped with cupolas. Every resident of the planet had its own flying apparatuses; Ivan did not see any other kind of transportation there. The inhabitants only used their flying machines for long journeys and enjoyed walking more. Everything in the planet was beautiful and well groomed. (Like Disneyland?). Everywhere Ivan went to he was greeted with calmed restraint, there was no apparent excitement. All the humanoids in the planet were tall, about 3 meters in height. He felt like a Lilliputian among them. He received the impression that the average lifespan in this world was very long, but that they eventually perished. Ivan was then taken to a beautiful cemetery. He also noticed a common practice among the aliens, one that consisted of each one giving each other food gifts. He was given a big beautiful fruit resembling an apple. He attempted to hide this apple-like fruit and bring it back to earth as proof but the aliens did not permit it. He was made to eat it in view of them. After church Ivan was taken to an excursion at a "milk-production" plant. There he saw mountains of what looked like cheese and butter. At this plant only one alien seemed to be in charge by pressing certain buttons, the rest was done automatically. After a short visit Ivan was brought back to the spacecraft, which was still at the same location. While returning back to earth, the spacecraft performed a short stop. They left the ship clad in spacesuits and appeared in place enveloped by a dense fog. Through the haze Ivan could see bright white lights all around, their source unknown. Later when he entered the craft he heard someone calling his name. The sound was very clearly heard through the helmet of his spacesuit. He turned around and saw his two sisters, both who had died many years before, Zina and Nadya. They both looked very young. They gave Ivan pastry and guiding by their hands took him aside where they told him that his father and grandparent still lived. Ivan wanted to go and look as his relatives but his alien guides did not permit him to do that. Ivan also saw his neighbor who had died recently. He appeared to be carrying some pieces of wood or boards. The figures of his sisters seemed semi-transparent but upon touching them they felt like normal humans. They had normal colored pink skin. Ivan then asked where his mother was. They then told him that they had taken great offense towards her since she never came to visit their graves in the cemetery (!). They added that she had been taken somewhere else as a form of temporary punishment. Ivan then saw a large beautiful meadow where his father and grandfather were pasturing sheep. At this moment the meeting with his dead relatives was over, the aliens did not allow Ivan to have a detailed conversation with his "dead" sisters. From there he was taken straight home. When the spacecraft silently landed Ivan at first thought that they had landed in another planet, but as soon as the hatch opened he noticed his native country immediately. They then brought him to the same place he was originally taken from. Ivan does not remember how he got back home but without realizing how the aliens were already gone. Later Ivan noticed that the snow had melted in the place where the spacecraft had landed, and a dark spot approximately 3 meters in diameter was visible. For three days after "returning" Ivan did not eat anything, and became very ill. His whole body ached, including his muscles. He remained in that state for a long time. At one point he thought he was going to die. In a month he developed a severe itch in his skin.

A woman named Nadezhda, a teacher at a local school was in her kitchen preparing breakfast when she suddenly saw a small spherical object hovering in front of her face in the middle of the kitchen. Nadezhda was not afraid and stared at the strange globe with curiosity. The object was of a matt color but did not appear to be of a dense composition. The globe moved closer to Nadezhda and began circling around her head, apparently studying her. At this point she felt that she had to communicate mentally with the mysterious visitor. At first the contact was one-way. She heard no questions from the "alien" but somehow Nadezhda knew exactly what to tell the intelligent globe. First she greeted the globe and said she was happy to meet it on Earth in the Byelorussian city of Vitebsk. Then she mentioned that she had never any doubts on the existence of other civilizations, and she took this meeting as confirming that reality. The strange globe continued flying amid the kitchen, emitting a strange sound, very similar to a crackling sound and constantly changing in size, at one moment becoming the size of a playing ball and then growing 50cm in diameter. Soon several "tentacles" emerged from the globe, all about 10cm in length, giving the globe the appearance of a spiked mine. When the globe move around her head, Nadezhda felt something touching the back of her head, it felt like a warm tender wind blowing on her neck. She then said, "I wish I could go with you, but I have small kids". And then she asked, "Why do you come to me in such a strange appearance". Immediately she received a telepathic answer, "We appear in this manner because this is how we actually look like. And specifically visited you, because we knew you would accept us as we are". Next the alien voice told Nadezhda that they came from some constellation, the name of which started with the letter A, but unfortunately she could not remember exactly. Nadezhda then told the visitor that she was very weak in astronomy that they should visit the scientists and tell them about their place of origin. The "alien" then said, "We specifically chose you, because not all people are ready to meet us" Continuing the conversation the witness said, "If your spacecraft had crashed and you are in trouble, you can stay here to live with me, I have room for you". No answer followed and some time after that Nadezhda suddenly became fearful, she felt as if something "huge" was descending on her, she then rushed out of the kitchen and when she returned the globe had disappeared. After the encounter Nadezhda's memory and vision worsened, but it only lasted for 6months and then everything returned to normal. Nadezhda then became very lucky, usually getting all she wanted. She says that the last thing the aliens told her was that they were returning for her in 5 years.

Emilio Cabot along with Marcelo, Graciela & Nancy were meditating in an area known for its paranormal phenomena when they heard footsteps behind them. They stopped their meditation and noticed what appeared to be a dome of light settling over the nearby river. As they all sat down to chat they suddenly noticed two pairs of shiny eyes in the nearby woods. They shone their flashlight at the eyes and saw two gnome-like figures about 90 cm in height. The figures appeared to have gray wrinkled faces and wore pointy hats, gray pants with a very large belt and a large shiny buckle. The moment the witnesses spotted the short figures they felt no fear and a sense of peace came over them. The two "gnomes" appeared startled and seemed to jump head first into the brush. The witnesses were able to determine that the humanoid had human-like eyes that were very shiny. Before encountering the "gnomes" they had seen the dome of light over the river and inside of it they remembered seeing building like structures. There is an old legend of a submerged city in this area of the Rio de la Plata. They searched around for the gnomes but failed to find anything.

Following his previous agreement with the aliens, Mr. Nikolay Ivanovich Pronoza, employee at the local underground subway, responded to the pre-arranged meeting location with two other men, both interested in UFOs, and both journalists. Under a heavy rain they reached their destination point on an island in the center of the Dnepr River called Hydropark. To their amazement it was warm & pleasant in the meadow where they were to meet the aliens. There were clouds above them and a strange pinkish light illuminating downwards. Soon the witnesses saw white and pink globe-shaped objects that appeared over the glade. And then a pink-colored light illuminated everything around them. Several humanoid figures then appeared from the light. The aliens then gave a telepathic command to the men, explaining to the men which route to take for the meeting. The men entered the banks of the River Dnepr and saw an alien female standing straight on the surface of the water or levitating right above it, several meters from the shore. The woman appeared to be made out of a smoky substance. The men attempted to get closer but the alien female floated away and disappeared into the haze. The clouds then began to become dense, decreasing in size, until they transformed into a compact hedgehog shaped mass that rolled into the bushes and vanished.

The object increased in size and now resembled a saucer-shaped craft. According to the children, as the object descending it struck the antenna on the roof and bent it. Inside the transparent dome of the saucer the silhouettes of 5-7 strange figures could be seen. The total size of the object was estimated at 10 meters. After hovering for awhile over the yard, the object flew away. The antenna was indeed found to be damaged.

Teenager Dmitriy Milkin was ice fishing in the banks of the Ahtuba River when he was suddenly confronted by a globe-shaped object resembling two hemispheres placed together. The craft landed on three pods, a hatch opened in the lower section and a ladder was automatically released to the ground. Two tall aliens (more than 2 m in height) came out. He described them as having oblong faces, large eyes, and small mouth, dressed in metallic looking outfits. They wore small caps on their heads with two short antennas. Via telepathy the aliens said, "You will fly with us", clearly heard inside the witness head. Apparently some kind of preliminary mental influence was "beamed" inside the teenager even before he noticed the UFO. The witness felt, as he was being treated indifferent by the aliens and felt somewhat inferior. He was taken onboard and found himself in a round room about 8 m in diameter. There he saw control panels, buttons, screens and other equipment around. The room had 6 seats. He was told to seat in a single armchair made out of semi-transparent yellowish material. One of the pilots pressed a button, and a flight program was apparently inserted into the ship's "computer", he then heard a telepathic command: "Close your eyes and don't be afraid, we will say when to open them again." Then Milkin felt heaviness on his body, he partially opened his eyes and was stunned to see the hour pointer in his watched rotating faster than the minute pointer. The whole flight lasted only 40-45 seconds. After the craft landed he went outside and was confronted by an alien landscape. There were two suns: the bigger star was of the orange color; the second sun was dark orange in color. The flora was dense and the trees were of unusually bright green color. The ground was sandy color, but not sand. The air was extremely fresh, uncommonly light and tasty. The gravitational pull was less than the earth. He saw several other crafts there, some looking like spheres others disc-shaped. He was accompanied to a 2-story building; light bluish in color, with some yellowish elements, of almost cubic shape, with a domed shaped roof and big glassy windows. He was then sat in a room where a meal was presented to him. Incredibly, the spoon had Russian markings on it. (!). The food resembled Jell-O and was tasty and sweet. Later he saw robotic creatures apparently used for domestic purposes. The aliens spoke among themselves in a tonal language. He was told that: "He was not fit for their purpose because of your mental capabilities". And he was returned back to earth. One last stunning detail: The alien spacecraft was some sort of interstellar machine, since when they arrived to earth it apparently was in the distant future. The aliens asked him if he wanted to stay in this time, but he refused. After the encounter Milkin mental capabilities apparently improved.

The witness was out walking with her dog in the Waldeck hills, when of all the sudden her dog lay down on his back and started to whimper. The witness had to carry the dog. At first she heard a low him, which ceased after about 30 seconds. A large round object, whose diameter measured 10 to 20m, was floating above a clearing and suddenly began to glow with an incredibly bright light, lasting about 20 to 30 seconds. After that, its light dimmed and now it had a metallic appearance. The bottom of the oval craft glowed in a dark red color (like glowing charcoal) and the object lowered itself silently to the ground. In the meantime, the dog had escaped. The witness, who was completely blinded, wanted to run away, but was hit by a "blue ray of light", which paralyzed her. She was short of breath, tried in vain to call for help, and was completely wet with perspiration within 30 seconds. Then "there was a voice" sounding female and somehow metallic, which said: "Don't be afraid, nothing bad will happen to you". Actually, though, the witness became even more afraid and nearly panicked. The ray of light changed to green and her breathing improved. All of the sudden two entities were standing in front of her, both of them between 1.40 and 1.60 m in height, with baldheads and gray skin. They had normal human like eyes and noses. They wore dark green overalls. On the chest they carried a strange symbol, which resembled this "^`C L". She did not understand their language. They soon returned to the craft, which was standing on 4 legs about 1.50 m high. The green beam vanished and the witness sank to the ground in a faint. It was 2130 when she woke up again. She took a few steps and vomited, which she did again after reaching home, where her dog was already waiting for her.

The female witness, Natalya Shishkina was awakened by a strong sound, resembling that of a helicopter or tractor hovering over the small wooded house where she was sleeping, while she lived temporarily in her grandmother's property. The sound was more like that of farm equipment but more muffled. She looked out the window and saw a silver object, descending from the sky resembling a "big belly" barrel. The object gave off bright rainbow-colored lights. The barrel-shaped object landed softly on the ground. Then a clicking sound was heard, and the witness suddenly went into a semi-sleep, semi-awake state. Nearby a small woman suddenly appeared out of nowhere. The woman was shorter than of average height, and was dressed in a silvery tight-fitting suit. She had very long hair, light brown in color. The strange woman seemed to change her appearance on several occasions. She had unusually large eyes, very kind and clever looking. They emanated much energy and kindness. Filled with emotion Natalya began to cry while she stared at the alien woman. The alien woman then began to communicate with Natalya telepathically. Natalya asked where she was from; the answer was, "from the first planet beyond the Sun if where we live". The woman further stated that only the blond entities lived there, that they were very kind and intelligent. They always had warm conditions in their planet, unlike the earth. They enjoyed their planet immensely and took care of it. All the dark shades or colors were absent in that planet (dark hair, etc). After that the woman commented that it was very cold here but that it would get warmer in two days. Natalya asked the woman how they managed to fly by the sun without getting burned by its immense temperatures. At this point she heard the clicking sound once more and heard the question, "Would you like to fly with us? But the alien woman then added quite ominously, "But for that to happen, you must die physically, according to your terrestrial notions. We have no one like you where we live, with dark hair, but you will feel good in our planet." She added, "You will again become a human being in our planet". Natalya agreed with her (!) and the alien woman began to caress her hair on the back, saying, "What beautiful hair" Natalya had tears in her eyes, but felt very good and calm, as if she was in the hands of a loving mother. Natalya further understood that the aliens were very intelligent, full of wisdom and lacked greed or aggressiveness. But we have something, which they did not possess (it is not clear what). Soon Natalya thought about her mother and after that the clicking sound was heard in her head again, the alien woman then bade her goodbye and wished her well and hurried back to the landed UFO approaching the object in an unusually quick pace. After she entered the object it began to rotate around its axis and vanished in plain sight. At this point Natalya seemed to snap out of a trance, her eyes were still wet, tears still streaming from her eyes. At first she thought it had been all a dream but soon realized that the event had been real. The branches of a nearby plum tree appeared broken on top, near where the barrel had landed. Her brother sleeping in the next room had also heard the engine sound, but was unable to awake from a deep sleep. 2 days after the contact, the cold temperatures seemed to lift from the village and became very warm. Natalya's hair acquired a beautiful appearance for a whole year without using any shampoos or conditioners. All of her acquaintances were amazed at her hair. But her teeth began to fall out, and her immune system became weaker, as if she had been suffering from radiation poisoning. She also began to experience prophetic dreams.

The witness could not see any additional details and then lost consciousness. When he awoke again the giant had vanished, but a strange glowing light appeared behind the window. He stood up and approached the window. The whole street beneath was lighted by a fluorescent unreal green light of an unknown origin. The pavement and nearby houses were shiny as if covered by phosphorus. Moments later he noticed two giant figures walking along the street. Both were dressed in tight fitting suits. Their coveralls were very bright and shiny, constantly changing colors like the colors of the rainbow. The witness became frightened and moved back from the window and hid under a blanket in his bed. Five minutes later he looked again and the strange green glow had disappeared. He then fell asleep.

30-year old Dmitriy Naumenko (involved in a previous contact in November 1985) was in his bed attempting to fall asleep when he suddenly heard someone calling his name. He jumped up in amazement, because he had been alone in the house. He then saw a beautiful young woman with a head of amazing white hair sitting on a chair near his table, while the whole room was lit in a surreal, dull bluish light. He immediately recognized her as the same woman he met back in 1985 "from another world" as she had said at that time. While in the previous encounter she had been dressed in a normal terrestrial dress and boots, this time she was dressed in a shiny seamless overall, apparently metallic in nature. "I have come to visit you again," Said the beautiful alien woman, smiling. She then added, somewhat irked, that Dmitriy had totally forgotten about her those 5 years. At this moment Dmitriy heard a male voice coming from the kitchen, the voice said, "What is this?" another male voice answered, "It is tea, lets drink." In a whisper, Dmitriy asked the alien woman who was talking in the kitchen. She answered that they were her "friends" and not to worry, "they will not cause you any harm." At this point Dmitriy felt his mind wandering, sensing a ringing sound inside his head and a strange reddish gloom in front of his eyes, like a smoky cloak, this cloak completely covered the alien woman. The alien woman then vanished, at the same time the strange dull bluish light almost disappeared. In a confused state, Dmitriy dressed and went out to his front yard. He then saw a large cigar-shaped object hovering in the sky near the Rostov City tower. The object had a greenish halo around it. Several beams of light shone down from the object and strangely the ends of the beams did not seem to reach the ground, they seemed to be cut off at about 20 meters from the ground. The cigar then started moving and slowly floated away, soon disappearing into the night sky. Two days later the local newspaper "Molot" (Hammer) published an article detailing the fact that several locals had seen a huge cigar shaped object hovering near the television tower apparently the same night of Dmitriy's encounter.

A young local woman named Ludmila Hmarina was sitting in her armchair and listening to music when suddenly some unknown force pulled her from the armchair and flung her against the wall, pressing her against it, face first. Naturally she attempted to resist the invisible force and then she heard a voice, "Stop struggling. Don't resist!" An invisible force pressed on her chin from below. In a painful move her head was pulled back and she was now facing the ceiling. She was then amazed to see that the ceiling and the room had apparently disappeared. Instead of the ceiling she could only see endless black sky filled with stars. She could also see the face of male humanoid looking upwards, frightened Ludmila asked the image who he was. The humanoid answered, "I am your friend. I have kept watch over you during your life". The voice sounded inside her head, "You watched over me?" Ludmila asked, he answer yes that he had been watching over her all her life. Ludmila was angry and asked the man if he had watched over her even as she was taking a shower (?). "Yes" answered the huge humanoid face, with hovered in the sky without moving. The face looked very strange; it appeared to be sharply vertically elongated, having a very narrow triangular-shaped chin. The skin was brown, seemingly covered by a layer of tanned skin. The alien's forehead and eyes totally amazed Ludmila. The forehead was 3 times larger than the face, significantly wider on its upper section. The eyes were almond-shaped, unnaturally large and slanted---like an insect. The eyes lacked pupils. Then a piquant picture appeared in front of Ludmila's, she saw herself washing under the shower, and the alien watching her. Angry from seeing this, Ludmila then asked the alien if he even watched as she sat on the lavatory pan. The alien answer in the affirmative and Ludmila asked if he felt no shame. The alien apparently did not know that "shame" was and added that when Ludmila were about to die he would help her. She said how, and the alien answered that he would take her with him. At this point the face was covered with fog and vanished. Then the image of "space" also vanished. The ceiling then returned to normal and Ludmila was deposited back on the armchair again.

While attending his cattle 62-year old Aleksandr Kuzmich was cutting down a small oak tree by the fence when he saw something enormous similar to a cloud descending overhead. Terrified he raised his hands and screamed for God to help him. He became tired and vomited. Out of the cloud a huge sphere emerged and descended landing close to the witness. Three tall man-like figures exited the sphere. As the aliens approached and greeted him, Kuzmich's fear was unaccountably gone. He asked for permission to board the object and counted about 13 windows, 90 x 30cm rounded along the angles, along the perimeter of the sphere. As he stepped inside he heard a faint crack and the opening closed. Inside the object his body felt incredibly lighter. Frightened again he yelled that he did not want to "fly" with them, that he only wanted to have a talk. A woman about 40 to 45 years of age now approached the witness and made him sit down on a soft air inflated armchair. At this point a discourse about death and life after death began. The witness was told that when a human died he continued on into another life, until its long chain of "sins" was expiated this process normally took about 1000 years (!). The terrestrial life of man was considered an embryonic state. Kuzmich asked if after death he would meet his dead relatives, the answer was yes. He asked about his dead son who had died 12 years ago. Five minutes later a door opened and his son (or someone very similar) walked in. Overcome with emotion Kuzmich ran toward his "son" crying and embraced him. They exchanged brief greetings and comments and his son mentioned that he was fine, kissed Kuzmich and walked out the same door. Kuzmich managed to peek into the room his son has walked back to and was astonished to see a verdant meadow with grazing horses and numerous young men, his son's age attending to them. The door suddenly shut. Wiping away his tears Kuzmich then asked the woman about the operation of the ship. She explained that due to humanity's primitive state he would not be able to understand if told. She further mentioned that the people of earth do not have contact with nature, but the people from the "sky" live according to nature's laws. She then spoke about magnetic fields and the power accumulators, apparently a simple device used to power the ship. She then warned Kuzmich about future catastrophes awaiting humanity in the future. The witness then asked about the cosmos and at this point he felt a terrific acceleration and he felt fatigued. Slowly he approached a window and saw his village as the craft apparently approached it at high speed. Before leaving the object he asked permission to tell people about his encounter, the aliens said yes and pointed out to him that he would not be believed anyway. Apparently the witness had two further contacts.

The witness does not remember what took place; his next memory was of waking up in a field very far away from home. Three days after the encounter Nikolai experienced severe headaches and had to be taken to the doctor. After several tests it was found that Nikolai had an inordinate amount of mercury (!) under his skin. It was then extracted from the body; several balls of mercury were collected from the witness. After the removal a month path, later x-rays revealed additional accumulation of mercury in the same places and in other locations in the body. Again surgeons removed the mercury balls. A 34-year old man named Victor Alexandrovich Zdorov, a supplier from the "Fiolent" military-industrial plant in Simferopol Crimea had arrived in Moscow on a business trip and was staying at the Academy of Medical Sciences Hotel, located near the River Station area of the Sokol underground metro and the Khodynka airport. He was sleeping alone in the room when he suddenly awoke and saw a tall entity standing near his bed. The humanoid was about 1.9-2 meters in height, with two huge slanted almond-shaped eyes, completely black in color, 2 small openings for a nose and a thin hardly visible slit for a mouth, there were no eyelashes. The color of the entity's skin was gray-white, and apparently scaly in nature, like a reptile. The general impression of the alien's face was frightening. The humanoid was dressed in a silvery overall that completely covered its body up to his neck, it appeared seamless. The witness immediately felt paralyzed, but felt no fear, just curiosity. The entity was reading his thoughts and moments later the witness lost consciousness and later woke up lying on an examination table inside a room with matt-gray walls, which emanated an even light with no visible source, the room had rounded corners and a bright blinding light in the ceiling area. He supposed that he had either been taken onboard a spaceship or to some underground facility. Several entities performed an in depth examination on the witness and Victor remembered seeing long sharp-clawed fingers and their thin muscular bodies in their tight-fitting silvery suits. The aliens apparently had only 4 fingers in their hands, and used different types of sophisticated equipment. Most of the contact was apparently erased from his memory and then he blacked out again and woke up later lying on the bed in the hotel room. After this incident the witness reported experiencing other abductions, namely in the Simferopol area and other places that he was visiting and also reported dozens of UFO observations. He felt a constant alien presence, apparently created by some kind of implant inserted into the witness during the first abduction. At the same time his boss kept sending him to different locations the purpose, which he could not explain later. Later Victor also remembered his past lives which included ancient Sumeria, Rome, etc, where he also encountered aliens of different types and communicated with them on a regular basis. Eventually his contacts frightened Victor and in fear of loosing his family he refused to talk about them anymore. The aliens never told him who they were or where they were from and most of the time he felt like an experiment in a laboratory, like a guinea pig. Most of his memories were erased by the aliens leaving only vague memories.

The upper section of the UFO was dark while the lower section emitted a matt light. In appearance the object was about 12m in diameter. Kadyrbek was seized with strong fear, he kneeled down and began praying verses from the holy Koran, but he couldn't complete the prayers out of fear. Finally he approached the home of his nephew and yelled for help. His nephew, his wife and kids ran outside and saw the UFO departing. Kadyrbek felt so weak that his nephew had to drive him home. It seemed strange that the witness clothing were completely clean, not even dusty. Remarkably on that same day numerous other UFOs were observed in different parts of the USSR including the Crimea, Ukraine.

A woman was ironing some linen next to a window when she casually glanced outside. She was astounded to see right outside the hovering in the air the image of a woman wearing a Greek dress with her hair combed back. She called her husband. Both now saw the profiles of a man and a child near the woman. The images appeared to be volumetric. Unexpectedly from the head of the woman a symbol resembling a semi-circle and an arrow pointed directly upwards appeared. Also the letter D from the Russian alphabet also appeared, and under the image of the child what appeared to be the Greek alphabet. The children now appeared and excitedly exclaimed that it was an animated cartoon. Having regained his composure the husband began to open the window slowly and the images suddenly turned pale, dimmed and vanished. Soon after this peculiar incident others in the area reported a series of observations of UFOs and other phenomena.

The witness was walking along a fenced field when he suddenly heard the unnatural barking of a dog that came running by him and dived under a concrete wall. Wandering what had frightened the dog; he looked to his right and noticed about ten meters from the road, above the grass and at about half a meter up, a huge transparent "soap bubble". It was covered with all the colors of the rainbow and it was slowly approaching the witness position. The sphere stopped about 6 meters from him and he began to grow turbid and was unable to move. The surface of the sphere resembled a cellular structure of a three-sided trihedral. The sphere stood still inches above the grass. Terrified the witness wanted to run away but could not move a muscle. Suddenly on the surface of the sphere a slot-like aperture became evident, pink light twinkled from inside. From the aperture a silvery blue "mannequin" slowly came out and approached to within a meter of the witness. It was taller then the witness and slender, wearing a seamless metallic suit. On the center of its massive head it had what appeared to be a large round "eyepiece" the witness could not see any movement inside the dull visor. The witness then heard a soft whistle and something picked him up, switched him into a horizontal position and then he floated into the sphere. Inside the sphere all the fear seemed to melt away; he experienced a feeling of ecstasy. He was surprised to see that the interior of the object was far larger than what it appeared from the outside. As the floated just above the floor a figure wearing what resembled a motorcycle helmet floated rapidly towards him. A similar helmet was placed on the witness's head. At this point he heard inside his head a squeaky voice. It said that they meant no harm that they just wanted to have a "talk" with him, if he agreed. The witness attempted to float down to the floor but was unable to reach it. At this point he was allowed to ask several questions and before him a large silvery screen appeared. He saw on it the image of our solar system; he briefly explained the earth rotation around the sun and its relationship with the other planets. He also attempted to explain earth's basic system of calculation. He also explained the purpose of societies and the role of the United Nations. After awhile the helmet was removed from the witness, he then floated out an open slot and into the road. The opening on the sphere then closed. Then it began to brighten; it acquired the tint of a shiny mother of pearl and its transparency. It then sharply shot upwards and in a matter of seconds it disappeared into the sky. He arrived home pale, and began to vomit and suffer from terrible muscle spasms. He suffered from general weakness and fainting spells for a week after the encounter. He further described the interior of the ship as having continuous rows of screens resembling small squares, similar to glazed tiles. Periodically he would see symbols or writing on them resembling Chinese. The humanoids appeared to be able to control this panels by hand movements only. He was astonished to see his thoughts also appear on the screens. Everything he spoke was duplicated by the humanoids, which never took off their diving suits or helmets. They moved by sliding just above the floor, they appeared to have one dual foot. He saw a total of 3 humanoids. Their outer appearance seemed identical.

Several days before local inhabitants repeatedly had observed above the sea and dry land large red spheres. Sometimes objects of smaller size appear to separate from the larger ones and accompany them in flight. On this evening the witness was walking along a deserted street when he came upon a strange faceless figure, dressed in a long coat, blue boots and wearing a tight fitting cap over its head. The figure walked stiffly by, sharply ejecting one foot forward and the other. At this point the witness heard a voice from the "robot" that said, "stand! Stand!" It then threw out a hand on its side. Several schoolboys now approached and attempted to stab the bizarre figure on its foot. But he continued his sharp procession along the street turning sharply at 90-degree turns. They attempted to chase it but it moved rapidly. Later they saw the "robot" squatting on a street and raise one and foot and then slowly the other. Afraid, the children ran home. Later they found red spots around their elbows and suffered from achy joints.

Location. Riga, Latvia
Date: March 20 1990
Time: after 1800
8th grade student Maris M (involved in a previous encounter) disappeared on this date sometime after 1800. He could only remember going out of the house, visiting the Palace of Culture, a hobby shop and coming to his senses outside the town of Panevezhis in Lithuania. For a long time he could not understand where he was, only knowing that he was not in Riga, he was wondering outside of town alone at the edge of a forest. But soon something resembling a reddish fog unexpectedly appeared high in the sky; it seemed to become denser, getting smaller until it vanished. Moments later from the same area of the sky an alien spacecraft appeared. The craft landed in the nearby forest. After running towards the direction of the landing about 300 meters away, Maris saw the spacecraft. An illuminated entryway was open, with a stepladder reaching the ground. While walking towards the craft, Maris noticed a strange robot-like creature walking towards him. The "robot" had large eyes, and bizarre looking protrusions, which confused and frightened the boy, causing him to stop in his tracks. But the robot suddenly seemed to decrease in size and transform itself into an exact replica of Maris, even dressed in the same clothing. The "robot" now made friendly gestures and invited the boy inside the spacecraft. Inside, three aliens sat near a wall opposite to the entryway. They were sitting in deep armchairs, but all were of amazing height. A woman sat to the left, and unlike the two men she had thin lips. All aliens had round ears, 4 fingered hands, snub noses with two openings and egg shaped (elongated oval) heads. Staring at the alien female, Maris noticed a hint of eroticism in her dress. Part of her thighs and breasts were visible. Her suit was fit snugly and covered the other parts of the body. The two alien men wore had low-necked (décolleté) suits. It soon became apparent to Maris that all three aliens were "telepaths". All three smiled in a strange way. Maris could not see their teeth; there was only a slit-like opening for a mouth. The alien in the center, which was the largest and most robust of the three, did most of the talking. The stunned witness was somehow able to understand as the alien invited him to sit down. Not believing his eyes Maris touched the chair to make sure it was real. The robot then sat on the opposite chair and was fastened by two seatbelts. The robot began speaking to the young witness bragging that he knew almost half a million languages including all the languages on Earth. The robot was indeed very talkative and loquacious, telling the boy not to be afraid and trying to calm him down. The robot was now speaking in the Latvian language, and asked the boys several personal questions, age, where he lived, etc. Maris felt slightly awkward as the other three aliens glanced at him, examining him very intently. During the conversation the boy asked 3 times what was the meaning of a strange hieroglyph on the buckles of the alien's belt but did not receive an answer. In the meantime the robot told Maris that their extraterrestrial civilization selected people for contact from time to time, though the contacts were numerous. The extraterrestrial civilizations reached those people that were able to "understand" them and even named the specific declination in the physical construction of Maris's organism. Suddenly the robot asked Maris if he wanted to see how the other planets looked like. Maris promptly agreed. After that everything around Maris began to assume a strange transparency, but he could not see anything outside the spacecraft, the lights became lit in a strange matt white light, which hindered any view beyond them. There were no windows in the cabin. Soon a transparent line about 2 meters wide could be seen along the perimeter of the spherical room. Maris could see a forest outside. By the movement of the craft, Maris understood that the craft had taken off. Out of fear Maris looked at the roof, the robot apparently understood his concerns and said that everything would be corrected. Maris soon became more relaxed and became very curious about his surroundings.

One of the aliens pushed on a pedal on the floor and the speed of the craft seemed to increase. Then one more pedal was pressed and in moments everything became dark and the light inside the craft became a reddish white tint. Maris looked at his hand and it was the same color. Maris perceived the scene around him like a photonegative; the former dark spaces became light, and vise-versa. This lasted for about 5 minutes. Then in 2-3 seconds everything returned to normal. When the speed decreased the walls became transparent and the boy could see a red-blue planet afar. But the destination of their journey was not that planet as the craft was already landing on a "green" planet, which they were quickly approaching. The robot advised Maris that the landing site had been specifically select for him. At the moment of descent Maris saw a dark mountain in the distance. But the descent was swift and a foggy green atmosphere worsening the visibility. They soon landed on a meadow, amid a jungle area. A small door opened and the alien crew exited. The aliens were almost 3 meters in height, but somehow were able to exit through the small door without bending down. Maris head almost touched the top of the doorway. The plants and flora outside looked very much like the ones on earth. He saw several animals, one resembling a common dog, another a parrot and another animal resembling a four legged snake which ran by meters, about 1 meter in length. The animals or entities were not afraid of the humanoids or aliens. It was very light and easy to breathe outside. When Maris walked he felt very light almost as if floating. Strangely he saw several curved armchairs standing on a spacious glade. The humanoids then ceremoniously sat on the chairs. Maris also sat down. The complete conversation was difficult to remember but Maris remembered that the name of the planet was "Emsa". It contained three super-giant cities on its surface and the rest of the surface was virgin nature or woodlands. Besides Emsa, there were 6 other planets in that system. One, reddish-blue, which Maris had seen from the spacecraft, was lifeless. Then another huge planet called Menpluriya, which was without oxygen in its atmosphere, another planet was called Emsa-3, which was inhabited, and contained one huge city on it. Another planet was called Aires in which the aliens told Maris they used for experiments with new "life forms". The last was the smallest and remotest and was called Emsa-2 with two small towns in it, with concentrated technocratic and research facilities.

According to Maris the planet Menpluriya was the most closely resembling Earth. It was a small planet literally swarming with predators. It had once contained a city, which was abandoned because of changes in the planet's atmosphere; only one outpost or station remained there. The glass-like robot, which had visited Maris in Riga apparently, lived on that station. But the main reason that the city was abandoned was because of the growing aggressiveness and potential psychological and physical deterioration of the planet inhabitants, which was constantly changing, just like the earth's atmosphere. Further conversation revealed that the aliens were convinced that Mars was inhabited but did not give any specific information why they thought that, apparently their capabilities were also limited. The aliens mentioned that the distance between their star and our sun was about 26700 parsecs, which seemed wrong and too large. Their star is not visible even with the most powerful telescopes. Its similar to a G-class star or sun. Interested, Maris asked the aliens if there were civilizations located closer to the earth. The aliens answered that there was a star in the area of Polaris, which had 3 earth-like planets and were inhabited by living organisms. During those conversations, Maris was suddenly distracted by a strange entity that ambled out of the forest. It somehow resembled a terrestrial chicken walking on almost 1-meter long thin legs. The "chicken" looked at the aliens and the boy with large eyes and began slowly moving away on the road leaving the glade. This did not cause the slightest impression on the aliens. (Similar type creatures had been reportedly seen around 1937-1939 near Aluksne and Pechory). Soon after that a 2-meter tall giant with a bucket-like cowl on its head appeared on the glade. Maris watched as one of the aliens promptly grabbed a tube-like weapon from his belt and shot a dispersed blue ray of light towards the strange entity. The uninvited alien guest then retreated back into the thicket the robot had stood between the shot and the strange entity and had partially hindered the shot. They all looked in the direction for a long time and then the owner of the shiny tube dropped it on the grass. They then resumed the conversation with Maris, talking about the earth. They pointed out that a super-calamity would not endanger the earth until at least 200 years (that's refreshing), but added that, "planets, grow, live and die". Maris then asked the robot if everything is programmed and could be predicted. The robot then explained to Maris (already a young atheist) that a scientific "team" under the leadership of a superior entity called the "Professor" began the colonization of the earth using at first, bacterium. But the higher the civilization, the more difficult the "operations", and there was more energy consumption. Humans on earth now were sufficiently developed and at times were not under the control of those aliens who conducted the experiments or operations. Apparently humanity was at the edge of its Rubicon and was about to enter an intergalactic community as a young member or "brother", and "experimentation" on earth will resume. The term Apocalypse, which no one knows precisely when it would occur, had shifted to the distant future. With every new arrival of the "Professor" or creator humanity receives a new injection of ideological and scientific creativeness. Such visitations have been reflected in ancient epochs depicted in many ancient rock carvings and paintings. There had been a total of 40 visitations to earth. Arrivals from this specific civilization were more frequent but less significant in scale. The next arrival (41st) will be of special consequences for humans. According to the aliens, the entity called the "Professor" has been worshipped on earth as a God, and was of evasive character. Maris soon realized that the less he knew about that enigmatic character the better for him, he felt that if he knew too much about the "Professor", he would be destroyed.

The aliens then invited Maris to stay in their green planet (Emsa) but he politely refused. But he asked the aliens to show him the cities on Emsa. But apparently that would be too hazardous for him. The abundance of light, energy and radiation on the cities was very harmful on human organisms, though similar influences were experienced by humans in certain areas on earth (example, Bermuda Triangle). So they showed him the lighted cities from a remote location. The city was brightly lit, radiating all the colors of the rainbow. The city stood a mire or swamp. It contained enough residents to make it a small country. Numerous different small animals inhabited the mire. Apparently the animals were very aggressive but this did not worry the residents and tragic encounters with the animals or "monsters" were rare. There was a tall cylindrical tower in the center of the city, narrowing at the top. There was a platform with a large sign on in, the same symbol the aliens had on their belts, the symbol somewhat resembles the letter "T" with an additional line of its right side and the letter "m" beneath. Circling the air above the city, Maris noticed several blue globe-shaped objects flying in different directions. The robot, answering the boy's question, drew a picture of the inner structure of the flying object on a screen that suddenly appeared from nowhere. Their capabilities were not restricted to the atmosphere; the inhabitants of the green planet have found a way to remove gravity when traveling about. He added that similar discoveries await humans in the future. One of the components of the fuel used by the alien craft was called "mortozya" a very active and aggressive substance. The reagents of it are so-called "heavy spirits" and ionized atomic hydrogen that transforms to deuterium and tritium in a sequential manner. The energy of controlled thermo-nuclear reaction, or more exactly the energy of atomic nucleuses is transmitted to envelope the globe. Depending on the amount of transmitted energy, the top epidermis as well as the whole globe, begins to manifest outside matter (?) and the visible flight in space is just temporal movement. The necessary trajectory of the movement, depending on the energy expenditures, defines the curvature of space, necessary for the pending maneuver. Factually, the globe flies in a straight line but in a curved corridor of the host planet or "world beyond". Transition into that world occurs instantly just like turning off an energy source. (!) The upper part of the globe is the specific "accumulator" which collects the products of the radioactive decay and solar energy that then is transformed into "light stream".

Soon, Maris and the aliens were onboard the spaceship again and in 2 minutes the same sequence of red-white photonegative switch occurred again. Apparently caused by the jump "through zero space" on the other end of the Galaxy, which did not take much time at all. The walls of the craft became transparent again; he saw the sea and a small island beneath. The robot then explained to Maris that they were flying through an area known on earth as "The Bermuda Triangle" that the flight would last about 20 minutes. Maris asked the aliens to be let out in Riga and the robot explained that he knew exactly where (which proved to be wrong). They soon appeared above a large city and flew above the rooftops and then descended near an unfamiliar monument. Maris then noted that the contrast of the gamut of colors had been distorted again, but not as much as when using interstellar "jumps". Apparently, in such situations the UFO is invisible. The distance from the ground was about 2 meters and the boy jumped straight to the grass. An aged female street-cleaner that was sweeping the street saw him, jumping out of nowhere, straight in front of her eyes, an amazed look remained on her face. After walking the unfamiliar streets for a while, Maris realized that he was not in his native city. They did not understand his Latvia language and then he began to speak Russian, in which he was then clearly understood. Maris had apparently landed in Minsk the capital of Belarus. Apparently the aliens had somehow mistaken both cities. Maris had no money to return home. He then asked for help from a local militiaman. He then lied to the officer telling him that he had a friend in Lithuania and had taken the wrong train. He asked to be sent back to Riga. The policeman complied and using normal protocol logged the incident in his journal. He was then taken to an underage detention facility and a telegram was sent to his parent in Riga. Soon Maris grandmother arrived and took him home. Apparently the boy had taken a previous journey in which the aliens had originally dropped him off near the town of Panevezys in Lithuania, but those details had apparently been completely erased from his mind.

An object about 5-6 meters in diameter shaped like a tank with an inverted plate on the bottom landed on a field about 30 meters from some playing children. Frightened, the children hid on a pit an observed two robot like entities and a woman with blond hair wearing silvery coveralls exit the object. After observing an opened door, the children approached the object, they glanced inside of it and two of them, Vitya and Tim climbed inside. Inside, Vitya touched a red button on the door and was shocked by what felt like an electric current. He then attempted to poke at with a penknife, but it became magnetized on the surface. Inside they could see many "shelves" and TV monitors, and a set of small doors on the edges, panels with multicolored buttons, and a large glass like balloon with a luminous flame inside. In the center they could see a "revolving door", which seemed to revolve when the object took off. The children began to press additional buttons and saw on a screen, the two robots apparently collecting soil samples about 150 meters from the object, from its hand it carried what appeared to be a flashlight and with this it seemed to collect soil and insert it into a black "packet". On a metallic door they saw a hatchway and they attempted to climb up, but a voice from one of the monitors told them that they could not climb up. The returning crew found the children onboard and by using rather rough squeaky voices proposed to them to go on a brief ride. The ride took about 5 minutes. When they returned they were let out and watched the object take off emitting shiny sparks some, which, scorched one of the children on his face. The object then circled above the forest and then shot away at high speed. On the landing site an anomalous zone shaped like an ellipse was found on the ground. Magnetic disturbances were also found at the site.

Early in the evening several witnesses reported seeing two huge objects flying low above the Amur River. Police patrols were called and responded to the area where they saw the objects continue to move along the riverbed. Another patrol near the center of the city saw red flames shooting over the area. Later that night strange reports began to emerge. A woman named Natasha was in her apartment when suddenly a bright sphere about a meter in diameter appeared on her ceiling, it floated to the floor and inside she was able to see a man-like figure. An aperture became visible and the figure stepped out. Terrified the woman screamed and everything disappeared. She felt incredibly horror. Her daughter awoke to hear her mother screaming and ran to the room when she opened the door she felt strong heat coming from inside and at first she thought it was a fire. Her husband saw the corridor suddenly lit up in a bright light but did not see the sphere. Later 30-year Tatiana R had quarreled with a friend staying at her flat and had gone to sleep alone in a room. About an hour after going to bed she heard her cat meowing outside the balcony window. She got up and opened the balcony door to see what was wrong, when suddenly the cat shot inside the room like a bullet and directly opposite to the window the witness saw a hovering luminous orange sphere, in which something like a luminous portal she could see. Inside the portal she saw a pale face staring at her. Responding to her cries her friend ran in the room and grabbed a stick in an attempt to strike at the sphere. The sphere suddenly flared up and disappeared. In the morning the young couple found the remains of the charred stick on the balcony. A third more incredible encounter was yet to be reported. A woman named Galina was watching television when the screen began to receive uncommon interference. At this point the balcony door began to open slowly and then she saw two thin pole-like legs, looking up she saw a bizarre figure enter the room. It was very thin and tall, dressed in a dark silvery overall without either seams or fasteners. It had a large head, with a high and wide forehead, a pointed chin, no nose, and a narrow strip-like mouth. It had no hair and it had two large white pupil-less eyes. His head appeared to be planted directly on its shoulders. Stood two meters from the witness and held a small cylinder, similar to a small container in one of its hands. The witness was more astonished than frightened, and instinctively began to rise. Then as if ordering her not to move, it waved his right hand but with the beginning of the second stroke the witness lost consciousness. She awoke around 0400A, the television set still on but with stripe like interference on the screen still showing. She felt very lightheaded when she attempted to rise. When she touched the balcony door in order to shut it she received a strong seemingly electrical shock.

At first he noticed two figures and then a 3rd. They seemed to be expressively gesticulating with their hands among themselves. They were dressed in shiny tight-fitting coveralls, resembling those of deep-sea divers. After looking closely, Karachev discerned 3 windows on the craft, each one approximately 2 meters high and 1.5meters in width. The center window was lightly lit, but he could discern a silhouette inside. It seemed to be that of an alien female, because of the long wavy hair falling to her shoulders. While Alibek watched the supposed alien female, the other aliens who had been working under the craft vanished. At this moment something compelled Alibek to turn around and when he looked back again the object and aliens were now gone. Unexpectedly the headlights of his vehicle switched on again and he felt under control of his body again. He then sat behind the wheel of his car and drove to the location where the cigar-shaped object had been hovering a few minutes ago. He found nothing there, looked at the sky and saw nothing either. Alibek then continued on his way to work but suddenly noticed that his watch was 10 minutes behind, he could not remember what happened during those 10minutes. 3 days after the incident Alibek became ill and visited the hospital in Mahachkala, feeling very weak. A doctor explained to him that his weakness appears to have been as a result of radiation exposure and was told that it would soon go away. He returned home, but his health deteriorated day after day. On the 13th day after the encounter he could not get up from bed and lost his appetite. However a week after his health suddenly returned to normal as if nothing had occurred.

A local inhabitant living on the shores of the lake reported witnessing a bizarre episode on this date. He had momentarily left his house and looked at the forest located on the opposite side of the lake, there near the willow trees he saw bright green lights, after focusing his sight he noticed that it was a round object emitting a bright beam of green light. There were several of these objects there and numerous short figures seemed to be very busy around them. One of the objects was hovering above the top of trees but it then descended towards the earth. The little figure was of a dark purplish color and at times seemed to blend in with the willow trees. Soon some type of construction resembling a "rocket" was rolled out of the Willow Grove but immediately was rolled back into the brush. As the witness observed fascinated three figures left the wooded area. According to the witness his impression was that the figures were that of a man, a woman and a child. The man and the woman were huge in stature, their heads located level with the top of the trees. In order to draw the attention of the strangers the witness lit up a box of matches and began to swing it around. Apparently the strangers noticed him and the man began to "applaud", he then waved at the witness, and began to walk towards the direction of the witness but after a short walk the man stopped and turned back. As the strangers neared the woods they began to clap with their hands and their size seemed to decrease to the size of the other small humanoids (!), which were still located near the green lighted round objects. After this the man took the woman by her hand and began to move around in a circle, performing something like a ritual dance. Journalists accompanied the witness to the site and found thawed patches about a meter in width, and a dent with a depth of about 70-80cm.

A woman named Anna and her small daughter Olya were sleeping in their bedroom when suddenly Anna awoke from an unusually bright orange light in the room. She approached the window. The powerful orange light emanated from above, from a fiery globe that was hovering above the apartment complex. Anna thought, "Wow! Finally the extraterrestrials have visited!" and at that very same moment a strong wave of fear enveloped her. She tightly closed all the windows with the blinds and hid on the bed covering her head with a blanket. Two minutes later she removed the blanket she saw a blinking light in the kitchen. She felt strange; she felt a strong electrical numbness on her body. She also sensed a strange heaviness descend over her and suddenly her apartment was submerged into darkness, the light in the kitchen died and the light from outside die not penetrate into her apartment. She then felt the presence in the room. She wanted to move and get up, but couldn't, her brain was working but her body seemed paralyzed. Off to one side she saw a humanoid figure coming towards the direction of her daughter's cot from the direction of the window. The humanoid was small in height, about 120-140 cm in height, wearing a shiny suit. Its movements were jerky, like that of a robot; he had something similar to eyes on the face and a helmet on the head with 2 little antennas. The humanoid emitted a monotone squeaky sound. It then walked towards the end of the sofa, stopped and then turned towards Anna. She felt no fear, until the alien said in a quite voice, stretching out the words in syllables, "We---will-ta---ke-your girl!" At the same time Anna heard her daughter screaming, "Mama!" Anna protested, screaming so loud that she thought that the whole neighborhood would have heard her by how. She screamed, "No, I won't give her to you! No!" The alien visitor then uttered two other phrases, "We will return her back, we will return her!" Anna continued to scream wildly. The alien then turned to the door and walked towards an exit corridor. The door closed with a loud banging sound and at the same moment the light again turned on in the apartment. Anna wanted to run to her daughter's cot, but her body was still paralyzed, though now she did not feel the numbness. With inhuman effort she slid to the floor and crawled to her daughter's cot. Her daughter was sleeping peacefully, but without her blanket. Anna later found the blanket on the floor in the corridor. Feeling very tired she fell on the sofa and her strength gradually returned to her slowly. She awoke at 0445A covered with sweat from head to toe, she felt exhausted. In fear she waited till dawn. She could not sleep in her apartment the next night and slept in her neighbors. The terrified woman then notified the local militia and an officer named N. V. Mrs. N. Bozyleva, a local resident had just put her children to sleep and had gone to the kitchen when she heard screams outside. She looked out the window and noticed two neighbor girls standing on their porch yelling and pointing, "Mommy, Mommy, was that!" It was very light outside, almost like daylight and the girls were pointing at the source of the light that Bozyleva could still not see. She wanted to go to the balcony in order to obtain a better view but suddenly the door of the balcony flung opened and an alien male figure suddenly appeared. His height was about 1.80m, with dark hair and a sallow complexion (pale). For some unknown reason she felt no fear (apparently caused by some type of mental influence from the alien). The alien began asking her several questions, which she promptly answered, next he asked, "Do you agree to fly with me to another planet"? The witness agreed but said jokingly that since she was quite heavy no spaceship would be able to lift her. He answered, "No spaceship is needed, we will fly this way". Bozyleva quickly went into the anteroom and put on a coat and a pair of high boots. The alien then told her to hold on to him tightly, embraced her and they rose up into the air and flew out the balcony. The witness did not feel the usual flow of air in her hair. Afraid she looked down and all she could see was a dark abyss. She then asked the alien to please return her, at first the alien said no that he was taking her for good, but she pleaded with him, telling him that she had left her young children behind. The alien then agreed and returned her back to her home. The next morning at her job the witness related the story to co-workers and amazingly one female colleague also confessed that that same night, a strange man had also entered her bedroom from the balcony and had invited her to fly out with him, but she refused. 2 days after the incident Mrs. Bozyleva heard some talk between two women and one was saying to the other that her 7 or 6-year old son had told her one morning that he was almost "taken" by an extraterrestrial that entered his room. About 2 weeks before the main encounter an 11-year old local boy named Spartak told his classmates about an unusual dream he had: An alien robot, had warned him about his arrival, asking him not to be afraid. The robot predicted that when he would be playing with 5 other boys on the school yard, he would come and talk with them. Soon after that a group of five boys were playing soccer on a field behind the school and after the game was over 2 boys ran to get some water and the other 3 stretched out on the grass, looking towards a nearby vineyard. Suddenly they saw a UFO descend towards some wasteland near the vineyard. The globe-shaped twinkling object was made out of a shiny material and landed about 300 meters from the schoolyard. The UFO was no more than 5-6m in size (about 10-15 m in diameter according to estimation) and seemed to split up in two halves like a "tangerine". Other witnesses later reported that the UFO a small protrusion on top that seemed to be a dome, which had an opened hatch. The UFO was encircled with yellow and red lights and had a row of 6 circular windows or portholes which emitted light, positioned on the rim around the center. After splitting open in front of the stunned witnesses, three or four humanoid robotic creatures about 3-3.5m in height exited the UFO and began to walk around the object, all in different areas. The humanoids figures were exactly the same in appearance and 2 or 3 of the figures periodically bended down to the ground apparently looking and collection soil samples. One of the alien figures began moving towards the schoolyard and the stunned witnesses. The robot easily crossed the wire fence around the vineyard which was about 1.5m in height, but couldn't cross the taller fence surrounding the school. So the stunned witnesses watched as the "robot" transformed itself into a large blue globe of light less than one meter in diameter and then began to roll like a ball upwards along the fence and then down on the other side. Once it had reached the ground it transformed itself back into the robot figure, and continued walking towards the boys. At this point the two other boys returned and now all five boys were witnessing the event exactly as the robot had predicted on Spartak's dream. The robot approached the boys, which were frozen with fear and unable to move. They described the robot's skin as grayish metallic in color. There was a circular helmet that covered the robot's head with 2 visors in front and 2 small vertical antennas on top. The robot had a light source of its forehead area and had what appeared to be a control panel with buttons on the upper part of his right leg and a smaller panel with just one large button on the same area of his left leg. The legs were encircled in something that resembled knee-leggings and ended in broad "feet" or horizontal elongated oval-shaped platforms, like props. The children couldn't remember how many fingers the robot had but they thought it was 3 or 4 which were sharpened and thick. One of the frightened boys attempted to run but the robot struck him with a beam of light that knocked him to the ground. A red burn mark was left on the boy's hand and was still visible in October that same year. Local doctors could not diagnose what kind of burn it was. Then a conversation between the boys and the robot ensued. The boys spoke out loud while the robot's answers were displayed on the shiny screen on its chest area. The robot appeared awkward, heavy set without any human facial features, somewhat frightening in appearance. The boys had been so stunned about the whole encounter that they couldn't remember how long they "spoke" with the robot. They saw different types of inscriptions and images display on the robot's screen. Some appeared to be symbols which the schoolboys could not interpret. To their surprised they were able to see their own names written in the Armenian language on the screen. Every time one of the boys spoke his name would appear on the screen. The talk was mostly about the future of Armenia. The boys remembered one phrase most of all, "Now your country is in big difficulty but we will be helping you". After that moment the boy's recollections became mixed and fragmentary. According to the boys they felt hypnotized and sleepy and apparently the robot was somehow scanning their minds and studying them in sequence. The boys distinctly remembered that the robot projected a beam of light from its forehead causing one of the boys to start levitating up into the air; another boy attempted to hold his friend down by grabbing him by the legs but was also levitated up into the air. Both hovered in midair for several seconds and then fell to the ground. Later for some time the robot walked around the schoolyard, periodically bending down collecting stones from the ground, the robot apparently scratched one of its hands while doing this and the hand assumed a strange reddish tint (right hand). Soon the robot returned to the field exactly the same way it had come to the schoolyard, transforming into a rolling blue ball again in order to climb the high fence and then walked towards the landing craft which he then entered. The object then closed assuming the globe shape again it then it propelled itself up like a "spring" and after hovering for a moment above the schoolyard it flew away. When questioned about the other humanoid or robots the boys said that these remained near the object all the time picking items from the ground. According to researchers the grass turned a different color at the location of the landing, and apparently the UFO did not exactly land but hovered very close to the ground. Numerous footprints apparently made by the robots were found these were 20cm in diameter and about 5-10cm deep. Other ground disturbances or traces were found by using the method of "biolocation".

As he opened the gate he noticed a huge humanoid figure suddenly appear in front of him. The strange entity was about 3 meters in height, and stood with its back to Nazarov. The humanoid had a "small head" that seemed to jut out of its shoulders, uncommonly long arms, very thin legs and wore a broad copper-color belt on its hips, which connected to its legs by a strip of the same color. The humanoid was dressed in a shiny light blue overall. A crescent-shaped symbol, which emanated red light, and resembling the half moon, was seen on the humanoid's left hand. Nazarov was suddenly seized with fear and rushed back into his workshop garage and attempted to phone his boss V. Gavrilov, but was unable to make a successful phone connection, he then returned to the same location. The humanoid was no longer around but a white beam of light was shining over the forest, about 15 meters from the witness, inclined at a 45degree angle. Nazarov also noticed that the telegraph poles were also lit up in a bright white light and a strange gas-like cloud was now distinctly visible at the place where he had originally seen the humanoid. The "cloud" floated at about 10cm above the ground. Alexander attempted to approach the location but his legs became paralyzed and he had the unpleasant sensation of being pierced by hundreds of "tiny needles" in his hands and stomach area. That very same night there were reports of mysterious fires along the railway and inside the reserve area. Two electric pumps were apparently shut down by an unknown force. Electronic watches also reportedly malfunctioned in the area.

Local hog farm worker, Aleksey Alekseyevich was on his way to feed the hogs on his moped, a "Riga-5" model, and had past the cemetery, the railroad overpass and the concrete plant when he suddenly saw a bright beam of light at about 50 to 70 meters away. As he approached the area where the beam was located he thought it was some type of searchlight that appeared to be rotating, as he got closer his moped unexpectedly cut off. Suddenly the beam of light about 7-10cm in width shone in front of him it then disappeared. He then heard a noise on the nearby ploughed field at first he thought it was a tractor but when he looked he saw a silvery sphere about 3 meters in height with two antenna-like protrusions on top. He became frightened as he saw a figure come out from the side of the sphere that walked to the nearby wheat-field. He looked closer and noticed that the figure was that of a tall woman wearing white clothing. The woman was very tall, almost 2.50m in height. The woman then walked towards the road and stopped at about 4 meters from the asphalt. Aleksey further noticed that the woman was wearing some type of headgear that covered her forehead, chin and mouth area, however the eyes and nose were visible and they were quite human. As the witness stared he heard a female voice, quite ordinary sounding and in Russian, "Where are you going"? The witness answered that he was going to the nearby farm to feed the hogs. After several seconds of silence the woman said, "Go on and feed them, we will eventually take them and then you". She then turned around and walked back to the sphere disappearing behind it. There was a noise and the sphere first rose slightly and then gained altitude disappearing towards the nearby estuary. The witness then walked back to the moped, which then functioned perfectly.

All the residents of building # 28 on Kishinyevskaya Street reported seeing something strange in the sky. One of the witnesses, V.A. Titov reported that all those present decided to stay and watch the object. The object resembled a large round egg yellow in color. It hovered in midair and then it would move away and then return. Some of those present then decided to experiment and Titov grabbed a flashlight and walked to the garden attempting to signal the UFO with the flashlight. The UFO then suddenly changed its trajectory and began to approach; it then stopped and hovered very close to the witnesses. All those present grew torpid, and attempted to see what was inside the object. It appeared to them that there was a humanoid entity inside who appeared to get up from an armchair inside the object's cabin. The humanoid then walked about the cabin until the UFO departed. An hour later the object was seen flying towards the city of Orenburg gradually disappearing from sight and leaving behind orange-colored specks of light.

Vladimir Molchanov noticed the landing of a strange object close to his yard on the outskirts of the village. Next he was confronted outdoors by several tall aliens who invited him to visit their planet. (Apparently some kind of mental or psychic influence was used on the witness by the aliens). The witness returned briefly to the house and told his wife about the aliens, she brushed him off. He went back outside and entered the landed UFO. The aliens were very tall, 3 or 3.5 meters high, their skin was grayish, their eyes were big, slanted, cat-like and dark, covered by black lenses (like contact lenses). They had narrow bodies, sharply cut light hair (some, maybe females, had long hair). The hands had 3 fingers with reddish webbing; they also had long arms that hung down below their knees. According to Molchanov the object was globe shaped. It's crew consisting of 6 aliens, including his alien guide. He entered via a door that opened up like a "water-melon" and up a short ladder. He was made to sit on a high armchair. As the craft moved away Molchanov was able to see through an opening his house then the village and soon the whole planet earth, apparently from space. He did not sense any acceleration whatsoever. At one point bright sunlight entered the craft and he was told by the alien not to look since he could be blinded (!). The alien spoke about different planets that Molchanov had never heard of and was told of a coming warming trend to the earth starting in 2002-2005, which will cause natural calamities. The aliens communicated among themselves by using mental telepathy and exchanging glances. Soon they landed in the planet and Molchanov noticed that the sky was pink in color and the air was extremely fresh, clear, aromatic and balmy. The aliens told him that the earth had once eternal spring in the ancient past. He noticed other craft around, some cigar shaped, others oblong and oval shaped. The dwellings had some kind of golden crux-like device on top. The flowers were remotely similar to terrestrial peons. Next two robotic creatures (metallic ones and cold to the touch) entered the open craft's door. These "robots" had square heads, two hooks on the hands, instead of fingers, they performed different tasks on the craft, pressing some buttons and bringing in some boxes. Before being returned to earth the witness was told by the aliens that they were going to return to visit him on April 19 2007. He was also told that he had visited a planet (theirs) in the Orion constellation, near the belt of Orion. According to additional research by Anfalov and Larissa Chora these aliens are from the planet "Uru", most likely located near the double star Hipparcos 25240 in the Orion constellation, 189 light years distant.

Walking next to the old universal department store, Eldar noticed a faint light shining from the basement area. When Eldar approached the stranger he noticed that the man was unusual in appearance, and appeared unnaturally "aged". The stranger was holding a strange flashlight in one hand and was desperately trying to get out of the basement. Suddenly he said unexpectedly, "Son, come with me, you will see things you have never seen before". With those words the strange man took a small oblong shaped device from the black "suitcase", a device which nowadays would have resembled a portable "pocket" computer. He then said to the astounded Eldar, "If I press these 2 buttons, we will appear in my world, and you will not regret it. Think about my proposition. It can change your life completely". Confused thoughts quickly began circulating in Eldar's head and then he glanced at the computer like device that the stranger was holding and at the opened suitcase, which inside he could see a number of tubes and unknown instruments. As the stranger stared coldly at him, Eldar decided to end the episode and without saying a word he took off in a sprint towards his aunt's house located only several meters away. By this time she felt neither fear nor curiosity as to what was happening or had invited her, somehow knowing in advance that the "aliens" were coming to take her. As she was going out of her house, both her husband and daughter asked her where she was going and her enigmatic answer was that she was being "taken". No other words were exchanged, there were no words or protest from Galina either, and all those present took what was occurring for granted. At this moment the carpenters began replacing the ceiling. Galina walked out her of her wicket gate and headed towards a nearby shop, followed by her cat, "Murka". While walking away, Galina met her female neighbor, congratulated her with the holiday (May 1 International worker's day). The somewhat surprised neighbor asked her where she was going, and Galina answered in a matter-of-fact tone, "They are taken me to another planet". Her neighbor smiled and continued walking but when Galina's bizarre answer sunk in, she quickly turned around and to her outmost amazement, Galina was nowhere to be seen, she had completely disappeared. Her cat Murka was also missing, there was nowhere around where Galina or her cat could had hidden. At the same time Galina felt a sense of weightlessness and suddenly appeared on another "planet", she felt that she could move at ease and felt absolutely no fear. Everything around her was blue in color. She heard unfamiliar but very pleasant sounding music, symphonic in tone. She saw a bed of huge blue roses growing on a nearby field. She did not see any other living creatures around but noticed several buildings, not to high, unlike earth and also blue in color. She soon appeared in a light-colored building, which she could not describe later. Somebody sat her on a chair or a couch. Her cat Murka was rubbing against her legs. At this point Galina felt an incredibly joyful feeling. She could not remember for how long she sat there but her blissful state was suddenly interrupted by someone's voice, "Enough, is time to go home". She could not remember what happened next but her next conscious memory was of entering her home. Her worried daughter approached her and asked her where she had been for such a long time. "Thank God you have returned" said her husband. He reproached her since it was almost dinner time. He asked her where she had been and all Galina could say was that she had been in another planet. Three hours had passed. Suddenly the legs of the witness became heavy and he lost his ability to move. Finally when he succeeded in waking his wife she only saw the shadow of the entity sliding away. At the same moment that the monster vanished an orange globe appeared at approximately 7 meters from the window. The UFO then emitted a thin red beam of light that crossed the ceiling of the room in a dotted line. Several seconds later it repeated the same procedure. For ten minutes the object moved from left to right. A dark strip was visible on the object, which was moving from top to bottom. Two small white lights were flashing on the spherical object, soon the strip vanished and a thin beam of light appeared from the object shooting upwards. At this point the witness became terribly afraid and soon the UFO vanished. The whole time the moon shone brightly in the sky.

Local resident Mrs. Vinbe Hari was at home when suddenly the door of her house opened. However she did not pay much attention to it, expecting her husband to return from the fields. Her 15-year old son Unar was already asleep. The witness turned around and was stunned to see a very tall man, completely unfamiliar to her and immediately after that three more similar appearing men entered her house directly through the wall. The strangers were more than 2 meters in height. The alien that she first saw then asked her in perfect Estonian, "Where is your husband?" Regaining her composure the woman answered that he was at work. "Let's go with us" continued the stranger, "You will see how we live and what places we visit. We will show you our planet." Confused, the witness said that she was only wearing her nightgown and that she was supposed to milk the cattle in the morning. But her alien guest insisted, "We will return you in the morning". And noticing that the witness had then walked to her bedroom to dress, the humanoid said, "You wont we able to move out of this room" The stunned woman attempted to walk into her bedroom but an invisible obstacle hindered her. After several furtive attempts she looked at the alien who was smiling and said, "You don't need to dress, you won't feel the cold. Don't be afraid, we will not harm you." Becoming afraid she asked the aliens why they had chosen her, she was 51years of age, he offers her son in her place telling the aliens that he was very smart. "No we don't want your son", answered the alien guest and approached the bed where Unar was sleeping, and then alien stretched his hand over the boy and this one seemed to go into a deep sleep. The strange then spoke with the other humanoids in a strange metallic-sounding voice in a totally unknown non-terrestrial language. Soon after that the other three humanoids walked out of the house, again through the walls at the same time the witness heard a deafening clapping noise. Afraid, the witness decided to run immediately to the other room, but again was unsuccessful. The alien stretched his hand towards her and she touched the hand, which felt very soft. Then both walked straight through the wall and the loud clapping sound was heard again. The alien vehicle was located nearby and both levitated in the air towards it. The alien held her by the hands floating together. When the aliens took the woman inside the craft, she saw the 3 other humanoids sitting around in the cabin on soft chairs in front of what appeared to be control panels. The door to the UFO then closed and it then zoomed up, leaving Earth's atmosphere and entering deep space. Finally the object landed in an unknown planet. The journey was quite speedy. There she was taken into some building or structure where she was interrogated by the aliens for about 1 1/2 hours in the presence of 5 additional aliens. After the interrogation she was brought back to earth and to her home. The aliens again visited her exactly one month later and again took her onboard the alien craft where possibly genetic experiments or "manipulations" were conducted on her. Despite the persistent attempts of researchers to obtain additional information, Vinbe Hari refused to divulge all the details, she remained evasive and silent. It was evident that something more profound had occurred to the witness onboard the alien spacecraft.

Orange and silvery heat waves seemed to pour from the object. Suddenly a huge man-like figure appeared next to the object and then immediately disappeared again, as if swallowed by the ground. Driver Vladimir Dondopov spotted a humanoid figure at least 4 meters in height standing next to the craft. Later on other saw similar additional gigantic figures next to the object, some saw figures wearing orange-colored garments while a fourth figure suddenly appeared next to the object this one wearing a black diver's outfit. The giant humanoids were not seen to come out of the craft they seem to just "materialize" next to it. A motorcycle police officer N. Zimirev, approached the craft and the craft and figures disappeared in a flash of bright light, similar to a photo flash. All these events occurred within a spate of 2 to 3 hours on that day.

His mother looked out and saw several meter tall helmeted figures with glowing suits with stripes on their sleeves and trouser legs. The beings had hands with three claw-like fingers. Dima reported that when they noticed him, they pulled out a box like device from behind and aerial appendages appeared on their heads. When a car appeared the beings jumped into a nearby stream and stayed there until the car passed. While in the field the aliens seemed to cleaned their suits and then perform what appeared to be somersaults on the wet grass. A powerful vibrating sound permeated the atmosphere during the encounter. Later during a localized power outage several saw a huge red disc shaped object hovering over the area. A local man named Sergey Kovantsev suddenly awoke and felt unreasonable fear without any apparent cause immediately after that he appeared in an unfamiliar room. Judging by the interior of the room the witness realized that he was onboard some type of flying object. The room was shaped like a "lentil" and it had oblong shaped elongated windows. He was sitting in a deep armchair placed around a table, with other chairs around it. The chairs and the table were of the same ivory color. The floor appeared to be made out of a greenish velvety material. The walls were brown in color and the ceiling greenish-orange in color. Numerous ellipse-shaped and bigger windows were located along the walls. In front of the witness sat two humanoid entities, which appeared to be conversing about something. Sergey did not hear their voices and noticed that the aliens at times seem to nod their heads, the dialog was obviously telepathic, and from time to time they looked at the witness without interrupting their conversation. The aliens wore thin overalls, bluish in color without any pockets or seams that covered them all the way up to their necks. Their heads were of "normal" size but with clearly different eyes from that of humans, which were approximately 4 times bigger than humans. Their pupils moved in a very strange manner, and appeared to narrow from time to time, become a dot and then expanding to cover the entire eye cavity. The pupils were bright raspberry in color, and their eyeballs were of a pure white color. The alien mouths were slit-like, without lips, and were never opened, Sergey never noticed them move. They had flat wide noses, and their ears were very tightly fit to their heads, elongated and 1.5 times bigger than those of humans, they had short yellowish hair with "modern" haircuts. The light emanating from the ceiling was even, soft and pleasant. The witness could see what appeared to be an indentation on the wall to his left that could have been a door, but without any visible handles. Most interestingly was the state in which Sergey was in, while sitting on the chair, he was apparently able to see his own body from a point away from the table (out of body travel?), as well as what was occurring inside the spacecraft simultaneously. Another entity the same as the other two seated ones approached Sergey from his back and placed some type of device on his head, which resembled terrestrial "earphones". Suddenly he heard crackling and squeaking sounds at first in the "earphones" like a radio receiver tuning into the necessary frequency. The sounds stopped quickly, and then Sergey heard a distinct female voice, judging by the voice it sounded like a woman of 50 or 60 years of age. The female voice spoke "interesting" information, which Sergey unfortunately could not remember, only vague recollections remained in his memory. The witness then asked, "What year are you in?" The female voice answered, "The 6648th". Soon after that the voice began fading away and static appeared again. After that Sergey heard another younger female voice, which he felt more at ease with. Confidently he asked her, "What is your name?" The alien female voice answered, "Maya". And then added that the year in her planet was now the 9869th year (different from the other alien female voice). Maya then said that in honor of their acquaintance and her respect to the witness, a song performed by a children's chorus would now be heard (!). At that very same moment Sergey heard a melodic, electronic music and voices of young children. The song was mostly about joy, friendship and a happy life. Soon Maya communicated again with Sergey who then asked her when they would meet again. She then mentioned the number 17 and something which Sergey did not hear properly since the voice began fading away. After that Sergey experienced a memory gap and later returned to his senses lying on his bed, in a totally confused state. The clock now read 0615A and according to his estimation he had only been onboard the UFO for 12 minutes. The next day he learned that a local driver had seen a globe-shaped UFO with a broad rim flying low over the houses between Nalchik and the hamlet of Khassanya. The object emitted thin multicolored beams of light in different directions. The object then stopped in mid-air and began to rotate slowly around its axis. Apparently the witness had been abducted onboard that very same object.

In this town located next to the Volga River a small shiny metallic looking cylinder-shaped object plummeted from the sky straight onto the roof of a twin-type elongated "Ikarus" bus (Hungarian made) with trailer, while the bus was standing at a bus stop. The object fell on the rubber pleats connecting the front section of the bus with the rear, immediately causing smoke. Apparently the object had been very hot. The driver stopped the bus, walked out of the cabin and after examining the tires and engine, found no source of the smoke or smell (he did not look up on the roof!) and continued his drive. A minute or so after that, a red ambulance van of the "Rafik" type (RAF-2203), apparently belonging to the fire brigade drove up to the bus stop. The ambulance van was equipped with radio and antenna. Two strange "men" walked out of the ambulance and examined the bus stop for several minutes, walking around the area evidently not finding what they were looking for. The returned to their "ambulance" and drove away. Both men looked very suspiciously non-human as some of the witnesses asserted. They had very pale, almost white faces, huge "remarkable" eyes and behaved strangely. Vigilant local residents phoned the town's newspaper "Severnaya Pravda" (The Northern Truth). Local journalists quickly telephone the local fire department asking them if they had sent the duty ambulance to the bus stop. The answer was negative. And then a local journalist named V. Shpanchenko continued the investigation and the evening of the same day, while returning home in his car with a colleague, pulled over and stopped on the road and to his amazement saw the red "Rafik" ambulance van, looking exactly as it was described earlier. Both reporters turned the headlights of their vehicle off and began watching the strange ambulance from a distance, hidden in the darkness. The registration number (plate?) was identical to the one reported by the witnesses at the bus stop. Two strange men again came out of the ambulance; one was dressed in a shirt the second in a grayish suit. The spoke between each other about something (the language or voices were not heard because of the distance) and then got back inside the ambulance. One in the cabin and the second next to the driver, the curtains in the cabin were closed and then van rushed suddenly away in a quick jerk. Both journalists noticed how strange the "firemen" had looked, they had very white pale faces, penetrating eyes which radiated some type of energy, their smiles appeared unnaturally forced like robots. Both were very tall about 1.90 to 2.0 meters in height and stood smiling at the witness. The woman was stunningly beautiful and shapely. Both looked to be about 20-25 years old. Their eyes were slightly slanted, had a small nose, clearly visible mouth, but immovable, as well as their faces. They had very proportional figures with long thin fingers. When they moved they did so slowly and gradually. All communication was telepathic. The aliens approached the witness and began asking mundane and private questions. It felt like a police interrogation and the witness felt uncomfortable. He felt as his brain was being scanned. After answering their questions, Krasnov was allowed to ask himself. The aliens said that they hailed from the Canis Venatici constellation, more specifically from a planet called "Tats". They had been on earth for 2 years already and that their previous visit had been 100 years ago and had lasted for about 10 years. They traveled in a star ship shaped like a disc, with 6 crewmembers. They also said that they traveled between dimensions. That is a very responsible and dangerous process that must be carefully controlled. They also said that every dimension has intelligent life and that there are some aggressive civilizations that are striving to conquer the Universe and that there were "backward" civilizations, like Earth. They said that they had a base on the moon and were concerned about constant monitoring by earthlings. They were governed by what they called a "council". They did not conduct negative experiments over people (humans), did not abduct humans by force that it was strictly forbidden by the "council". They did not recognize the human civilization because of its aggressive tendencies and behavior. They also said that humans were out of control of their "Council" and that it was now too late to do anything. This "Council" consisted of different civilizations that regulate many interstellar laws. Suddenly the belts of both aliens began radiating a bluish light and they said: "The time of contact is now over. We must return to our ship." They said that they would be back in August 1990. Both figures then disappeared.

Near the local cinema "Moskva" Tatiana G was returning home while her husband waited for her in the front of the house. Suddenly Tatiana began to frantically wave her hands, and shouting as if struggling with someone unseen. After hesitating for a second her husband rushed towards her. Hearing the shouts of the woman numerous witnesses had by now gathered in the windows and watched the strange spectacle, her struggling with someone unseen and her husband also battling with an unknown force. Numerous witnesses now rushed to their aid. As they approached the group suddenly saw very near Tatiana and her husband a black "machine" with darkened glass windows. Tatiana was struggling with a man wearing dark coveralls and her husband fought with two men dressed in diver's suits. Around the head of the mysterious figures there was a unique glow, resembling a shell. After seeing the people running towards them the strangers threw Tatiana and her husband on the ground and rapidly entered the black object, which after being touched instantly disappeared. Tatiana later described as the dark object suddenly landed close to her and three dark clad men exiting the object. Around their heads there was a glow. The men silently gripped her and dragged her towards the machine. She began to shout and struggle. When her husband ran up, two of the strangers turned on him, the third almost succeeding in jostling her into the black machine. She was dragged very close to the machine but was let go as the other villagers approached. The humanoids then disappeared inside the machine. She fell to the asphalt and lost sight of the object. At this point she realized that all around her there appeared to be some sort of "vacuum" that she could not see the normal sights. She could not see anything familiar. Suddenly her husband broke into the vacuum and there was a flash of light, at this point she lost consciousness. A third witness was able to see the strange black machine as it disappeared in plain sight.

Three local boys, Vasiliy, Maksim both 5 years of age, and 7-year old Victor were playing in an abandoned opencast mine on the outskirts of town. The time was near sunset when they suddenly saw a strange white object, like a dot, then a circle of white fog or mist that was gradually increasing and finally transforming into a disk-shaped object that then hovered over a pit. The disk was hovered silently in front of the stunned boys and then all three witnesses began to feel odd, like being pierced by a thousand needles evidently as a result of an intensified electrostatic field. Next moment all three boys lost consciousness and later woke up laying on the very bottom of the opencast mine. They couldn't understand how they ended up the bottom of the pit, since it was very large and quite deep. All three boys still had been experiencing the electrostatic field. None of them could remember what happened after they saw the disk. They all returned home at 2300 or midnight, their mothers reproaching them for staying out so late. After the incident strange things began happening with Maksim, he began to sleepwalk at night and all three boys discovered strange identical marks on the backs of their heads. The marks were in the form of a trident, it looked as if they had been branded. All three boys then moved to the city of Saint Petersburg. Victor strangely died at the age of 17 of unknown causes. Unfortunately no regressive hypnosis was ever arranged to clarify the details of their evident abduction experience.

After a UFO landed on the border of the village, close to a large military aerodrome and reservation at Bagerovo near the Sea of Azov, local residents encountered three short humanoids walking on the street near their houses. The aliens were dwarf-like, about 1.2m in height, dressed in shiny coats of silver color, which covered their short bodies completely. One male witness was able to see the face of one of the aliens, which he described as having a sallow complexion, with green-brown-gray skin, flat protrusions in the place of noses, and slanted eyes. Their heads were most probably hairless but were covered in tight-fitting cowls. Frightened, the witnesses hid in their homes. The aliens moved quickly away and vanished behind some houses. What attracted the aliens to the area was the apparent concentration of important locations and bases, such as the construction of nuclear and solar electric power plants in the nearby hamlet of Szhelkino (which were later halted due to public outcry). Also the huge Bagerovo airbase previously used for storage of nuclear bombs, which is now abandoned, the area apparently has some residual radioactive pollution, which also attracted the aliens.

A 60-year old night watchman by the name of Sanin, who was also a carpenter at the local auxiliary farm, vanished from his post in the farm where he had been watching over the grain harvester combines. His gear and food were still there but he was nowhere to be found. A 5 to 6 day search was conducted for him with no results. Soon he was found wandering in an area many kilometers northwards in the area of Serov, a scarcely populated area. A timber truck driver had accidentally noticed him on the road and picked him up and delivered him to the local hospital. The man was exhausted and exhibited burns on his legs. When his daughter came to pick him up at the hospital he told her an amazing story. Being deaf, but quite articulate the witness was able to relate an incredible incident. That night amid the forest glades where the combines were stored, the area was lighted by unusual lights from above, some type of object descended from the sky and 3 "men" exited the craft. They were very tall, about 2.5 to 3 meters in height. Terrified the witness ran and hid inside of the combine's cabin, but some force pulled him out of the cabin and dragged him towards the alien craft. He attempted to resist by crawling away and managed to squat behind a tree where he lit a cigarette in order to relax, but there was a sudden flash of light and he lost consciousness. He regained consciousness in a remote unfamiliar forested area, it was already dawn. The tall entities were there, he could now see that they were dressed in tight-fitting gray-bluish suits, they were accompanied by some humans who were carrying sacks and collecting berries, plants, etc from the glades. In total he was held in the strange location for about 5 days. He reported terrible scenes at the location, he saw heaps of dead men, & children with curly red hair (!) and what appeared to be corpses freshly dug up from graves, which the aliens seemed to be experimenting with. He also saw what appeared to be, apparently human females wearing kerchiefs wrapped tightly around their heads and covering their faces. These were performing different tasks apparently under the command of the tall aliens, moving about in a typical zombie-like manner. Some of the tall aliens carried with them what appeared to be triangular-shaped communications devices with antennas, resembling portable radios. At times the tall aliens would insert "something" in their mouths and disappeared instantly, apparently teleporting to another location. There were also other types of aliens present, shorter in height, wearing dark bluish coats and cowls over their heads; these seemed to be operating some type of devices resembling silver netting. The whole area was very remote and there were burned trees all around, and in area resembling mire or bog there was a mucus-slimy and very odorous substance that covered the ground completely. (The witness boots carried the horrid smell for days afterwards). In some places the aliens had placed metal plates on the ground so the people could walk on them. But the witnesses constantly fell to the ground. For some reason the alien's mind control did not properly work on the witness and he was constantly disobeying orders (did his deafness have something to do with this?) and commands by his abductors, which first threatened him but then left him alone. Soon he managed to escape the area during a heavy downpour and wandered around until he found himself near the area of the Lobik railway station, exhausted and confused. According to the sources the aliens apparently have temporary surface bases deep in the dense forests and bogs of the Sverdlovsk region, and used abducted human "zombies" that perform different tasks. The area in question is located 15-20 kilometers southwest of the town of Serov in a huge marshy territory amid the dense forests near the Bolshaya Katasma River.

Elena held tightly to her daughters, beseeching God to help them. Next there appeared to have been a memory lapse and soon they found themselves standing in a forest meadow near some dense bushes. There was water nearby. They rushed to the water and began washing. Then a new memory lapsed ensued. They then appeared at a new glade, unlike the previous one, this one was very large. They soon noticed several groups of common looking terrestrial people standing in the field. Elena and her daughters stood within one of the groups. The aliens then led the group via a ladder to somewhere underground and requested that the humans wash themselves. There was an underground river, which the humans used to wash. An alien wearing a shiny coverall was distributing towels or rags. The witnesses had the distinct feeling that the aliens were controlling their every move. After that they ascended back to the glade and sat there for a long time, apparently waiting for something. Elena noticed another ladder on the glade with broad steps that led underground. Her daughter Galya suddenly appeared within a group of people that were standing afar (as if teleported). A stream of water suddenly appeared out of nowhere and began flowing below the group. Elena then rushed to help her daughter. She does not remember what occurred next. All four witnesses appeared back in their rooms in the morning, awaking at 0700A.

Tourist guide Viktor Sikilinda was sleeping in his tent when he suddenly heard a buzzing-like sound "ta-ta-ta-ta". He awoke, opened the tent and saw a hovering globe-shaped object floating over the small wooded pyramid that he and the other members of his group had built the night before. The globe was lighted from within and inside Viktor clearly saw the figure of a huge "man" about 3 meters in height. The man was also emitting light. The strange figure was seated on a throne-like armchair and his face was covered with a heavy growth of beard, long and thick and a dense moustache, he appeared to be about 50-55 years of age. Viktor noticed that everything inside the globe appeared to be in motion and sparkling as if subjected to a powerful wind. The man's beard and hair was constantly moving as if waving in the wind. The bearded man stared at Viktor with a severe expression with a firm and solid glance somehow displaying a powerful force. But Viktor did not feel threatened and could only stare back in wonder and thought to himself, "Only Gods can stare in such manner". After fixedly studying the witness for several seconds, both the man and the spherical UFO suddenly disappeared in plain sight. Stunned by what he saw Viktor remained sitting at his position for several minutes. He finally composed himself and returned to the tent and went to sleep. The rest of the men in the camp were in a deep sleep and apparently saw nothing. But one girl approached Viktor after breakfast and asked him, "Vitya, who was that adult man that was flying and hovering last night over the wooded pyramid?" Viktor was stunned by her question and then clearly remembered what had transpired during the night. Apparently the young girl had gone to the toilet around the same time and had also seen the spherical UFO and its occupant. Colonel A Smirnov, a Soviet military pilot, suddenly felt a push and awakened. He got up and approached the window on his 5th floor apartment. Looking out he saw a "strange machine" below him, described as very shiny and resembling a satellite. Suddenly a hatch opened on the side of the craft and some kind of device descended to the ground softly. Then a human like entity appeared on a ladder, dressed in a silver suit. The Colonel then heard a voice inside his head: "Do not be afraid, we will not bring you harm". The alien did not open his mouth; he just stared at the witness, who then heard: "And now come with us." In a second, the Colonel was inside the alien ship. Inside, the craft was lighted a bluish color, he looked around attracted to numerous shiny instruments of an unknown origin to him. Two more entities in silver suits were seating near a control panel. He then felt a slight vibration and again heard words in his head: "Look down---is your Earth." He looked at a screen and saw a city with lights, forests and mountains and then darkness---space. At this point he realized he was far from earth and became afraid. It then became cold and uncomfortable. The aliens tried to calm him, assuring him that everything will be OK. Soon they appeared in a large round hall full of bright light. Many "people" in silver suits were there. After that he found himself alone in a semi-dark room. He heard a familiar voice say: "Stay there, you need time for adaptation". Soon he was dressed in a silver suit too and a hoop consisting of an unknown material was placed around his head. He understood that it was some kind of computer device, which had comparison to anything on earth. Amazed, he was guided outside into apparently an alien environment or planet, the land felt slightly elastic (resilient) he could walk easily and freely (apparently there was a low gravitational field). They stopped near an absolutely white building without windows, shaped like half of a football. A strange machine hovered nearby, resembling a car without wheels. He was invited, telepathically, to seat in the "car". After flying for about 500 meters they stopped. He saw several globe-shaped buildings around him. The earth had no signs of flora and there was a bright sun shining overhead, but it was not blinding. He was overwhelmed by hundreds of questions but dared not to ask his hosts. He was told to ask what he wanted to. Upon asking the name of their planet, he was told that it was called "Gomul" and its location was even more cryptic, he was told that it was covered by the "shadow of earth". He assumed that it was some type of artificial satellite or station. After that he was told things about the aliens themselves. It seemed that the children were "grown" or raised separately from their parents up to a certain age and brought up in special installations. The climate on "Gomul" was mild; he saw no water on the surface. He was told that the silver suits regulated the supply of oxygen and climatic conditions. He felt the aliens did not hide anything from him. Upon leaving the "planet" he was made to promise not to tell of his encounter until 10 years later. He apparently kept his promise. The next morning when he went out to walk his dog, the animal sensed something wrong. Her hair stood up and she started growling when she approached the place where the alien spacecraft had landed. And for a long time after that she avoided the place altogether. During the next 5 years Smimov awakened every morning at 0420A for some unknown reason and approached the window to look outside.

They began talking to the witness but he could recall the contents of the conversation. His interlocutors resembled huge inflated rubber dolls. They had fat non-flexible arms without palms and fingers that were rounded at the tips. The legs were the same. Their heads were like smooth balls, lacking noses, earls and lips. They had large round bulging eyes without eyelashes. After they finished talking, Mr. Khanevich again appeared inside the column of light and started falling downwards like a stone. His speed slowed and then the column of light disappeared. He soon realized that he was seating in his flat in front of the television.

A group of four tourists were hiking in the remotely populated area in East Kazakhstan not far from the Chinese border. The group included, Alexander Shamov, Oleg Zadorozhnyi, Valeriy Pavlovich Abramov and their leader Vladimir Shepelev. They camped out and had gone to sleep and after sleeping for no more than 30-40 minutes, Alexander suddenly was awakened by something that frightened him. He opened his eyes and saw the moon and clouds in the sky, but suddenly shone into his eyes. At first he thought it was the moon, but he turned around and saw the real moon in the same position as before. He looked back and saw "the second moon" descending lower and approaching their small camp. He then thought that it could be a helicopter shining a powerful beam of light, but it was soundless. The object then landed on the slope of a nearby hill and Shamov could see that it was shaped like a children's top, its top and bottom separated by horizontal plates. Stunned, Shamov slowly approached the object. Soon he noticed movement near the object as if someone was walking around it. He fell prone and then crawled forward towards the object, carefully propped up on his elbows. Suddenly a violet beam of light flashed from the object. The beam rushed forward scanning the ground and approaching the witness, gliding over stones and a small stream. As Alexander attempted to shout and warn his friends the scanning beam of light enveloped his arms, which became matt white for a brief moment. At the same moment a powerful enveloping force seized him and he had the sensation of submerging into a liquid with a strong gravitational pull. He had difficulty in breathing, and he felt some strong pressure on his chest. He saw circles floating in front of his eyes and blacked out. After an unknown length of time he woke up but found that it was now easier to breath. He still felt confuse. He opened his eyes and found himself in a room approximately 15 x 15 meters in diameter. There were no corners, the ceiling was a huge arc and the walls were matt white in color. Several humanoid entities then appeared. They were short in height, lacked mouths and noses (apparently wearing protective suits). Alexander felt that there was something "unnatural" about the entities or more exactly they seemed somehow "lifeless", he thought that they resembled mannequins or dolls that "somebody" had created. Their eyes were immovable, resembling those of fish, and placed approximately like those of humans but significantly higher. They had light colored faces but the rest of their bodies were lilac-brown in color. The witness did not seem to notice from where the humanoids had come from, they had suddenly appeared. There were 6-7 of these entities. The "dolls" quickly approached him and one of them touched Alexander. Their hands resembled mittens. Most likely the entities were dressed in spacesuits resembling diving suits. As soon as the entities began touching him, Alexander began floating in midair and simultaneously rotating in different positions. At this point Alexander noticed that the entities had no feet on their legs, which seemed to "broaden" towards the bottom. The aliens examined Alexander thoroughly, taken their time as they did. The examination lasted about 10 minutes. The witness felt restrained fear as he watched his abductors. One of the entities was carrying some type of device in his hand, which he placed against Alexander's head. This caused Alexander to tense up and attempt to push the device away. But his movements despite his efforts became languid, & limp. His reaction seemed to irritate the aliens who then grabbed Alexander by his arms and legs. Suddenly all aliens turned their heads to one direction, one still held Alexander's head. However Alexander was able to see the motive of their sudden attention, it was another humanoid, this one much taller, about 2 meters in height. He stood about 10-12 meters away. This entity was hairless, and the witness could not remember if it had ears and it had two holes for a nose. He lacked a mouth, no neck and had sloping shoulders. His arms and hands were similar to humans. As this new entity approached, the witness noted that it moved like an ordinary human. The alien's face was light-colored, similar to the short "dolls". The rest of his body was silver in color. Suddenly Alexander heard a loud whistling sound reminding him of an alarm. As if obeying an unheard command the small aliens left the witness alone and ran towards the wall located behind the tall entity. There was a rectangular shaped opening located there. Suddenly Alexander began floating in midair, traveling towards the opposite side. He passed the room and then went through a round hatch or opening and found himself floating under the night sky. He continued flying through the air. He stretched his hands to the sides and seemed to touch invisible smooth walls that felt like "notebook" paper. He tried to hit the invisible wall with his fist my met strong resistance causing his fingers to hurt. He continued to float or fly within the invisible antigravity globe. He then saw rocks and the river below him and suddenly he fell to earth quite rigidly. He looked around and saw his pick axe lying among some rocks; he picked it up, stood up and was able to now move around freely. He looked up and saw a glow in the sky in the direction where the top-shaped craft had been. From the southern section of the sky a new object appeared which resembled an elongated dirigible that was quickly approaching. Apparently this new object was disc-shaped seen from its side with narrowing edges. From one side its contour appeared to be dissolved and had what appeared to be a gaping opening. The disc was silver in color but appeared to change colors as it moved. Its flight direction suddenly changed to a sharp angle without decreasing speed. The second object (original top-shaped craft) seemed to "tremble" ascend soundlessly for several meters and fly in a circle of about 40 meters in diameter. It its circular movement the top-shaped craft was quickly gaining altitude. Alexander followed its movements closely as it flew over him. As Alexander watched the object holding his axe on his hand something like a bolt of lightning was directed towards the witness and hit his axe, flinging it from his hands, it fell among some nearby rocks. A wave of electricity shot through Alexander's body. He did not loose consciousness but closed his eyes and tensed his muscles. He took a deep breath and managed to relax, once he opened his eyes both objects were gone. There was only silence and the sounds of the nearby stream. His axe was later found apparently cut in half by some type of laser weapon.

The witness, N. Zhdanov and his wife awoke at night from a bright blue blinking light emanating from somewhere over them. Mr. Zhdanov supposed that it was extraterrestrials (!) and volunteered to meet them notwithstanding his wife's objections, which was preventing him from going outdoors. Suddenly something strange happened, his wife ran to the bed fell on it face down and immediately fell asleep. The witness then felt some pressure and ringing in his ears and the hairs on his body stood up as if charged with static electricity. And then feeling nauseous he sat on the edge of the bed, he also had a headache. He then lay on the bed and apparently lost consciousness. Next he suddenly awoke and had been obviously transported to an unfamiliar location. He noticed a cubic-shaped object that was standing on a platform apparently made out of brown plastic, about 2 meters high, with a doorway but without a door or windows. Several men stood inside the cube on what appeared to be a stool, nearby them was a table on another stool. Using hand signals the men invited Zhdanov to come in and sit with them. The witness attempted to move the stool but it seemed connected to the stool. Zhdanov then pinched himself and realized that he was not dreaming. The men looked human, a little older than the witness and asked Zhdanov in the pure Russian language, "Should we explain to you who we are?" The witness nodded positively and then the alien men continued, "Do you want to travel with us to a distance of (unspecified) light years?" The witness did not correctly hear the number of light years and asked them to transform the figure into a more convenient one. They answered that after the total amount of travel time, he would have aged a total of five years upon returning to Earth. The witness refused the invitation and then one of the alien men who had been busily writing on a "notepad" looked up at him and asked "Why?" The witness explained that he was in the process of building a house that had taken many years to obtain a building permit and since he was not a member of the CPSU (Communist Party) it would be very awkward if he suddenly disappears. Then his interlocutor said that he understood everything, that he was not going to be taken by force and added that the witness would not have problems with money or the construction of the house. Before saying goodbye the alien said that if the witness would someday change his mind, he will just have to think about it for a moment and it would be done (?). He was also advised not to tell anyone about his encounter. The witness also saw two "robots" inside the cube. One of them was studying the witness, measuring something on his right hand. On his left hand the robot had something like a portable computer (laptop in 1990!) and was apparently downloading data into it, since numerous lights were blinking on it, the witness could see luminous blue and orange figures on the screen of the computer, but he could not see the device or screen properly, since he did not have his reading glasses with him. The witness also several memory lapses during the incident and did not act like a "normal person". He later woke up lying on the floor; he then cheerfully jumped up and hurried into the street. It was raining and he then saw a blue light about a 1 km away flying towards the town of Tuapse. Then the light vanished, but he could not sleep for the rest of the night. In the morning he went to a nearby park and saw a large broken mulberry tree apparently caused by a powerful force. He later found a 4cm long burn on his hand, shaped like a crescent. The burn caused him pain for a long time. Soon his financial problems were settled (just like the aliens had predicted) and in the summer of 1991 the witness was saved from a car accident by some unknown force that suddenly stopped the engine of his "UAZ-469" vehicle several hundred meters from the location where several other vehicles had collided causing numerous casualties.

As Vladimir Vasilchenko sat in the living room watching television and reading a newspaper the TV screen suddenly began to emit cracking noises and the screen was covered by luminous strips. He attempted to adjust the set but was unable to. Suddenly his dog arose from the carpet and began howling and whimpering, the dog then ran and hid under the sofa. At this point he heard a weak hum from an unknown source and he approached the window. The sound increased in volume as he approached the window. As he looked out the window he saw two beams of light descending from the sky into the nearby vegetable garden. The garden was located near his summer kitchen. At this point Vladimir heard a loud voice in his head that commanded him to go out by the kitchen to the vegetable garden. As he walked outside, the dog remained whimpering under the sofa. As he approached the garden he saw two female figures completely illuminated by the beams of light that descended from the sky. The two women wore gray tight-fighting suits. They had what appeared to have extraordinary large mouths, resembling slots and their heads were covered by large round helmets, one of the women had a large opened triangular visor, which partially concealed her darkened face. The other woman had a semicircular visor, which almost covered her eyes. Vladimir watched an extraordinary scene, the lady in the triangular helmet appeared to be an "assistant' the other one who seemed to be the lead "surgeon". Present was a third "person" or figure, which the stunned Vladimir described as a naked and very old appearing man, with wrinkled face and features...more incredibly the head and neck were connected to a most improbable body, very unlike a normal person. The head of the "old man" appeared to be connected to an amorphous mass that appeared to be constantly trembling. It appeared to be a quivering mass of flesh, and the face had an expression of sheer horror, the lips were completely shut and this figure did not emit a sound. The whole time the two women conducted some mysterious manipulations, both inclined over the strange armless and legless figure, which lay before them on what appeared to be a board, which floated in the air. During the whole time the two women appear to "operate" on the body it shook continuously, at one point vibrating at a very high pace. At this point what appeared to be arm and leg like appendages grew out of the amorphous trunk. The leg and arms suddenly disappeared and were converted into what appeared to be shapeless "sausages" which seemed to pulled themselves into the main body trunk, the trunk seem to swell up at this point. The two female humanoids appeared to be feverishly working on their task almost completely ignoring the witness, who thought that they had somehow completed the "head" but were having trouble creating the "body". The witness in attempt to communicate with the women attempted to ask telepathically what was their purpose. Still being ignored, the witness noticed that the two ladies appeared to be using three "tools". The lady with the round visor was using a metallic implement that appeared to have a round "sucker" at the tip. With her left hand and using incredible speed her fingers moved upward and downward as if typing on an invisible typewriter. The "assistant" rarely helped the "surgeon", but at one point it took out an object hat had what appeared to have a white hook at the end and hooked it on the body, this caused the body to temporarily grow arms and legs. The third tool appeared on the hands of the "surgeon" out of thin air. Vladimir could hardly the describe it. It was something small and metallic, covered with small angular tube-like protrusions. The witness had never seen any medical instruments resembling the ones used by the strangers. After 20 minutes Vladimir asked out loud, who they were. The assistant turned her head and looked at him from under the triangular visor. She then pronounced a word without moving her lips, the voice sounded directly inside Vladimir's head, "Be silent, you are interfering with our work!" After a long silence, the "assistant" spoke to Vladimir and pointed to an infested "boil" that Vladimir had on his hand, she told him to approach. He approached and the assistant stretched her hand covering the infected area. Using the hook like instrument she pinched the infected area and inserted it under the skin. She then told Vladimir to step back and to not speak a word. After two hours (!) Vladimir expressed a desire to smoke and the "assistant" nodded to him that he could. He returned to the house. After having a few smokes he returned to the garden but the women and the "body" had by then disappeared. However the area appeared to be still illuminated by bright beams of light from the sky. After returning to the house Vladimir realized that the infected boil had by now completely healed

The dog started to howl and Bob snapped out of the semi trance like state into which he appeared to have fallen. Very scared, he tried to slam the shed door to prevent the creature from getting out, but there was a "puff of smoke or vapor" and a "bad smell of old eggs" and the creature simply disappeared into thin air. Rushing into the house both master and dog were violently sick and the next day both them were still suffering from nausea. The dog never went to the shed again.

40-year old Tamara Myzina was going to bed alone in her mother's apartment (her mother was staying with relatives in Russia). Tamara could not sleep and walked to the verandah and stood near an opened window and began thinking about "the possibility of the many inhabited worlds in the Universe". Looking at the night sky, Tamara thought "It would be great, if by some miracle I could fly through the sky and see any UFO, they write about UFOs in newspapers and many "lucky" people have witnessed them, I have never seen one myself." With that idea in her mind Tamara went to bed around midnight. She switched on the air conditioner and went to sleep. Her sleep was deep without dreams. Suddenly late at night, screams from the street outside awakened her. Two teenagers were yelling and screaming, "A UFO! A UFO!" Amazed Tamara thought why young boys would be out so late at night in the street. But finally she realized that this was her opportunity to see a UFO. But suddenly she saw two persons standing in her bedroom, a man and a woman. The man stood near the head of her bed, and the woman sat on an armchair near the bed. They were dressed in dark suits, resembling those of tight-fitting uniforms wore by skaters. Both were more than 2 meters in height. Myzina noticed that both "aliens" had abnormally long necks, with strange heads, shaped like vertical cucumbers. The witness became terribly afraid, attempting to hide in her bed, thinking at first that the intruders were thieves (!). Moments later a powerful beam of light, which blinded her entered the bedroom through the verandahs opened door. Then Myzina heard a female saying "We are extraterrestrials. Do you want to initiate contact with us?" "Yes" answered Myzina in a frightened whisper. She added that she greeted them on earth. What happened next Myzina could only remember vaguely. She was moved out of the apartment floating horizontally out the verandah doors. She felt as she was lying on a large wide stretcher. Once in her yard a broad beam of light encased her, descending in an angle from the sky. Suddenly she began ascending to the sky, flying upwards and diagonally. Soon she appeared inside a small room onboard an alien spacecraft. The room was very dark, only dimly lit. The room was oval-shaped. There was a large oval-shaped window that stretched horizontally across the wall. She could see shimmering stars outside the window. Vaguely, as if through a haze she saw a male alien sitting near the window, like a pilot. He was facing out; his back turned towards the witness. In front of him was something like a console with buttons. To the right of the witness stood an alien woman, which stared fixedly at Tamara, several minutes later one of the stars outside the window suddenly became bright red and began increasing in size, simultaneously stretching into a long horizontal red line. Then it vanished. Then a circular spacecraft, donut in shape (hole in the middle) appeared at the window. The craft had round porthole like windows and was giving off a bright light and increased in size by the second. Myzina then understood that she was in a small craft, which was approaching a larger mothership. At this moment the aliens present in the room with Tamara began speaking among themselves in an unknown language. Their speech according to Tamara resembled the squeak of a mouse. After this there occurred a memory gap and then Tamara came to her senses lying on the floor in a very spacious oval-shaped hall. She could only remember what followed vaguely. She saw three rows of armchairs above her. Alien men were sitting on the chairs and Tamara was on a table or bed in the middle of the room. A very tall alien man, resembling a man of 50-years of age was standing in the "arena". A second "giant" younger humanoid also stood in the arena, standing very close to the other older alien. Tamar felt a force, which made her body rise up into the air. Something like a desk was propped up against her shoulder blades and buttocks. Tamara then froze in a declined positioned, her heels touching the floor, her body floating in the air at a sharp angle. One of the two aliens standing in the arena in a resounding sonorous baritone voice, "We are worried by the fact that you on Earth increase your arsenals of combat weapons and missiles, are not you afraid of that? Don't you understand that you are preparing for a collective suicide?" Before answering, Tamara smiled, with joy in her voice Tamara assured the aliens that the situation on Earth had recently changed; she reminded the aliens that the Earth was in the process of reducing the lethal nuclear armaments. The alien man then interrupted her speech with distrustful remarks from time to time, asking her to be more specific on the supposed changes. Tamara felt that she was not believed. She attempted to convince the alien but suddenly lost consciousness. She woke up around 0830A lying on her bed in her mother's apartment. She felt disgusted (?) dressed and went to her job. All the muscles and bones in her body were aching. Her pain disappeared in 3 days.

19-year old Sergey Kupaev was lying on his bed listening to music on a tape recorder when suddenly the light in the ceiling died out, and the tape recorder shut off on its own accord. Thinking that the fuses had blown out Sergey got up from be when suddenly he remained frozen in one spot and the room around him vanished. Instead of the familiar surroundings he saw strange unknown walls. He was standing in the center of a spacious hall. The floor of the resembled that of a chess set, separated into large squares, white and dark gray in color. The squares emitted a faint phosphorescent lighting. The same faint diffused light emanated from the walls. Kupaev could see a long narrow table, covered with numerous buttons. Three figures were visible behind the table, each one more than 2 meters in height. All three wore absolutely black overalls, like those of a diver. But the most remarkable feature was that their heads were somehow covered in a smoky oval-shaped haze, totally obscuring their features that belched above their shoulders. The oval shaped smoky area had distinctly outlined edges. Suddenly Sergey heard a loud voice directly inside his head. Upon hearing the voice, Kupaev became frightened. The voice slowly and persistently repeated words inside his head creating a loud humming sound. The voice roared like an air-horn pipe, "Come with us!" "To where!" answered Sergey in confusion. The voice then said that he would go to a "good place". Upon asking why, he was told that it was necessary, and in his interest, Sergey reiterated that he was afraid, and was told that he had nothing to fear. "Would you agree to go with us?" asked the voice again. He stood in confusion in the middle of the hall not knowing what to do, as the voice repeated its request for Sergey to "fly with them". Finally making a final decision, Sergey said that he did not want to go. However the stentorian voice insisted, "We demand that you go!" Sergey screamed, "I Don't want to go!" "I want to go home". Suddenly a blind flash blinded the young man. He quietly gasped, covering his face with his hands and blacked out. He then found himself sitting at the edge of his bed. The tape recorder was turning and the music playing, the light on the ceiling was on. For two days after the encounter Sergey experienced terrible headaches. A week later the same unbelievably loud voice, as if speaking into a megaphone awoke Sergey from a deep sleep. Seized with fear he tightly closed his eyes. The voice, like a loud bell, said, "This is us again, let's fly with us". Sergey remained silent daring not to answer. The voice insisted, that he would be missing his "greatest adventure". "We will return for you" said the voice in a threatening intonation and faded out. Sergey awoke in the morning with a terrific headache.
In 2 weeks a 3rd contact occurred. In the middle of the night a strong alien force literally threw Sergey out of his bed and pushed him towards the window. A saucer-shaped object hovered behind the window, shaped like a thick convex lens with narrow ends. A halo was visible around it; a color that Sergey insisted was "brown" in color. The familiar voice now roared, "Come with us immediately!" Sergey strongly refused and was asked if it was his final decision. He said yes, the voice finally agreed but reminded Sergey that maybe some day they would come and taken him regardless of his decision. The invisible force then pushed Sergey away from the window. In jerky steps Kupaev walked back to his bed, stretched himself on the bed and lost consciousness.

An elderly local woman, Anna Dmitrievna Yerygina was taking her goats to pasture at a new location and was walking them on a lonely road when suddenly a strange woman stepped from somewhere to the right of the road. She seemed to be about 50year of age, but very young in appearance. She was dressed in a light-gray loose fitting overall that covered her all the way down to her heels, she had long sleeves, she wore something on her head resembling a cap, that covered the top of her head completely. The strange woman was thin, tall, with normal human facial features. She approached Anna and greeted her, Anna responded in kind and the strange woman than asked her if her goat milk was tasty. She said yes, but frankly liked cow milk much better. The stranger was silent for a moment and then invited Anna to go with her, to a location that wasn't was. She added that the trip would only take 2-3 hours, and that she would return back safely. Hearing the strange proposition, Anna frightened and at first refused, thinking about her family and her sick husband, she also worried about the goats, since they could not be left alone. The strange woman then put her hand on Anna's shoulder and a strange calm came over her. "Don't be afraid" said the woman. She told Anna that the goats will be fine and would remain on the track. Anna then silently followed the stranger. She had a strange feeling that the woman wanted to taker her "forever" not for a short trip, like she had stated. She also wonder why they "needed" her, together with the strange woman, Anna approached an object, oval in shape that had suddenly appeared on the meadow. It was not there before; it had suddenly materialized there. A man stood near the object and invited Anna onboard. A door opened on the object, resembling two leaf folds. Anna entered the object and saw several seats inside. She sat on one of them, and the alien woman on the other. She could now hear a humming sound and Anna saw the man sitting on what appeared to be a control console. It was neither dark nor light inside, but some kind of middle state. The walls were matt, apparently made out of non-transparent glass. Her next memory was of appearing in a strange location, and understood right away that it was a foreign world. Anna accompanied by the woman in loose fitting overalls remembered walking on something "soft". Soon she found herself fin a room with several other people inside. One of them stood by the wall, like a guard, and the others sat around a large oval-shaped table. Someone had dressed Anna in the same type of loose fitting coverall that the woman wore. She then heard a loud male voice, "Do you feel good here?" She agreed, and said that it was like "heaven". She felt very cheerful and her mood was excellent (mind control?). One of the men sitting on the oval table then said, "How is your life on Earth?" Anna answered that it wasn't bad, but had not much joy. One of the aliens suddenly interrupted her and told her that they knew everything about her and told her not to be afraid that many humans had visited them. Then she was treated to something resembling bread on a porcelain plate and a drinking bowl with a wooded spoon protruding from it. Anna tasted the dish twice and drank the pink-colored liquid. It was all very tasty. She later recalled that the aliens emanated "spiritual warmth". The woman accompanied her everywhere. Except for the woman, no one else in the room approached her. After she ate her memory became blank and found herself standing in the same meadow where she had been originally taken from. The woman in the white loose fitting overall stood nearby smiling. She told Anna that she wishes her well and that they would meet again.

Several days later Anna went outdoors to her yard as her husband stood on the porch smoking. Suddenly he heard his wife's voice speaking to somebody, but he could not hear the other voice. According to Anna, she suddenly heard from behind her "So we meet again", she turned around and saw the same strange woman, however this time wearing a tight-fitting overall and a helmet on her head. She invited Anna to come in a journey with her, adding that this time it would take 3 days. She was told that she had been to their planet on the previous encounter. The woman reiterated her invitation.

However, Anna refused the invitation. At this point the alien woman smiled and asked for a glass of water. While Anna was pouring the water in the mug, the strange woman disappeared in plain sight.

The legs on the giant were huge and very thick and the arms were slightly pressed against its body. The alien was waddling heavy from side to side, making the same clanking noises that had originally attracted Anna to the window. The alien clothing resembled that of a deep sea diver which tightly fit around its whole body. On the head, the alien wore a kind of cap, completely apart from the suit. The humanoid was holding a strange rectangular-shaped object in his right hand, shaped like a book and more than 50cm in size, which emitted light. The humanoid kept this object near his right eye. It remains unclear what it was but it was possibly some kind of scanner. The alien walked by the house in a parallel course taking huge steps and gradually disappeared from sight. Not wanting to loose sight of the humanoid Anna walked to another window, but despite her attempts to see the alien creature again it had by now completely disappeared from sight into the darkness. The incident occurred at a local typical guest house, standard three room apartment located in a five story pre-fabricated building. A vacationing couple, 38-year old Vladimir Goloveshko and his wife Tatiana were staying with a local anonymous family. It was a stormy night as the mistress of the house slept by near an open window attempting to fall sleep. Suddenly she heard light steps in the room and immediately opened her eyes and sees a very short man-like figure only about 1 meter in height. Strangely the original witness did not feel any fear, only strong curiosity and astonishment. The figure seemed to be illuminated by a weak grayish-green light. It had a pale green face, flat, and inhuman. The head was shaped similar to a pear, and instead of pupils in the eyes, it had deep black holes. She focused on the facial features of the strange creature noticing that it lacked eyebrows and instead had what appeared to be skin folds which hung down from its face; it appeared not to have a neck. Suddenly a kind of torpor enveloped the witness; she could not move or speak. She was able to momentarily close her eyes and after she opened them she saw a second creature, standing next to the first one. The second figure was shorter and thinly built. According to the witness the figures resembled "gnomes". Suddenly both figures floated away from her bed at high speed and she heard a sound similar to an explosion at the same time from the open window a bluish luminous tennis ball-size sphere entered the room, it left a luminous trail behind it, it seemed to hiss and crackle. That same night the second witness Tatiana Goloveshka laid on her bed unable to sleep because of the oppressive heat, her husband had momentarily left the room to smoke a cigarette. Suddenly outside the open window she spotted two dwarfish looking greenish figures, she pinched herself thinking she was dreaming but she clearly saw the two short neck-less figures, which seemed to be floating outside. At this moment her husband, Vladimir returned to the room and crawled into the bed and immediately one of the creatures rose into the air and floated into the room through the open window. She attempted to scream in fear but was unable to utter a sound, her entire body became paralyzed, and her eyes began to tear apparently involuntarily. Suddenly there was a loud explosion and through the window entered a small blue glowing sphere, at the same time that she heard the explosion both strange figures disappeared. Apparently her husband did not see the creatures but saw the bluish sphere and heard the explosion.

Mrs. Larissa Chora was sleeping in the balcony when was suddenly awakened by a strong inner impulse. She stood up and looked out to see an alien face about 1.2 to 1.5 meters away from her. The face was about 70x70 cm in dimensions, round and dark green-brownish in color. The alien had elongated eyes, no nose, only 2 small openings, and a slit-like mouth, slightly closed. She felt no fear. She then received a telepathic message, "Don't be afraid, nobody is going to hurt you". The voice inside her head was of a male, with a metallic tone to it. The witness thought back, " I am not afraid, but I will like to touch you, I am curious". She received the following reply, "No go to sleep, everything will be ok". She insisted and was told that she will be able to in due time. She was paralyzed and could not move. This lasted for 20 to 25 minutes. After that she went back to sleep.

The witness had stepped out of his house and noticed that his dog had broken the chain that he was tied up to. Looking up he noticed a powerful beam of white light in the sky and a small red light moving underneath it. The white beam of light moved around erratically as if searching for something. The witness signaled the beam of light with a flashlight several times and it apparently answered him by shining on the highway in front of him. The witness became frightened and hid behind a light pole. The white beam of light then approached and struck the witness on his leg. He then ran to a nearby house but it was deserted, he then ran back to the road and the object was now hovering lower and a red light and a ladder were now visible. On the ladder stood a humanoid figure, but no details could be seen because of the glare of a nearby streetlight. The being then re-entered the object, which was described as cigar-shaped. The ladder was drawn up and the red light was extinguished. The object then left the area.

George Vernon, who 5 years before had suffered a near fatal car accident and soon received "divine inspiration" that enabled him to invent a mystical esoteric game, heard a mental voice that apparently was able to control his movements. Under its control he drove to a remote farm area and in a state of apparent altered consciousness he observed a hovering triangular shaped craft, and standing on the ground nearby a 2-meter tall figure dressed in black. Using telepathic means of communication the being instructed Vernon to place in the middle of several nearby crop-circles, six pieces from his esoteric game, some rocks and a wooded cross. Late at night Roma said he saw the landing of a hat-shaped object nearby. Zhenya looked out the window and noticed a humanoid figure that appeared to be materializing at about 10 meters from some nearby pine trees. The figure was of general human height, it had large eyes and something like a mouth or nose was visible below the eyes. The boy became frightened, while the other boys hid behind the windows, all becoming very frightened. After going back to their beds the boys yelled out, "UFO!" and saw an object departing at high speed. They described the object as disc-shaped, and very large. Meanwhile, Zhenya's fear had disappeared and he had gone outside, he returned only about 30 minutes later, while the other boys stared attentively out the window. Again they saw an object on the ground at about 50 meters from them, the object was bright green in color. A humanoid entity about 2meters in height, was standing in front of the object. The alien was black in color, with something on his head resembling a bucket. In the morning the objects visited the place of the landings and found crushed tree branches and matted grass, the air was a smell like ash in the air, and tops of several pine trees had been damaged.

A 52-year old female local resident named A.K. was sleeping in her balcony on a hot August night when she suddenly awoke with a strange feeling. Next she had a memory gap and then woke up standing on a meadow in an unknown and apparently distant location, it had been after midnight in Mahachkala but it was evening at this location. She saw two other women and a girl, about 8-9 years of age, dressed in strange suits made out of a thin material. Their skin had a strange yellowish tint but their faces emitted a sense of kindness and joy. "Where I am?" asked the witness. "You are the guest of extraterrestrials!" Said one of the women in perfect Russian, the witness then looked around and noticed that the grass was yellowish green in color and the air clean and fresh. There were several large stones nearby with glassy surfaces. The sun appeared to be 2-3 times larger than the "normal" Earth Sun. At this point the witness understood that she had been somehow transported to another planet. She could see another group of about 40 persons standing in the distance. The alien girl approached the witness took her by the hand and told her not to be afraid that she was going to show her something now. She walked A.K. to a giant screen that displayed the image of a man, standing up. The witness thought that the video screen appeared to be made out of some gassy substance. Unexpectedly the man on the screen suddenly blinked. The small girl then told her, "Don't be surprised, there are miracles everywhere". The image on the giant screen then disappeared. The girl then released the witness hand and joined the group of aliens that were standing nearby; the group then all raised their arms up into the air and vanished in plain sight. After seeing this, the witness became agitated, but the girl again told her not to be surprised at anything. The two other alien females then came closer. And again the witness looked in the direction of the group of about 40 people standing in the distance. All of them appeared to be smiling and looking in her direction. What appeared to be living quarters were visible nearby. They had white colored walls, apparently made out of a soft material, resembling small 'Finnish' cottages. As if reading her mind the alien women then took the witness to one of the small cottages. While approaching the cottage a tall swarthy man in black clothing appeared nearby. His face was expressing unhidden spite towards the witness, He said, "I have warned you. Why have you brought her here? Take her back". He told the women accompanying the witness. The women seemed to ignore the stranger in black and kept their composure, still smiling broadly. Soon the man went away. "Don't pay any attention to him" said one of the women. "And who is he?" asked the witness. In an indifferent answer, they told the witness that the man was their leader. Apparently the leader had protested to the abduction of A.K. because of her age, apparently they only abducted young and healthy earthlings (!). A.K. then asked the alien women to help her in getting rid of her excessive weight. That request apparently made the alien women laugh and answered that plumpness suited her and added, "You are kind. That is why we brought you as our guest". On her request to have a drink the aliens brought her a ceramic glass filled with a liquid resembling starchy jelly. A.K. spent some more time in the company of the alien women and the girl; she was taken to another location but does not remember that location clearly. Before saying goodbye, A.K. asked her new friends, "Please, come back again. I will be waiting for you". After a final farewell, A.K. experienced another memory lapse and some time later found herself back on her bed in the balcony. It was dawn outside, and the time was about 0500A. Amazingly A.K. felt very well and all her illnesses had seemingly vanished.

Nikolay Ivanovich Pronoza a worker for the local underground metro (subway), was reading in bed (involved in two previous encounters), when he instinctively felt the aliens approaching. He turned his head towards the window and saw a disc-shaped object hovering very close to his house. At one of the windows of the hovering spacecraft he saw the now familiar Nordic appearing alien female. At this point he understood that the aliens had come for him. In front of his eyes the wall of his apartment seemed to dissolve and then a flat blue beam of light entered the room. The witness was then taken inside the spacecraft through this beam of light, and then the gap on the wall closed back up, returning to normal. When he came to his senses he found himself in a round hall or room. The floor was concaved, like a deep saucer. He saw several armchairs, small control panels and something like a large cauldron in the center. The hall was encircled by a row of windows. Nikolay thought that this room was a center of energy. The tall blond Nordic alien woman stood near one of the windows, she was more than 2 meters in height, with long loose shiny hair. She waves her palm in the air, without touching the control panel apparently activating the engine of the spacecraft, which then began to move. Nikolay could see what appeared to be sparks from beyond the windows. Minutes later the tall Nordic woman approached Nikolay and spread some kind of ointment on his lips, like lipstick taste, very unpleasant in taste. The sparks soon disappeared outside the window and the UFO stopped the doors then opened like an elevator---two halves moved to the opposites sides of the wall. Behind the opening Nikolay saw a small lobby and similar doors that appeared to dock into the UFO. By using gestures, the alien woman invited him to come to the next room, which was spacious, with a dome-shaped ceiling, a huge screen shaped half of the room, and everything appeared to be shiny, comfortable and "pure". Three humanoids were present in the room, 2 young ones and an elderly humanoid. Nikolay later understood that the aged humanoids differ from the young by their smoky-colored tint of their eyes and their ashen hair. The alien's eyes were without visible pupils. All the aliens had fine delicate hands and long thin fingers. The alien woman then explained to Nikolay that they were going to medically examine him, but that it would not cause any unpleasant feelings or consequences. Having said that she walked to the wall and took out a transparent sphere from a hollow on the wall, she then put this "cap" which had two small antennas on Nicola's head. Moments later the witness saw what appeared to be colored wavy lines on a screen that light up in front of his eyes, and the armchair on which he was sitting suddenly ascended up to the ceiling. He then apparently blacked out for a few moments and when he came too the alien woman was removing the cap from his head. He was later returned to his apartment by the same manner, through the dissolving wall at noon the next day. All the clocks in his apartment were 4 hours behind. Soon after returning to his apartment a friend came to visit complaining that it had taken longer than usual to arrive at his apartment, the bus had broken down, the subway had unexpectedly stopped and the elevator had refused to work.

The astounded man then found himself in a strange colored room. Next he was confronted by several humanoid entities in the room. The humanoids were human-like, very attractive looking, with beautiful features (possibly of the Nordic kind). The aliens communicated with the witness and invited him to drink some multicolored liquids, which were quite tasty, but very difficult to compare with any drink on Earth. The alien crew then gave the witness a tour of their ship, into the different compartments of the circular alien craft. The man walked along the corridors with strangely pressed bas-reliefs or pictures on the walls. Then they showed him what appeared to be a power plant, but before doing that they put a kind of spacesuit on him. Then they entered the main engine compartment (apparently the power source emitted dangerous emissions to humans). The stunned man saw lots of sophisticated equipment and then he was returned back to the Earth. Soon after the encounter the witness began research into what he called "magnetic liquid" which was what was used to power the UFO's engine. The aliens informed the witness among other facts, that they wanted to prevent the crash on the bridge of the Russian vessel on the river Volga back in the spring of 1990 and sent their saucer in order to prevent the collision. But the alien spacecraft also experienced "technical" problems and lost power, so another alien craft had to approach the first one and "transmit" power to the first one. But it was too late to prevent the tragic accident on the Volga. Amazingly, another resident of Astrakhan, a Mrs. Fadeeva confirmed the incident. She reported seeing two UFOs in the air before the incident with the ship and noticed the moment when something like "thunder bolts" jumped between both UFOs.

Local resident and subway worker Nikolay Ivanovich Pronoza (involved in previous encounters) was again abducted from his apartment by Nordic aliens and transported on board a disk-shaped spacecraft using a beam of light, the same way it was done previously. He found himself in a white circular room and sitting on a chair. The only alien present was the same Nordic blond alien woman he had met before. Soon the UFO landed and the alien woman invited the witness to come outside. They had landed in some mountainous area resembling the Carpathian Mountains of western Ukraine. When his eyes adjusted to the darkness, Pronoza saw a typical human farmstead about 200 meters from the landing place. A 2 story house stood in its center; it appeared simple but elegant, with a wide wooden balcony on the façade and an outer wooden stairway. Not far from the house Nikolay saw a well and a pen with horses and cows. Somewhere in the distance he could hear the sound of a mountainous river. The alien Nordic female invited Nikolay to rest and warm himself and opened the massive door of the "farmhouse". Inside the witness found himself in a large room lighted by a large television screen, he saw an apparent human female watching television holding a child in her lap. A normal appearing cat sat on a cot in the corner of the room. Besides the cat, no one paid any attention to them. After a few minutes they went out unnoticed. Strangely the "owners" of the house had not noticed Nikolay or the Nordic alien woman. Now Nikolay saw a strange large dark building, which turned out to be an alien spacecraft of the shape he had never seen before. According to the alien female it was "banana" in shape. Nikolay then accompanied her inside the craft. Inside there was a long corridor with oval windows positioned in the form of squares on a chessboard. The windows had yellowish narrow metallic blinds. The one-piece was smooth, its inner perimeter contoured by a pearl-shaped floor. The floor was shiny, reflective, like glass, covered by a resilient wooden carpet with diminutive yellow spheres on top of thin fibers. At both ends of the corridor were two similar control rooms, like cabins of a locomotive, with control panels. A male humanoid exited the control room. He had ashen hair, tall and was wearing a silver colored overall with a white collar. He approached Nikolay and greeted him with a small bow. Suddenly something like thunder flashed behind the alien's back, and a strange "girl" appeared in front of Nikolay. She pointed her finger at him and then questionably looked at the Nordic alien woman. Suddenly Nikolay felt giddy and dizzy, quickly becoming dizzy, he fell to his knees and then lost consciousness. Apparently the Nordic alien woman then waved her hand over Nikolay several times apparently reviving him and he quickly recuperated. After that, the alien woman continued to move her hands, explaining to Nikolay the meaning of every move, in this manner Pronoza was able to obtain his healing ability.

Pharmacy student, Elena Bermudez was camping along with some friends in a wooded and isolated area. Very early in the morning while everyone slept soundly Elena suddenly awoke with a start. Unable to regain her sleep she began to clean up around the camp. Looking towards the forest she was suddenly able to distinguish a group of "shadows" that were coming down the side of a nearby wooded mountain, among the shadows there appeared to be some bright spherical lights. The figures were tall and thin and seemingly wearing brown hooded monk-like outfits. There were a total of eight figures. They walked to within 50 meters of the witness position and continued their descent down the slope. Unnatural fear invaded Elena at this moment and in a bout of hysterics she ran into the tents where her sleeping friends lay and woke everyone up. When her friends ran out of their tents the figures had already vanished.

Local resident Alexander Poliszhuk was at home when he encountered two humanoid entities that had somehow entered the house. The two humanoids were of general human appearance, about 1.8m in height, and communicated telepathically with the witness. Both seemed solid and real. Curiously the witness was not able to remember or describe the alien's faces in detail; this information was possibly erased from his memory. The witness felt no fear in the presence of the humanoids. They greeted Alexander and told him that "they were the people of the white day" (?).---The witness did not understand what they meant by this. And during their conversation they also told the witness that it took them 25minutes to fly from Mars to Earth (apparently they have bases there). And then informed Alexander that their lifespan was about 500 terrestrial years, they then said to him, "You are the man of our city" (?) and then demonstrated what appeared to be a holographic image of an alien planet (possibly theirs) on a screen that was projected in the middle of the room from an unknown device which hovered in mid-air. The image showed a dark, deserted, surface of a planet filled with craters. Several narrow roads, like paved sidewalks ran across the surface of the planet. The image was shown very quickly and then it vanished. Then the aliens accompanied Alexander outside the house and told him, "Do you see that large cloud out there?" Alexander was indeed able to make out a large cloud in the sky, the aliens then told him that it was really their spacecraft camouflaged as a cloud. And then Alexander heard a telepathic voice in his head which originated from the cloud, "Do you want to see me? I am the commander of this ship and I am inside the cloud". Alexander almost instantaneously answered, "yes" and then saw a humanoid "man" hovering in mid-air near the cloud, about 2m in height surrounded by a golden colored glow. The alien commander strangely introduced himself as Sergey, a very common Russian name. He added that he was in "control" of this area. The alien then moved back and vanished into the cloud. After that the witness saw a globe-shaped UFO, fiery red in color with a crew of two aliens inside. These aliens then projected a beam of light on Alexander and transported him onboard the object. Inside he was subjected to some kind of examination and then they enmeshed him (entangled) in something like a net. Later he found scars on his body and on the lower jaw, evidently as a result of the medical examination. Alexander also mentioned that the aliens had left some type of scar (or sign) on his son. The aliens then telepathically told him not to be afraid of anything that everything would be normal. Before leaving the aliens told Alexander, "Now 2 of our men will be constantly with you, we will be watching you". After that Alexander would regularly humanoid figures inside his house and UFOs over the area. He personally remembers 11 humanoid observations after the initial contact. He also began having strange "dreams" in which all sorts of things were demonstrated to him. The witness wife also saw the UFOs and was introduced to the aliens. One time while onboard a train on his way to Perm he saw a UFO flying ahead of the train. Apparently Alexander also developed extra-sensory capabilities after the encounter and claims to have the power to see through his "third eye".

Summer residents in their country cottage, 50-year old Mr. Boris Pavlovich Zabavnikov and his wife Tamara Ivanovna were sitting near a bonfire outside their house enjoying the night sky, which was saturated with stars. Their 15-year old niece was in the house. At around 2330 both noticed a strange object moving in the sky. At first the UFO looked like a red luminous dot of light. After looking at the UFO for some time the family went to bed. But around 0110A Boris Pavlovich awoke and saw a blinding white globe hovering low over the road located at about 60 meters from his garage. Strangely the bright globe did not appear to be illuminating its surroundings. The globe then changed color to a bright blue and emitted a series of flashes of light that lasted for 10 minutes. The flashes of light resembled bullet tracers. And then the light became dim and vanished. At this moment a pair of red lights appeared above the forest and then ascended up symmetrically spreading into a vertical position and then disappeared. After they vanished the globe again appeared, emanating the same blue light. This occurred several times and every time the globe emitted flashes of light for 10 minutes. Around 0240A the globe emanated blue light again with a matt tint to it. At 0300A Boris awoke his wife and told her to come and look that "they had arrived" and are apparently having difficulty with their craft. Both Tamara and her niece then watched the object. A vertically positioned ellipse then appeared in the upper section of the globe, about 0.5m in height. It quickly moved around the globe to a horizontal position on the bottom section. Simultaneously with this movement the globe began decreasing its brightness eventually becoming matt white. And then a dim yellow light appeared under the globe illuminating the ground below it. The object had a matt strip crossing its center, separating it into 2 sections, the upper and lower hemispheres. The object was now on the ground in a slightly tilted position, with probably 3 landing props under it. The witnesses observed the craft from a safe distance and at approximately 0400A Boris Pavlovich saw an entity on the road parallel to his fence. The entity was running from the opposite direction of the object towards the forest. The entity was only about 1 meter in height and 1.5m long. It somehow resembled a dog, but without a tail, visible ears and eyes, its face was oval-shaped and elongated. The witness was amazed at the complete absence of fur. The strange entity wore a tight fitting gray smooth, aluminum colored suit. It moved completely silent on thin paws, very thin and stick-like. It seemed to move as if in slow motion. Its left front and left rear paws stretched forward simultaneously. Its movement resembled that of a trotting horse. The witness became frightened, ran away and hid inside the house. He did not leave the house again until dawn. When he awoke at 0530A the object was still there (!) emanating a matt light from the same location. Boris Pavlovich then again moved to his observation point but soon fell asleep. When he awoke at 0800A the object was no longer there. The witness visited the place where the object had been but found no visible traces.

This time, the alien man, communicated with the witness, while the woman studied the apartment, took water from the sink, looked inside the refrigerator, etc. The man said that they were returning to their planet and had come to say goodbye. He switched the TV and the fan off without touching them. He told the witness that his apartment was primitive that it had nothing to make life easier, nothing for comfort and suitable rest. After the examination of the flat, Krasnov then began asking additional questions. They told him that they knew the history of earth well and were constantly monitoring it, possessing huge number of "memory cells" and video material describing the history of the earth. They said that they lived in a binary star system. That their planet "Tats" was beautiful, with a population of 20 billion. It contained rich flora, beautiful lakes, rivers, and seas, with a large number of animals, birds etc, including representatives of the fauna found on Earth. They lived in large completely automatic flats and eat exclusively food from plants. Every year residents of their planet are medically examined. The people that are found ill are transported to their planet's moon where a huge medical complex is located. Their dead are cremated and they do not have cemeteries. There is strict discipline in their planet and violators are sent to explore and study new planets. Their industrial plants are located underground. They have no religion but believe deeply on the "Council". They will return to earth again in the year 2094. The aliens bade goodbye and vanished in plain sight.

Suddenly she saw a semi-transparent sphere descend from the sky at about 200 meters in front of her. The globe then landed on the asphalt road. A tall humanoid then exited the object, the entity was about 2.8m to 3m in height, and the top portion of his outfit was red and the lower area black. A horseshoe shaped plate was shining in his chest area. The alien man had black hair and "looked very beautiful". When he glanced towards the witness she was suddenly struck by some kind of electric charge and her legs were paralyzed. Suddenly a red "Zhiguli" vehicle appeared on the road. When the car approached the alien the humanoid suddenly vanished and the man that was sitting behind the wheel of the car then suddenly appeared in front of the startled witness. When this man approached Kozyreva she was again charged by the same electrical current (apparently the alien had somehow energized the driver of the car with electrostatic current). After the incident L.O. Kozyreva noticed a strange brown spot, the size of a five Kopek coin that appeared on her leg. Two other researchers investigated the case and confirmed the presence of an anomaly at the reported landing site. Other workers of the Chernobyl area have reported numerous UFO observations since the 1986 incident.

The witness and a group of friends were camping in an isolated area and he was sleeping in his van. Sometime during the night a loud high-pitched drone that quickly faded awakened him. Looking out he saw a very bright blue white light off in the distance. He was then startled to see the light moving and coming closer, expanding in size. The light seemed to expand into a rounded oval and began to grow rapidly. He closed his eyes but could still see the glow of the light. He opened his eyes and saw right in front of his face several small fluorescent balls of neon red, green, yellow, and blue light popping on and off. Beyond these down the meadow lay an arc-like light that he could not look directly at. It appeared to dissipate off to the left into a glowing haze. Within the misty light, there wee three shadowy figures that began to materialize. As they became clearer he could see that one stood at least a head above the others. This figure detached itself from the others and began to approach the witness. The figure had a large domed head with the lower portion of the face sharply tapered in. It had a long thin neck and narrow sharply sloping shoulders, long very thin arms with bulging pod-like endings. The upper torso tapered down into a waspish waist that gently flared into narrow hips. It seemingly approached the witness at very high speed. Suddenly its face appeared at the window opening of the van. The being had huge glossy eyes and incredibly entered the van through the glass window. It grabbed the witness and pulled him out in the same manner. He was "floated" to the nearby haze and the two other figures, which were shorter and more robust. He closed his eyes and then found himself in a hallway that curved to the left. The tall being then led him a short way down the hall to an open doorway. He could feel the presence of others behind him. Inside the room he was urged toward an object that rose out of the floor. It resembled a table with a mirror finish, made out of light blue tinted metal. It also had what seemed to be tubes running within its sides partially protruding at various locations. The witness somehow received the impression that the table was alive. Without effort on the part of the thin being he was lifted onto the table, he was compelled to lay back; he then partially sunk into it, a soothing warmth surrounding him. All the time he felt other presences in the room. Later he became more aware of his surroundings and saw himself alone in the room with the Mantis-like being. He was again then led down a corridor. Looking into an opening he saw a room that seemed wider than the previous one. He saw a maze of round edge shapes of various sizes protruding from the walls and floor of the room. He also noticed a human female that stood upon a low, sculptured platform against the wall. She stood rigid, with heels together, arms loosely hanging by her sides, she stared straight ahead. Suddenly they heard a strange sound on the northern slope of a hill, which at first they took for the engine of a helicopter. The sound then began approaching their location. While approaching it became similar to the sound of a "Druzhba" (a car?). They looked up and saw a large rotating round object golden in color flying in their direction. It resembled two saucers joined at the bottoms outside. The girls became terribly frightened and hid in the hollows of the slopes, from which they were able to see the object. The craft hovered in the air just above the ground. It was about 200 meters from the witnesses. The object appeared higher than a 1-story building and was about 6 meters in diameter. Neither windows nor doors were visible on it. The surface was very smooth, seemingly polished. Soon a hatch opened in the bottom of the object and a ladder jutted out of it. Two very tall humanoids descended on the ladder to the ground, they wore shiny silvery suits. The ladder was immediately taken back inside the hatch and the hatch closed. The terrified girls watched the huge entities walking side by side. The aliens walked strangely, without bending their knees while moving. They stopped next to a motorcycle apparently left there by another berry picker (Grigoriy Sotknikov). The aliens the proceeded in inspecting the motorcycle very closely, apparently taking it apart and then putting it back together. The aliens spoke among themselves in an unusual loud hoarse voice (similarly to someone with a cold). Their speech was completely alien and incomprehensible. The aliens wore something resembling shiny covers or metallic plates on their knees. Both aliens were more than 3

The aliens had round black eyes and thin mouths, their noses appeared to be covered also by metallic plates (apparently respirators). On their heads they had what appeared to be antennas on both sides. After studying the motorcycle the aliens returned to their flying machine. As they began walking back to the object the aliens turned around and stared in the direction of the girls, which became even more frightened jumped out of their hiding places and ran home. She now felt admiration for the humanoid but was still unable to move or say anything; she felt a powerful energy emanating from the night visitor. Something like a magnetic force emanated from the alien, which seemed to fluctuate in intensity. One of the girls answered in the Kumyk language, "We are school girls, and is to early for us to think about marriage." The old man then murmured, "Well my son is also young, despite his height". One of the sisters then said that because of his height, she would look like a midget next to him and people would laugh. The giant alien then said, "So you refuse to marry my son?" "By the most decisive way!" replied the girls sharply. And then after several seconds the giant vanished. While they spoke to the alien both girls felt that they were under a very powerful hypnotic spell. After he vanished, the girls returned to normal. On this moonlit night as he stood near a fire on the banks of the river Sylva while the others in the camp slept a slight rain began to fall and the fire began to die out, Boyko then asked the "Higher forces" to stop the rain, he repeated this 3 times and then began to meditate, uniting himself with the rain asking for it to stop, he said, "You and me are of the same blood, don't wet me" (?). Soon strange things started happening to him, he apparently separated from his physical body and saw himself moving at very high speed with the impression of flying amid the clouds. Several minutes later he returned to his body, and was amazed to see a strange light hovering beyond the clouds, he could tell that it wasn't the moon but some type of UFO hovering among the clouds. There was complete silence around him as the others in the camp were apparently in a deep sleep. He then saw a gap between the clouds and then a huge black elongated triangle-shaped object appeared from behind the clouds in the gap, hovering in the sky a hundred meters or so from Boyko. The triangle began approaching the witness and then moved its position, apparently rotating or changing its form. Boyko now understood that the aliens had finally answered his desperate requests to see a UFO, and the appearance of the triangle was apparently a premeditated demonstration for him. Then in the blink of an eye, two black dots separated from the triangle and moved away from it. According to Boyko the dots looked more like small disks and understood that these were short range modules that had separated from the mother ship. Several minutes later, Boyko heard a sound behind his back, the crackle of bushes and shrubs, like if someone invisible was walking nearby, but he didn't see the figure despite all his attempts. But judging by the long steps, the height of the stranger could be established. It appeared to be a gigantic figure probably no less than 2.8 to 3 meters. The triangle then moved again behind the clouds and disappeared from sight. Boyko then directed a mental impulse towards the aliens attempting to send them a telepathic message, thanking them for such a spectacular display but he couldn't understand what it all meant and what had they wanted to convey to him. Incredibly, after some time, the triangle-shaped object reappeared again. When this happened Boyko understood that now he was going to receive information from the visitors. He felt a sort of electrostatic discharge in his body, his stretched out his arm and noticed the hairs on it moving (evidently he was being influenced by a powerful electromagnetic field). After a strong telepathic impulse he sat near a large stone and after meditating for some time saw some yellowish geometrical figures on a white background before his eyes, information directed at his subconscious was being transmitted to him at very high speed. After this encounter Boyko became an avid book reader and was convinced that the aliens had given him some type of code for telepathic communication. He later regretted that he didn't as the triangle to land near him. When the triangle disappeared a second time, Boyko returned to the fire, as the rain continued to come down. Suddenly according to Boyko, his next recollection was of seeing the dawn, he last remembered being close to midnight. His clothes were completely dry despite the fact that he had been apparently exposed to the rain for several hours. Another interesting point was that after this amazing encounter Boyko acquired the ability to apparently displace clouds while he concentrated on them. (Somewhere I have heard of this before).

A group of young men and women out of curiosity had arrived at this famous anomalous zone area in order to explore. They camped in tents on the banks of the River Sylva and during the night several of the young women spotted a group of tall humanoid figures walking on the surface of the water, evidently levitating and then walking on the opposite bank of the River Sylva. All the aliens were about 2.5-3m in height, evidently not humans and walked into the deep pine thicket in the dark & dense forest. No additional details except for the fact that the figures were dark tall humanoid silhouettes with long arms and long legs could be see because of the darkness. The girls then heard a voice in their heads (evidently telepathic) which persisted that they would come to the opposite bank of the river. So when their boyfriends awoke in the middle of the night, they were stunned to see the women acting in a bizarre manner like lunatics. In a zombie-like state and fully [as2]clothed the girls entered the river up to their chests and even going deeper in an apparent attempt to reach the opposite bank of the river despite the depth of the river. The men began to yell at the girls to come. The screams apparently snapped the girls out of their trance-like states and they regained their senses and self control and quickly ran out of the water to the shore. They told their boyfriends and others that an unseen "force" had pulled them towards the opposite bank of the river and a voice in their heads constantly urged them to come over, they briefly lost their will to resist.

Three witnesses, Dorofey Vladimirovich Dubanos, Sergey Lymar and another man called Sasha were having a picnic in an exotic place near a local ancient dolmen when suddenly they saw a light cross the sky disappearing behind the clouds. Soon at about 30 meters from them a strange dark object appeared, shaped like a vertical capsule, crossed in the middle by a square plate. The three stunned witnesses watched as 3-human looking figures stepped out of the "capsule" and approached. The witnesses could not tell much about their appearance because it was dark. "Who are you?" asked Dubanos. The answer was, "We flew down here to talk to you, but we don't have much time". The answer was received telepathically inside of the witnesses' heads. The three men were somehow attracted to the aliens and approached them, and stood facing them. "Where are you from?" asked Lymar. Again the telepathic answer was, "Constellation of Orion, that's where our motherland is". And then Sasha, asked the third question, "How many years have your civilization lasted for", the answer was an astounding 12 million years. All three witnesses exchanged glances, glad that they were able to freely communicate. Lymar asked the aliens what was their purpose here on earth and the answer was that they had come to warn humanity about a terrific catastrophe that threatens our planet. "What kind of catastrophe?" Asked Dubanos. The cryptic answer was, "Soon, the polarity of the magnetic field of Earth will change. Global climate changes will appear, caused by the slowing rotation of the Earth." Lymar then asked, "Are you capable of preventing this"? The answer was somewhat reassuring, "We will do everything to prevent this mortal danger to occur". There was additional conversation mostly about inhabited planets in the universe, but the witnesses vaguely remembered this portion of the conversation. Soon the object behind the aliens changed shape to resembled the front of a rocket or missile, the aliens then entered the craft, which then zoomed up and disappeared in a couple of seconds. The bright light again crossed the sky and a terrific storm soon followed.

The female witness, a local professional artist was lounging in her room when suddenly part of her room just seemed to disappear or dissolve into nothing, a strange scenery appeared in its place. It resembled a grassy field, she looked at the field and felt that she must "concentrate" on it. This was followed by the sudden appearance of an alien man in her room. The alien sat on her armchair. His head was long and pointy, resembling a melon, and his nose began in the middle of his forehead. His eyes were slanted, stretching to his temples. He had white hair, very curly. The man was dressed in an iridescent coverall, green in color. The alien then said to the witness, "You wanted a meeting with us, well here I am and I will introduce you to my friends." Strangely, the witness felt no fear by the appearance of the alien man in her room. She answered, that she would like to meet his friends but she wanted to take her beloved cat with her. The alien then said, "Clasp your cat firmly against your breast". So promptly did that and she felt a strong cold breeze and heard a whistling sound. Soon she found herself in a strange room, which she thought was the inside of the spacecraft. The roof over her head was transparent. She could see numerous stars through it. Five other aliens sat in the room and she met all of them. All were dressed in very strange greenish suits, iridescent like "mercury", apparently the suits were made out of some kind of "energy" instead of fabric. At this moment the original alien that met her in her room told her that they had a very high "psychic" development and made their clothing out of pure energy. The witness then asked them where were they from and the stranger said, "From another Galaxy". Then she asked about the purpose of their visit and was told that they were "looking after us". That they were here to help humanity but that humanity must overcome evil but itself. After the encounter the witness felt like she was being watched all the time and acquired telepathic abilities. A chain of strange events ensued after that.

The witness, Vasily A, was laying in bed next to his sleeping wife reading a book, when he heard a sound similar to "a cork popping." At that moment the window opened and he heard a humming sound. This sound never wavered and was constant during the encounter. He got up and smoked a cigarette and closed the window. He then placed the book aside and went back to bed, he then heard a voice that said, "Take the book," he could not see the source of the voice, it then said, "You will be able to read faster than before." He then flipped through the whole book and apparently read everything. He then heard the voice said, "We are going to examine you." He felt a strange whorl that seemed to spiral around his head moving downward. He was able to move his hands and legs but was unable to get up. He continued to hear voices and felt his teeth & jaw being "fixed." He felt his whole body being scanned including his internal organs. His little finger that he had previously injured was apparently cured by this scanning procedure. He asked to be shown more, then suddenly found himself sitting on a chair with a woman sitting to his right. He described being in a very large room, with a very high ceiling and apparently no discernible corners. Everything was gray; there was a door across from him that was very large, resembling a gate. The woman was human and appeared somehow "brighter" than they gray background. She wore a white gown similar to a bathrobe. Her face had an expression of indifference without any emotion. Her eyes were "black as coal" and her nose was small resembling a knob. She seemed to have no chin or neck. She seemed taller than six feet, and was holding an object resembling a "bar" in her left hand. The bar was dark gray in color with a cloth like texture, more like a plastic material. While sitting in the chair he noticed that a man had entered the room. He seemed to be standing on a platform and was higher than everyone else. He was described as very tall, and muscular with "a big body." Vasily had the impression that this man had "great power and was a commander." No other details of this man could be seen. The man then appeared to talk to two figures standing behind the witness and asked them if the witness was prepared for transit. He was then told that he would be going with them. At this time he experienced considerable fear and a sense of loss. Vasily disagreed and refused to go with them, he suddenly found himself on his bed. He experienced a strange sensation like breaking free from some elastic wrappings. He jumped out of bed and looked at the mirror. He described his image as not quite like him, appearing skinny and gray. He then sat down to smoke a cigarette and noticed that the humming sound was still present. He still felt a presence of beings in the in the room and heard a voice asking why he did not want to go with them. He then felt being teleported to an imaged location where two unseen beings led him over a "black" band and into a lighted area. He was shown what appeared to be engines and structures; he was able to ask numerous questions. Later he was told by the beings that they were leaving, at that point he felt a sharp pain in his solar plexus. He then finally found himself lying in bed and heard the humming sound becoming more distant. He then went back to sleep.

Looking up to the sky he saw something fly very fast above him. He then felt a tremor and thoughts mixed in his head, as if under some kind of influence. He then saw a huge arc or horseshoe shaped object, about 25-30 meters in size, quickly move over the trees at a very low altitude. He followed it and saw the object slow down and descends into the forest. His dog began running towards the object, attracted by the light. The man also ran at top speed towards the landing site. He found his dog near a stump sniffing at something. Simultaneously he saw two humanoids. They were taller than the witness, about 1.8 to 2.0 meters, dressed in dark blue overalls. Both aliens stood facing each other, half turned towards the witness. Aliens had openings instead of ears, and their fingers were long and bony, their skin was matt and smooth, and their hair short and evenly cut. I.G. succeeded in having a conversation with the humanoids, which spoke without moving their lips apparently using telepathy. The humanoids told him, "We landed in your forest. We need to find out what type of force field influences our craft from under the ground in this area." "We will not hurt you; we are just checking the presence of powerful forces in these fields." They added that they had arrived there from "the other side of the world."

"Today we will work some and then fly northward". I.G. then asked, "Are you from an extraterrestrial civilization?" The telepathic answer was the following, "Our civilization is similar to yours. We are very close but we cannot tell you anything more. The time of contact is not now. We enter into frequent contacts with different people of your planet and "system" that do not bring us future complications". The alien promised the witness that he would cure his sick sister and told him that they would meet again. The witness answered that he was ready but was still apprehensive of them. The alien answered, "No need to be afraid we don't use any weapons in such situations". The witness then said that he wanted to go home, that his wife was probably waiting for him. The aliens stood still for awhile and then walked towards the bright visible behind the trees. The witness glanced at his electronic watch but it was not working, then at a very quick pace without looking at his feet the witness walked directly to his house as if being guided by an invisible force. He remembered that during the walk he never looked back and ignored everyone else in the street. He found his dog near the porch. Feeling a strange compulsion, local resident Ivan Martynovich awoke and walked outside his house. Suddenly he saw a stranger walking towards him. Ivan could see the figure clearly since there was a light pole nearby. The stranger was tall, wearing a tight-fitting cloth. He had a totally hairless head, with beautiful ashen colored skin, and light, clear blue eyes. The alien took Ivan by the elbow and in a moment Ivan felt himself ascending into the air and floating towards a hovering object in the sky. The object was cylinder-shaped, with both ends sharpened and pointed, like a pencil. In a strange and hardly noticeable way, both Ivan and the humanoid suddenly appeared inside the object. Ivan did not see any control panels or chairs. Several similarly appearing humanoids were standing in the room and talking to each other. Their strange language consisted of sharp words, "each word not longer than a syllable." Suddenly one of the tall aliens said imperiously, "I am!" and all became silent. The alien leader then addressed Ivan and Ivan somehow saw the words appear in front of his eyes and he was able to understand. They proposed that Ivan review his life and amazingly he was able to see the basic events of his past in what appeared to be a TV-set (holographic image?). They invited Ivan to visit their planet and he immediately agreed. One of the aliens then said something and the craft began to move. Not the slightest movement or sound was felt by Ivan. The aliens did not mention the name of their planet. In a matter of moments they had arrived at the alien "planet". The craft landed, and a platform jutted out from it. They walked outside and Ivan felt the soil under his feet. With an alien guide, they walked to a location filled many numerous small flying machines standing up with opened upper sections, that Ivan could only compare to bicycles. They sat him on one of the objects and Ivan asked the alien if it belong to him, the alien then explained that in their planet they had no notion of "yours" and "my" they never hurried anywhere or worried about if they "could go or not". Somehow Ivan was able to understand everything that was being said to him. Then they zoomed over the treetops and Ivan saw warm and uncommonly clear environs. The Sun-like star was warm and moving in a straight line Ivan saw green flora, gardens, forests and blue lakes. The alien dwellings were not big, and each house was different, not higher than three floors. "Why don't you have any tall buildings?" asked Ivan. The answer was, "We use the same energy source, our Sun, and it must be distributed evenly". Ivan was most amazed by the alien animals. He had never seen such a variety of types, but most amazingly he learned that they were all domestic pets. Only the larger animals, remotely resembling mammoths, walked free and were of some danger to the alien species. The aliens he saw in the planet were tall, slender; smooth, with unbelievable blue eyes and blue skin, the emanated inner harmony. Their movements were graceful and quick, as their speech. And their reflexes and speed exceeded those of humans many times over. The alien food consisted of fruits and berries from the forests, but they apparently did not cultivate anything, it just grew by itself (?). They told Ivan that they did not kill to eat, that the animals gave them milk and the forests their vegetable dishes. Ivan wanted to taste their food and drink but the aliens told him that if he did if would "influenced him" in a way that he would have to stay in their planet. The aliens took Ivan into one of their houses. A pet animal, remotely resembling a dog met him. The animal sniffed the air around him and then lied down by his feet. An alien woman then came out and she was introduced as "Ri", which was the name they used for any "mother" of their species. She was beautiful and young. The alien woman (Ri) told Ivan that she had lost her son while he was studying the earth, killed in an accident on a space flight. She further stated that their average lifespan was 500 terrestrial years. She claimed that they had been observing the Earth for 11,444 years. They did not want to see humanity destroy itself. They further warned that the Humanity was at the edge of destroying itself, and two ways: "Humanity will die out as a result of a global brain decease" or "The Earth will move out of its present orbit and will be destroyed". They told him about the destruction of a similar planet (to earth) in our solar system that moved out of its orbit and became the present day "asteroid belt". One of the asteroids had struck the earth once but the earth was not destroyed, it only reversed its poles. From time to time the studied humans more closely, studying the birth and death of people that had agreed to stay in their planet, they had come to the conclusion that the human brain was similar to theirs but humans were incapable of utilizing all of the brain's capacity. They also added that if humanoid would stop the use of atomic, chemical and other weapons, the air would became purified and we would be able to use solar energy more efficiently. They said that they could help humanoid in achieving that goal. The sun for them was life; they did not have any prisons or places of worship in their planet. "The temple of worship was in each living being's soul". They indeed had 10 commandments and lived according to them. Their birth is joyful without pain or fear. And in the same way they pass on (most in a natural way). When Ivan returned to the craft he saw a large number of aliens that had gathered to see his departure, running towards the craft from different locations. He felt numerous telepathic impulses. In one massive united thought they all told Ivan, "God help you", to which Ivan, replied, "Not me but us" meaning the dwellers of the planet earth. Ivan was returned home on the same night. He found that he had been absent for 4 hours. His wife, Lubov Vasilievna met him and confirmed the incident to the source. It is reported that Ivan's health suffered after the encounter. The aliens had told him that the visit to their planet had cut Ivan's life expectancy by 10 years. Back on earth Ivan realized that most of the information given to him most earthlings did not want to hear.

When she looked outside her flat of her multistoried building she noticed a huge globe, about the size of her kitchen. The globe was grayish in color, but she had the impression that there were lights shining inside illuminating the ground below it. The globe started hovering in place and the humming sound stopped when it suddenly became transparent and she saw the dark silhouettes of two entities, human like in form. They appeared to be manipulating some instruments with their hands. After that the humming sound became audible again and the globe zoomed up and disappeared from sight.

A group of 12 to 13 UFOs crossed Greek airspace approaching from the north at the end of the Peloponnese they made a half turn and followed the opposite trajectory. Numerous eyewitnesses confirmed this fact. As the formation neared Lamia 3 of these objects separated and one of them appear to ignite. After apparently scanning the area the three objects landed quickly extinguishing any flames or lights. According to the Karatrantou family who lived nearby, the objects apparently remained all night on the ground performing repairs. According to some of the family members they watched the objects fly over them and later they heard 3 loud and successive explosions resembling what they thought was dynamite. Then a large red object appeared in the sky, much larger than the others and seemed to be engulfed in flames. As the stunned family watched the object seemed to fall to the ground. They could see flames and black smoke rising into the sky. It had fallen on a hill located opposite from their position. A few moments later several smaller objects now approached and surrounded the apparently stricken craft, these moved very quickly and resembled bright stars. The smaller objects descended and appear to form a circle around the larger burning craft; the witnesses thought it was an attempt to prevent the flames from spreading. Mr. Karatrantou took out his rifle and pointed in the direction of the objects. Through the periscope he could see small shapes or figures passing in front of the burning object, he could not tell if they were men or animals. These moved feverishly around the craft, always within the luminous circle now formed around the craft. There they remained for about 10 hours. In the morning there was very little smoke left. Upon investigating the site a strange spongy substance was found, and the trunks of several pine trees had been severely scorched. When one of the men touched the pine trees, blisters appeared in his hands. On the area where the larger object had fallen, there were circular holes on the ground each surrounded by mounds of earth. It is reported that a strange piece of equipment was found that had what appeared to be two interlocking antennas and a lighting bolt engraved on the side. This item was given to the local authorities. Mr. Karatrantou added that as he watched the small shapes move about he saw them pouring some type of liquid on the fire, which transformed the smoke into a red-black color.

Local female resident Valentina U. living in house # 15 in Zoya Kosmodemyanskaya Street was sitting near her window and reading a book when suddenly a rectangular UFO resembling a 9-story building with 9 horizontal windows and 6 vertical windows appeared outside the window. A narrow dark strip was visible between the windows. Soon after that she saw a red globe appear on the road between some nearby garages. The globe was about 3 meters in diameter. The upper edge of the globe was taller than the garages; the lower section was resting on the road. The globe began emitting light, which turned a bright yellow color. Inside the globe two black humanoid shapes appeared. One of the aliens was about 2.5m in height and the second only reached up to the first one's waist or only about 1.5m in height. The figures were generally human in shape, except for their heads which were small in proportion to their bodies, only resembling sawed off protrusions. The globe did not illuminate its surroundings preserving its sharp contours. A minute later the globe suddenly became dim and vanished. Valentina then put her book aside and looked out the window, but the globe did not return. The local UFO research group carefully examined the apparent landing site, photographing the area and bio-locating the site. No anomalies were found, but it had rained all night that night, which possibly obliterated all traces.

He called his wife over and they both watched the lights. He thought of getting his camera from the car when everything suddenly became hazy and confused. The next thing remembered was being back in the tent telling his wife that "they've now gone." A strange substance resembling lime mortar was found at the scene the next day. A local woman named Irina M. was returning home from work when she looked at the sky and saw a quickly moving light, yellow in color, which was flying from the southwest to the east. It was moving faster than a normal aircraft and she immediately thought it could have been a UFO. The object began descending at high speed, increasing its dimensions noticeably. The object was round and silvery and hovered in midair not to far from the witness. Astounded the witness saw floating next to the object a humanoid figure. The figure was human-like, tall, slender, with a pale young face without wrinkles. He had very kind blue eyes. The alien was dressed in a loose-fitting tunic, silver-white in color. The alien stood in mid-air gazing at the witness intently. The alien seemed to be encased in a bright halo of light. The witness became concerned, fearing that she would be abducted by the alien, leaving her children alone and rushed home as fast as she could. Near her front door she looked back and saw the UFO departing, decreasing in size and vanishing in a few seconds. The witnesses, Galina Sergeevna E. her son Alexander and her 15 year old daughter, residents of an apartment on the 5th floor of a standard 5 story building, observed several UFOs maneuvering in the sky. At first they saw a disc-shaped object with red blinking lights, it was covered by a haze with blinking lights visible through it, the disk was gray-grown in color, lentil shaped with a small dome on top. 10-15 minutes later a small "dot" separated from the main disk and flew along Shevchenko Street. Next a smaller globe separated from the first object and flew towards Tarszhantzev Street. The large disc then emitted a big cone-shaped beam of light towards the earth, then ascended upwards and disappeared. After that Alexander saw six barrel-shaped cylinders in the shape of two triangles. They were homogenous in color, dark, without rivets or bolts. Some time after that, Galina experienced a weird sensation while on her bed. She told her son Alexander to stop looking at the UFOs, believing that the aliens did not like people to stare at them. Alexander then suddenly jumped back from the window, his face pale. He then told his mother that he had seen a humanoid entity, which stared at him while the entity seemed to be peeping into the room, leaning over the peak of the roof. The witness saw half the body of the alien. His clothing and face were gray, and its hairs were rigid, shortly cut. Judging by its narrow shoulders, the entity's height was probably no more than 1.5 meters. He had something covering his elbows. His face was elongated, and stretched. He had a small nose, and a slit-like mouth. They stared at each other for several seconds. After the encounter, Alexander always made sure he locked the balcony door hatch every night.

Two men, both ham radio amateurs, were driving through an isolated area on their way to meet other ham radio aficionados, saw a bright white light hovering low over the road. They remembered the car being surrounded by white light. Then they both found themselves in a bright room with a metallic rectangular table on its center. They then saw a short being come out of the light; it had large black oval shaped eyes, two holes for a nose, no ears or hair. Suddenly both men found themselves back in their vehicle, arriving at their destination, having lost four hours. Later under hypnosis both men were able to remember additional details. Inside the bright white room, the short humanoid approached them and spoke to them. They saw some column-like supports and on top of the metallic table something resembling a sketch of a map. They also noticed something resembling a cage and inside of it a short ape-like animal. At that moment two tall thin men appeared. These were described as very pale, with shoulder length blond hair. They wore tight fitting coveralls with belt, and turtlenecks. These two men conducted one of the men through a door that seemed to appear within the light. Then another short large headed being also wearing a tight fitting coverall now appeared and conducted the other witness through the corridor and a door. Both the short humanoid and the witness proceeded to walk down another corridor that seemed to have small compartments on each side of it. Finally he reached a hatch-like door which opened up in front of him, there he was confronted by a being of tally human appearance, which at first he confused with the other witness. The being was wearing blue pants or jeans, a green shirt. He had long hair and was bearded. He also wore a cap with the letters NT engraved on the front. The witness had also noticed these same letters on the two tall longhaired men, but on their belt buckles. Inside this other room, the walls were shiny and metallic in appearance, there were many different types of "machines" and monitors, it looked like a command center to the witness. He also noticed two black seats and several transparent windows through which he could see a star filled sky. The bearded human was apparently explaining the function of the equipment in this room to the witness. The witness, Vladimir Petrovich Boyko (involved in other encounters) was standing on a field on top of a hill in the eastern outskirts of Simferopol observing the landscape and enjoying the sky which was saturated with thousands of stars, he was hoping to see a UFO. Suddenly he turned his head to the left and noticed a triangular-shaped object flying from behind a cloud, moving horizontally from the southeast to the northwest in a straight horizontal trajectory. The UFO was an equilateral triangle of a pure white color, emitting a pure white light. The witness estimated the length of the triangle's side as about 50m long. In general it was of huge dimensions. A yellowish, golden colored rim surrounded the triangle-shaped UFO. A round white circle was visible on the triangle's center, encircled by a crimson-colored border. The UFO slowly floated and then stopped in midair approaching the witness with the point pointing upward. When the distance between the object and the witness decreased to approximately 80 meters Vladimir saw the image of a humanoid entity inside the craft's circle of light in the center of the triangle. The entity was evidently a bearded elderly man, very beautiful in appearance, like a saint or an elderly monk with a pink colored face, long gray hair falling down his back. The "man" had very kind and intelligent blue eyes, and full pink lips. In general his face was beautiful, given the impression of wisdom. The humanoid image appeared to be some type of hologram or a telepathic message demonstrated to the witness since no such image could be seen directly through any window of the craft. The witness was stunned at the awful sight and looked at the alien's face for about 2 minutes. Boyko later regretted that he did not start talking to the object or the image of the humanoid. The UFO was now hovering almost above the witness, almost level with him. Soon the triangle moved back and simply melted into thin air, everything vanished simultaneously, both the triangle and the image of the humanoid. Vladimir then thought of sending a telepathic impulse, "Sorry, Id didn't understand what you wanted to tell me!" Incredibly, the moment he said that the triangle appeared again, this time the triangle's corner was pointed downward, the craft then made a turn in the air, since it was now looking more elongated than previously (or change its shape?). In a minute or so after that the triangle moved back again and disappeared. After this encounter Boyko gained the ability to obtain various information mentally, including various telepathic images and impulses. His mood was ecstatic most of the time. In August of the same year while in the Molebka anomalous zone Boyko had seen a similar triangle-shaped UFO launching smaller disks.

Suddenly the UFO became a fiery red globe and in several seconds a deafening roar was heard. Then the globe split into several parts that began to fall towards the ground. Specialists and Government military troops were sent to the location of the crash. It is unknown what was found there, but some time after that information leaked out that a UFO had crashed in the region, and part of debris found was sent to Russia for further analysis. The rumors appeared true, as part of the object were apparently analyzed in a laboratory at the Leningrad State Technical University. Composition of the alloy was established using different equipment. 87.1% aluminum, 9.0% silicon, 1.4% manganese and 0.8% of ferrum and cuprum. The alloy had a porous structure and an uneven surface that was apparently caused by the influence of high temperatures. However there were no evident anomalies that gave the alloy a supposed extraterrestrial origin. The closest material manufactured on Earth that resembled the mysterious alloy resembled the AMG-6 alloy manufactured in the USSR and widely used in aviation, shipbuilding and construction.

Vladimir Dmitriyevich Nevedrov was inspecting the farm fields when he came upon a landed dark gray colored globular object on the ground. He took a few steps inside and into a corridor, which appear to climb up into the sphere. He then entered a bright cabin with armchairs and panels and filled with human like occupants wearing shiny suits, on the suits they had some type of insignia, which the witness felt incapable to reproduce on a drawing. Several of the screens suddenly flared up and the witness saw lighted rectangular-shaped windows and saw the craft slowly moving away from the earth's surface. The speed increased and he felt a severe vibration in the ship. As the speed grew he felt as he was riding a tractor above a bumpy steppe in "Belarus" at high speed. Suddenly it all stopped. After looking for his fellow travelers he could not see anyone, everything had become dark. He could see 6 beams of light moving within the dark. Soon the speed increased again and he was able to see the crew once more. The craft seemed to settle softly on an unknown planet. Looking out one of the windows he was astonished to see six men rolling a cart, which on it lay what appeared to be six black inflatable sacs. After rolling the cart to the object, they opened a square cover, which also had some black sacs inside apparently standing up. The process of replacement (he assumed) he did not see. Close to his location he could see several men boarding a landed metallic triangular object without an apex, resembling a delta shaped craft. He saw several openings on the object and what appeared to be boxes inside; the men seemed to move into the object on a beam of light. She was white as a ghost. He asked his wife what was wrong, but she just kept staring. Walking back to the driver's door he looked towards the moonlit meadow. He saw a line of trees and what appeared to be an old brick wall and standing in front of the wall a small translucent white stocky humanoid form, about 3 ft tall, with tiny round eyes that appeared to be black as the night from the distance. The figure slowly took a step or two towards the

They stared over the wall again and saw the small, white head of the ghostly entity peering over the top of it. Terrified, they watched the entity's tiny hands grip the top of the wall and hoist himself clean over, landing on its feet it then began running towards them. At this point the engine of the truck stalled several times before starting. As they drove away the small white humanoid was only a few feet from the edge of the road---the edge of the other side of the road, thankfully, but close enough that he could see dark empty holes where the eyes would have been, its mouth open in a wide leering grin, revealing a row of small pointed teeth. Its skin seemed to be rolling as it ran towards the truck. As they headed down the road he looked at his rear view mirror and saw the figure, quite a bit back now, turning away from them, walking alongside of the road in the opposite direction. Alexander Kluchenya a student at the Cherepovets military radio and electronics school was guarding his post at a fence when he suddenly noticed stones falling down from the roof of a nearby sentry tower. He turned around and saw bright flashes shaped like petals. The flashes appeared to be coming out the muzzle of a gun. Alexander then fired several shots towards the flashes of light. He then heard whistling sounds coming from the tower. Approaching, he continued firing. He then broke the window in the sentry room and reported to his commander that he was under "attack". The he started moving along a wall, still firing towards the flashes. Unexpectedly he lost consciousness, but even in that state he experienced "strange visions". When he came back to his senses he was languid and felt heaviness on the back of his head. The magazine of his "Kalashnikov" automatic gun was empty (about 30 bullets). He inserted a new one and approached the sentry room, noticing several dents on the walls and then began moving to a different direction. He then heard a strange sound coming from the nearby hippodrome and again started shooting in response. At this point he distinctly saw a strange shadowy entity near the fence, which was moving. Meanwhile all the other guards were positioned in a circle and were following the orders of their commander. The whole incident lasted about 2-3 minutes. The local KGB apparently investigated the event.

On Route 317 two police officers Jacques Belanger & Stephan Filiatrault encountered a bizarre creature about 1.50m to 1.80m in height and about 50 meters away from their vehicle. The figure had two long legs and two huge round phosphorescent red eyes. As the two officers attempted to approach the creature, it quickly disappeared into a nearby wood. It did not appear to touch the ground as it moved.

Mrs. Zakiya Miniahmetovna Sagidullina was in her hot bath when suddenly the door opened and 2 human-like figures entered the bath, which was full of steam. Both humanoids were not tall, only about 1.3 to 1.4 meters in height. They wore something like cowls over and behind their heads. Their dress was silvery, tight-fitting coat, semi-transparent and emanated a soft light from within. They had large mouths, bright red and quite large lips. Their eyes and other facial features were not described, because their heads were in a shadowy area, apparently as a result of the cowls. After a short pause one of the aliens said, "Pam" (which means grandma in the Bashkir language). He then threw his silver coat on her hands. The material seemed to stick to the witness hands and elbows. Don't be afraid said the alien, "We came for 3 minutes" Your kinsfolk wait for you in the XII century (twelve) century. (!). Now we will take you. We will come on the new year." After saying that the uninvited guests turned around and left the same way they entered. Mrs. Sagidullina in utmost puzzlement rushed out the bath and suddenly was grabbed by what felt like invisible hands and carried 30 meters to her house; it felt as if she flew just above the ground. There is not information indicating if the aliens returned in the "New Year".

Yuri M. was sitting in his car at a cooperative garden near Kostroma when heard astonished shouts coming from outside. Looking out he saw people pointing at a bizarre flying object about flying smoothly at about 150meters overhead. The object flew noiselessly and appeared to be flat gray in color and winged. It was blunt nosed with neither a cradle nor a suspension frame for the pilot; it then made a turn and flew closer to the witness. As it flew at about 35 mph Yuri realized that it was really a winged dark man-like figure, with a head and no neck, it had its feet spread apart to the sides. The flying humanoid eventually vanished from sight behind some nearby trees.

One of them stretched out its hand and touched Sergey, who immediately lost consciousness. He came to 45 minutes later without any memory where he had been. Later that night he arrived at the hostel where he was staying in a strong estate of excitation. He was restless and unable to sleep; he kept shouting "leave me alone, leave me alone!" Later that night his roommates awoke feeling unexplained fear. The room was filled in a strange green glow. One of the men approached Sergey in order to awaken him but as he attempted to touch him, an invisible and very cold barrier blocked his hand. Then before their astonished eyes, Sergey began to "melt" his body became misty, then transparent and finally disappeared entirely. In shock they watched the body of Sergey suddenly appear again, the glow now disappeared. Sergey woke up and said that he was fine and had not felt any discomfort. The same green glow invaded the room for several nights in a row.

Two witnesses were driving near the large dump in the outskirts of the city and also to a local military airbase located in Tuzel when they saw a "flying saucer" flying at an estimated altitude of 1km above them and at a speed of about 400-450 km/h. The UFO landed about 1km from the witnesses. The men then approached the landing site, turned off the headlights and got out of the vehicle in order to obtain a closer look. Hidden from view the men saw that the saucer was covered with multicolored lights and it had a flashing red light on its upper section. Two humanoids came out of the disk. They were not much different from humans according to the witnesses. The men became afraid but remained hidden and watching the events. The aliens carried bright objects in their hands resembling flashlights, which they used to illuminate the area with bright beams of light apparently searching for something, the beams appeared to be made out of "solid" or coherent light. After doing that for sometime the aliens walked back into the disk and it flew away. As the men returned to their vehicle they noticed smoke rising from the ground in the area where the aliens had shone their beams of light. The smoke emitted an odor similar to hydrogen sulfide. The men then drove home. One of the men became ill with nausea and stomach pains but recuperated in the morning. He hadn't been ill in the last 6 years.

The witness suddenly woke up feeling a very strong headache, which he had never experienced before. However, immediately after leaving the house the pain disappeared. Soon after he saw at about 100 meters away an enormous object hovering very close to the ground. The craft was lens shaped and was opaque in nature, but was surrounded by a bluish radiance. A black smoky fog surrounded the bottom section of the object. Around the object stood several 2.5-meter tall humanoids wearing tight fitting silvery coveralls. At the same moment he noticed, approaching the object, a group of about 15 to 18 people, all humans, and among them a local well-known gypsy. A man in a dark suit and a white jacket with necktie headed the group. He could see different people in the group, among them children. He was now about 20 meters away from the group and the object. Two of the giant humanoids began mingling with the human group and soon separated three persons from the group, which they brought to the object. All five entered the fog or mist around the object and dissolved into it. Soon the two giant humanoids emerged and led a new group of three people into the object. Soon everyone in the group was brought into the object and seven tall humanoids then entered the object. As soon as the humanoids entered the craft a glow became visible around the craft and it rose into the air, passing over the witness head. A woman named Eleonora B. was visiting her ill one-year old son at the local regional hospital. She was feeling very depressed and sick as a result of her son's serious illness. Soon her son went to sleep and it became very quiet in the ward. She stood up and approached the window and feeling downcast she said, "I have no one to speak to, I wished an extraterrestrial would come visit so I could talk" moments later she went to sleep. Soon she awoke feeling someone's presence in the ward; she had awakened from a deep sleep. Moments later she felt as if in a trance, her mind paralyzed and all of her movements had slowed down. She felt her body rising over the bed and floating in midair and then flying out of the ward. She flew along the empty corridor head forward and then apparently was pulled inside a hovering UFO. Eleonora then floated into an empty room that resembled a hospital ward. Her body then landed on some type of strange couch. The couch was large and white and had a glassy dome over it. Three young men were standing in the ward; there were also two young women and a female about 60 years of age. The older female was dressed in a silver-colored overall. The other persons in the room were either other abducted humans or more aliens. Most of the details of her contact were apparently erased from her memory. The witness was subjected to a medical examination and then returned to the ward of the hospital where she had been taken from. It seems that the aliens had manipulated her memory and had made the examination room onboard the UFO look like an empty hospital ward.

Apparently every time the witness attempts to talk or write about the incident she experiences a stabbing pain in her solar plexus area.

At 1630 that day Mrs. Roza Gabdullovna Sengatullina received a telephone call from her son Ildar, an 8th grade student, who told her that he was going to shop for food with his father, leaving his 8-year old sister Elvira alone at home. At 1800 when Roza returned home her son and husband were not home yet. She did not worry at first since the shops were usually open until 1900. But at around 2000 she began to worry and at 2100 became angry and decided that her husband (a construction engineer) had gone out with friends and had not told her. The whole time she kept looking out the window hoping to see both her husband and son coming. But suddenly at 2130 she was stunned to see both her husband and son standing on the balcony of their 4th floor flat. Assuming it was a joke she walked over to the balcony and realized that the door was locked from the inside. The pale frightened faces of her husband and son stunned and despite the snow and rain, their clothing was totally dry. Her son then said that he would explain everything. Ildar and his father reported that it was already dark when they left the house and took a short cut to the closest grocery store. Suddenly Ildar heard a question in his mind, "Would to come with us?" He did not have time to answer and only thought "Yes I will", and in a moment he and his father appeared inside some room that reminded him of a spacecraft. Three humanoid entities were standing near them; every one of them was close to 3 meters in height, with long hook-shaped noses, large eyes and flat faces. The aliens were dressed in suits made out of a silver-colored material. Amazingly all three aliens were barefoot displaying their large 3-digit feet.

They then accompanied the son and the father to a large screen and said, "Look there". Different compartments of the craft then began appearing on the screen, with abundance of multicolored lighting indicators. After some time Ildar felt that they were taking off, as his face seemed to become very heavy. Then the witnesses were transported to an unknown location (possibly on Earth?). Son and father were led out of the craft and appeared in a small meadow replete with flowers of uncommon beauty and filled with a strong pleasant smell. After some time they returned to the spacecraft. At which point their alien "abductors" decided to eat. The alien food remotely resembled loafs of bread and their beverage was a red liquid. The aliens ate hastily making an unbelievable amount of noise; they did not offer any of the food to the witnesses. Ildar was carrying a bag of sunflower seeds in his pocked and offered some of them to the aliens. The aliens smelled the seeds but did not eat them. During the whole experience Ildar could not communicate with his father and could only exchange glances. Ildar somehow felt that they had traveled to the ocean floor, because he had seen remarkable plants and fishes beyond some windows. At the end of the flight the aliens addressed Ildar the following thought, "You are sociable and good company, if you don't object, we will visit you one more time". The boy's father confirmed all that was said and added, "I had a clear mind the whole time, and I didn't feel any fear and only worried once about the state of affairs at home". Both witnesses felt that the whole journey had only lasted about 15-20minutes. But were stunned when they realized they had been gone for 5 hours. Both could not explain how they had appeared on the balcony. The next day both men suffered from strong headaches and had to remain in bed, but everything returned to normal on November 13.

A young professional couple was driving back home after visiting relatives when they decided to visit the famous monument of Stonehenge. As they drove along they noticed ahead of them a small copse of trees from which an eerie orange glow emanated. As they neared the area a huge orange ball of light rose up from behind the trees and hovered about 50 feet above them. The driver was unimpressed by it, but the passenger was fascinated as the ball of light shot towards their vehicle and began pacing it. As they neared the monument area, the headlights illuminated a band of fog, which stretched across the road ahead of them. As soon as they drove through it they felt they had entered some type of "twilight zone." Everything was silent and there was an overwhelming sense of stillness and isolation. The globe of orange light still followed them as the vehicle neared the security fence. Both witnesses exited the car and while one of them stared at the ball of orange light the other decided to look at the moon which was plainly visible. Moments later he realized that he was laid out flat on a table unable to move and nude. He then felt repeated pushing on both side of his chest and saw extremely delicate hands with only four digits working on him. He then became aware that a small gray figure was straddled on his waist area. All the time a voice kept telling him that he was in bed with his wife.

Anatolyevna Zinovyeva and her husband had just returned from the cinema and were both sleeping when suddenly Anatolyevna felt a push on her arm and opened her eyes to see a strange woman standing over her. The woman was well over 7 ft tall and was dressed entirely in a white light-colored overall. The woman was beautiful with white hair almost to her elbows, large eyes without eyelashes, yellowish face, a dim glow shone out of her eyes. At this point the woman told the witness to put her nightgown and some slippers on that she was coming with her. She arose from bed and put on a gown but could not find any slippers. At the same time she wondered how a gigantic woman had slipped into her locked bedroom. With a motion of her hand the woman opened the door and lead the witness down the corridor of the hostel and out the front the door. Anatolevna was surprised that there wasn't any one at the front desk. They walked down Tveritskiy Street, the woman walking in front of the witness, who felt some heat coming from the tall stranger. The witness followed the woman as if mesmerized, feeling no cold. As they approached a clearing she saw a large luminous sphere hovering near the edge of a pine thicket. The sphere was completely white and emitted a yellow glow. Multicolored lights blinked around the center of the sphere. It hovered about 30-40 cm from the ground. The sphere was about 10-15 meters in diameter; she could not see either door or windows. At this moment the sphere rose itself above their heads and she felt an unknown force pulling her upward. Together with the tall woman she entered the sphere through an opening. Inside everything was uncommon. She found herself in a room with what appeared to be mirrors, everything around her sparkled. She stood on some white material resembling foam. The woman stood next to her. Without knowing why, the witness suddenly asked the tall woman if her people came from the "Dog Constellation". The answer was yes; indeed their planet was located in the "Dog Constellation" but that they would arrive there in only five minutes. Suddenly without having noticed any movement the witness felt that they had arrived at their destination and felt the sphere descend. The sphere had landed on a field covered with what appeared to be soft green moss. At this point the woman saw numerous aliens of different sizes all wearing white overalls. The tall woman stood near her the whole time. As the sphere flew away, she turned to her right and saw a large screen. She saw her reflection on the screen and then the screen began to speak to her and asked her questions, which she cannot recall the context. The screen spoke in the Russian language, and whoever spoke to the witness identified itself as "Erganed". The witness does not recall how she returned back to earth but soon she found herself standing in the snowy clearing feeling very cold, standing barefooted. She walked back home and woke her husband and child; her husband expressed surprised and immediately asked her where she had been.

The main witness (involved in other encounters) and a friend were returning from a group meeting at an extraterrestrial channeler's house and were driving on the Avenida Cupece, which they found strangely deserted that night. Suddenly they found themselves already at the Avenida Washington Luiz, a considerable distance away. They had no recollection how they arrived at such a location. During a hypnotic regression in March/April of 1991 the witnesses recalled driving their vehicle when they were enveloped in a "dark cone" of light which emanated from a hovering disc-shaped craft. Their vehicle disappeared from the road. Both witnesses found themselves within the dark light and within this dark light they entered a light colored tunnel of light which transported them onboard the UFO. Both women found themselves in a large round room. While her friend remained in a state of suspended animation and guarded by two humanoids, the main witness was escorted by a tall long brown haired humanoid, wearing blue coveralls and boots who called himself "Commander DEFE". She was taken into what appeared to have been the command room and there communicated with another tall extraterrestrial. Subsequently she was then taken into a medical room where an old implant was removed from her head and a "new one" inserted. After that both were taken back to their vehicle and deposited on Washington Luiz Avenue.

Alexander Ivanovich Borumbey, a 50-year old resident of the city was in his bed, unable to sleep, looking aimlessly through the glass door of his balcony when he suddenly saw a golden-yellow globe descending from the sky. The spherical object was flying directly towards his room and was increasing in size. Alexander was convinced that the object was going to crash into the glass of the door. But a crash did not occur; he then saw a soundless flash of light that was followed by the appearance of several humanoid entities in the middle of his bedroom. The entities had elongated heads, beige colored faces, and wore tight-fitting pearl colored overalls. Among the uninvited visitors Alexander saw a beautiful woman with large slanted eyes, but unlike those of Mongoloids. The second visitor was a man of average height with similar eyes and the third alien was a smaller entity with a disproportionably large head. Borumbey does not remember if he screamed from fear or not but soon the strangers vanished. Alexander calmed down and thought that the whole experienced had been a dream. He then dressed, shaved, and went to the grocery store. While walking by a small meadow, which was a local children's playground, he suddenly heard a buzzing sound, similar to that of a bee. His body then became numb and at that very moment a beam of light descended from the sky and struck him, Borumbey then lost consciousness. He returned back to his senses 5 hours later, lying on the grass, not far from the original location, he felt giddy. Where he had been all that time he was not able to tell researchers. Borumbey managed to stand up and noticed other pedestrians and children playing. Staggering like a drunk he managed to grab on to a tree in order to catch his breath. He finally managed to cross the road and reached his flat. Soon he became itchy, became ill with nausea and vomited. This state lasted for 3 days. On Borumbey's pants legs several tiny burned openings were found, caused by a source of high temperature, according to laboratory analysis. Curiously his body appeared intact. Later Borumbey told investigators that sometimes he will hear a strange signal coming from the street but upon going to the window he never saw anything. Unfortunately researchers were unable to hypnotically regress Borumbey since he died (no details on that) on January 1991.

A woman named Tatyana Grigorevna Gavrilina (involved in a previous encounter in 1987) went to bed as usual but could not fall asleep. Suddenly a female entity wearing a silver suit entered the bedroom. She stood at the door staring at the witness with huge eyes. Upon seeing the stranger, Tatyana became frightened and crossed herself (like the Russian Orthodox Christian). However the alien woman remain standing by the door looking intently at Tatyana. Seconds later the woman in a smooth gesture moved the palm of one hand up and forward, pointing her palm towards Tatyana, who felt her body penetrated by some kind of "beam" or energy. The maximal influence was exerted on her head, which grew numb. The witness then realized that the woman was attempting to lull her to sleep. In a panic she tried to cover herself with her hands, but in moments she felt the beams pierce through her hands, which became numb also. She then lost consciousness. Later, she does not know how much later, she found herself sitting in an oval hall on a soft brown seat. Two "nice-looking" earth women stood nearby. In front of her was a short object resembling a table and behind it she saw what appeared to be a control panel, on the opposite wall of the hall. Over the control panel there was a large screen and two male alien entities sat directly under it by the control panel. Both wore similar silvery suits as the woman. To the left of the control panel she noticed a curtain. Suddenly two alien females came out from behind the curtain. She already knew one of them. The second alien woman sat near the small table and the first walked towards Tatyana. Next the recollection of events by Tatyana is kind of foggy. She felt lethargic and somehow "hypnotized". Only by using her strong will she managed to remain awake. Suddenly she found herself sitting on a long table with her knees pulled up to her chest. The now familiar alien woman stood nearby. On her belt there was a light that was shining brightly upon the witness. The alien woman then began communicating telepathically. She said, "Now I will check your health, examined your body, starting at the ankles." She then shone the light on Tatyana's legs, all the way down to her feet. Surprised Tatyana wondered out loud why the alien woman was checking her knees, since she found them normal and pointed at the two other human women and asked the alien woman why not study those since they were younger than her. The alien agreed, still moving the light over Tatyana's body. While she performed this operation one of the alien men sitting at the control panel would periodically look at Tatyana and then back at the screen. The second man paid no attention, apparently busy at another task. At this moment Tatyana suddenly had the strong feeling that she was part of an "experiment" on humans by the aliens, which were looking for a healthy specimen. Tatyana became more convinced when she saw a diagram on a paper by one of the alien men, which show her name at the end of a list. Moments later the alien woman told Tatyana that her knees were normal but that her stomach was "in bad shape". "Can it be cured?" asked Tatyana. The telepathic answer was strange, "To cure it you will have to cover your eyes with the branches of a tree". At this point Tatyana lost consciousness again. Later she awoke sitting on the brown soft seat again. The alien man that had been previously sitting at the control panel and staring at her at times was now standing near her and was handing her some narrow boxes made out of something resembling cardboard. Tatyana took the boxes and immediately felt "envy" emanating from the other two human women in the room. There were about 6 or 7 boxes. Tatyana examined the boxes closely and kept only two with her, the shortest and the longest one. The rest she gave to the other two women, which became joyful and agitated. The alien man stood silently without interfering. Tatyana then opened the longest box and found some figures resembling chess pieces but not exactly. After opening the second box she found objects resembling domino pieces but again not quite the same. The alien man then told Tatyana telepathically, "That's is our sugar fruit jelly, taste it". Tatyana took two pieces out of the box, gave one to the woman standing closest to her and put the other one in her mouth. In seconds Tatyana felt a sharp pain in her stomach. The alien man apparently noticed it immediately and walked over to the control panel, pressing some buttons on it. A loud ringing sound was heard and Tatyana immediately lost consciousness. Tatyana later regained consciousness on her bed in her house. She does not remember how she got home. The pain in her stomach was now gone.

A local schoolboy, Maksim, was returning home along Sadovaya Street. It was slightly raining. As he approached an open space of wasteland he heard a hissing sound, like an electric welding torch. As he approached the field a very bright light blinded him. Out of instinct he protected his eyes with his hands. He was able to notice a huge flat object hovering over the empty field. From the bottom of the object emanated a very bright beam of light. On the right side of the object stood a huge entity about 3 meters in height. A second giant descended to the ground within the beam of light. After that the beam of light dimmed. The aliens clothing was streamlined but consisted of separate "plates", the boy could not see their faces; their heads were hidden under black non-transparent visor helmets. They had very broad bracelets on their wrists that flashed in different colors. The aliens did not stand on the ground; they seemed to hover just above the stony soil. The stunned witness watched as one of the giants stretched his hands ahead and began moving his fingers in the airs at the same time sounds of different tonalities were heard as if the giant was playing invisible chords or strings. (Apparently he had been tuning some kind of translator device). Suddenly in a high-pitched voice he yelled, "Boy, we know your name, come here!" Terrified and dripping in sweat the boy stepped back and told them that he would come later, that his parents were waiting for him. Maksim wanted to run away immediately but his legs would not obey him, it felt as if they were made out of lead. Meanwhile a strange force attracted him towards the giants. Despite that, he struggled and turned back, moving his heavy legs slowly, and hobbling away from the giants. One of the aliens yelled, "Boy, Good bye!" When Maksim made it out of the empty lot he turned around but the giants and the object were already gone. But he saw blinking lights ascending to the sky. He experienced eye irritation for several days after the incident, eye drops did not help. At times he could see objects and people as if they were transparent (!). Around the time of the encounter, residents of Sadovaya Street reported that the lights had dimmed and that phone service was temporarily out.

Soviet military units found a crashed alien disc-shaped object in the woods about 90-100 km northeast of the city of Riga. The area was cordoned off and the disk moved out, covered by tarpaulin and loaded upon a flatbed truck or suspended below an MI helicopter. The disk was small, no more than 5 metes in diameter. It had a thick convex lens-shaped base and a large central dome. The dome was slightly flattened on top. In the bottom, the disk had a narrow cylindrical base like a broad prop. One side of the disk had sustained damage, with numerous dents inside the hull, obviously as a result of the hard impact and the fall from a high altitude. According to the report the disk had an insignia on its hull resembling that of a trident. The military team moved the disk to a surface hangar at a military industrial complex in the town of Korolyov north of Moscow. Upon examination, no alien crew was found inside. It was established that the disk was a non-piloted extraterrestrial reconnaissance probe craft, design to collect information and soil samples etc. The disc was eventually removed to the island of Novaya Zemlya to a top-secret military installation build inside a mountain; code named "Lednik" (Glacier).

Looking towards the window she saw two identical humanoid figures standing near the sofa. Both wore silvery metallic one-piece outfits with helmets and a rectangular visor in the face area. One of the figures walked over next to her while the other one stayed by the window. As she became fully awake the humanoid next to her grabbed her neck in a stranglehold. Hair air supply was being shut off but at the same time the humanoid did not appear to assert any pressure with its hand. His long fingers circled her throat as the humanoid stood back from her. The terrified witness attempted to move and speak but could not, looking at the other humanoid in a last ditch attempt, she communicated "telepathically" with him, she pleaded with the humanoid to tell the one choking her to let her go. The witness thought that in fact she had been able to somehow communicate telepathically, that this had startled the humanoids. At the same moment the witness felt her legs rising up into the air, and she screamed, "No I have children!", and in seconds she dropped down on her bed. Then a huge alien figure placed her on her knees into a nearby armchair. The witness felt stunned and confused, but felt a kind of bond towards the aliens as if they were "family". She noticed that as one of the male aliens stood on the armchair, there was no indentation, as if he were completely weightless. Soon the same aliens began visiting the witness quite often. She felt no fear, only good feeling but also some pain in her body. During the encounters the witness's body seemed to rock back and forth while one of the aliens waved his hand in front of her as if to steady her. The aliens left traces or white spots on the carpet in the places where they had stood, the witness could not wipe them clean. At one point when she began to pray in order to eliminate the alien influence she felt hundreds of needle pinpricks pierce her hands, like from an electric current. Also one day her husband found huge footprints on the snow in their yard. Another time she saw huge glowing eyes behind her bedroom window. As they approached the area they saw further movement and as they entered the wooded area both men saw a small humanoid figure, no more than 90cm in height, dark gray in color (like graphite) with a large disproportional head as compared to the rest of the body and a large protruding forehead, the humanoid had large round protruding reddish eyes, the nose and ears were hardly perceptible, and the mouth was just a thin line. The humanoid was neither thin nor fat and stood still for a few seconds in front of the witnesses with its arms crossed at chest level. At that moment both witnesses became paralyzed with fear and could only watch as the small humanoid ran very quickly towards the ravine they had just descended from. Time: late evening
The witness, N, a resident of a small local hamlet was alone at home when the loud barking of a dog in the street disturbed him. He came to the window and suddenly jerked back when a blinding flash of light struck him. What happened next he perceived in a "dream-like" state, but uncommonly realistic. He found himself in a dark room after the flash. He noticed a figure dressed in black standing behind him. Through a narrow window in the room he saw the familiar environs of his hamlet, covered in snow. Suddenly everything became dark around him and he heard a voice. "We are leaving, we are going, now we have arrived!" His next recollection was of passing through "something" and emerging in a large room, faintly lighted. There was a corridor in the wall, slit-like. Soon a tall figure in a gray fitting suit descended from somewhere above, from a dome-shaped ceiling. The alien had large eyes, darkish skin on his face, but the witness does not remember seeing a mouth or nose. He called this figure, "The Gray Man". The figure stopped and looked at the witness. He then leaned over and pressed his cheek on N's left cheek. Instantly, the witness heard a humming sound in his head, and heard a voice in his brain "Would you like to come with us?" Perplexed he asked where. "We don't want you to ask any questions" was their answer. Another figure then appeared near him, dressed totally in black. The tall figure in gray then moved and stood to the left of the witness and the figure in black to his right. Then took his hands and guided him through the slit-like corridor and into another room, which seemed very high. There appeared to be "ropes" stretched along one of the walls. Suddenly a powerful force took the witness up and he began to float in midair. He was frightened but the alien in gray told him not to be afraid. During his short flight, his clothing seemed glued to his body as if he were underwater. He soon descended to the floor and the gray figure grabbed his hand and now they both zoomed up together. While they levitated in the air to different places in the room, the black-garbed alien remained standing below watching them. Suddenly there was darkness all around him again. The witness felt like he was rising up in an elevator. Soon he found himself in a place resembling a park or a forest, apparently on an alien planet. The grass was very green and was evenly cut. There were numerous short trees encircled by lightly leaved bushes all around. It was light all around but he could not see a Sun in the sky. He then saw a strange animal running on the grass, remotely resembling a cat. The gray-garbed alien told the witness to grab the animal. The witness stooped down, held out his hand and the animal climbed on his palm and then jumped down. The black-garbed alien now appeared from behind the bushes accompanied by a small "child". The child resembled a 2-year old. "Raise your hands up" commanded the gray garbed alien, but the witness was unable to, his arms felt like lead, possibly as a result of a very dense gravitational field. His next memory was of walking with the gray-garbed alien on clean yellowish sand. Soon he saw a strange "vehicle", about 4 meters long approached them, resembling very much a giant flat smoothing iron. Surprised the witness asked the alien if the vehicle drove itself, but the answer was a resounding no. There appears to have been a gap in his memory since his next recollection was of being in a darkened room with claret-colored light pouring out of plinths. He noticed several screens located at about 1 meter from the floor on the wall. These emitted light, but nothing was seen on them except a milky haze. Suddenly the portraits of two women appeared on the screens located nearby. The witness emphasized that they were "portraits" not photographs. He looked at one and realized that the woman was the face of his mother, which had passed on many years ago. At this point he blacked out again and when he woke up standing in the middle of his bedroom. He then went to sleep. In the morning he found a pink spot on his left cheek, apparently the place where the gray-garbed alien had touched him.

English teacher A.I. Opelat and two of his colleagues, doctor Vasiliy Ksenofontovich Nazarenko and Novitskiy school director, Alexander Tarasovich were returning from a hunting expedition on a clear and calm day with the sun shining brightly on a pale blue sky. Several local farmers were working on a nearby collective farm (kolhoz), pasturing a field. The three men were walking to the nearby bus stop in the village of Shulgovka, located north of the Dneprodzerzhinsk water reservoir. Suddenly they heard a strange humming sound similar to that of approaching flock of seagulls or ducks, which seemed to increase in intensity. The men turned around and saw an object in the sky, bright red in color, moving swiftly towards them at an altitude of about 100-150m. Gradually loosing altitude, the "sky craft" landed on the asphalt road approximately 50 steps ahead of the witnesses. Amazed they froze in place momentarily and then began studying the unusual landed object. Other people were running to the scene from the direction of the village, and soon a large crowd, including children gathered around, even the shepherds in the pasture had abandoned the cattle. The witness noted that the strange uninvited craft had landed on 4 landing props, each one about 1m long. The object had an even oval-shape about 7-8m long and about 3m wide. It had windows or portholes fitted into the hull on the sides, one porthole in the front, one in the rear and 3 on the right and left side each. On both sides the object had wedge-shaped protrusions similar to small wings, each about 2 meters long. A black 4-pronged emblem was visible on the side of the craft, which the witnesses described as similar to "The Star of David". As the witnesses watched the object, 4 humanoid entities exited out of it. All four were dressed in bright-white shiny clothing, which emitted a silvery glitter, and closed helmets on their heads. All of them were about 2m in height, athletic in built, with broad shoulders. They had braided-like plates on their elbows and knees, like armor on medieval knights. One of the humanoids held a small bright red-globe or sphere in his hands about 15-20centimeters in diameter. The sphere was emitting distinct sounds similar to a "croaking frog". (!). The second entity carried a one-meter long rod or bar of the same bright red color. Local villagers circled the landing site from all sides, staring at the alien visitors totally speechless, until one of the humanoids began waving the red baton-like object towards the stunned witnesses as if inviting the people towards the craft. But the crowd became terrified and scattered in all directions. The three main witnesses also followed suit, frightened by reports of abductions and radiation sickness to other witnesses. When they had run a proper distance away they stopped and watched the aliens entering the spacecraft which then soundlessly and slowly began lifting from the ground. The all four landing props went back into the object when it was at an altitude of about 20-25m, it then moved slowly upwards and then to the southeast vanishing quickly into the distance.

The main witness had just arrived home from work and was getting ready to go to bed, when he heard noises in the house, however after a brief search he failed to locate anything. As he lay in bed he suddenly felt a strong tingling sensation and became paralyzed. A small thin hand then appeared, it had only three thin digits. The hand began probing his chest and stomach area and seemed to be able to penetrate inside his body, touching the witness organs. The hand then retreated and the witness was able to move again. He went to look out the window and outside he saw 4 or 5 short thin white figures, which had large egg-shaped heads, thin bodies and extremely long thin arms, one or two were a bit taller than the others. One of the taller beings looked directly at the witness. The being had large greenish eyes and called the witness by his name. The witness then ran back to his bed and felt paralyzed again. The beings then appeared in the bedroom and began probing the witness internally. At one point the beings introduced a long thin silvery tube into the witness penis. At that point he lost consciousness. The witness claims he was apparently cured from persistent internal bleeding that he had been suffering from.

A 60-year old pensioner and former miner, who were extremely ill, had gone to sleep in an attempt to ease his chronic pain. But soon he awoke unexpectedly. His pain had apparently vanished and he was breathing easier. When he opened his eyes he saw a "woman" standing near his bed. Standing further away the figure of a man was visible.

Fear seized the witness and his heart started racing. "Don't be afraid" said the woman. "We are from space and are here to save your planet from evil and we will help you. We see and hear everything." The extraterrestrial woman then added that the witness was very vindictive and do not forget even the slightest offenses, but they would help him anyway. The witness was not sure if the last statement was meant only for him or for all humans in general. The aliens then suddenly vanished, but his fear was still present. He got up from bed and switched on his radio and heard a quite melody coming from it. He went to bed again and turned his face towards the wall in an attempt to sleep. But suddenly he felt his head along with his pillow rising up; his body was then tossed up with what appeared to have been a blast of compressed air. He felt hundreds of pinpricks penetrating his body. Suddenly before him he began to see scenes like from a movie. He saw color and black and white stills flashed upon his 4-meter wall. He then saw an unusual town full of people, like a crowd during lunch hour. Among the people he saw several dressed in what appeared to be white doctor smocks. His fear had vanished, and he could also hear strange unearthly music. Suddenly the crowd of people hurried off towards him and in a minute the stills vanished and a man wearing a white smock appeared in front of the witness. He stopped only 2 meters from the witness and asked him what his main complaint was. He witness answered that he suffered from strong leg and arm pains. The "doctor" then easily moved his hand over the witness arms, legs and head. The witness vision then suddenly became blurry and he heard a voice shout "Give him the pillow!" At this moment a woman approached the witness from the opposite direction. She was holding a syringe in her hands with a huge needle, which she pointed directly into the witness's eye. The witness then began to tremble with fear, but felt no pain. The woman then put the syringe on the table and told the witness that he would now be cured. She then gave him a large coin-sized pill; he thought it was too big to swallow. When the woman approached the witness holding a pillow the witness saw on the mirror the reflection of his table covered by a white tablecloth. Two "doctors" in white smocks sat near the table. The astounded witness then saw a hospital bed nearby and on it a man lying, which was a complete copy of the witness (!) (A clone?). The woman then inserted a particular large pill and inserted it in a glass tube and told the witness to open his mouth. At the same time the witness felt a freezing cold inside his body. According to the witness the space visitors visited him two more times. The two additional contacts were apparently erased from his memory. Eventually the witness was cured of his chronic pain and felt excellent and rejuvenated.

Darya, a local student at one of the Institutes in Odessa was again visited by a pair of humanoids, a man and a woman. The strangers fed her the same yellowish food (as the previous contact in Bryansk) but this time the food was not pleasant to the taste. (It was apparently some type of special substance to help the human organism accommodate to interstellar travel). Darya was then taken to an alien planet. As she described it, almost everything around her was white like ivory. She saw vehicles remotely similar to terrestrial buses, but with four levels. The humanoids on the planet were very tall, about 3 meters in height. The alien food consisted of microelements and was specially designed. All processes and activities on the planet were under female supervision. (Social order was kind of a civilized matriarchy). Darya mentioned that she felt pleasure while communicating with the inhabitants of this planet who were very attractive in outlook. They seemed semitransparent (?), gracious, and extremely beautiful in appearance, especially the men. But the alien women Darya communicated with was sort of unpleasant looking and malicious in nature, with a repulsive manner of speaking and of treating Darya. Darya hated her. The name of the alien woman was "Sous". But there was an alien man that always communicated with Darya, calming her and telling her not to be afraid, he did not give Darya his name. The aliens communicated among each other using sounds resembling "uuoo" or "uuoo". The aliens told Darya that it took 72 light years to travel from their planet to earth, but they overcame the distance in their spacecraft in only 3 hours. While on the alien planet Darya saw numerous alien humanoids including alien children. The extraterrestrial children were of Darya's height and all gathered around her striving to touch her hands. The aliens seemed very curious and treated her politely and in a caring manner (except for the main alien woman). Upon returning home the aliens entered into telepathic communication with the witness and Sous and another alien male visited Darya in her bedroom. No one else in the house could hear their words, only Darya. Unfortunately the contact influenced Darya negatively. For example, before this experience with the aliens, she was able speak German fluently, but totally forgot it after the contact. However the aliens assured her that everything would be back to normal in a week. After another telepathic contact with the aliens on December 19 Darya became numb and was unable to speak for 2 days. According to Darya the aliens then attempted in a strange experiment with her and attempted to insert some type of metal rod under her tongue, they were very harsh during this procedure. Curiously, Sous attempted to persuade Darya to come with them for two years and during that time she would explain to them in detail the workings on earth (!). Sous also expressed her desire to teach Darya about alien medicine. She told Darya that they would teach her their medicine and she would become famous on earth. Darya stubbornly refused to go with the aliens to their planet for two years, telling them that she couldn't leave her mother alone. She was told, "Think about it, we will return back soon". Sous was persistent and gave Darya a month to think about it. But Darya stated that she would never voluntarily agree to leave the earth. The investigators reportedly found an intensified energy anomaly in Darya's bedroom where many of her contacts had taken place.

All attempts to start the engine failed. One of the drivers walked to the nearest village for help and the second one, by the name of Petrov, stayed behind in the tractor. Suddenly the lights of the cabin began to flash on & off and he then noticed a huge male figure visible in the flashing lights. The figure was very tall, about 2.5m in height. The giant was dressed in a tight-fitting blue suit. All of the sudden a sort of invisible force began pushing the Petrov out of the tractor's cabin. He resisted furiously but in vain, as his legs seemed to drag him out. The tall stranger then grabbed Petrov by his shoulders, leaned over him and put his face close to Petrov's cheek. At that moment Petrov heard a voice inside his head, "We need you!" He answered loudly, "I don't want to go, take my workmate better! He will be back soon!" However he categorically refused to participate in the mysterious experiment. Then the stranger told him to stay home and not to go to work in two days from now, to stay home sleeping. The alien then removed his hand from Petrov's shoulder. Seized by fear Petrov ran to the nearest village. Moments later a local militia officer met him on a bicycle and took Petrov, who appeared to be in shock, uttering inarticulate howling, back with him. Thinking that the man was crazy he took Petrov to the police station. Only there, in the presence of two other officers did Petrov calmed down and began talking. He then demanded a paper and pen and began writing down strange signs, remotely resembling Chinese hieroglyphs. Petrov wrote incredibly fast, like a typewriter. The local MD gave Petrov a 2-day medical discharge. All his attempts to write something down on Russian were futile and he had almost lost his ability to speak.

A female witness named Aishat, mother of many children, suddenly awoke at the stroke of midnight for an unknown reason. The blinds of the bedroom window were opened and outside she noticed a cloud-like object giving out light, but did not paid to much attention. She attempted to go to sleep again. But suddenly a loud clap was heard behind the window and a bright flash of light invaded the bedroom. Two slender and tall entities then appeared standing amid the bedroom; both were dressed in tight-fitting space suits. Round non-transparent helmets covered their heads. At first Aishat that she was hallucinating but her unbidden visitors compelled her to believe in the reality of their presence in her bedroom and began talking to her, in a loud ringing voice one of the aliens said, "Get up, don't be afraid of us, get up and come with us". Aishat said that she was not afraid but refused to go with them, pointing out that she had children and was sick. The alien said, "We know everything about you", "Do what we order and nothing bad will happen to you." At the same time her fear changed to a sense of total tranquility and even some joy. Not knowing why, Aishat suddenly felt complete trust and sympathy towards the strangers. She stood up, put on a dressing gown, coat, headscarf and some slippers and then her memory left her. Soon she found herself in a glade. She looked around and saw trees, mountains, and the local October Revolution canal nearby. The place was indeed familiar to her. Suddenly she heard a heart-wrenching scream of a woman, "I will not go with you nowhere, and leave me alone, you scoundrels!" Aishat turned around and saw the two tall aliens in spacesuits standing in the glade, where there had been nothing a second before, and a human female standing in between them. The female was hysterical, scolding the aliens with a few choice words, as they tightly held her arms. One of the aliens then pressed a button on its chest and Aishat immediately stopped hearing the female screams, even though she could still see her mouth opening and moving. On the glade she noticed the alien spacecraft that suddenly had appeared before her eyes. The aliens then brought both women inside the landed disc-shaped object. Aishat saw a large control panel onboard the object covered with numerous blinking multicolored lights. On the panel she saw what appeared to be a star map. One of the aliens pointed to the star map and said, "We came from there" A little bit irritated Aishat ignored the alien and said that it wasn't her business to know. Her joyful feeling had somehow changed into a feeling of worry. Both women were then ordered to sit quietly on some chairs. The flight lasted approximately 40 minutes. As soon as the object began flying both aliens removed their helmets and spacesuits and Aishat was surprised that the two aliens were very pleasant looking females, very attractive in nature. The color of their not very dense hair was golden-chestnut; they had reddish skin and brown eyes. When the flight was over, the two alien women did not don their spacesuits back on. They took both human females out of the craft. According to Aishat outside in the alien world there was a sun that shone very brightly, and appeared 2 times bigger than Earth's sun. The air in the alien world was uncommonly fresh. Aishat who suffered from a lung illness immediately noticed the different from both atmospheres. The female aliens accompanied both human women but told them to walk ahead. Aishat bent down and grabbed some of alien soil that left no traces of dust on her fingers. When they had walked about 30 meters the two human women saw a group of human-looking persons, sitting on a square object and working on "computers". They seemed to be pressing buttons and multicolored lights were flashing on the control panel, the same as inside the object. When the other humans saw the approaching women, they gave them indifferent glances and strange crooked smiles appeared on their faces. Then a man of about 45-years of age stepped towards the two abducted women. He had a mustache, wore an official looking black suit and a white shirt, he said in a quite voice, " I am the leader of this group of people" He then added cryptically, "If you don't want to stay here, do everything the wrong way around!" After saying that the man, who resembled a native Caucasian by the name of Lezgin (apparently who had been missing) stepped aside. The two female aliens had not heard him. They had been walking behind the two witnesses, now they accompanied them in silence. Suddenly a huge wall appeared in front of them, apparently rising from the ground. There was a door on the wall, it opened and the women proceeded inside into a room. Inside there were 15 alien members of an "examination team" that were waiting for them. The examiners sat on a circle and one of the aliens said to the 2nd witness, "Here is a piece of paper, draw the letter "K" and then "zh". The Dagestanian woman, with a knowing smile wrote the letters "zh" first and then the letter "K". (Apparently remembering what "Lezgin" had mentioned earlier). This was noted by the alien group who exchanged glances among them and then one of them said, "Good bye. You are both free." Later the same alien females accompanied both women back to the flying saucer. When they passed by the group of humans working on the "computers", Aishat saw clearly several men of Dagestanian nationality, there we no less than 20 of them. Soon all four appeared back inside the UFO. The return flight was also 40 minutes long and the spacecraft landed on the same glade near Mahachkala. At the end one of the female aliens told Aishat, "Think it over, maybe the next time you will want to stay in our world forever? We will return for you." After that Aishat could not recall how she appeared at home again. In the morning she told everything to her oldest daughter. Several days later the two alien women kept their promise and appeared in Aishat's bedroom and asked her, "So, have you decided to come with you? Aishat told them that she couldn't since she had a big family and could never accompany them. The two alien women then disappeared in plain sight of witness. Apparently the alien women never returned again.

The witness was woken up by a very bright white light shining down on the backyard. She sat up in bed and was able to see the light shining through the curtains. Passing in front of the window were shadows of thin figures, with large heads, they were small and moved very fast. She tried to wake her two sleeping dogs but they would not budge, they seemed to be unconscious. Scared she dragged one of the dogs and hid inside the closet. Soon she came out of the closet and suddenly a rush of information entered her head, she saw pictures and glowing symbols, triangles, circles, and other objects. Then a short pale, thin creature, with large black eyes appeared in front of her, and communicated with her telepathically. She heard him said, "Two worlds shall meet and become one. Two planes shall meet. Heaven and Earth shall meet etc." While the being communicated with her she saw an image of two flat glowing grids, that rotated slowly in space, then became locked together to form one plane. Then she saw the Earth from space and it was covered with glowing rings. Suddenly she woke up with a feeling of elation and exhilaration.

Researcher Joseph Guijarro was at the house of a local nurse, Judith, who had been involved in several possible abduction episodes. That night while him and Judith spoke suddenly her pet dog stood to attention and the TV set's volume control began increasing and decreasing of its own accord. When everything appeared to be calming down they heard the sound of chanting. Somewhat scared they decided to go to their respective rooms. Later Guijarro reported having heard all manner of creaking and squealing sounds. Around 0300A, the dog began to howl and steps could be heard on the staircase. Guijarro was then stunned to see the outline of a short creature with a large head that walked by his bedroom's doorway. His reaction was also surprising; he took a deep breath and fell asleep.

According to sources an 11-year old boy of Yemenite origin disappeared for half a day while walking home from school. When he finally returned to his hysterical parents late at night, he was unable to remember why he was late and had no recollection of the previous hours. Two weeks later he remembered that he had been abducted by "giants" and taken into their lair. There he was medically examined and a small device was surgically inserted into his left arm near the wrist. He was later supposedly taken to a clinic where a small device was removed from his arm.

The 63-year old woman was lying in bed in a rural area, when suddenly a being appeared. In a blink of an eye she found herself in a large, blue colored room. Bright light seemed to be coming through the ceiling. Gravity seemed normal. 4 beings were visible. They were described as 180cm tall. Each had small, oval shaped heads, and were intelligent looking. The eyes were almond shaped, tapering upwards at the end. They had small mouths, thin lips with a small nose. The skin was pale, pearly, and soft to touch. On the hands she noticed 4 long, slender fingers but was unsure if there was a thumb or not. Small boots covered the small feet. They wore a jump suit, blue gray in color, and there were no zips, markings, or insignia on them. They moved in a graceful almost gliding like manner. She was on a transparent, glass like table, with no sensation of cold or heat. She saw a total of 3 tables in the area. A being examined her using thin pencil-like torches, with a light on one end. These were held against different parts of her body. 2 of the beings communicated with her telepathically. One was male the other female. She has no recollection leaving the room but next found herself back in her own bed.

An unusually loud chirring noise that reminded them of crickets awakened the Ivanitzky family. This happened more than once. On the tenth day they discovered a strange creature under the bed, resembling either a dog or a huge mouse. After slippers were thrown at the creature, it twitched and grew in size, becoming almost three times as big. Unexpectedly it cast out from its nose a very long trunk, which it used to try to grab the legs of the family members. The family then began hitting the creature with whatever they could lay their hands on, and the children sprayed it with household chemicals. The creature then rolled over to a far corner and lay there still. The creature had very short bluish hair, two three fingered paws and strong wings, about a meter and a half in wingspan, resembling a bat's wing. The creature's muzzle looked like a human face cast in plaster, an almost flat clear face with small forehead, very large eyes and a tiny lipless mouth. Instead of a nose it had a triangular hole. Mr. Ivanitzky fearful that he had killed a State protected animal threw it out into a ditch. Soon the creature disappeared from the ditch.

8-year old Liuba was with her brother sitting before the television waiting for the early morning cast of cartoons. Suddenly the girl felt that an enormous shining hand protruded from the wall behind them and rested on her head. Then she felt herself lifted into the air. A narrow dark tunnel opened up, and she began to "fly". It was a pleasant and easy flight. She noticed unusual trees around---perfectly bare, sleek, with no bark. They were all studded with gold coins, and the gold was transparent---very strange and beautiful. She flew towards a bright yellow light. Suddenly she felt the presence of someone invisible near her. She heard a strong voice say, "The light that you see before is my father's eyes. This is paradise. But only the dead can see it". That was the explanation of the unseen "guide". Liuba said, "But I am not dead, am I?" She then looked back and at the end of the tunnel she saw her room and herself sitting on the sofa besides her brother. Meanwhile the flight continued and she approached the circle of yellow light. She wanted to enter it but an invisible power pushed her back. "Is that all?" asked the girl. The voice answered, "Yes that's all. Do you want me to heal people through you? They have miserably forgotten me." "Yes I do" answered the girl and suddenly found herself in the room sitting on the sofa. Her frightened brother was shaking her by the shoulders. He yelled, "What happened? You were not moving or breathing---as if dead!" After this incident the young girl did apparently gained the power to heal others.

Then a "female electronic voice" from the house called her neighbor's name. Attempting to stand up, she found herself frozen. She recalls saying out loud, "God is their father also," and then she fell asleep until morning. The woman crawled under her porch to find numerous shoe prints, a single odd handprint, and "drag marks" impressed in moist clay.

He then felt a presence at the door. Although he could not turn to look, he had the impression the figure was about 5'10" tall, very slim and wearing a long white, hooded robe. The witness then heard words in "his head." Telling him that his kids were all right, that he did not want to "see this." After that, he went back to sleep and woke the next morning thinking it was a vivid dream. The next day his youngest son told him that he was awakened in the middle of the night and "floated" down the hallway and into the living room, which turned into a bright, oval room where he found a small being looking down at him. As Filaret Yakolevich (involved in previous encounters) sat on his sofa when he heard a strange bell-like sound at the front door. He approached the door and opened it and encountered two humanoids standing on the threshold. One was about 2 meters in height, the second approximately 1.80m in height, possibly a female but at this point the witness could not tell. Both humanoids were dressed in bright green suits. On their heads they wore transparent helmets. He could see very large wide eyes behind the helmet. He felt no fear as the strangers invited Filaret to go with them. They walked out of the court and the witness mentioned that he was not dressed properly for the cold weather. They told him not to worry that they would create a comfort zone around him. The humanoids then stood one on each side of the witness and he began to feel very comfortable warmth. Then in very rapid movements as if flying they reached the edge of the woods, there he saw a UFO resembling a flattened sphere of light gray color with a violet sheen. There were no windows or hatchways visible. From below a semi transparent pipe went into the earth. But it was not a support since the craft appeared to hover about 15cm from the snowy ground. In some manner all three entered this pipe and were instantly pulled inside the UFO. Inside he found himself in a room 10 x 12 meters in diameter, and about 4.5 meters in height. All angles were rounded. Two doors were seen, and an escalator leading upwards apparently into another room. He was surprised that the inside the UFO was considerably larger than it appeared to be from outside. Aboard the ship he saw eight additional extraterrestrials. Outwardly they appeared practically equal. Their eyes were golden in color. All wore transparent mask-like helmets. Their hair was short & dark in some of them and light brown in others. He could hear the conversation between the aliens even though their lips remained tightly closed. The aliens answered some of the questions posed to them by the witness. They explained to the witness that their biological structure was completely different from humans. They did not have heart or lungs, or a digestive system. Their basic organ was some kind of "energy", based organ located where humans had their liver. It resembled a mineral grainy mass. They told the witness that they had visited other areas on earth including Argentina and the Russian town of Nalchik. Furthermore Filaret learned that the UFO did not require fuel. They somehow were able to dominate gravity and use null space and zero channels to travel. At this point Filaret expressed his desired to visit their planet and he was told to sit down on a chair very close to a screen. On the screen, which was about 50 x 80 cm in size he saw surprising pictures, he saw other planets and constellations. He then saw what he was told was their planet of origin. He saw beautiful scenes containing enormous trees, without leaves. On the branches were located beautiful houses, multicolored and cube-shaped. Below this huge "trees" grew normal earth sized trees. The air inside the craft smelled like sweet mint, which made him feel very comfortable.

It now floated on the center of the road and the witness slowed down and turned on the high beams. Suddenly he was stunned to realize that it was not a "sheet" but a man-like figure. It was moving towards the witness, moving its arms very slowly as if it were swimming. Little by little it moved off to the right and feet first, descended to the ground. As the witness drove by the figure he looked more closely and was able to see more details. It had a long bony pale face, somewhat resembling that of a corpse. Its whole face and body appeared to be illuminated by a dim glow, bluish reddish in color. It had long straight hair almost white in color and was shoulder length. Its hands and feet were long, bony and strong looking. He was apparently barefooted. The humanoid was easily over 2 meters in height and wore something on his forehead resembling a diadem or tiara. The humanoid facial expression was that of extreme resigned sadness and fear. This scared the witness who as he drove by the figure saw it bend down in an almost mechanical fashion. After the mysterious appearance and disappearance of hieroglyphics like symbols on Lorne Goldfader's skin, he stepped outside his residence to go to a nearby grocery store. He was then startled to see two individuals with the oddest appearance, walking very quickly on the street past his home. Both were male and appeared to be in their mid to late twenties, wearing identical pinstripe suits. The clothing looked as if it had just come from the factory and had never been worn. The shoes looked black, new, shiny and unused. They both had Chicago-style hats on. One of them, the individual with normal features, looked at him very surprised as if he had caught them off guard. We are trying to stop activity you do not understand. Do not interfere. Le us pass. The activity you are experiencing is direct contact by others, which we do not want." He could not bring himself to approach them. When he gazed into his eyes he saw an absolute lack of all human feeling and emotion. Goldfader felt that both humanoids were biological constructs. Four witnesses, including Harold Egeln, had gone to Upper Magnetic Mine Road near the Titicus Reservoir when they soon heard a "pinging" sound. Shortly after three of the four felt an odd electric-like tingling in their hands. A shaft of subtle whitish light was seen on the road, which Egeln entered, finding it freezing in the cone of light although it was in the mid 70's that night. Other odd effects were observed and the woman (Cherry) and older man (Sam) returned to his car as Egeln and the younger man (Rodney) stayed outside on the road, with the car behind them. Soon they saw a subtle white outline on the road about 50 feet ahead of them, it was a saucer shape with a cupola on top. Inside the effect, dark conical forms of various sizes appeared one by one. When the light faded, the tubular forms hurried across the road, huddling together very fast, assuming shapes that looked like hooded robes. As they moved down the road, as scream came from the car, and the two guys ran there. Cherry had seen three "little grays" moving in lockstep towards the back of the car, only to disappear when she screamed. Harold and Rodney then returned to the site as Cherry and Sam stayed in the car. As a car drove up the road, the hooded shadows slanted towards the ground, only to reappear in a procession in the trees after the car passed. The procession moved to a huge outcropping of rock, where the forms vanished as they entered the rock. That was succeeded by swirling shapes, like a hurricane or whirlpool galaxy in the air, and subtle symbol-like images in front of the rock outcropping. After about 10 minutes the shadowy forms emerged, settling across the road from Harold and Rodney. Harold felt compelled to cross the road, and as he did, he felt what he described as "a wall of emotions," that he passed through, composed of all ranges of positive and negative emotions. When he came to where the forms were, he no longer saw them, as if he had walked into a hologram while Rodney watching this still saw the forms around Harold. Harold felt subtle energies throughout his body, up his spine, and felt as if he were undergoing G-force accelerations. Shortly thereafter the experience ended.

The witness had gone to bed late at night when he suddenly heard what could best be described as "tones" in his head. It was as if he was wearing headphones, the notes seemed to move from ear to ear. As the tempo of the sounds increased, they were joined by, not so much a voice, but a feeling that said - "Relax, Don't be afraid. Go with it." Suddenly it felt as he had stuck his head out a car window that was accelerating from 0 - 300 in just a few seconds. Then everything stopped. He floated in total silence, looking through what seemed like a filter at the Earth many miles below. Next, he was in a very old place. In design, much like a university or cathedral. There were "monks" there, tall beings in long hooded cloaks whose faces were hidden from the witness. He followed one of them outside where he sat beside a small river surrounded by very fine sand. The tall humanoid showed him a book with pages that moved. As he sat there he was overcome with the most amazing sense of awe. It was as though everything suddenly became clear, and he knew what life was really about. Suddenly things shifted once again. He was standing on top of cliff. The cliff was a dusty yellow/orange color. The ground below was torn up, dead trees pushed up from broken dirt and rocks. He then looked down at himself, wearing what appeared to be very primitive armor. Standing beside him was an old man in similar garb. Without speaking in words, the witness knew that the old man was telling the witness "the people in this area are sick." There were some horse-like animals with them. When he mounted one, it flew. All of this ended with a loud rushing sound. He was once again in his bedroom. He was not able to speak of the incident for a long time afterwards.

Two men were sleeping on an isolated hillside when C J suddenly woke up feeling a presence around him. He looked up and saw a tall luminous figure approaching their position. The figure was about 1.90 meters in height, thin, with wide shoulders and completely hairless. It was coming directly at the witness, quickly gliding just above the ground. C J woke up his friend M C that also saw the luminous figure. The figure suddenly stopped two meters from the witnesses, turned in a 45 degree angle, then glided up to the mountain at very high speed, quickly disappearing from sight. The next day both men observed a silvery sphere hovering above the mountain, the sphere emitted a bright intermittent flash of light. It suddenly rose up and disappeared from sight.

He was confronted by a very short figure with a large head and huge dark deep eyes. Terrified he attempted to scream but could not utter a word. He was also unable to move and realized that several other similar figures were present and had apparently taken over his will apparently forcing him to accompany them towards a bright light. At this point his memory became hazy and he could only remember walking through metallic corridors, seeing what appeared to be surgical instruments, monitors and being pinched in the arm by a very sharp needle like instrument. In turn he was apparently given information on other civilizations. He did not eat for seven days after the encounter. Later one night he recalled waking up to find himself on an operating table, in a surgery with three or four beings about 3 ft tall probing him. The humanoids used pen-like devices to check his air, skin and internal organs. Two larger human-like creatures, about 6 ft tall were ordering around the small beings. His eyes were fixed on her as if he were looking "into" her. She felt as if he knew her deepest thoughts and knew all of her emotions and everything that she had experience during her entire life. At first she felt fear as she noticed certain things about the tall blond that seemed abnormal. He did not move like a normal human being. He appeared to move in a robotic fashion. His eyes looked and looked at her, she wanted to run away but she was unable to move. He continued to stare at her and after some minutes her fear changed to a different emotion, described as peaceful and loving. Soon she received several messages inside her head, telling her that he knew her and that he would never harm her. Suddenly a young woman spoke to her and she looked

The vessel was round, plain with no identifying marks, a drab silver gray color and about 40 ft in diameter. Inside there were three hi-backed brown (leather in appearance) chairs with padded armrests, placed back to back like a triangle in the center of the ship. The occupants were human like wearing short sleeved plain cotton white shirts, with what appeared to be "Fire Dept" badges on them, black cotton pants with a single denim stripe outside of each pant leg, low cut plain black shoes and black caps with the word "Police" printed in white on the front (?). The men told him that their vessel allowed the occupants to mentally link for activation and operation of the vessel, there was no great array of controls. Their vessels could easily travel faster than the light speed. The three occupants appeared to be normal intelligent men with much knowledge and expertise as to their positions. The witness was with the men for three days, and was able to travel onboard the ship. He was later deposited back in the desert where the encounter had originally taken place.

A family of five was driving slowly along a rural road when suddenly they experienced vehicle trouble; they were unable to re-start the vehicle. They then decided to stay in the car overnight. Moments later they saw numerous military jeeps heading at high speed to a nearby remote radar station. Twenty minutes later they all saw a huge multi-colored light hovering next to the radar aerial. The light suddenly descended over their vehicle and they could now see it was a huge disc-shaped craft. The frightened witnesses now saw a little humanoid jump on top of the hood of the car, it was short and thin with a large egg shaped head, with large bright red eyes that had a point of light in the center and had long arms with long thin fingers. It also had gray-white skin and wore a gray white skintight outfit. The witnesses suddenly heard a telepathic message telling them "to calm down and not to resist." Suddenly they all felt a sudden calm and lost all will to resist. Two more similar beings then appeared and one of them took the youngest child, telling him that it was a special baby and that it had a special task in the future. The witnesses now got out of the car and were hit by a beam of light from the hovering disc; they all suddenly found themselves inside the object. They were all taken to a huge room resembling a laboratory and told to lie down on metallic tables. Several examinations and tests were performed on them. The witness, who had encountered several short gray figures months before suddenly found himself sitting in some sort of chair in complete darkness. Terrified, his gaze was focused on the display directly in front of him. It consisted of differently colored luminescent triangular outlines, isosceles triangles that moved as if mounted by their short side on a curved conveyor belt that rose up in an arc towards him with it's end terminating just before his seat. They would move, one at a time in rapid succession straight towards him then snap down so he seemed to pass through the outlines center before it disappeared. Just as one was disappearing another would race towards him and in the short time his memory lasted it happened many times. Their colors varied: blue, yellow, pink, violet and all had a luminous neon quality about them. They stood out sharply against the darkness and behind them spewed forth some sort of vapor illuminated by spheres of flickering luminous light shooting upwards into the darkness, randomly changing color and sometimes breaking into beams, which would flash towards him, and into his eyes. But this experience had a quality about it that set it apart from the others in it's own unique way and made it even uglier, it was accompanied by music. It was utterly devoid of feeling and played so loud that he could feel the sound waves pulsing on his skin much like when you stand near a large speaker playing at volume. It had a fast and aggressive bass beat, and changed tempo regularly but never slowed. There was also a constant staccato, clattering beat in the background, which was equally offensive to the ear. The witness also saw triangular shaped images floating in front of him.

Onboard the Russian vessel "Yuri Levitan" seaman V V Petukhov had just finished his chores when a strange feeling overwhelmed him, he felt like if he went above decks he would see a "UFO". Doing just that he did noticed 7 silvery disks hovering high in the sky partly camouflaging themselves among the clouds. The objects were totally silvery metallic in nature and one was hovering closer than the others appeared to be about 50 to 70 meters in diameter. He ran to fetch other sailors but strangely could not find anyone around. He came back up and still saw the discs that now appeared to revolving. On the lower object he thought he could see some panels and figures and he waved at them. After awhile, Petukhov using mental thoughts told the discs that he must go in order to complete further tasks onboard the vessel. He thought he received a mental message from the lower disk that it was time for them to go also. He left and did not see the objects depart.

She then encountered a strange reptilian being described as five-foot nine inches tall with a green body that appeared scaly and rough. He had pea-green eyes with pupils slanted like a cat, black and yellow in color. The being lacked hair, had a small mouth, thin arms, duck-like hands with brown webbing in between four long fingers with sharp nails on the ends. The witness felt electricity going through her hands apparently after the being touched her. She was then told that they needed human beings to make their race stronger because it was dying out.

Staying alone in a cabin on a hill, Katka Ceselkova, Ivetka Kocrcakova and Mikulas Ceselka heard a crackling sound in the forest near where they had made a bonfire. The sound was first soft and then it intensified. Afraid they went inside their hut. They closed the door and heard the sound of someone rattling something made out of tin. Soon the noises became louder. After awhile they heard a strong knocking on the door as if someone had thrown a piece of wood from the high rocky hill. At this point all three began to pray in earnest. They began praying to the Virgin Mother and soon a glow appeared in the middle of the room. At this point their fear was gone. As they saw on the bed they saw within the glow an entity they identified as the Blessed Mother. The figure appeared to sit on a bench and listen to the girls. They all then ran out of the hut and began running home. "The Blessed Mother" followed them, staying two steps behind them (did she glide?). They turned around and saw her reached a roadside cross where she knelt and prayed. Then she went behind the girls and began to gradually disappear. At home one of the girls saw "The Blessed Mother" in front of her uncle's house. She was silent and was dressed in a white dress, a blue cloak, and a blue transparent veil and on her head she wore a crown and in her hand she held a rosary. Scared the girls ran inside the house. There were other encounters with this entity.

A huge dirigible shaped object first attracted the attention of the military when it appeared on the radar screens of the Mangishlak Peninsula, flying from west to east at 960 km per hour and at an altitude of 6600 meters. Thinking that the object might have been launched from Kapustin Yar, Mangishlak personnel contacted the Cosmodrome. Kapustin denied any knowledge of the object, although they confirmed its appearance on radar. The object failed to respond to attempts at communication on any frequency, and since it was flying near a restricted area, two MIG-29 fighter jets that were already on patrol were directed to intercept it. In addition a third jet was scrambled from Air station 7. The MIG pilots were directed to intercept the object, to identify it if possible, to try to make contact with it, and to force it to land at the nearest Air station. If the object failed to cooperate, they were directed to shoot it down. The Migs intercepted the object over the western shore of the Aral Sea at 0512A. The pilots observed the object both visually and on their radar screens, and they described it as dirigible shaped, 600 meters long by 110 meters wide, with very little surface detail except for two round "portholes" near the front, and some sort of strange green markings near the rear. The object did not make any hostile moves or react in any way to the presence of the jets. When all attempts at contacting the object failed, the squadron leader proposed positioning the jets on either side of the object at a distance of about 800 meters and gently but firmly directing it to the Air Station. If necessary the jets were to fire warning shots to encourage the object to cooperate. When the jets were in position around the object, however, it soon became apparent that, within 800 meters of it, the weapons systems of the Migs shut down for no apparent reason. Worse yet, at a distance of 600 meters from the object, the engines of the Migs began to malfunction. The object began to make zigzag evasive maneuvers and to increase its speed from 960 kms per hour to 6800k kms per hour. These maneuvers were verified by radar at Baikonur, Alma-Alta and Bishkek. The jets backed off as it became apparent that their plan to force the object to land was not going to succeed, and the object proceeded east through Alma-Alta airspace at a slightly lower altitude of 4500 meters. Radar dispatchers at Alma-Alta fearing a collision with a conventional aircraft issued a general alert for air traffic to avoid the area. At 0527A the object disappeared from radar in the area of Lake Issyk-Kul near the border of Kazakhstan. A month later reports began to trickle back to Bishkek that a huge UFO had been seen to crash into the Tien Shan Mountains, 100 km east of Przhevalsk near a peak known as Pik Pobeda (Peak of Victory). The actual site lay in a gorge known as "Shaitan Mazar" or "Grave of the Devil", near the Saris Dzas River. A search party led by Michael Eltchin was immediately dispatched but were unable to reach the site due to heavy snowfall. In June 1992 a second expedition was mounted, consisting of three groups of volunteers having both a scientific background and mountain climbing experience. The expedition arrived on site on 6-12-1992 and set up a base camp 2.5 km NNW from the actual crash site. The path of the object was noted to be such that it had slid 1700 meters after hitting the ground. It then exploded from within its center, blasting it into almost two equal parts and bending its internal structure outwards from the center of the explosion. Decks and interior features were visible inside the object through the gap made by the blast. The expedition immediately noticed several unusual effects when they began to examine the object. They could not photograph the object because some sort of radiation exposed all film and ruined all videotape. Whenever a member of the party got closer than 800 meters to the object, he began to feel unusual anxiety, depression and exhaustion. Within this 800 meter range, the men's hair stood on end. Instruments showed an unusually high amount of static electricity in the air. Compasses and magnetometers refused to function properly in the area of the object. Measurement devices registered no magnetic fields at all within an elliptically shaped area centered on the object and measuring 2230 meters long and 1700 meters wide. Even naturally occurring magnetic rocks showed no magnetic field within this ellipse. All clocks and wristwatches stopped at a distance of 600 meters from the object. Anyone who approached the object began to suffer from some sort of radiation burns at a distance of 500 meters. The expedition soon had to abandon the site, but planned to return in the future.

The witness was camping out with his family on a river and while trying to go to sleep, he heard a noise, like an animal outside. He went to check what was making the noise. On opening the flap of the tent, he saw a nine-foot humanoid staring at him. Standing only four feet away, the giant humanoid was dressed in a white robe like garment, and apparently had no arms. He wore no shoes or boots and had large feet. Yelling, he awoke his wife who came outside, she was then frozen in place. He was then "towed" by the floating humanoid to a clearing near the river where a white silvery sphere hovered about 20-30 feet from the ground. A large sliding door opened on the side and the humanoid towed the witness into the craft. Inside he was initially taken into a wide 35-50 foot long hallway. Then into a control center with bright flashing lights and consoles. There he saw about 10-20 other humanoids of the same size and clothed as the first one. The inside of the chamber was also so bright that resembled daylight. He was then taken into another room with a long black table inside. Laying him on the table, 8-10 humanoids looked at him. They examined him but did nothing to him. After a few minutes the same humanoid that brought him inside, took him back outside. He sat next to his wife, who became mobile again. They then watched "jet fires" from the bottom of the object, and it then shot away at a high rate of speed. The craft apparently left a 200-yard circle of burned grass on the ground. One of the interesting facets of this incident was that the inside of the UFO was much too large, as to what was seen from outside. (See the Lymington case of October)

George Niedzwiedz remembers lying face down on his bed and being woke up by someone in the room standing at the back of the bed just to his right, it was touching the witness shoulder with some kind of instrument. It brought on a tingling sensation. He also heard some words in his mind saying "he wont be taking part of this one." The object was described as being small, cone shaped with a light at the tip. He remembers watching his wife leave the room without being able to prevent it. He felt that he was being deliberately being restrained in bed. He received the impression that the entity was "old or like a grandfather." Later the witness and his wife had a brief recollection of "beings" entering the room. These were small and wrinkly dressed in dark capes or cloaks. He felt that he had being picked up and carried out of the room.

Local resident Mikhail Bogolyubov was passing by school number 38 when his attention was focused on an uncommonly large "star" hovering above the building. There was a sudden green flash of light from below the "star" and the light began to spiral towards the ground. Around the same time in another sector, teachers at school number 17 saw a large hovering disc shaped object above the cinema area. Meanwhile a schoolboy from the third grade spotted a short red "dwarf" running along the buildings, dragging what appeared to be a metallic object on one hand. After seeing the boy, the humanoid stopped and waved at him, using extraordinary long hands, it then ran up the wall and disappeared. Other students supposedly saw a similar humanoid and the next morning the disc shaped object was seen again above the buildings and some humanoid figures standing on top of a wall were also described.

She watched for a few minutes then continued her work. Later at 1930 she entered her house through the back door and the electricity suddenly went out, then she saw in front of the counter a luminous pink-silver figure with arm-like extensions. She ran away to locate her husband, but when they both returned to the room the figure was gone. A half hour later a glowing figure was seen approaching the house gate, it was described as short and moving his legs in a strange fashion, his hands did not move and his head was bent down. The witness went to confront the figure but was frightened of his non-human appearance, she ran again to get her husband, but again the figure had vanished when they returned. By this time the object was still hovering in the same location, it finally moved slowly away towards the west changing into a multi-colored light it then vanished.

The mysterious appearance of a red dust like substance in a local kindergarten prompted researchers to visit the location, who came upon a thick layer of a substance similar to red pepper triturated brick. Despite the attempts to clear the dust, it constantly materialized itself inside the closed premises. The researchers confusion became apparent when the analysis of the chemist Traycho Dobrev from a local laboratory showed that the substance was organic in nature, resembling aniline paint. Doctor Borislav Mednikarov found the presence of oval spores, which resisted sulfuric acid and temperatures over 700c. Infrared spectrum pictures also revealed that there was a vertical energizing column passing through the house. The medium, Robert Yovchev found an energizing geyser, which according to him, was an artificial break to a parallel world into which the reddish particles rushed from as abnormal spontaneously generated forms of life. Those who stayed at the whose perceived a feeling of unnaturalness and even sinister. The landlord, Dimitar Dimitrov stated that he heard soft murmuring voices, in spite the door of the house being locked. When he touched the dust for the first time, he soon experiences a strange vision. He was in the house surrounded by three man-like giants dressed in black leather trousers and black silk shirts, their faces thin and in a way flat. They wanted to take him to outer space and force him to memorize some ideograms. A local teacher, Roumyana Boukova also touched the strange red dust and had nightmares connected with abduction by aliens.

After visiting a friend, local boy, Zheniya X, was returning home and decided to walk through a field of a local kindergarten. As he crossed the field he heard a loud whistle from behind him, turning around he saw two globes, one white and the other red. Frightened he began running away, but after taking several steps, he felt a slight knock on his back and stopped. The white globe, several meters in diameter, was now hovering over the child, an entity in tight fitting overalls emerged from the object. The entity had three eyes, four fingers on its hands. A strange glow surrounded the entity. The alien approached the boy, took his hand and calmed him, he them accompanied the boy to the globe, and both were "sucked" into the craft. Inside, the boy noticed a screen and an armchair in which he was sat down, the alien then touched his face with an unknown object and he lost consciousness. When he awakened the aliens started a conversation with him. They told him that they would use sounds and that he could answer them telepathically. Of the conversation, the boy remembers nothing. Only bits & pieces of the conversation remained in his mind, information indicating that the aliens "flew using light speed" and that their crafts could change shapes. After that the aliens invited the boy for a ride and he agreed. The globe ascended, made a small circle over the city and Zheniya was let out near the Central City club. Before leaving the aliens told him that they would meet again on Sunday and to bring bread and water this time. The boy then ran home and told his parents about what had transpired. However his parents did not believe him, and kept him at home on Sunday, as the boy grew very anxious, looking out his bedroom window continuously. After that, the boy woke up several times in the middle of the night and looked out the window into the darkness. Hypnotic regression was not attempted in this case, but in the coming days the boy began imparting religious messages stating that the main message from the aliens was that: "Your country has made a mistake by diverting out from the church, and now is a favorable time to correct this mistake."

Returning from the movies, three witnesses were driving under a heavy rain when they approached a roundabout when the driver noticed something unusual---a white Toyota Saloon was parked up right in the middle of the roundabout, actually on the grass center. Thinking that it had been stolen or abandoned, he slowed the car. Now all three men noticed that there were two strange-looking occupants. Both of them had huge heads, one which looked like a giant upright raisin, no obvious features, and one whose head in profile was shaped like the African continent, with a protruding dome to the back of the head. Both seemed to have had dark glasses on and were looking directly ahead. Both heads seemed to be very dark and leathery in texture. As it was late, dark and raining heavily, the witnesses were unsure about what they had seen, so they circled the roundabout 2 more times to get a better look. As Victor attempted to rise from the bed he found himself totally paralyzed and unable to speak. Mentally he asked the stranger the following question: "Who are you"? Suddenly the stranger turned to him and Victor was stunned to see that instead of a face he had what appeared to be a "plate" or flat screen on his face. And then Victor saw unknown images and pictures running through the screen. Somehow Victor understood that this was the means to communicate with the stranger. Victor then asked, where are you from? Reciprocal picture appeared on the facial screen of a volumetric image of our galaxy from a different point of view, in successive pulsations it presented several celestial bodies. Victor then asked, "What will happen to the earth? Reciprocal picture: Large apple tree, under it an anthill. Apple tree grows; it becomes large and moves aside the anthill. On the spot where the anthill grew now he sees hundreds of dead ants. Victor then asks, "How can we save the Earth? Interestingly instead of a picture he received a telepathic answer, "Stop the unrestricted use of energy and the use of "atoms", energy on earth is obtained irrationally. The tenth planet of your solar system perished because of this reason. Victor then asked, what is the time difference between you and us? Reciprocal picture: A quiet calm creek and a stormy waterfall then the numbers, one year and ten minutes. Victor then asked, how do you moved in space? A voice answered, "We do not move, we are everywhere all the time". Victor then asked, are the UFOs your ships? He then receives a curious answer, "No those are terrestrial in nature, and we don't use them". Victor, Why did you contact me? He heard a voice, "We want to make you our representative on Earth". Victor then added, Why precisely me? Voice answered, "You possess sequential thinking. We need a representative since we expend to much energy during terrestrial materialization." Victor was then shown what he understood was a very ancient book. Some of the pages were black. And suddenly he understood that it was the bible and some of the information within was incorrect. The stranger then promised Victor that he would return in six months and then noiselessly dissolved into thin air. Mrs. L B (involved in a previous encounter in October awakened again and noticed a couple of figures standing by her bed. The figures covered her legs with a blanket and shined a red light on the left side of her belly under the last rib. She rose up a bit from the bed and noticed one of the figures stretching his hand (the color of his skin was gray) and he had two fingered hands (!) and then making a hole into her skin and inserting a tube inside her body after removing it from a pocket on his breast. A greenish dark liquid began moving along inside the tube into a container they held. When the container was filled halfway they shone a violet light into the hole and removed the scar. She felt no pain during the operation. She heard the figures talking among themselves and heard then mentioned something about the pancreas. As the figures moved away the witness noticed that they wore high boots on their legs, gray suits and they long two fingered hands. She did not see their faces; she felt that some type of mental block prevented her from focusing on their faces. Both figures were males and spoke in calm even voices. Near the door to the balcony one of them looked back and in a threatening manner pointed his forefinger at the witness and said, "Don't eat tonight, it might kill you"! They walked out into the balcony and disappeared. That same night she felt constant pain on her left side and then it became numb. She had a headache in the morning.

Delia V. reported that shortly after seeing a brilliant craft in the sky, she found herself standing in a metallic chamber occupied by a dozen or so very small, non-human beings, clad in gray. Delia remembers lying on a bed, screaming and crying, telling one of the bizarre figures that she could not give normal birth to the child she was carrying because her other children had been born by cesarean section. When she woke up she saw one of the beings with a child on his arms. Something deep inside her told her that the child was hers, but she was also afraid. She considered the child strange since it appeared to be a hybrid between humans and "extraterrestrials." She was given the child to hold and was told by the creatures that it could not live among humans because it could not eat human food.

The witness, a young student in his twenties, had come to look at a local standing stone during the night. He was standing near it when vertigo overcame him and caused to fall to the ground against the rock. When he looked up he saw a number of dwarf-like creatures in hooded robes chanting and circling the stone. The noises the humanoids made resembled grunts made by an animal rather than anything a human would make. He lost consciousness and when he woke up the hooded beings were gone and everything had become quiet.

She was then lifted from bed by a huge hairy "Bigfoot" type creature that then stepped back a few feet and rose straight up with her, apparently carrying her through floors and ceiling. She closed her eyes and felt rising up. She does not recall what happened and next thing she knew she was being deposited back in her bed. The being again held her hard and apparently became angry when she removed his hand and jumped on top of her but without any apparent harm to her.

Three young farm hands were playing cards in a small shack on the farm when a bright light coming from outside caught their attention. Frightened, they looked outside and saw a huge luminous object resting on the ground nearby. About 15 small humanoid figures were seeing walking and moving around near the object. The beings wore helmets with lights on them, resembling miners and seemed to have small capes on their shoulders. The object and humanoids were in the area most of the night. In the morning a circular ground trace was found at the landing site. A dog reacted during the incident.

After experiencing persistent vehicle trouble, the witness, a 65-year old farmer was doing some chores in the farm area, when he heard noises coming form pigs in a nearby sty. He went to check and suddenly felt a powerful odor and suffocating head, he passed out. He woke up 45 minutes later sitting in his work chair. He then left the room hearing a buzzing sound in his head and began seeing black rings in front of his eyes. The rings turned into a red sphere, he was then somehow forced to follow it completely loosing his will. He began doing odd chores around the house and as he did everything felt lightweight and every time he touched something he received an electric shock. The red sphere followed him everywhere he went. At 1600 he went to feed the pigs and when he was done he turned around and saw a human-shaped greenish figure standing in front of the door. The figure was described as of normal height and bright green in color. The witness walked to his house noticing that all the domestic animals were agitated. He went to bed and moments later the black rings and the red sphere returned. Later that night the witness went out into the yard and came face to face with the greenish figure. After 4 minutes the being rose into the air, leaving behind a V-shaped trail that became fog-like and disappeared. A booming voice was heard to say 3 times "I will come back!"

University student Manuela B was studying in her bed when she looked out the window saw a bizarre figure floating outside. At first she thought it was a huge bird, but upon closer inspection she realized that it was a large humanoid figure, covered in greenish hair or wearing a greenish form-fitting suit. It had a squat head directly set on its shoulders, with two huge round staring luminous eyes. The figure then began moving in a horizontal flight, slowly turning his head like a robot. It moved up and down, changing positions as if surveying the area. At this point the witness looked out to see if there were other witnesses but did not see anybody around. She looked for her camera but at this time the being had disappeared towards a strange gray colored oblong shaped cloud that emitted several lighting bolts as the figure disappeared into it.

The 21-year old witness had heard a very loud voice in his room on the night of 12-4-01, telling him "You will meet us soon." This was repeated for 11 nights in a row. He could not locate the source of the voice. On the night of the encounter he was returning home from the movies when he caught sight of a hovering shiny gray disc-shaped object over the courtyard. He was suddenly compelled to walk under the object and a beam of light descended on him from the bottom of the craft. He found himself inside the object looking out a window at his courtyard. Two 4-foot and a half tall beings stood in the room with him. The beings were human-like except that they had large heads and eyes. They had long arms ending in three-fingered hands. One of the beings communicated with the witness telling him that they had been watching him for three years and that they travel via inter-dimensional portals. A beam of green light hit the

1992 HUMANOID REPORTS
Compiled by Albert Rosales
dolphins305@comcast.net

1992 brought with it an apparent increase of encounters with other worldly creatures around the world. Incredible cases were reported from Puerto Rico, Argentina, Australia, and Germany etc. The crescendo reached its peak towards the end of the year, and brought forth 1993 with its incredible incidents reported in Israel and other countries.

Location. Montana Santa, Puerto Rico
Date: 1992

At the same time of the miraculous apparition of the Blessed Virgin in this hilltop, a number of unidentified artifacts were reported in the hill's vicinity and even captured on film. Other witnesses reported brilliant, disk-like objects flying overhead. One of the witnesses, Delia Flores, reported that she and other worshippers were surprised to see a beige van parked in the area of the religious sanctuary on the hill. Its occupants wore orange fatigues with NASA insignia, and the vehicle's Spanish speaking driver told them that the van contained a most unusual cargo---a simian creature captured in the Caribe State Forest (El Yunque). According to Flores, she and the others saw a covered cage that contained something "struggling to get out." The driver added that the creature was being taken to a secret primate research laboratory located somewhere in the island, where investigation on this sort of being was being conducted. A local farmer discovered one morning that a number of plantain plants on his property had been destroyed by an unknown creature that left a number of deep footprints, attesting to its massive size and weight. Other residents indicated that they had seen a "hairy figure" run away from the area in the darkness, but they could not described it in detail.

On a Saturday a witness saw a 400m long, cigar shaped object circle the area, then it moved to the east, out to sea. As the object passed by the witness, equipment malfunctioned. A bubble-like protrusion was noted, with lights outlining rectangular

Mr. Anibal Perez and his young nephew had come to the beach with their grandmother and were enjoying themselves when suddenly and apparently out of the depths of the waters a "young man" about 12 years of age, emerged and approached the two witnesses. The stranger appeared curious and friendly and followed the two witnesses apparently looking for companionship. They asked him who he was but the stranger only emitted a sound similar to that of a "dolphin." Suddenly the boy dived into the waters and seemed to swim down to the depths. Moments later he re-appeared again bringing some sand in his hand, which he offered to the two, now befuddled witnesses. Apparently he wanted the men to "eat" the sand, but they demurred. They were then even more surprised to see the "boy" eat the sand like material. The stranger was described as completely human-like, somewhat thin with long black hair, wearing light colored yellow shorts. As the two witnesses swam about, the stranger seemed to imitate their every move. He dived into the deep again, this time returning with some algae, which he also offered to the witnesses. Emitting strange whistling sounds he seemed to want to communicate with the witnesses. After some questioning by the witnesses, the stranger began to imitate their speech, repeating everything that was said to him. After a while he seemed to be able to speak some coherent words and said he was from "the bottom of the sea." A few minutes later he stared at the two witnesses then bid them farewell saying "Goodbye humans," he then dove into the waters never to be seen again.

Gerardo Rosario was weeding his property when he suddenly heard a noise to the side, upon investigating it; he noticed a hairy creature climbing up the hillside. It was about 5-feet tall, hairy and was accompanied by a smaller hairy creature just like it. He could not make out their faces because they were climbing sideways, but he noticed hair covering their features except around the eyes and cheeks. Another witness, a 12-year old boy on his way to school was distracted by some odd sounds coming from the roadside. When he went over to investigate he discovered two creatures sitting on a large boulder in a mountain stream at the bottom of the ravine. The larger creature walked around the top of the boulder, as if keeping watch, while the smaller figure remained seated. The larger creature emitted the moan that had drawn his attention in the first place, causing the witness to become frightened and flee the area.

While on his way to visit a friend walking along a road Mikhail Zybunovskiy (involved in other encounters) noticed a globe-shaped object in the sky that swiftly approached his position. He could see numerous round windows around its periphery. The globe began to hover above the witness and he could see flat faces looking out the windows. Suddenly 2 meters from the witness an alien appeared, it appeared to have suddenly jumped to the ground or "teleported" there. The entity was similar to the ones he had seen before, dressed in a green suit and cap with an orange glow around it. Both, man and alien stood facing each other, studying each other. The witness felt that the alien's air was "haughty" in nature but he felt no fear. The alien craft hovered directly above the witness. The witness was able to notice additional details on the alien. It was dressed in a green suit, remotely looking like a military chemical protective suit. It appeared to be saturated with phosphorescent threads that shone with different intensiveness. The cap on the alien's head was oval shaped, tightly set on the head and the hood opened in the front. The alien's face was definitely not terrestrial. It was bluish in color, fleshy, with a flattened nose with two nostrils, very small mouth, resembling just a narrow slit without lips. Hi arms were long, reaching below the knees. The alien was holding some kind of device in his hands, which he pointed at the witness. The witness felt emotionless. Suddenly the alien disappeared and the global craft took off, disappearing over the horizon. After that the witness state of stupor ended and he returned too normal. Seized with fear he ran towards his friend's house.

The main witness and a young friend were driving along an isolated field when they noticed at a certain distance a round luminous object hovering over a field. At first they thought it could have been the moon but as they approached they clearly noticed an illuminated white disc-shaped object, with bright white lights around its perimeter. The object then silently moved towards them. The object flew over their vehicle and shot away at a 45-degree angle, quickly disappearing from sight. The following night the main witness was alone sleeping when he was suddenly awakened by three tall beings, about 1.80 m in height standing close to his bed. They wore black outfits and hats and were of an impressive appearance. Using telepathy the three figures assured the witness he had nothing to fear. They represented themselves as three of the Archangels, Michael, Raphael and Gabriel. They asked the witness to come with them and at this point they exited the room. Unfortunately the witness memory ends at this point. Years later (May 2002) under hypnotic regression the witness remembered entering a bright object with a cupola on top. Inside the floor was white and misty with a diffuse light encasing everything around him. He is sitting on an armchair similar to a dentist's of white leather with a headrest that was apparently unattached to the main chair. He is completely conscious and somewhat irritated. Two tall men now appeared, both blond, with clear eyes, and very white skin, almost transparent. The witness then feels that an "invisible" tube is inserted into his arm and sees a green liquid being infused into his arm. Upset the witness struggles and asks to see the leader. At this point a much taller being now appears, wearing a brown combination suit and communicates telepathically with the other two blond men. He apparently bereaves (!) the two blond humanoids stating that a mistake has been made. After a discussion between the humanoids the witness apparently blacks out. After the apparent abduction he suffers from unexplained cysts in his ear canal and soon requires surgery.

They spoke among each in an unknown language. But her husband who was sleeping heard nothing and did not wake up. When confronted by the witness they suddenly began to speak fluent Estonian. They asked about all the items in the room. When they touched a flower in the room it was scorched. They apparently attempted to take the witness with them but she bit one of them in the arm and felt the taste of metal in her mouth. Before they went away the promised to come back. Two days later several persons in the same area saw two shiny objects flying low over the area. Around the same time at a nearby town called Haapsalu a young man that was suffering from an illness was walking on a street when suddenly he saw a bright light in front of him. From out of the light a human-like figure about 2 meters in height stepped out and told the young man that he will not be ill for a year but will fall ill again after the year. The figure and the light then disappeared. Apparently the prediction came true as the boy did become ill again after the year.

Pat Brown a physical therapist was on vacation in Arizona when something triggered a series of encounters with gray type extraterrestrials. For a period of several months, Pat reported terrifying nightly visits by aliens in her condo. Then, one evening, she was taken on board. To her surprise she found the experience enjoyable. She was given a tour of the craft and taken to meet the "master". It was then that she was given several messages of a spiritual nature. She was surprised to find that the appearance of the alien had changed to a human male with blond hair. She asked, "Why do you look like that?" The alien replied, "Because this is they way you want me to look." Pat was taken out of her body and was shown what her astral body looked like. The alien told her, "That is your soul. That is the part of you that goes through all the lifetimes." Pat was given further spiritual lessons on vibrations and healing and was then returned to her bedroom. She soon had further experiences, and suffered several medical effects as a result of her encounters. Additional witnesses also support her case. In a number of occasions he would wake up to find a head with large black wrap around eyes, looking at him. The head seemed to move in a very peculiar manner when it looked at him. Around the same time his mother had a "dream" in which she met "aliens." Upon waking up she experienced a painful feeling on one side of her head. Over the course of the next few weeks, her hair fell out on this spot and she was left with a small circular bald spot. The hair eventually grew back, but a pure white color. Under hypnosis the father recalled seeing "alien creatures" with large cat-like eyes. He also recalled seeing a saucer like craft that contained a door and a hatch that was dark inside. He saw what looked like a radar screen in front of him, he also felt as if he was traveling in this craft and seeing clouds passing below him as he looked out a window.

The witness awoke to see a bluish light shining down from the ceiling. He was then aware of two "people" in the room, talking to him. He does not recall the conversation. He then looked out the window and saw four lights streaking across the sky and then making a 90-degree turn toward his house. He next recalled being somewhere in the air, looking down at his house, the next thing he knew he was in a small room, sitting on a plastic like seat that came out of the wall. He saw someone standing next to him and a large, black, "windshield" type area in front of him, also sitting in front of it was someone that he could not see very clearly. The next memory was of standing on a loading dock of a huge warehouse, next to him stood a man he did not know. This man told him that there were some people here that wanted to see him. Next a group of hybrid looking humanoids walked up to him, smiled and walked away. The unknown man then gave him a tour of the place. He later woke up at home.

The figure wore a luminous green cloak and what appeared to be a golden crown. The apparition walked from the wood and seemed to glide alongside the canal. One of the men turned and ran but the other stood transfixed and watched the figure move an arm in the direction of the felled portion of the wood, as if complaining about the change to the neighborhood. It then turned and moved backwards towards the wood. When it reached a pile of stones it seemed to disappear into the ground.

The night before the earthquake, the primary witness and her boyfriend saw a large diamond-shaped craft towing a smaller craft using a beam of light as a towrope. The craft hovered over nearby water towers before moving slowly away. A few hours later, the earthquake struck. Two weeks later the main witness saw a gray type alien standing next to her bed in her bedroom. She tried to move but discovered she was paralyzed. She felt no fear. The being looked like it had a "cat face without any hair and a combination skeleton face." The witness tried to get up and could not; awhile later while sitting on the couch she experienced an orgasm. The being apparently told her many different things that she tried to write down. Two creatures covered with long grizzly hair entered the barracks of an army unit engaged in road construction. One was enormously tall, about 2.5 meters; the other was half the size. Circumstantial evidence suggests that the larger one was a female, and the other one was its child. The baby jumped on to the soldier's night table while its mother stopped by the stove, waved its long arms, and gave a series of short cries in a very low voice. Then the strangers, who encountered neither understanding nor approval, ran away and hid in the forest. After the incident some of the soldiers felt ill and went to consult the unit's doctor. The 50-year old witness was in her kitchen with her husband when suddenly a dull black egg-shaped short "figure" went across the kitchen and into an adjacent room making a very strong "snorting" sound. The upper half of this being was blue gray in color, then a vibrating orange vertical line became visible. The next to the stripe a beautiful woman appeared and looked at the witness. The witness then apparently followed the beings into another room where they suddenly disappeared. The husband was somehow prevented from witnessing any of these events. On the 27th at 1830 the same witness heard a loud female voice and felt compelled to go to the garden, there she saw an egg-shaped cabin-like object on the ground, she entered it and inside she found herself in a large gray room where numerous nude children and women stood around. That night the father woke up to find the whole room lit up by a shimmering glow. He awoke his son, and as the son diverted his gaze in the direction of the main source of light, he claimed to have seen a large gray "being." They both then looked at the mother, who was lying flat on the bed with her arms outstretched with her eyes shut. She was mumbling incoherently. Later she told them that she had been dreaming of seeing an "alien" in the bedroom and tried to wake both of them. Several individuals belonging to an organization that conducts paranormal research were at Reservoir Road one night when they began to hear what they described as a buzzing sound. The noise seemed to be coming form a section of the road located near some stone chambers. One of the members of the group, a male in his late fifties, started walking toward the noise. The other members of the group tried to keep their flashlights trained on him as he slowly walked into the darkness. Off to the right was a large outcrop of rock and he could still hear the noise and was sure that it was coming from inside the rock. As the others watched, they tried to call out to him because they had difficulty seeing him, as there was some type of distortion around the area. As he stood and stared at the rock, he went into a hypnotic, dream-like state, and was unable to move. As he watched the rock, it started to shimmer and it looked like a circle of blue water. Then out of the portal that had formed in the rock three dwarf-like, hooded beings walked out. The beings slowly walked towards him and, even though he was scared, he was unable to move. The three beings surrounded him and then, all at once, grabbed hold of him. They started pulling him toward the rock, and although his companions called out to him, he now felt very calm and wanted to go. Then he realized what was happening and began to awaken from his trance-like state. He was still unable to break free from the dwarfs and was now being forcibly dragged to the portal in the rock. As the others ran down the road, they shined their lights on the beings. This seemed to frighten them, and broke their grip, ran up the hill, merged with the rock, and disappeared.

Military police officer Luis Ribeiro de Oliveira and his friend Pedro Rodrigues da Silva had gone hunting for wild duck in an isolated area when in the Rio Palhano area both men observed what appeared to be a "star" descending at high speed towards the earth. Suddenly a bright light enveloped both men and Pedro ran and hid behind some nearby bushes. Luis ran towards town with the light chasing him close behind. He could see that the light now resembled a luminous wheel-shaped object the size of a bus. Soon he felt as he was being sucked up into the object. Terrified, Pedro armed himself with a shotgun and searched the area but was unable to find Luis. Pedro then ran towards town and entered a local bar telling everyone present what had just happened. But later on Luis suddenly appeared in town and related to Pedro a weird story. He remembers running and his legs suddenly becoming numb. He then came to hearing strange foreign sounding voices, looking up he saw five strange beings standing in front of him. Frightened he asked the beings what was going on, he received the following answer, "Don't be afraid, we wont harm you, we are Catadorians from Catandorius Decnius. Our civilization originated from another higher civilization that lived on the earth 353,000 years ago." They pointed to a small pyramid shaped object and told Luis that it was a model of their "temple." The aliens told Luis that they were here on Earth looking for remnants and descendants of that lost civilization that they claimed lived in underground caves and tunnels worldwide. Luis was then placed inside what appeared to be a gas-filled sphere in the center of the room. He saw in front of him a panel with multicolored lights and heard what appeared to be radio transmissions. Around him stood five humanoids about 1.50 meters in height that spoke in a strange language. However their apparent leader communicated with the witness telepathically in perfect Portuguese. Soon the leader returned to speak with the other aliens and Luis lost consciousness. When he woke up he found himself in the same place where the UFO had originally picked him up. Feeling a little dizzy he searched for Pedro and his shotgun and then walked back to town. Luis described the humanoids as short with gray skin, with black eyes lacking any pupils or eyelashes, large heads, wide shoulders, wearing tight fitting clothing with boots and gloves. Their heads and bodies were completely hairless. Their speech was measured and their breathing was heavy and labored. Every time their leader spoke to Byron T Weeks and his ex-wife were watching television when his wife noticed some lights in the window. Weeks walked over to the window and pulled aside the lace curtain for a better look. There were lights at the top of the window looking down and through the window, focused on the pair. The lights were arranged on an arc, with two yellow lights centrally and then a red and a blue light on each side, like a tilted half circle. Seconds later the lights righted to a horizontal alignment and went straight up without a sound. A couple of days later they both saw a saucer shaped craft about 40 ft in diameter at dusk. It reflected like a mirror and had antenna like pipes sticking out of the pillbox thing on the top. It flew silently down their street a few feet off the ground. A few days after that, Weeks had gone to bed in an upstairs bedroom and was fast asleep. Sometime during the night he was awakened, it felt like coming out of general anesthesia. He was lying on his back in a room filled with a bright moonlight level of illumination. He was able to breath normally but otherwise seemed to be paralyzed. Standing around the "bed" were seven faintly luminescent beings. They seemed to all be dressed in white caftan like robes. They were about 5-½ ft tall, and were stocky in built. He could see no hair on their heads, and the eyes were large and dark, and perfectly round. The foreheads were prominent and bulbous. The head in general was large and the face was broad, with a square chin. He could see no whites to the eyes. No ears were visible, but a small mouth and nose were discernible. They seemed somehow "Buddha" like. They made no sound, but it seemed that they were reading his mind. Weeks had the distinct impression that he was being rapidly fed telepathic information. Two witnesses traveling on a road near the village saw a large luminous white triangular shaped craft hovering on the side of the road. Soon three tall humanoids with large yellow glowing eyes and with no other discernible features and wearing silvery combination suits came out of the object. At this point the witnesses apparently blacked out and came to 3 hours later parked on the side off the road. Strange marks were found on the witnesses' arms.

The witness was driving on US 180 along the desert and was listening to his CB radio when the radio suddenly went silent and he vaguely noticed a patch of white light shining on a rise over the left side of the road. He then heard a voice in his head telling him to "watch out for the smoke." Thinking it had been the CB radio he replied but there was no answer. Suddenly what looked like a huge luminous cloud of smoke began stretching across the highway ahead, it formed a solid curtain across the road. The witness drove into the grayish-white vapor for an hour. He stopped his vehicle and walked across the road and into a ditch but was still unable to see anything. He suddenly went into a state of paralysis and sensed the approach of two persons. Each person got on either side of the witness and placed a firm grip on his forearms. The beings had long bony fingers. He was then led to a shiny metallic object, shaped like a flattened arch with rounded ends. A rectangular opening appeared on the side of the craft. Next he remembers sitting back on a chair inside the object feeling dizzy and numb. He was briefly alone then two beings entered the room. One being was a male with a round oval face with two large oval black eyes. He was five-foot tall with a thin torso and limbs. The second being was a female, similar to the male being. The witness was then led to a dimly lit room and placed in a reclining position on a chair. He felt a buzzing stimulating sensation on his facial area and felt as if a small object was being introduced into his nose. He was then released and let outside and floated horizontally towards his vehicle. He resumed the drive and the vapor-like fog quickly dissipated.

A large disc-shaped craft was observed coming out of the lake and flying erratically south towards Lockport. The object appeared to wobble and moved lower appearing to be in trouble. Observers claim it appeared to search for a landing spot, continued to lose altitude and crashed on Campbell Boulevard (Route 270) four miles west of Lockport and ten miles north of Buffalo. When the UFO crashed it managed to avoid hitting the cars traveling on the road. However, the drivers of the cars stopped to examine the UFO and most waited until the police arrived. The UFO was 100 feet in diameter and 25 feet high. Military, fire and police quickly arrived and cleaned up the crash site and cautioned those there not to talk about the incident. Some how the authorities were able to keep the crash quiet and only family members of those who observed the crash site have been told.

Katherine Francovich was walking her two large "attack trained dogs" on leashes through a deserted grove of leafless lime trees, when she heard a very loud noise. Turning toward the noise she saw a small humanoid standing by a tree. The being had grayish/pink skin, non-porous and almost plastic like. It stood about 4-feet 9-inches tall. It wore a snug fitting metallic looking outfit that clearly showed the shape of its body. The upper part of the being's head was disproportionately wide; the eyes were huge, black, and almond shaped, with no whites or pupils visible. It had two tiny nostrils and its lips were very small and not well defined. Its ears seemed to be dropped down a little bit, very small and pressed flat against the head. The arms were very long, without muscle tone, very skinny, extending into very long six fingered hands. Its neck was thin looking, the shoulders not well defined. It had a very slender frame and what appeared to be a small potbelly. Bu incredibly its thighs were over-developed, with well-defined bulging muscles on its legs. Its feet however were small. On its feet it had what looked like a cloth boot, made out of the same metallic material it wore for its clothes. Francovich and the humanoid stared at each other for a while. Her two dogs, normally aggressive, just sat down quietly in the presence of the being. Suddenly the being began to run, at a stunning speed, leaping with very little effort. The witness and her dogs ran after it, running a distance of several city blocks. Finally they came to a kind of tunnel that was formed from densely growing vines on dead trees. The being then darted into it and disappeared. At that same moment a powerful sulfuric stench became apparent, causing the witness to stop in her tracks. The witness felt there were other beings hiding in the bushes and quickly left the area along with her dogs.

Time: 2300 Katherine Francovich was sitting in her living room, shortly after her first encounter, talking on the telephone with a friend. All the lights were turned off in the apartment. All four dogs lay on the floor sound asleep. As she listened to the friend on the phone, she stared out through the window. Suddenly her attention was drawn to the ceiling. A mint green cloud, appeared at the junction of the ceiling and wall, opposite to where she sat. It slowly spread across the ceiling and down the wall, expanding exactly like a thick cloud of morning dew. The mint-green cloud expanded rolled-swirled throughout the entire room, hovering and clinging to the ceiling. Some of it drifted down to the floor, like cigarette smoke settling. She told her friend on the phone what was going on and before anything else was said she noticed movement outside the window. To her surprise one of the lime grove beings was peeking through the open window at her. The curious face peeked through the corner of the screen, in an almost child-like manner, with big almond shaped eyes. Instantly Francovich identified this being as a female, which seemed obvious to her from the feminine characteristics of her face. Within a few moments, she shifted her body slightly over to the center of the window. At this moment the witness became aware of the fact that there was another being with her. A smaller one who peeked around the right hand side of her body, as if too timid to stand next to her. The shy being was a male that kept taking a peek and then ducking behind the safety of the female, only to wait a moment before daring another quick glance. The swirling green cloud continued to float in her living room, directly above her. All this time the witness kept telling her stunned friend what was going on over the phone. For some unexplained reason her dogs never woke up. At one point the female raised her hand in slow motion and gently placed it on the screen. The palm of her hand was facing the witness, with the fingers spread apart. The witness counted six long digits. The witness then placed her hand against the window on the exact same place where the alien had placed hers. She heard the words "Protector of life, Protector of life" in her head several times. Then the female turned, with her back facing the witness and leaped off the porch. The young male followed right behind her. All their body movements seemed to be in slow motion and graceful, as if the laws of gravity did not apply. Soon they were gone.

The woman screamed again and told the witness to drive to a nearby decrepit and apparently abandoned house. There she left the vehicle and ran into the house. The lights hovered overhead for a second then shot away. After awhile the witness recalled some strange details about the woman, she was described as good looking, with a petite face, not swollen like a normal pregnant woman. At a government forestry project east of Warsaw 11 witnesses were gathered in one building when they suddenly noticed that on an internal road in the complex appeared---literally out of nowhere---an object looking like a disc with a dome on its upper part. The dome was rounded with some colorful lights in its lower part. The witnesses estimated the UFO's diameter to be 4 meters in width and 2 meters in height. It was dark steel like in color. They did not see any windows, antennas or other protrusions. The UFO moved slowly above the road. It then suddenly turned towards a wall of the nearby woods and landed in the trees. It remained there for a few minutes; the witnesses could not see any legs or wheels. Soon the UFO took off slowly and circled over a nearby square sand lot, it then flew over the asphalt road. After that it floated among buildings and then disappeared behind some trees. Shocked, the witnesses decided to get together and discuss the matter. They decided to contact the "visitors" and wrote in a piece of paper: "We are people, please contact with us" and then they fitted it onto a pane of the bathroom window on the 3rd floor. The next day, they found the sheet of paper still on the pane but upside down and covered with strange glue like gel. The glass was covered with the traces of 4-fingered "palms". Whitley Strieber was walking about half a mile behind the cabin when he noticed what looked like about a twelve-year-old sitting against a big tree. He had something between his fingers, and Strieber assumed it was a local kid out sneaking a smoke. The woods were very quiet and he strolled over and said: "Better be sure you put that out when you're finished." Then he realized that the "boy" was wearing a tan jumpsuit. His eyes were deep set, and his skin was old. And it wasn't a cigarette he was holding; it was a little silver wand. At this point Strieber felt scared. He opened his mouth slightly. Still looking straight ahead, he growled. Terrified Strieber ran away from the area and did not see the humanoid depart.

Sally Crestman awakened in the middle of the night to find a tall man standing by her bed. She described the man as Egyptian-looking, with long, black hair and very pale skin. Although the room was dark, the being seemed to glow, and Sally could clearly make out his facial features. The man just stood there staring at the witness. She was unable to move as her husband slept next to her. He was snoring very loudly. The stranger continued to look at the witness; his eyes were very dark; a red area glowed in the middle of his pupils. He then raised his finger, pointed to the ceiling, and just vanished. Scared, she pulled the covers over her head and heard a voice inside her head say, "You will now travel far beyond any place you have ever been before." She then felt as if she was falling into a hole and sinking, and then she blacked out. The next day she woke up very tired.

Rimas, a 50-year old Lithuania rural priest was at home when he heard the sounds of motors and foreign voices outside in the courtyard. He looked out the window and saw a large disc-shaped object descending quickly into the yard, as it approached the ground a door opened and a rope-type ladder was lowered to the ground. Around the center of the object the witness could see a dozen round-lighted windows. Curious the witness stepped out into the courtyard and climbed up the rope ladder, as he entered the hatch he was greeted by two silvery clad human-like figures complete with helmets and antennas on top. Inside the saw numerous panel with buttons and estimated that the disc was about 50 meters in diameter. Soon he heard a sound resembling that of a dynamo and the disc rocked and climbed up. Looking out a window he saw what appeared to be the earth moving slowly away, he did not see any stars only a dark blue firmament. Soon they landed presumably on the alien's planet where he saw low one story dwellings with windows. He also saw trees; grass, which possessed striking colors. The aliens or inhabitants of the "planet" were human like about 1.60 meters in height all youthful in appearance. They wore simply flaxen clothing and the women had their hair picked up in a bun, they wore no cosmetics. The planet was very warm. He was given a juice that tasted like mango to drink. They aliens spoke neither English nor German but the witness somehow understood everything that was being said to him, he thought that maybe they communicated telepathically. He did not see any forms of electricity of lighting. He then asked the aliens if they believed in God or in a God, he was told that yes that they worshipped just as the earthlings did. He was taken to a building, which he was told was a place of worship, which, in no way resembled a church. Inside he hardly saw any images except for that of a man with a belt and beard, which he was told was their superior "being". He was told that there were other planets in their system populated by tall dark skinned aliens or 3 meters in height. He described the aliens as having beautiful gray eyes and light colored hair. Most wore light colored coveralls and the women multicolored dress. He remembered seeing beautiful flowered fields and flat topped hills and mountains. He did not see any clouds but noticed that the sun was very hot. After awhile he was taken back to the disc shaped object and climbed again up the rope ladder. He was eventually brought back to his home. The aliens did not promise the witness that they would return.

The witness was riding his bicycle on Bergen Avenue on his way home from work when he saw what he thought was a meteor coming straight down at lighting speed. It looked like an orange fireball, which stopped suddenly 200 feet from the ground. It was then a flying disc that was flying down on its edge. When it stopped it slowly began to turn right side up and that's when the witness noticed that it was dark gray on top. Then it slowly turned on its edge and the witness saw five pentagon shaped lights on the bottom, which covered the whole underside. These were emerald in color and were arranged with one in the middle and the rest around it. There was no sound. The witness stood motionless with tears flowing down his face, he felt no fear only love and admiration. He also noticed that he was suddenly holding his bicycle on Belmont Avenue. A few distance away from where he was originally. He suffered from a memory lapse and paralysis during the event and sleep disorder thereafter. No hypnotic regression has apparently been attempted.

In a "dream-like" state, a husband and wife reported being abducted from their beds as part of a "massive" airlift of people being taken from their beds that night. Both were raised off their beds, traveled through the house feet first to the back door, out the door and then gradually into the air. They moved at a slow pace through the air. They met many others in the sky. All were floating through the air feet first dressed in pajamas. They landed at the Angeles Forest in the foothills of the San Gabriel Valley near a landed disc-shaped object. A female alien approached the pair and removed her helmet. She looked like an Oriental human. She gave both shots in the arms. At this point they suddenly found themselves back in bed. Peter Khoury was in bed as a result of a recent injury and was on pain medication. Suddenly he bolted winded awake and sat up in bed. There were two humanoid females sitting on the bed, both entirely naked. The two women looked very human in nearly every way. They had well-proportioned adult bodies. One looked Asian, with straight dark shoulder length hair and dark eyes. The other looked perhaps Scandinavian, with light colored, possibly bluish eyes and long blond hair that fell half way down her back. To Khoury, the hair looked very exotic. Their faces were somewhat odd-not unattractive, but too chiseled, with high cheekbones and eyes that were two or three times larger than normal. Khoury specially noticed the blonde-haired person. Her face was long, very long. The blonde-haired person, who was sitting in a kneeling position on the bed, seemed to be in charge. Khoury thought that she was communicating telepathically with the dark haired woman, who was sitting with her legs partly folded under her. Their facial expressions were almost blank. Stunned, the witness was unable to react as the blonde-haired woman suddenly reached out with both her hands and cupped the back of his head, drawing his face toward her chest. He resisted. Apparently very strong, she pulled harder. She pulled him over and his mouth was basically on her nipple, and he bit it. A piece of her nipple came loose in his teeth, but the blonde woman did not cry out. She seemed shocked or confused and looked at the Asian woman, then back at the witness. Involuntarily, Khoury, swallowed the small fragment in his mouth, and it caught in his throat. He went into a coughing fit. Suddenly the two women simply disappeared. Feeling an urge to go to the bathroom, he realized his penis felt very painful. Pulling back the foreskin he found two thin blond strands of hair wrapped tightly around. Three men, including the main witness, 17-year old Alexander Metlov had gone out into some fields to race their motorbikes. Two of them, not the main witness, had been drinking and were somewhat inebriated. In a field near a bridge they saw a luminous sphere slowly descend to the ground. It hovered closed to the ground while three leg-like protrusions emerged and touched the ground. For about 10 minutes Alexander shone the headlight of his motorbike at the sphere while the other two men stared. Soon an opening became visible on the upper section of the sphere and something resembling stairs descended towards the ground. A human-like figure then became visible; Metlov then shone the headlight at the figure, which immediately became still. The being was described as about 5'5" tall, human like, wearing a white coverall and an opaque helmet, he also had a rectangular shaped panel on his chest. After a few moments, ignoring the witness, the figure walked towards the nearby river, it moved in a peculiar manner as if getting accustomed to walking on the ground, it eventually disappeared over the riverbank. After about 1o minutes the being returned, this time walking normally. Alexander then rushed towards the being with his motorbike, it suddenly disappeared and appeared standing next to the other tow men that were now apparently sleeping on the ground. At this point an opening became visible on the being's helmet, and an oval shaped head became visible. It appeared human but seemed to have some "make up" on it. Moments later it walked back to the sphere, the sphere lit up, and the being re-entered the object. The sphere began glowing and changing colors then shot up vertically into the sky and disappeared. The next day Alexander and another witness reported seeing a metallic disc with a glowing green light land on a garden, remain there for about 5 minutes then take off at high speed and vanished.

The two witnesses had gone to bed after drinking tea. Janet woke up with a feeling of absolute terror. She felt as if she had been somewhere, and then landed back in her bed. Harry had also woken up and caught a glimpse of something more substantial than a shadow on the bed; it seemed to recede as if had gone through a doorway. Later when the pair recovered, Janet remembered what had happened. She recollected lying down with bright lights all around her. There were a number of "faceless" beings around her. She believes she was given something to "calm her down." The next thing she remembered was being in another room with several other people that were gathered around a strange man. The man was small, very pale and had huge oval eyes that were very dark. He also wore an odd black fedora type hat. When she looked into the being's eyes she felt an incredible longing to be there. They seemed to contain the whole universe. She thought the little being was not threatening and seemed to possess great knowledge. The being was apparently sharing his knowledge with the others in the room. He spoke of humanity's origin and how we had been genetically engineered. He mentioned that the spirit was separate from the body. After that she found herself in a long, cold, gray tunnel. In the tunnel she saw a man she recognized, that seemed to be deranged. She was told that the man had been pushed to far. She was then taken into a room where she saw a normal looking man that seemed to be a medical doctor. Apparently he performed some gynecological procedure on her. At that point her memory ended.

Two men, Garry Wood and Colin Wright were on a business trip when they rounded a blind corner in the vicinity of the Harpering reservoir, suddenly Colin abruptly leaned forward exclaiming, "What the hell's that?" Garry peered through the windscreen, there ahead of the car; floating about 20 ft above the road was a two tiered disc shaped object. He remembers it being about 30 ft wide, wider than the road, smooth, black and shiny with no windows or illuminations. Garry a motor mechanic by trade found the appearance and finish of the object unusual. Wanting to get away as quickly as possible, he floored the accelerator urging their vehicle up to almost 70 mph. As they passed below the hovering craft a shimmering curtain of light descended on the car, Garry describes it as like looking at a detuned TV set, just flickering lights. Instantly they were enveloped in total, complete darkness. Later under hypnosis Garry recalled standing (presumably) outside the car, it was still totally and utterly dark, not a hint of light, he could not even see the car; briefly he thought they had crashed and he was dead. He blacked out for what, subjectively, felt like a few seconds, then abruptly he was awake and the car was veering all over the road. Garry could hear Colin shouting at him to watch out then thankfully, he was able to bring the car to a stop. They looked at each other in disbelief not knowing what had happened. Setting off again, they arrived at their destination still discussing their bizarre encounter. Soon both men realized that they had suffered from a period of unaccounted time. The following day Garry felt utterly drained of energy, more than just the result of his late night, he felt really worn out. He sleeping patterns changed for the worse. Eventually consulting a doctor because of severe headaches. Soon Garry consulted several well-known investigators and agreed to undergo hypnosis. During the first session, Garry became very emotional and burst into tears, there was nothing specific, only vague memories and impressions, later regression sessions were to prove much more revealing. In later sessions both men remembered sitting in the car, which was stopped in the middle of the road, small humanoid creatures, three to each side, opened both front doors. Colin recalled Garry being placed on a type of stretcher or carrier; none of the entities were supporting it; the "stretcher" was free floating. Garry although he remembers none of this, does recall creatures approaching the car then a searing pain in his abdomen, as if his stomach muscles were being torn apart. For his part, Colin recalls walking up a ramp into the craft, which was lit by a dazzling white light. He remembers being in a circular corridor being led by one of the creatures. The room was utterly featureless except for an unusual chair; it was curiously curved, almost organic in shape. He was stripped naked and placed unresisting in the chair, and subjected to some for of non-intrusive physical examination. He also remembers lying back in the chair looking at the ceiling, it was corrugated, translucent, there was soft, diffused lighting filtering through. His next memory was of being naked in a transparent container made from a material rather like glass or Perspex; straps at the feet and ankles secured him. Outside the container he could clearly see other men and women, all naked and all in transparent containers like his. Blowing around outside the container was a mist rather like the "fog" created by dry ice for stage and film visual effects. He also saw a number of tall, humanoid creatures, one was standing framed in a doorway opposite him, and another three were approaching the container in which he was imprisoned. Abruptly the transparent material of his container began to frost up, he began to weep, no sooner had he done this that the frosting began to retreat, almost like a film sequence running in reverse, until the material was once again perfectly clear. Colin nervously watched as an angular device rose from the floor. It was long and thin, like a rod with a small triangular head; two glowing red lights were set into one of the sides. There was a peculiar appendage about half way along the length of the device and the base was jointed at the floor. The entire machine moved up and down continuously and the appendage swung from left to right; although there was no pain, Colin thought it might be scanning him. Garry recalled being in a featureless circular room lying on a flat table, he was unable to move although he does not recall being physically strapped down. He was aware of a black lens shaped device in the center of the room, the device was twisting and turning almost as if it were folding on itself. It reminded Garry of a mobius strip. It made a "whooshing" sound as if air was being displaced. As he watched the device in fascination he suddenly became aware of a long, thin translucent arm extending over his chest towards his head, the arm abruptly dropped onto his chest near his shoulder. On another occasion, he remembers a hole forming in the floor; it was filled with a viscous liquid of some kind, like a gel. While he watched this, a small column rose from the floor. Garry described it as resembling a tin can. It continued until it was about 3 feet above the floor; the device gave out a noise rather like an electric motor and began to rotate slowly. Part of the cylinder rose from the main body and extended towards him until it was level with his eyes. The tip had two red, glowing dots. At this point Garry noticed the pool of liquid start to vibrate. From this liquid a tall, incredibly thin frail looking creature slowly, almost painfully emerged. Although resembling a traditional "gray" it appeared emaciated, like a skeleton covered in skin. He remembers that the skin over its ribs looked discolored and bruised. He later discovered that all the creatures had difficulty with the gravity and atmospheric pressure, particularly the tall, thin translucent creatures that frequently tended to fall over. Bizarrely, he also recalled a small man apparently quite human in nature, dressed in a neat black suit complete with collar and tie that was watching the proceedings. He was standing among the entities all of which seemed quite deferential towards him. In all, Wood remembers being around 20 or 30 creatures present, the majority tall, a pallid gray color and frail looking. One notable variation from this was a smaller rather bizarre looking being with an odd heart shaped face. On its face were some strangely familiar markings, these comprised of colored facial stripes, three diagonally on each cheek, these were reminiscent of the tribal markings normally associated with members of the Native American tribes. He looked at the creatures and mentally "asked", "Why are you doing this". The answer that appeared in his mind was surprising and not a little disturbing, one word: "Sanctuary". While he was in telepathic communication with the creature he was able to "see" fragments of its existence as if the process was a two way street. In further communication the being said, "In many ways you are more advanced than us but you have been "capped." Just what "capped" means is open to question. Garry is certain that at one point they were taken underground; from the table where he lay, he could see tunnels leading off from a huge, central chamber hewn from solid rock, there was also an enormous machine close to him, possibly it was another flying machine like the one he had witnessed above the road. Garry's most worrying memory was seeing a young woman seated naked on the floor, facing the wall; one of the tall creatures was standing beside her. As Gary looked at her, she turned her head towards him; her hair was in a loose shaggy perm with blond highlights. She was sitting shivering with her knees drawn up to her chin, her arms were wrapped around her knees cradling herself, she had been crying and was clearly in the same predicament as him. Gary became deeply involved n the study of UFOs. Colin in the other hand refuses to discuss the matter.

Curious he approached the mist and was able to see a metallic shining object with orange, red, purple, and green pulsating lights within the mist. As he stepped closer he felt compelled to look towards the woods. Two men dressed in tight colored overalls were walking toward him; each carried an object resembling a worker's toolbox and a thin long object, which emitted a thin laser-type light. The men were described as young looking with black hair and identical to each other. The men approached the witness and asked him several questions and told him they were here to take samples. After several minutes of conversation the witness suddenly noticed a slight glow appearing around the figures and began to feel drowsy, he sat on the grass almost feeling hypnotized by the men. The two men then walked into the cloud of mist and vanished. The witness then went back to his car and fell asleep. The witness recalled that the two men had "olive" complexions and appeared very athletic. They both wore a thick belt around their waists.

The witness who lives in an isolated trailer awoke to see a strange light outside. Going out she observed in a clearing a mushroom-shaped object hovering 40-50 feet above the ground. A narrow shaft of white light illuminated the ground below it. Approaching the craft she heard a telepathic message telling her to "turn around." Upon turning around she saw lying on the ground a 4-foot long gray skinned being that appeared to have octopus like suckers on its fingers. She was then told that it was sick, that it needed warmth. She picked up the being, which had a light bulb shaped head with large black round eyes and took it into the house. She then placed the being in bed between her sleeping husband and herself. She attempted to wake her husband but to no avail. She then took the being to a couch and fed him a mixture of crackers and warm water, spoon-feeding him. At this point there was a memory lapse and she could only remember being outside watching the being going up the shaft of light into the object. She also noticed five other gray figures standing in a single military style file staring at her. Soon the beings turned in unison and marched into the shaft of bright light one by one they were then levitated into the hovering craft. The object then streaked off emitting a thunder like sound.

At the above time the wife woke up and saw her husband sitting up in bed asking her, "Do you see the same thing I do"? She looked and saw on the table just three feet form them was sitting a 100cm tall humanoid, shiny gold colored smiling humanoid. It said, "Pasi, Pieska, I know you" The couple whispered the situation among themselves for about 5 minutes then the husband attempted to touch the humanoid, but when he began to move towards it the humanoid disappeared like a fading fog, slowly dissipating away. Their German friend also woke up but was not told about the humanoid. The electricity had gone off in the van and it was very cold inside, the husband distributed some blankets and then they all went to sleep again. In the morning they noticed that a curtain holder had been removed from inside the van and left on an outside table. None of the occupants of the van remembered doing that.

She was mentally told that these lights were purifying the animal, neutralizing the bacteria and germs. The animal appeared to be convulsing violently. Next a tube was inserted into the animal's upper inside of the right leg, near the hip joint and then blood was apparently extracted. Several short gray skinned humanoids seemed to be operating different apparatus in the room and one explaining the procedure to the witness. Next a gray being inserted what appeared to be a "light pen" inside the cow's rectum. It was activated and it began rotating quickly disappearing into the body. There was a strong nauseating burning smell. A large piece of what appeared to be rectum intestine was removed and placed in a container. Three days after a localized power outage was reported and a huge white light traversed the area leaving behind a luminous wake, several witnesses including 2 local boys and a woman named Paca were walking up a local hill when Paca suddenly felt chills and was compelled to go to a nearby olive grove, the others followed her. As she entered the olive grove she suddenly felt her feet glued to the ground and was unable to move. Moments later she saw a luminous figure hovering about 25 cm above the aground about 10 meters away in front of a olive tree. A bright glowing "cloud" separated this figure from the ground. The figure was described as a female wearing a blue dress, with a white blouse. It had an intense sky blue scarf on its head. The witness saw what appeared to be 12 small lights hovering over the figure's head. Another witness standing directly next to Paca reported not able to see anything. According to Paca the figure had extremely beautiful facial features, somewhat pallid. The hair was light brown in color and its eyes were "caramel" colored. The witness was suddenly able to move but as she attempted to approach the glowing figure it seem to disappear but as she stepped back it would reappear again. This strange process was repeated several times. During the encounter the area was suddenly struck by a strong cold wave. Paca again became paralyzed and was unable to speak, one of the other witnesses, a young woman, fell to the ground and appeared to go into a trance. She then began speaking in a slow deliberate manner, repeating the words, "Pray for peace in the world." Suddenly a strong rose-like fragrance permeated the area, adhering itself to some of the witnesses. Besides the light from the clouds under its feet, a bright glow also surrounded the figure. It seemed to move in slow motion, never moving its arms or legs or making any facial gestures. Its body was described as thin and child-like, and was only about 1 meter in height. It never once spoke to any of the witnesses present. The two local children, Cristina & Sergio who were witnesses to these bizarre event were to have a further encounter two weeks later. Around the same time and in the same area, witnesses observed what they called a "procession" of monks walking in single file in a field; these wore black smocks that covered their faces completely. Others saw a tall heavyset man, described as wearing a brown monk-like outfit, with sandals and walking with a heavy cane. Mrs Melitta Walter was sitting in her living room when all of the sudden she heard a very deep humming sound coming from outside her house. When she looked out the window she observed a bright shining craft slowly flying over the roof. It was only about 50 meters away and about 20 meters altitude. The witness could see several man-like forms moving behind a large illuminated window. She described the object as a flat cylinder with position lights on the left, right and on the back. Within a minute the object vanished behind the wall of her house.

A hunter was in an isolated wooded area waiting for deer under a heavy drizzle and had sat down next to a large tree when he noticed a dim glow in the brush on the far side of a nearby creek. He waited thinking it was another hunter, and then a figure came out of the brush. It was described as a glowing 4-foot tall man-like entity that was walking diagonally up the hill. The being was visible from the waist up only and was glowing evenly an off-white cream color soft in nature. No facial features could be seen. It seemed to move in stiff movements almost robot-like, never turning his head or body or swinging his arms. The being crossed the clearing area then disappeared out of sight behind heavy brush.

Two women were traveling on the Ventura Freeway when a huge bright light appeared above them. It then shot downwards towards their vehicle. Both women then suddenly found themselves exiting the freeway with two hours of missing time. Both women were later regressed and remembered being taken onboard a huge oblong-shaped craft. Onboard the object one of the witnesses was stripped and examined by small gray colored humanoids with large heads and huge eyes that communicated telepathically. She also encountered another creature resembling a praying mantis. The other witness was guarded by several short gray humanoids during the ordeal.

A couple driving near the town on an isolated road saw a strange figure walking on the side of the road coming towards them in the opposite direction. The figure was described as tall and very thin with a large head, which was covered by a black helmet. At eye level there was a rectangular opening where two large almond shaped eyes could be seen, these gave off a greenish-yellow glow. It had wide shoulders and very long arms. The fingers were extremely long and it wore a very tight black shiny outfit.

Around its neck hung a golden-colored collar. The startled witnesses decided to turn back to take another look but the humanoid had already vanished.

The witness awoke and observed a bright flash of light (there was no sound of thunder following). The subject rolled over and noticed a small gray alien "wearing a harness/utility belt." The witness was instructed to follow the alien outside, where a blue/white light was shining on a spot on the ground. The witness was instructed to stand in the light, and an instant later, found himself in a large circular room (about the size of a high school gymnasium). The witness was instructed to disrobe and led out of the room and through a series of corridors and passageways. Part of the time they walked but mostly they were transported by a means unknown to the witness. Eventually they arrived at a small room where several other aliens were present. A quick physical examination was given and then a human appearing individual entered the room (the witness in prior abductions had never encountered a human). The human asked several questions as to how/why the abductee knew he had been abducted before. The witness was also asked how abductees knew/found out about other abductees and why were they meeting together. (!) A model of the human brain was shown to the subject and he was asked to indicate where the "subconscious mind was located." He was unable to indicate a location and received a mental image or impression that another abductee was being asked the same question. The human then left the room and the subject was moved to another room. This room appeared to be some type of meeting or conference room. It also was round, but the lighting and the furnishings were quite different. A number of different alien life forms entered the room, the last being the one with human appearance. The small gray aliens left the room but two of the taller brown aliens stayed. (The description of the other life forms is being withheld pending further investigation). The witness was again questioned as to the nature of the subconscious mind and to his knowledge of his abductions and other abductees. After each question the witness received images of other abductees. He could see them in a room together. They were all nude and seemed to be unaware of the presence of each other. Each seemed to be in a trance-like state and behaved as if acting out a part. Later the human took him into a side room where he was shown a "strange sort of chart or diagram" which he did not understand and was unlike any he'd ever seen before. He was then led by two tall brown colored beings through several other rooms to another examination room/laboratory where a nasal implant was placed in his nostril. The witness was then given his pajamas, told to dress, and returned to his home and bed.

Location. Arizona desert
Date: December 14 1992

A squadron of heavily armed Air Force fighter jets intercepted a damaged UFO over the desert and forced it to land at a remote base, where the huge vessel and its alien crew are being kept under wraps. Unnamed high-ranking officials say the sensational capture was preceded by a dogfight at supersonic speeds high above the barren landscape. The UFO was having propulsion problems or the American jets never would have been able to keep up with the more advanced airship. The craft was saucer shaped and 100 yards in diameter. It stands over 30 feet tall and held a crew of 24 aliens. The occupants were described as about 4 ft tall with large smooth heads, two large eyes and small mouths. Military interrogators using a sort of sing language have been able to communicate with them. The highly intelligent beings claim they were on a routine mission when their craft developed operational problems. The ship commander intended to make an emergency landing to repair the trouble.

The witness had just woken up as his girlfriend lay sleeping next to him. For some unknown reason he felt compelled to go and open the door of the bedroom. As he did he saw a tall tan/gray colored creature standing at the landing. It stood motionless staring right at the witness, only two meters away. He felt fear and foreboding and asked a telepathic question "You don't want me do you"? You want her don't you", he glanced at his girlfriend as he asked the question. He became increasingly upset, but then the memory faded. He woke up feeling ill later, and his girlfriend acted strangely the whole morning.

As the witness arrived home from work she was confronted in the parking lot by 8 human male figures that seemed "faceless" and carried hand-held devices resembling long black flashlights. One of them spoke in a mechanical almost computer-like voice. A blinding headache suddenly rendered the witness unconscious and did not remember this episode until 3 days later. Earlier that same day, a silvery white flash of unknown origin had briefly illuminated her apartment ground floor.

The witness remembers walking outside by herself and hearing a very loud buzzing sound. She looked up and saw a huge gray metallic disc-shaped craft drop straight down from the clouds. The witness sat down cross-legged and watched the craft change into a sphere with four legs, with strange markings and land nearby. Moment later the craft lifted straight up and left in a curved flight path. Later under hypnosis the witness remembers sitting on the ground and seeing a group of very tall pale human-looking men standing in front of the object. They all wore white clothing and watched her very intently. She received mental communication form the men then remembers entering a very shiny room where she was examined by one of the men that had light hair.
